The applicant agrees to implement conservation measures consistent with the GCP that will minimize and mitigate the impacts of the taking on the Columbia Basin distinct population segment of the pygmy rabbit, the greater sage-grouse, the Washington ground squirrel, and the Columbian sharp-tailed grouse. Covered activities include dryland farming of wheat and horse grazing on the Davis and Davis farm in Douglas County, Washington. We invite the public to review and comment on the permit application and associated documents.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service), have received an application from Davis and Davis Farms (applicant) for an Endangered Species Act (ESA; 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) incidental take permit (ITP), in association with the Douglas County Multiple Species General Conservation Plan (GCP). The GCP was developed by the Foster Creek Conservation District in coordination with the Service. The purpose of the GCP is to facilitate an efficient and effective process for prospective applicants to obtain ITPs addressing land-use activities, take of listed species, and conservation measures that are covered under the GCP. In order to offset the impacts of take on covered species. A GCP is a programmatic habitat conservation plan, authorized under section 10(a)(1)(B) of the ESA.

In this case, the applicant agrees to implement conservation measures consistent with the GCP that will minimize and mitigate the impacts of the taking on the following covered species: The federally endangered Columbia Basin distinct population segment of the pygmy rabbit (Brachylagus idahoensis), the Federal candidate greater sage-grouse (Centrocercus urophasianus), the Federal candidate Washington ground squirrel (Urocitellus washingtoni), and the unlisted species Columbian sharp-tailed grouse (Tympanuchus phasianellus colombianus). Covered activities include dryland farming of wheat and horse grazing on the Davis and Davis farm in Douglas County, Washington. We invite the public to review and comment on the permit application and associated documents.

Background

Section 9 of the Endangered Species Act (ESA; 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) prohibits “take” of fish and wildlife species listed as endangered or threatened. Section 10(a)(1)(B) of the ESA, along with Service policy dated October 5, 2007, on GCPs, allows the Service to issue ITPs to non-Federal entities for incidental take of endangered or threatened species that is caused by otherwise lawful activities, providing the following criteria are met: (1) The taking will be incidental; (2) the applicant will, to the maximum extent practicable, minimize and mitigate the impact of such taking; (3) the applicant will ensure that adequate funding for the plan will be provided; (4) the taking will not appreciably reduce the likelihood of the survival and recovery of the species in the wild; and (5) the applicant will carry out any other measures that the Service may require as being necessary or appropriate for the purposes of the plan. Regulations governing permits for endangered and threatened species are found in 50 CFR 17.22 and 17.32, respectively.

The Service has conducted a review of the site plan submitted with the ITP application and has made a preliminary determination that the site plan meets all necessary requirements of the Douglas County Multiple Species GCP and is consistent with previous environmental analyses and decision documents associated with the GCP. The GCP and an associated environmental assessment (EA), developed pursuant to the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), were made available for public comment on a 60-day public comment period between November 14, 2014, and January 13,
