Proposal Under OMB Delegated Authority To Extend for Three Years, With Revision, the Following Information Collection

Report title: Report of Selected Money Market Rates.

Agency form number: FR 2420.

OMB control number: 7100-0357.

Frequency: Daily.

Respondents: Commercial banks, savings associations, branches and agencies of foreign banks, international banking facilities, and significant banking organizations representing entities actively participating in the federal funds and/or other money markets.

Estimated number of respondents: 181 commercial banks, savings associations, U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks, and significant banking organizations; 77 international banking facilities.

Estimated average hours per response: 2.0 commercial banks, savings associations, U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks, and significant banking organizations; 1.1 international banking facilities.

Estimated annual burden hours: 90,500 commercial banks, savings associations, U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks, and significant banking organizations; 21,175 international banking facilities.

General description of report: The FR 2420 is a transaction-based report that collects daily liability data on federal funds purchased, selected borrowings from non-exempt entities,¹ Eurodollar transactions, and time deposits and certificates of deposits (CDs) from (1) domestically chartered commercial banks and savings associations that have $18 billion or more in total assets as well as those that have total assets above $5 billion but less than $18 billion and meet the activity threshold, (2) U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks with total third-party assets of $2.5 billion or more, and (3) significant banking organizations that are active participants in money markets. The FR 2420 also collects daily data on Eurodollar transactions from International Banking Facilities (IBFs) of the above-referenced institutions. The FR 2420 data are used in the publication of the Effective Federal Funds Rate (EFFR) and Overnight Bank Funding Rate (OBFRR) and in analysis of current money market conditions.

Proposed revisions: The Board proposes to add a data item to specify the day-count convention used for all interest rates reported on the FR 2420 reporting form. The Board also proposes revisions to the FR 2420 instructions to allow for more timely collection of data, improve monitoring of the transition away from the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR), strengthen the reference rate production process, and ensure the integrity of reported data. The proposed revisions support the

Board's monetary policy and supervisory mandates by providing greater insight into funding market conditions in periods where conditions change rapidly, potentially affecting policy measures taken by the Federal Reserve. The proposed revisions to FR 2420 would be effective with the January 1, 2022, as of date.

Reporting Form Revisions

The Board proposes to add a data item to specify the day-count convention used for all interest rates reported on FR 2420. The Federal Reserve has identified limited instances of reporting institutions using multiple day-count conventions in calculating reported interest rates, specifically found in the reporting of Part C interest rates. The proposed revision would improve the accuracy of reported data, benefiting the Federal Reserve's monitoring of funding market conditions and strengthening the production of the EFFR and OBFR. The proposed data item would provide the following day-count conventions as options: Actual/360, actual/365, 30/360, 30/365, actual/actual, and other.

Instruction Revisions

Additional Reference Rate Options for Floating-Rate Time Deposits and CDs (Part C)

The Board proposes to include additional reference rates to which floating-rate time deposits and CDs are tied. The additional rates include the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR), other SOFR-based rates, and OBFR, all of which are published daily by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York (FRBNY). Other SOFR-based rates include the SOFR Index and the SOFR Averages over 30, 90, and 180 days. This revision would improve the ability of the Federal Reserve to monitor the progress of the transition from LIBOR to SOFR with respect to floating-rate money market instruments.²

Earlier Deadline for Submission of Time Deposit and CD Data (General Instructions)

The Board proposes to change the deadline for submission of time deposit and CD data in Part C to 2 p.m. ET one business day (T+1) after the report date, rather than two business days (T+2) after the report date. This proposed change would provide more timely data and improve the Federal Reserve's monitoring of funding market conditions. The change would be particularly beneficial on occasions when market conditions change quickly, such as when a deterioration in time deposit and CD markets may produce spillovers to other markets.

Earlier Deadline for Submission of Federal Funds Purchased, Eurodollar, and Selected Deposits Data (General Instructions)

The Board proposes to change the deadline for submission of Federal Funds Purchased, Eurodollars, and Selected Deposits data in Parts A, B, and D to 7 p.m. ET the same day (T+0) as the transaction date, rather than 7 a.m. ET one business day (T+1) after the transaction date. The proposed earlier reporting deadline would allow for more opportunity for data review and validation, reducing operational risk associated with the publication of the EFFR and OBFR.

Clarifications To Prevent Errors (Parts C and D)

The Board proposes other minor additions to the FR 2420 instructions to prevent confusion and errors on the part of reporting institutions. Guidance would be added for certain reciprocal deposits, including insured deposit cash sweeps and Certificate of Deposit Account Registry Service deposits (Part C). Additional guidance would be included on the correct reporting of brokered deposits (Part C) and certain securities lending transactions (Part D).

Legal authorization and confidentiality: The FR 2420 is authorized by section 11 of the Federal Reserve Act (FRA) and section 7 of the International Banking Act of 1978 (IBA). Section 11 of the FRA authorizes the Board to require reports from depository institutions as it may deem necessary and authorizes the Board to prescribe reports of liabilities and assets from insured depository institutions to enable the Board to discharge its responsibility to monitor and control monetary and credit aggregates (12 U.S.C. 248(a)). Section 7 of the IBA provides that federal branches and agencies of foreign banks are subject to section 11 of the FRA as if they were state member banks (12 U.S.C. 3105(c)). The obligation to respond to the FR 2420 is mandatory.

The FRBNY uses aggregate data from the FR 2420 to publish the EFFR, OBFR, and associated statistics daily. The information provided by individual respondents to the FR 2420 is nonpublic commercial or financial information, which is both customarily and actually treated as private by the respondents. Responses to the FR 2420 are therefore accorded confidential treatment pursuant to exemption 4 of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)).

Consultation outside the agency: A group of large FR 2420 respondents (less than 10) were consulted in November 2020 regarding the feasibility of reporting timestamps for FR 2420 transactions, shifting reporting deadlines, and the day-count conventions used when reporting interest rates on FR 2420 transactions. Outreach results suggest that timestamps for transactions are not recorded in a consistent fashion across respondents, and thus the current proposals do not call for the reporting of timestamps. Outreach also suggests that most respondents currently report Parts A, B, and D of the FR 2420 report on a T+0 basis, and no respondents consulted suggested that a T+0 reporting deadline for Parts A, B, and D was not feasible. Most respondents consulted noted that they should be able to report Part C transactions on a T+1 basis. Feedback also showed that most transactions are reported using the actual/360 day-count convention for interest rates, but other day-count conventions are used for some reported transactions.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, April 29, 2021.

Deputy Associate Secretary of the Board.
