I. Background

The Orrin G. Hatch-Bob Goodlatte Music Modernization Act (the “MMA”) substantially modified the compulsory “mechanical” license for reproducing and distributing phonorecords of nondramatic musical works under 17 U.S.C. 115. It did so by switching from a song-by-song licensing system to a blanket licensing regime that became available on January 1, 2021 (the “license availability date”). administered by a mechanical licensing collective (the “MLC”) designated by the Copyright Office (the “Office”).

Digital music providers (“DMPs”) are able to obtain this new statutory mechanical blanket license (the “blanket license”) to make digital phonorecord deliveries of nondramatic musical works, including in the form of permanent downloads, limited downloads, or interactive streams (referred to in the statute as “covered activity” where such activity qualifies for a blanket license), subject to various requirements, including reporting obligations. DMPs also have the option to engage in these activities, in whole or in part, through voluntary licenses with copyright owners.

A. The Copyright Royalty Judges’ Late Fee Regulations

Under section 115, the Copyright Royalty Judges (“CRJs”) are responsible for setting the blanket license’s rates and terms of royalty payments. As part of this ratesetting authority, the CRJs’ determinations “may include terms with respect to late payment[s]” (“late fees”). The Office has a corresponding responsibility to oversee the administration of the blanket license, including promulgating regulations governing reporting and payment requirements for DMPs. The MMA added a new provision to section 115 to address the new blanket license, stating that “[l]ate fees for past due royalty payments shall accrue from the due date for payment until payment is received by the [MLC].”

The currently operative late fee provision was adopted by the CRJs as part of an approved settlement in the Phonorecords IV proceeding, which covers the time period 2023 through 2027. The provision states that “[a] Licensee shall pay a late fee of 1.5% per month, or the highest lawful rate, whichever is lower, for any payment owed to a Copyright Owner and remaining unpaid after the due date established in 17 U.S.C. 115(c)(2)(I) or 17 U.S.C. 115(d)(4)(A)(i),” as applicable and detailed in part 210 of this title.” It further provides that “[l]ate fees shall accrue from the due date until the Copyright Owner receives payment.” In adopting the parties’ settlement, the CRJs found that the late fee provision was “not unreasonable.”

B. The Office’s September 2020 Rule and Adjustments

On September 17, 2020, the Office issued an interim rule adopting regulations concerning reporting and payment requirements under the blanket license (the “September 2020 Rule”).14 The September 2020 Rule addressed the ability of DMPs to make adjustments to monthly and annual reports and related royalty payments, including to correct errors and replace estimated royalty calculation inputs (e.g., the amount of applicable public performance royalties) with finally determined figures.15 The interim regulations permit DMPs to make adjustments in other situations as well, such as in exceptional circumstances, following a report of adjustment must be delivered to the MLC no later than 6 months after the occurrence of a relevant triggering event.20 Any underpayment of royalties associated with a report of adjustment must be paid to the MLC contemporaneously with delivery of the report of adjustment or promptly after receiving an invoice from the MLC.21

During the course of the rulemaking proceeding that culminated in the September 2020 Rule, interested parties, including the MLC and DCL, raised opposing views about whether late fees adopted by the CRJs apply to royalty payments made in connection with reports of adjustment.22 The DLC proposed that the Office adopt regulations to clarify that adjustments to estimates are not a basis for assessing late fees where a DMP makes its estimates and adjustments in accordance with the Office’s regulations, including applicable reporting deadlines.23 In support of its proposal, the DLC said that “the late fee is meant to ensure that digital music providers are following the regulations,” and “[i]f a service is following the regulations by making a reasonable estimate of an input it does not know the value of, it should not be penalized with a late fee even if it so happens that the estimate is too low.”24 The MLC and others disagreed with the DLC’s position, and the MLC proposed regulatory text providing that no estimate shall change or affect the due date for royalty payments or the applicability of late fees to any underpayment resulting from an estimate.25 In support of its proposal, the MLC stated that the relevant due date is the monthly due date set by statute regardless of any adjustment, and that “[t]o permit DMPs to estimate inputs in a manner that results in underpayment to songwriters and copyright owners, without the penalty of late fees, encourages DMPs to underpay, to the detriment of songwriters and copyright owners.”26

After reviewing the relevant comments, the Office explained that it “appreciates the need for relevant regulations to avoid unfairly penalizing DMPs who make good faith estimates from incurring late fees due to subsequent finalization of those inputs outside the DMPs’ control, and also to avoid incentivizing DMPs from applying estimates in a manner that results in an initial underpayment that delays royalty payments to copyright owners and other songwriters.”27 The Office, however, declined to adopt a rule addressing the interplay between the CRJs’ late fee regulation and the Office’s provisions for adjustments because it was not clear at the time of the September 2020 Rule that doing so would be the best course, “particularly where the CRJs may wish themselves to take the occasion of [the Phonorecords III] remand or otherwise update their operative regulation in light of the [September 2020 Rule].”28 At the time, the Office said it would instead “monitor the operation of this aspect of the [September 2020 Rule], and as appropriate in consultation with the CRJs.”29

C. Current Status

Since the September 2020 Rule, however, the CRJs have not taken any action on the late fee issue and have not indicated that they plan to do so. During this same time period, the MLC and DLC submitted comments in response to a May 2022 amendment to the September 2020 Rule that again raised the issue of late fees and confirmed their continued disagreement on the subject.30 Both the MLC and DLC requested the Office to provide guidance.31 The DLC requested that the Office “specify that when both the initial estimated payments and the later adjustment of such payments to account for the updated and finalized information are made according to the timelines established in the regulations, such payments are proper and have been made by the ‘due date for payment’ as set forth in 17 U.S.C. [sec.] 115(d)(6)(B)(i).” 32 The MLC opposed the DLC’s position 33 and instead proposed regulatory language providing that nothing in the adjustment provisions “shall change a blanket licensee’s liability for late fees, where applicable.” 34 The Office typically does not offer interpretations of the CRJs’ regulations. However, it is squarely within the Office’s authority to interpret the meaning of “due date” as used in the statute. 35 Moreover, Congress expressly authorized the Office to issue regulations establishing the adjustment reporting and payment regime. 36 Thus, the Office is publishing this notification to facilitate a full airing of all relevant issues and to expand the public record to better inform what action the Office should take to address this matter.

II. Subjects of Inquiry

The Office invites written comments on the following subjects:

1. Please provide your views regarding whether a DMP is obligated to pay late fees when it makes an adjustment that reveals an underpayment of royalties. For example, should late fees apply to all adjustments, should they apply to no adjustments, or should they apply only to certain types of adjustments? Should it matter whether a DMP acted reasonably and in good faith and complied with all applicable regulations when it made the reporting or payment that later needed to be adjusted?

Common scenarios, such as adjustments to fix errors in prior reporting as well as the scenarios referenced in 37 CFR 210.27(k)(6), should be discussed. Proposals with specific regulatory language are encouraged.

2. Please provide detailed legal arguments supporting your views about the application of late fees in the context of adjustments, including an analysis of section 115’s text and the legislative history and intent behind any relevant statutory provisions. In particular, commentators should discuss 17 U.S.C. 115(d)(6)(B)(i) and how that provision should be read in connection with the statutory reporting and payment due date provisions in 17 U.S.C. 115(c)(2)(I) and (d)(4)(A)(i) as well as the Office’s regulatory due date provisions for adjustments in 37 CFR 210.27(g)(3), (g)(4), and (k)(1). Commenters should also address how their position is consistent with other provisions referring to due dates, such as 17 U.S.C. 115(c)(2)(J), (d)(3)(G)(i)(II), and (d)(4)(E).

3. Please discuss your understanding of the history and purpose of the CRJs’ authority under 17 U.S.C. 803(c)(7), as adjusted by 17 U.S.C. 115(d)(8)(B), to adopt late fees and of the actual late fee provisions adopted by the CRJs, including in contexts outside of section 115 if relevant. 37

4. What is the appropriate division of the Office’s and CRJs’ respective regulatory authority in this area? For example, can the Office or CRJs adopt a rule pursuant to which late fees may or may not apply depending on the type of adjustment at issue [e.g., where the effect of a hypothetical rule might be that late fees apply to adjustments to estimates, but not to adjustments responding to royalty rate changes adopted by the CRJs]? Is the Office’s authority more limited in relation to the CRJs’ authority (e.g., to determining the applicable due date after which a payment is deemed late)?

5. Please discuss any relevant music industry practices surrounding late fees and adjustments. For example:

a. Did DMPs typically pay late fees to copyright owners in connection with adjustments under section 115 prior to the MMA’s new blanket licensing regime? If not, did copyright owners make any demands for late fees or otherwise respond to the failure to pay late fees?

b. How do voluntary licenses involving covered activity operate in the context of late fees and adjustments? Do such voluntary licenses typically contain late fee provisions? Are they analogous to the one adopted by the CRJs in 37 CFR 385.3? How are they applied to adjustments?

c. Does the nature of a payment—as a royalty payment, late fee payment, interest payment, or some other kind of payment—received by a musical work copyright owner (whether from the MLC or directly from a licensee) typically affect how the payment is accounted and paid through to the copyright owner’s songwriters for mechanical uses of their works made by DMPs or other licensees? If so, please discuss the general industry practice.

d. Are any of the terms of late fee settlements between publishers and record companies who use the section 115 license instructive for the Office to consider in the context of this proceeding? 38

6. Under 37 CFR 210.27(d)(2)(I), there are several requirements that DMPs must comply with to make use of an estimate, including that the estimate must be reasonable and determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”), and the DMP’s reporting must explain the basis for the estimate and why it was necessary. Aside from assessing late fees, could concerns about DMPs potentially abusing the adjustment process be mitigated by enhancing these requirements? Could such concerns be addressed through other additional regulations surrounding estimates or adjustments that could assist the MLC in identifying any DMP noncompliance?

a. Should the Office consider adopting a rule providing that if a DMP’s estimate results in an underpayment of more than a certain amount or percentage, the estimate is per se unreasonable and, thus, not in compliance with the Office’s regulations? 39

7. If the Office concludes that late fees do not apply to certain types of adjustments, could the Office consider adopting regulations requiring DMPs to pay interest on such adjustments to make copyright owners whole for any lost time value of money? If so, what should such regulations look like? What is an appropriate interest rate? Should such regulations be similar to the Office’s current regulations assessing interest on royalties paid with late or amended statements of account under the section 111 and section 119 statutory licenses? Are there any relevant music industry practices related to assessing interest on adjusted royalties?

8. Please provide any additional pertinent information not referenced above that the Office should consider in this proceeding.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

40 CFR Part 180

Receipt of a Pesticide Petition Filed for Residues of Pesticide Chemicals in or on Various Commodities January 2023

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notification of filing of petition and request for comment.

SUMMARY: This document announces the Agency’s receipt of an initial filing of a pesticide petition requesting the establishment or modification of regulations for residues of pesticide chemicals in or on various commodities.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before March 27, 2023.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Submit your comments, identified by docket identification (ID) number EPA–HQ–OPP–2023–0069, through the Federal eRulemaking Portal at https://www.regulations.gov. Follow the online instructions for submitting comments. Do not submit electronically any information you consider to be Confidential Business Information (CBI) or other information whose disclosure is restricted by statute. Additional instructions on commenting and visiting the docket, along with more information about dockets generally, is available at https://www.epa.gov/dockets.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Charles Smith, Biopesticides and Pollution Prevention Division (BPPD) (7511M), main telephone number: (202) 566–1400, email address: BPPDFRNotices@epa.gov; or Dan Rosenblatt, Registration Division (RD) (7505T), main telephone number: (202) 566–2875, email address: RDFRNotices@epa.gov. The mailing address for each contact person is Office of Pesticide Programs, Environmental Protection Agency, 1200 Pennsylvania Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20460–0001. As part of the mailing address, include the contact person’s name, division, and mail code. The division to contact is listed at the end of each application summary.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. General Information

A. Does this action apply to me?

You may be potentially affected by this action if you are an agricultural producer, food manufacturer, or pesticide manufacturer. The following list of North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) codes is not intended to be exhaustive, but rather provides a guide to help readers determine whether this petition applies to them. Potentially affected entities may include:

- Crop production (NAICS code 111).
- Animal production (NAICS code 112).
- Food manufacturing (NAICS code 311).
- Pesticide manufacturing (NAICS code 32532).

B. What should I consider as I prepare my comments for EPA?

1. Submitting CBI. Do not submit this information to EPA through regulations.gov or email. Clearly mark the part or all of the information that you claim to be CBI. For CBI information in a disk or CD–ROM that you wish to submit, prepare the outside of the disk or CD–ROM as CBI and then identify electronically within the disk or CD–ROM the specific information that is claimed as CBI. In addition to one complete version of the comment that includes information claimed as CBI, a copy of the comment that does not contain the information claimed as CBI must be submitted for inclusion in the public docket. Information so marked will not be disclosed except in accordance with procedures set forth in 40 CFR part 2.

2. Tips for preparing your comments. When preparing and submitting your comments, see the commenting tips at https://www.epa.gov/dockets/comments.html.

3. Environmental justice. EPA seeks to achieve environmental justice, the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of any group, including minority and/or low-income populations, in the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies. To help address potential environmental justice issues, the Agency seeks information on any groups or segments of the population who, as a result of their location, cultural practices, or other factors, may have atypical and disproportionately high and adverse human health impacts or environmental effects from exposure to the pesticides discussed in this document, compared to the general population.

II. What action is the Agency taking?

EPA is announcing receipt of a pesticide petition filed under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA), 21 U.S.C. 346a, requesting the establishment or modification of regulations in 40 CFR part 180 for residues of pesticide chemicals in or on various food commodities. The Agency is taking public comment on the request before responding to the petitioner. EPA is not proposing any particular action at this time. EPA has determined that the pesticide petition described in this document contains data or information prescribed in FFDCA section 408(d)(2). 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2); however, EPA has not fully evaluated the sufficiency of the submitted data at this time or whether the data supports granting of the pesticide petition. After considering the public comments, EPA intends to evaluate whether and what action may be warranted. Additional data may be needed before EPA can make a final determination on this pesticide petition.

Pursuant to 40 CFR 180.7(f), a summary of the petition is the subject of this document. EPA, the petitioner, is included in a docket EPA has created for this rulemaking.
