Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

Title: NAHMS Swine 2020 Study.
OMB Control Number: 0579–0315.
Summary of Collection: Collection and dissemination of animal health data and information is mandated by 7 U.S.C. 391, the Animal Industry Act of 1884, which established the precursor of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), Veterinary Services, the Bureau of Animal Industry. Legal requirements for examining and reporting on animal disease control methods were further mandated by 7 U.S.C. 8308 of the Animal Health Protection Act, “Detection, Control, and Eradication of Diseases and Pests,” May 13, 2002. This collection of swine data is consistent with the APHIS mission of protecting and improving American agriculture’s productivity and competitiveness.

Need and Use of the Information: The information collected through the Swine 2020 study will be analyzed, interpreted and disseminated to a wider variety of constituencies. APHIS will use the data collected from the study to: (1) Predict or detect national and regional trends in disease emergence and movement such as the prevalence of clinical signs of Coronavirus, Seneca Valley Virus, respiratory, and enteric disease in pigs, (2) Provide factual information on housing, marketing and movements for smaller swine operations, (3) Update national and regional production measures for the producer, veterinary, and industry reference, (4) Provide factual information on antimicrobial resistance among isolates obtained from feces, and (5) Provide assistance to researchers and the industry in evaluating the utility and accuracy of newer pathogen collection methods such as ropes to test saliva. Without this current study, APHIS would be unable to continue the trends analysis that began with the Swine 2007 and 2012 studies that various parts of the industry as well as many federal and state partners have come to rely on.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; Farms.
Number of Respondents: 9,965.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: Other (one time).
Total Burden Hours: 11,165.

I. The Privacy Act

The Privacy Act of 1974, as amended (5 U.S.C. 552a), embodies fair information principles in a statutory framework governing the means by which the United States Government collects, maintains, uses, and disseminates individuals’ records. The Privacy Act applies to information that is maintained in a “system of records.” A “system of records” is a group of any records under the control of an agency for which information is retrieved by the name of an individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual. In the Privacy Act, an individual is defined to encompass United States citizens and lawful permanent residents.

The Privacy Act requires each agency to publish in the Federal Register a description denoting the type and character of each system of records that the agency maintains, including the routine uses for each system, to inform individuals how and why Privacy Act information may be disclosed outside of the agency.

II. Discussion

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) is modifying an existing system of records notice for Veterinary Services-Animal Welfare, USDA/APHIS—8, which was last published February 27, 1987, in its entirety in the Federal Register (52 FR 6031, Docket No. 86–408). APHIS is accordance with OMB Memorandum M−17−12;
- Establishing new routine use 17 for disclosure to USDA contractors and other parties assisting in administering the program, analyzing data, information management systems, Freedom of Information Act requests, and audits;
- Establishing new routine use 18 for disclosure to USDA contractors and others employed to identify fraud, waste, or abuse;
- Establishing new routine use 20 for disclosure to the National Archives and Records Administration or to the General Services Administration for records management activities; and
- Establishing new routine use 21 for disclosure to the Treasury Department to carry out any and all functions within their jurisdiction, including but not limited to, processing payments, fees, collections, penalties, and offsets.

A report on the modified system of records, required by 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), as implemented by Office of Management and Budget Circular A−108 was sent to the Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, United States Senate; the Chairman, Committee on Oversight and Reform, House of Representatives; and the Administrator, Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget.

Done in Washington, DC, this 18th day of October 2019.

Kevin Shea,
Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

PURPOSES OF THE SYSTEM:
This system supports APHIS’ administrative activities and enforcement of the AWA and HPA.

The AWA seeks to ensure the humane handling, care, treatment, and transportation of animals intended for use by dealers, exhibitors, carriers, research facilities, operators of auction sales, and intermediate handlers. The entities using certain animals for research purposes, exhibition, and transportation in commerce, or for resale use as a pet are required to obtain a license or registration from the USDA. In addition, entities importing dogs into the United States for resale purposes are required to obtain a permit. APHIS partners with Federal agencies, States, local and Tribal governments and non-governmental organizations to ensure the safety, health and well-being of vulnerable animals.

The HPA prohibits the showing, sale, auction, exhibition, and transportation of horses that have been subject to the practice of soring, which is a cruel and inhumane practice designed to enhance a horse’s competitive advantage in shows and exhibitions. The HPA also holds the management of any horse show or other regulated event responsible for identifying sore horses and preventing their participation in the event. To be shielded from liability for the participation of a sore horse, management may appoint and retain persons qualified to detect and diagnose a horse that is sore or otherwise inspect horses for purposes of enforcing the HPA. After notice and an opportunity for a hearing in accordance with the applicable rules of practice, alleged violators of the HPA may be subject to penalties and sanctions for violations. APHIS partners with Federal agencies, States, local and Tribal governments and non-governmental organizations to ensure that horses are not subjected to the practice of soring.

This system provides a standard approach to collecting, recording, analyzing, maintaining, and reporting information.
