

updates a reference in the CFR to reflect a change that occurs by statute.

Should the Commission receive a significant adverse comment, the Commission would withdraw this direct final rule. Depending on the comments and other circumstances, the Commission may then incorporate the adverse comment into a subsequent direct final rule or publish a notice of proposed rulemaking, providing an opportunity for public comment.

G. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) generally requires that agencies review proposed and final rules for their potential economic impact on small entities, including small businesses, and prepare regulatory flexibility analyses. 5 U.S.C. 603 and 604. The RFA applies to any rule that is subject to notice and comment procedures under section 553 of the APA. Id. As explained, the Commission has determined that notice and comment are not necessary for this direct final rule. Thus, the RFA does not apply. We also note the limited nature of this document, which merely updates the incorporation by reference to reflect the mandatory CPSC standard that takes effect under section 104 of the CPSIA.

H. Paperwork Reduction Act

The standard for portable bed rails contains information-collection requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501–3520). The revisions made no changes to that section of the standard. Thus, the revisions will have no effect on the information-collection requirements related to the standard.

I. Environmental Considerations

The Commission's regulations provide a categorical exclusion for the Commission's rules from any requirement to prepare an environmental assessment or an environmental impact statement where they "have little or no potential for affecting the human environment." 16 CFR 1021.5(c)(2). This rule falls within the categorical exclusion, so no environmental assessment or environmental impact statement is required.

J. Preemption

Section 26(a) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. 2075(a), provides that where a consumer product safety standard is in effect and applies to a product, no state or political subdivision of a state may either establish or continue in effect a requirement dealing with the same risk of injury unless the state requirement is identical to the federal standard. Section 26(c) of the CPSA also provides that states or political subdivisions of states may apply to the CPSC for an exemption from this preemption under certain circumstances. Section 104(b) of the CPSIA deems rules issued there under "consumer product safety rules." Therefore, once a rule issued under section 104 of the CPSIA takes effect, it will preempt in accordance with section 26(a) of the CPSA.

K. Effective Date

Under the procedure set forth in section 104(b)(4)(B) of the CPSIA, when a voluntary standard organization revises a standard upon which a consumer product safety standard was based, the revision becomes the CPSC standard within 180 days of notification to the Commission, unless the Commission determines that the revision does not improve the safety of the product, or the Commission sets a later date in the Federal Register. The Commission has not set a different effective date. Thus, in accordance with this provision, this rule takes effect 180 days after we received notification from ASTM of revision to this standard. As discussed in the preceding section, this is a direct final rule. Unless we receive a significant adverse comment within 30 days, the rule will become effective on May 20, 2020.

L. The Congressional Review Act

The Congressional Review Act (CRA; 5 U.S.C. 801–808) states that, before a rule may take effect, the agency issuing the rule must submit the rule, and certain related information, to each House of Congress and the Comptroller General. 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1). The submission must indicate whether the rule is a "major rule." The CRA states that the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) determines whether a rule qualifies as a "major rule." Pursuant to the CRA, this rule does not qualify as a "major rule," as defined in 5 U.S.C. 804(2). To comply with the CRA, the Office of the General Counsel will submit the required information to each House of Congress and the Comptroller General.

For the reasons stated above, the Commission amends 16 CFR part 1224 as follows:

PART 1224—SAFETY STANDARD FOR PORTABLE BED RAILS

- 1. Revise the authority citation for part 1224 to read as follows:

Authority: Sec. 104, Pub. L. 110–314, 122 Stat. 3016 (15 U.S.C. 2056a); Sec 3, Pub. L. 112–28, 125 Stat. 273.

- 2. Revise § 1224.2 to read as follows:

§ 1224.2 Requirements for portable bed rails.

Each portable bed rail as defined in ASTM F2805–19, Standard Consumer Safety Specification for Portable Bed Rails, approved on November 1, 2019, must comply with all applicable provisions of ASTM F2805–19. The Director of the Federal Register approves the incorporation by reference listed in this section in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51. Commission Guidance on Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Guidance.

SUMMARY: We are providing guidance on key performance indicators and metrics in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations ("MD&A").

DATES: Effective February 25, 2020.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Questions about specific filings should

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Guidance on Key Performance Indicators and Metrics

We are providing guidance on disclosure of key performance indicators and metrics in MD&A (the “Guidance”).¹ Item 303(a) of Regulation S-K requires disclosure of information not specifically referenced in the item that the company believes is necessary to an understanding of its financial condition, changes in financial condition and results of operations.² The item also requires discussion and analysis of other statistical data that in the company’s judgment enhances a reader’s understanding of MD&A.³

¹ MD&A is required by Item 303 of Regulation S-K (Management’s Discussion & Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations) [17 CFR 229.303], Item 5 of Form 20-F (Operating and Financial Review and Prospects) [17 CFR 249.220f], and Item 9 of Form 1-A [17 CFR 239.90].

While this release refers primarily to Item 303 of Regulation S-K, it also is intended to apply to MD&A drafted pursuant to Item 5 of Form 20-F and Item 9 of Form 1-A. The disclosure requirements for Item 5 of Form 20-F (Operating and Financial Review and Prospects) are substantively comparable to the MD&A requirements under Item 303 of Regulation S-K. See International Disclosure Standards, Release No. 33-7745 (Sept. 28, 1999) [64 FR 53900 (Oct. 5, 1999)], at 53904. The disclosure requirements for Item 9 of Form 1-A are also similar to the MD&A requirements under Item 303. See Amendments for Small and Additional Issues Exemptions Under the Securities Act (Regulation A), Release No. 33-9741 (Mar. 25, 2015) [80 FR 21805 (Apr. 20, 2015)], at 21830. Companies, including foreign private issuers, smaller reporting companies, and issuers relying on Regulation A, should consider this guidance based on their particular facts and circumstances.

² Item 303(a) of Regulation S-K [17 CFR 229.303(a)]. Concurrent with this Guidance we are proposing changes to Item 303. See Management’s Discussion & Analysis, Selected Financial Data, and Supplementary Financial Information, Release No. 33-10750 (Jan. 30, 2020) (the “Companion Proposing Release”). In the Companion Proposing Release, we propose adding a new Item 303(a) to state the purposes of MD&A. Current Item 303(a) is proposed to be Item 303(b).

³ See, e.g., Instruction 1 to Item 303(a) of Regulation S-K [17 CFR 229.303(a)]. In the

When proposing the current MD&A framework, the Commission noted that “[f]or each business, there is a limited set of critical variables which presents the pulse of the business.”⁴ The Commission previously has emphasized that, when preparing MD&A, “companies should consider whether disclosure of all key variables and other factors that management uses to manage the business would be material to investors, and therefore required.”⁵ The Commission also previously stated that companies should identify and address those key variables and other qualitative and quantitative factors that are peculiar to and necessary for an understanding and evaluation of the individual company.⁶ Such information could constitute key performance indicators and other metrics.

Some companies also disclose non-financial and financial metrics when describing the performance or the status of their business. Those metrics can vary significantly from company to company and industry to industry, depending on various facts and circumstances. For example, some of these metrics relate to external or macro-economic matters, some are Companion Proposing Release, we propose incorporating a portion of the substance of Instruction 1 into proposed Item 303(a).

⁵ See Commission Guidance Regarding Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operation, Release No. 33-8350 (Dec. 19, 2003) [68 FR 75056 (Dec. 29, 2003)], at 75060. Information is material if there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would consider the information important in deciding how to vote or make an investment decision. See TSC Industries, Inc. v. Northway, Inc., 426 U.S. 438 (1976) (“TSC Industries”) at 449 (further explaining that information is material if there is a substantial likelihood that disclosure of the omitted fact would have been viewed by the reasonable investor as having significantly altered the “total mix” of information available). The definitions of “material” in Rule 12b-2 of the Exchange Act and Rule 405 of the Securities Act, are consistent with TSC Industries.

company or industry specific, and some are a combination of external and internal information. Some companies voluntarily disclose specialized, company-specific sales metrics, such as same store sales or revenue per subscriber. Some companies also voluntarily disclose environmental metrics, including metrics regarding the observed effect of prior events on their operations.

We remind companies that, when including metrics in their disclosure, they should consider existing MD&A requirements⁷ and the need to include such further material information, if any, as may be necessary in order to make the presentation of the metric, in light of the circumstances under which it is presented, not misleading.⁸ In this regard, a company should first consider the extent to which an existing regulatory disclosure framework applies, such as Generally Accepted Accounting Standards (“GAAP”)⁹ or, for “non-GAAP measures,” Regulation G or Item 10 of Regulation S-K.¹⁰ In addition, the company should consider what additional information may be

⁷ See footnotes 2 and 3 above and corresponding text. The company should provide a narrative that enables investors to see a company “through the eyes of management,” so these metrics should not deviate materially from metrics used to manage operations or make strategic decisions.

⁸ See Rule 408(a) [17 CFR 230.408(a)] and Rule 12b-20 [17 CFR 240.12b-20].

⁹ This would include subsets of line items presented on the face or in the footnotes to the financial statements and ratios or statistical measures calculated using exclusively measures calculated or disclosed pursuant to GAAP. Here, we use the term GAAP to refer to the FASB Accounting Standards Codification or other comprehensive bases of accounting used in primary financial statements filed with the Commission.

¹⁰ See Regulation G [17 CFR 244.100-244.102]. See also Item 10(e) of Regulation S-K. [17 CFR 229.10(e)]. Item 10(e)(4) of Regulation S-K states that, for purposes of Item 10(e), non-GAAP financial measures exclude operating and other statistical measures; and ratios or statistical measures calculated using exclusively one or both of (i) financial measures calculated in accordance with GAAP, and (ii) operating measures or other measures that are not non-GAAP financial measures. The Commission has stated that operating and other statistical measures such as unit sales, numbers of employees, numbers of subscribers, or numbers of advertisers are not non-GAAP financial measures. See Conditions for Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures, Release No. 33-8176 (Jan. 22, 2003) [68 FR 4819 (Jan. 30, 2003)].

necessary to provide adequate context for an investor to understand the metric presented.¹¹ We would generally expect, based on the facts and circumstances, the following disclosures to accompany the metric:

- A clear definition of the metric and how it is calculated;
- A statement indicating the reasons why the metric provides useful information to investors; and
- A statement indicating how management uses the metric in managing or monitoring the performance of the business.

The company should also consider whether there are estimates or assumptions underlying the metric or its calculation, and whether disclosure of such items is necessary for the metric not to be materially misleading.

If a company changes the method by which it calculates or presents the metric from one period to another or otherwise, the company should consider the need to disclose, to the extent material: (1) The differences in the way the metric is calculated or presented compared to prior periods, (2) the reasons for such changes, (3) the effects of any such change on the amounts or other information being disclosed and on amounts or other information previously reported, and (4) such other differences in methodology and results that would reasonably be expected to be relevant to an understanding of the company's performance or prospects.

Depending on the significance of the change(s) in methodology and results, the company should consider whether it is necessary to recast prior metrics to conform to the current presentation and place the current disclosure in an appropriate context.

Additionally, we remind companies of the requirement to maintain effective disclosure controls and procedures.¹² Effective controls and procedures are important when disclosing material key performance indicators or metrics that are derived from the company's own information. When key performance indicators and metrics are material to an investment or voting decision, the company should consider whether it has effective controls and procedures in place to process information related to the disclosure of such items to ensure consistency as well as accuracy.¹³

II. Codification Update

The "Codification of Financial Reporting Policies" announced in Financial Reporting Release 1 (April 15, 1982) [47 FR 21028] is updated by adding new Section 501.16, captioned "Additional Guidance on Key Performance Indicators and Metrics" to the Financial Reporting Codification and under that caption including the text in Section I of this release.

The Codification is a separate publication of the Commission. It will not be published in the Federal Register or Code of Federal Regulations.

III. Other Matters

Pursuant to the Congressional Review Act,¹⁴ the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs has designated this guidance as not a "major rule," as defined by 5 U.S.C. 804(2).
