

and clavicle, and a number of vertebrae. The appendicular elements include a number of upper limb long bones and several hand bones; femoral fragments from at least four different individuals; a pair of patellae; tibial and fibular portions; and numerous foot bones. Several of the elements appeared to be male based on robusticity, but at least one femur and humerus have epiphyses suggesting a female. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

At an unknown date, human remains representing, at minimum, two individuals were removed from Deer Island (22HR500), Taneksanya (22JA504), and Greenwood Island (22JA516), MS. While in storage, the human remains from these three sites were commingled before being given to MDAH, and thus had to be analyzed as a single group. While the minimum number of human remains is based on the presence of right left tali and two left humeral midshafts, the actual number of individuals present could be larger. Skeletal elements include a number of vault fragments, portions of scapula and ischium, several ribs and vertebrae, segments of all upper limb long bones, proximal femur, portions of fibula, and numerous foot bones. Based on the range of size and robusticity seen, both males and females are present. Recent fusion of two metacarpal epiphyses are consistent with one individual being an adolescent. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.
