

updates to the RWD Plan would improve the accuracy of the inventory of OCC's Recovery Tools and improve OCC's evaluation of scenarios which may potentially prevent OCC from providing its Critical Services as a going-concern, as well as OCC's plans for recovery or orderly wind-down. Further, the proposed changes to the Plan would update and improve the information that a resolution authority may reasonably anticipate as necessary for purposes of recovery and orderly wind-down planning.²⁴ In this regard, OCC believes its proposed rule change is consistent with Rule 17Ad-22(e)(3)(ii).²⁵

The proposed rule change is not inconsistent with the existing rules of OCC, including any other rules proposed to be amended.

(B) Clearing Agency's Statement on Burden on Competition

Section 17A(b)(3)(I) of the Act²⁶ requires that the rules of a clearing agency not impose any burden on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. OCC does not believe that the proposed rule change would impact or impose any burden on competition.²⁷ The proposed rule change would update OCC's RWD Plan. The proposed updates to the RWD Plan are the result of OCC's annual review and update process; these proposed changes would revise certain factual representations, update certain organizational discussion and make changes to conform to OCC's adopted Capital Management Policy. None of the proposed updates to the RWD Plan would affect Clearing Members' access to OCC's services or impose any direct burdens on clearing members. Accordingly, the proposed rule change would not unfairly inhibit access to OCC's services or disadvantage or favor any particular user in relationship to another user.

For the foregoing reasons, OCC believes that the proposed rule change is in the public interest, would be consistent with the requirements of the Act applicable to clearing agencies, and would not impact or impose a burden on competition.

(C) Clearing Agency's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants or Others

Written comments on the proposed rule change were not and are not intended to be solicited with respect to the proposed rule change and none have been received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 45 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period up to 90 days (i) as the Commission may designate if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

- (A) By order approve or disapprove the proposed rule change, or
- (B) institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, FINRA included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. FINRA has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

³In 2008, the FINRA Regulation By-Laws were amended to, among other things, designate the FINRA Board as the body authorized to oversee the NAC and empowered to remove NAC members for refusal, failure, neglect, or inability to discharge duties. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 58909 (November 6, 2008), 73 FR 68467 (November 18, 2008) (Order Approving File No. SR-FINRA-2008-046). Under the FINRA By-Laws, members of the FINRA Board can be removed under the same grounds, plus an additional ground. See infra note 8.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

FINRA Regulation is the regulatory subsidiary of FINRA and operates according to the Plan of Allocation and Delegation of Functions by FINRA to Subsidiaries (the "Plan").⁴ The FINRA Regulation By-Laws authorize the NAC to function on behalf of the FINRA Board in several capacities.⁵ For example, the NAC presides over disciplinary matters appealed to or called for review by the NAC; acts on applications in statutory disqualification and membership proceedings; exercises exemptive authority; and acts in other proceedings as set forth in the FINRA Rule 9000 Series (Code of Procedure). The FINRA Board may also delegate other powers and duties to the NAC as the FINRA Board deems appropriate and in a manner not inconsistent with the Plan.⁶ For most matters that the NAC considers, the NAC prepares proposed written decisions that become final FINRA action if the FINRA Board does not call them for review.

FINRA periodically reviews its and FINRA Regulation's By-Laws to ensure adherence to effective governance practices. The FINRA Regulation By-Laws currently permit the FINRA Board to remove "any or all members" of the NAC from office at any time for refusal, failure, neglect, or inability to discharge the duties of the office.⁷ By comparison, the FINRA By-Laws include those grounds for removal of a Governor from the FINRA Board plus an additional ground allowing for removal for any cause affecting the best interests of FINRA the sufficiency of which the FINRA Board shall be the sole judge.⁸ The proposed rule change would amend Article V, Section 5.8 of the FINRA Regulation By-Laws to align the bases for removal of a member of the NAC in the FINRA Regulation By-Laws with those of the FINRA By-Laws for removal of a Governor. Specifically, the proposed rule change would provide that a NAC member could be removed by a majority vote of the FINRA Board for any cause affecting the best interests

⁴ See Plan, II. FINRA Regulation, Inc., <https://www.finra.org/rules-guidance/rulebooks/corporate-organization/ii-finra-regulation-inc>.

⁵ See Article V, Sec. 5.1 of the FINRA Regulation By-Laws.

⁶ See supra note 5.

⁷ See Article V, Section 5.8 of the FINRA Regulation By-Laws.

⁸ See Article VII, Section 1(b) of the FINRA By-Laws.

of the NAC, the sufficiency of which the FINRA Board shall be the sole judge.

FINRA notes that the voting threshold for removal of a NAC member differs from that of a Governor. The former requires a majority vote of the FINRA Board, while the latter requires a two-thirds vote.⁹ The higher voting threshold for removal of a Governor reflects the historical standard that existed at the National Association of Securities Dealers ("NASD") prior to its 2007 merger with the member regulation, enforcement and arbitration operations of the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") that formed FINRA, and provides an additional safeguard at the FINRA Board level to ensure a diverse, majority non-industry composition, and fair representation of the industry in governance matters.¹⁰

Given the NAC's adjudicatory role, the best interests of the NAC are more targeted than the best interests of FINRA. The best interests of the NAC are reflected in conduct and attributes that ensure that the NAC remains an unbiased and competent adjudicatory body that is free of conflicts of interest, that its members conduct themselves with integrity, and that its decisions are rendered fairly and consistently with the law and rules that govern FINRA members and their associated persons. In considering whether to remove a NAC member for a cause affecting the best interests of the NAC, the FINRA Board may consider, among other things, a NAC member's adherence to general standards concerning actual and apparent adjudicator conflicts of interest and bias,¹¹ and to the NAC's Conflict of Interest and Bias Policy ("Policy"). The Policy sets forth broad-based principles of behavior that are expected from NAC members.¹² Removal of a NAC member

⁹ Both FINRA and FINRA Regulation are corporations organized under Delaware law. The Delaware General Corporation Law provides that, in general, directors may be removed by a majority vote of the shares then entitled to vote at an election of directors. See Del. Code Ann. tit. 8, § 141(k). While the standard for removal of NAC members is not directly subject to the Delaware General Corporation Law, FINRA has adopted a removal threshold for NAC members that is consistent with the removal threshold for directors under the Delaware Corporation Law.

¹⁰ The FINRA Regulation By-Laws addressing the composition of the NAC also provide for a diverse, majority non-industry composition, and for the fair representation of industry. See Article V, Section 5.2(a) of the FINRA Regulation By-Laws; See also Securities Exchange Act Release No. 78094 (June 17, 2016), 81 FR 40932, 40934-35 (June 23, 2016).

¹¹ See, e.g., Article IV, Section 4.14(a) of the FINRA Regulation By-Laws.

¹² The principles outlined in the Policy are Independence, Impartiality, Integrity, Accountability and Transparency; and place upon NAC adjudicators the responsibility for recognizing and reporting actual and apparent conflicts of interest and bias.

from office is a facts and circumstances determination. The additional removal authority provided in the proposed rule change may, depending on the facts and circumstances, overlap in part with the FINRA Board's existing authority to remove a NAC member. However, depending on the facts and circumstances, it may also provide an additional basis for removal for a cause affecting the best interests of the NAC that does not fall within the scope of the FINRA Board's current removal authority.

In order to balance the NAC's ability to perform certain actions on behalf of FINRA¹³ with the FINRA Board's authority to review such actions,¹⁴ FINRA believes that it is reasonable and appropriate to amend the FINRA Regulation By-Laws to align the grounds under which members of the NAC and FINRA Board can be removed. In doing so, the proposed rule change will strengthen the FINRA Board's oversight of the NAC and benefit the appellate portion of FINRA's disciplinary process, in which the NAC prepares the decision that becomes FINRA's final action in the vast majority of cases.

If the Commission approves the proposed rule change, the effective date of the proposed rule change will be the date of Commission approval.

2. Statutory Basis

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,¹⁵ which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules must be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest; and Section 15A(b)(4) of the Act, which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules be designed to assure a fair representation of FINRA's members in the administration of its affairs.¹⁶ FINRA believes that the proposed By-Laws change will strengthen its governance practices by aligning grounds for removal of NAC members with those of the FINRA Governors. The FINRA By-Law provision that allows for the Board's direct ability to remove a Governor for any cause affecting the best interests of FINRA existed in the By-Laws of the NASD prior to its 2007 merger with the NYSE, and was also a part of the By-Laws that were previously found to meet the statutory requirement when the NASD merged with the member regulation, enforcement and arbitration operations of the NYSE to form FINRA.¹⁷ FINRA also believes applying the same standard to removal of NAC members will support a fair and impartial disciplinary process for members and their associated persons. FINRA further believes that the proposed rule change will strengthen investor protection and further the public interest by bolstering the integrity of the NAC and strengthening existing FINRA Regulation By-Laws that foster a framework in which NAC members may perform their duties free from bias or conflicts of interest. In addition, FINRA believes that the proposed rule change furthers FINRA's ability to assure a fair representation of FINRA members on the NAC by enhancing the FINRA Board's ability to remove NAC members for conduct that might hamper the NAC's adjudicatory function.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. FINRA has evaluated the potential for economic impacts associated with the proposed rule change and determined that no material costs or benefits were likely to arise. The proposed rule change would not require member firms or other persons appearing before the NAC to incur any direct costs or change their behaviors in any way. All potential actions taken pursuant to the proposed rule change would be taken by the FINRA Board. Further, FINRA's other By-Law provisions remain unchanged, so the proposed rule change will have no material impact on fair process to litigants.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 45 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i)

as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

- (A) By order approve or disapprove such proposed rule change, or
- (B) institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.
