The human remains and associated funerary objects were removed from an unknown site identified only as "Zuni".

This notice is published as part of the National Park Service's administrative responsibilities under NAGPRA, 25 U.S.C. 3003(d)(3). The determinations in this notice are the sole responsibility of the museum, institution, or Federal agency that has control of the Native American human remains and associated funerary objects. The National Park Service is not responsible for the determinations in this notice.

Consultation

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by the Fowler Museum professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Zuni Tribe of the Zuni Reservation, New Mexico.

History and Description of the Remains

At an unknown time, human remains representing, at minimum, two individuals were removed from an unknown site, identified by the donor only as "Zuni." Fowler Museum at UCLA received a large donation in 1966 and 1969 from Mr. W. Thomas Davis, Oxnard Farmlands. This donation included many southwestern objects, including several Zuni "fetish bowls." One of them included fragmentary human remains representing a minimum number of two individuals. No known individuals were identified. There were 18 objects included with the human remains in a sealed bag. They include 10 pieces of plant stems, one corn cob, three ceramic sherds, two turquoise fragments, and two obsidian projectile points.

The human remains and associated funerary objects are Zuni based on the information provided by the donor on the donation inventory, as well as independent verification that the associated funerary objects are consistent with Zuni cultural traditions.
