Comments Received: Five commenters provided their views about the exemption threshold. One commenter did not believe the exemption threshold should be changed, three commenters recommended raising the exemption threshold from $1 million to $10 million, and one commenter noted they were not opposed to raising the exemption threshold but argued that any foregone revenue should result in a dollar-for-dollar reduction to the NCUA budget.

NCUA Response: Given the lack of consensus between the respondents to this question, the Board will study the operating fee exemption threshold further and consider potential future changes. The Board is not making any changes to the current exemption threshold at this time.

Third, the Board sought comment on ways to encourage FCUs and FISCUs to complete an annual diversity survey. The NCUA provides credit unions an annual voluntary diversity self-assessment, as authorized by law.⁴² The Board sought comment on whether and in what amount FCUs that complete an annual voluntary diversity self-assessment should receive a modest discount on the FCU operating fee due in the subsequent year. The Board also sought comment on appropriate incentives in this area for FISCUs, which do not pay an annual operating fee to the NCUA. Alternatively, the Board sought comment on other non-financial incentives that might encourage both FCUs and FISCUs to participate in the survey.

Comments Received: The NCUA received six comments in response to questions about incentives for completing the voluntary diversity self-assessment. None of the commenters provided specific or actionable recommendations for incentives that would encourage participation in the self-assessment. Four commenters encouraged the NCUA to ensure that equal incentives are provided to both FCUs and FISCUs, while one commenter raised concerns that any incentive provided to FCUs not result in changes to the OTR without appropriate notice to the public. One commenter opposed any incentives for participating in the assessment.

NCUA Response: Given the lack of clear consensus among respondents to this question, the Board believes it must study further how to create incentives for completing the voluntary diversity self-assessment. The Board will be mindful of those commenters that suggested that there should be equity between FCUs and FISCUs for any incentive program. The Board is not establishing any incentives for completing the diversity self-assessment at this time.

By the National Credit Union Administration Board on December 17, 2020.

Melane Conyers-Ausbrooks,
Secretary of the Board.
