I. Introduction

This rule repromulgates provisions of Part 75 that were originally published late in 2016 in a rulemaking which the Department had serious concerns about compliance with certain requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act. This rule also finalizes proposed changes to § 75.300, on statutory and national policy requirements to bring them into alignment with the Department's statutory authorities, including those underlying part 75. The Department is committed to the principle that every person must be treated with dignity and respect and afforded all of the protections of the Constitution and statutes enacted by Congress—and to fully enforcing such civil rights protections and requirements. The Department has determined, however, that the public policy requirements it imposed in the existing § 75.300(c) and (d) disrupted the balance struck by Congress with respect to nondiscrimination requirements applicable to grant recipients and, as evidenced by the requests for accommodations and lawsuits, will violate the Religious Freedom Restoration Act, 42 U.S.C. 2000bb-2000bb-4 (RFRFA), in some circumstances.¹ The Department also believes that these requirements have sowed uncertainty that, over time, could decrease the effectiveness of Department-funded programs by deterring participation in them.

¹ Some non-Federal entities and commenters argued that the Department lacked the legal authority to promulgate existing § 75.300(c) and (d). While the Department is concerned about its statutory authority for these existing provisions, it does not need to resolve the issue definitively because the Department believes that amending these provisions is warranted in light of the other reasons set forth in this preamble.

Given the careful balancing of rights, obligations, and goals in the public-private partnerships in Federal grant programs, the Department believes it appropriate to impose only those nondiscrimination requirements required by the Constitution and federal statutes applicable to the Department's grantees. But such authorities do not support the application of some of the requirements in existing § 75.300(c) and (d) to all recipients of Departmental assistance or to all Department-funded programs. Accordingly, the Department revises § 75.300(c) to recognize the public policy requirement that otherwise eligible persons not be excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination in the administration of programs and services where such actions are prohibited by federal statute. The Department also revises § 75.300(d) to state clearly that the Department will follow all applicable Supreme Court decisions in the administration of the Department's award programs.²

With respect to the other provisions in the 2016 rulemaking, the Department repromulgates § 75.305(a), which addressed the applicability of certain payment provisions to states; § 75.365, which authorized the grant agency to require recipients to permit public access to various materials produced under a grant, but authorized the agency to place restrictions on grantees' ability to make public any personally identifiable information or other information that would be exempt from disclosure under FOIA; § 75.414(c)(1)(i) through (iii) and (f), which established limits on the amount of indirect costs allowable under certain types of grants; and § 75.477, which established that recipients could not include, in allowable costs under HHS grants, any tax payment imposed on an employer for failure to comply with the Affordable Care Act's employer shared responsibility provisions, but does not repromulgate the exclusion from allowable costs in grants of penalties due for failing to comply with the individual shared responsibility provision because such tax penalty has been reduced to zero except for tax penalties associated with failure to maintain minimum essential coverage prior to January 1, 2019.

² The final rule also does not repromulgate, and removes, § 75.101(f); with the amendments to § 75.300(c) and (d), the provision is not necessary.
