SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

In the Federal Register of January 23, 2018 (83 FR 3163) and a correction in the Federal Register of February 5, 2018 (83 FR 5106), FDA published the notice of availability for a draft guidance #245 entitled “Hazard Analysis and Risk-Based Preventive Controls for Food for Animals,” giving interested persons until July 23, 2018, to comment on the draft guidance. FDA received numerous comments on the draft guidance and those comments were considered as the guidance was finalized. We have made some changes and updates. First, we removed Appendix E: “Aid to Identifying Animal Food Hazards” based on comments questioning how it should be used and concerns about how to distinguish whether a listed hazard is known or reasonably foreseeable for a facility, specific ingredient, or type of animal food. Second, we provided additional clarity, based on comments, that not all the known or reasonably foreseeable hazard examples in the guidance are applicable to all animal food. Third, we included additional examples of certain hazards in animal food, preventive controls, and situations that would require a reanalysis of a food safety plan. Fourth, we updated some of the references used throughout the guidance. Lastly, editorial and formatting changes were made to improve clarity and consistency. The guidance announced in this notice finalizes the draft guidance dated January 23, 2018.

This level 1 guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The guidance represents the current thinking of FDA on “Hazard Analysis and Risk-Based Preventive Controls for Food for Animals.” It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

While this guidance contains no collection of information, it does refer to previously approved FDA collections of information. Therefore, clearance by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3501–3521) is not required for this guidance. The previously approved collections of information are subject to review by OMB under the PRA. The collections of information in 21 CFR part 507 have been approved under OMB Control No. 0910-0751.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98-417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100-670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years so long as the patented item (human drug or biologic product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive) was subject to regulatory review by FDA before the item was marketed. Under these acts, a product's regulatory review period forms the basis for determining the amount of extension an applicant may receive.

A regulatory review period consists of two periods of time: a testing phase and an approval phase. For human biological products, the testing phase begins when the exemption to permit the clinical investigations of the biological product becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial submission of an application to market the human biological product and continues until FDA grants permission to market the biological product. Although only a portion of a regulatory review period may count toward the actual amount of extension that the Director of USPTO may award (for example, half the testing phase must be subtracted as well as any time that may have occurred before the patent was issued), FDA's determination of the length of a regulatory review period for a human biological product will include all of the testing phase and approval phase as specified in 35 U.S.C. 156(g)(1)(B).

FDA has approved for marketing the human biologic product PADCEV (enfortumab vedotin-ejfv). PADCEV is indicated for the treatment of adult patients with locally advanced or metastatic urothelial cancer who have previously received a programmed death receptor-1 or programmed death-ligand inhibitor, and a platinum-containing chemotherapy in the neoadjuvant/adjuvant, locally advanced or metastatic setting. This indication is approved under accelerated approval based on tumor response rate. Continued approval for this indication may be contingent upon verification and description of clinical benefit in confirmatory trials. Subsequent to this approval, the USPTO received patent term restoration applications for PADCEV (U.S. Patent Nos. 9,078,931; 9,314,538; 9,962,454; RE48,389 (previously U.S. Patent No. 8,637,642)) from AGENSY, Inc. and SEATTLE GENETICS, Inc., and the USPTO requested FDA's assistance in determining the patents' eligibility for patent term restoration. In a letter dated December 14, 2020, FDA advised the USPTO that this human biological product had undergone a regulatory review period and that the approval of PADCEV represented the first permitted commercial marketing or use of the product. Thereafter, the USPTO requested that FDA determine the product's regulatory review period.

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the applicable regulatory review period for PADCEV is 2,546 days. Of this time, 2,389 days occurred during the testing phase of the regulatory review period, while 157 days occurred during the approval phase. These periods of time were derived from the following dates:

1. The date an exemption under section 505(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 355(i)) became effective: December 30, 2012. The applicants' claim January 4, 2013, as the date the investigational new drug application (IND) became effective. However, FDA records indicate that the IND effective date was December 30, 2012, which was the first date after receipt of the IND that the investigational studies were allowed to proceed.

2. The date the application was initially submitted with respect to the human biological product under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262): July 15, 2019. FDA has verified the applicants' claims that the biologics license application (BLA) for PADCEV (BLA 761137) was initially submitted on July 15, 2019.

3. The date the application was approved: December 18, 2019. FDA has verified the applicants' claims that BLA 761137 was approved on December 18, 2019.

This determination of the regulatory review period establishes the maximum potential length of a patent extension. However, the USPTO applies several statutory limitations in its calculations of the actual period for patent extension. In its applications for patent extension, this applicant seeks 374 days, 748 days, or 811 days of patent term extension.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and, under 21 CFR 60.24, ask for a redetermination (see DATES). Furthermore, as specified in § 60.30 (21 CFR 60.30), any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period. To meet its burden, the petition must comply with all the requirements of § 60.30, including but not limited to: must be timely (see DATES), must be filed in accordance with § 10.20, must contain sufficient facts to merit an FDA investigation, and must certify that a true and complete copy of the petition has been served upon the patent applicant. (See H. Rept. 857, part 1, 98th Cong., 2d sess., pp. 41–42, 1984.) Petitions should be in the format specified in 21 CFR 10.30.

Submit petitions electronically to <https://www.regulations.gov> at Docket No. FDA–2013–S–0610. Submit written petitions (two copies are required) to the Dockets Management Staff (HFA–305), Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.
