Congress requires the relevant advisory committee to hold a public hearing regarding proposed fees after receiving them from the USPTO. Congress, likewise, requires the relevant advisory committee to prepare a written report on proposed fees and the USPTO to consider the relevant advisory committee's report before setting or adjusting fees.

The USPTO will publish a proposed trademark fee schedule and related supplementary information for public viewing no later than May 19, 2023, on the fee setting and adjusting section of the USPTO website, www.uspto.gov/FeeSettingAndAdjusting. The TPAC will hold a public hearing regarding the proposed trademark fee schedule on the date indicated in this notice. The USPTO will assist the TPAC in holding the hearing by providing resources to organize the hearing and notifying the public. Following the TPAC public hearing and considering all comments, advice, and recommendations, the USPTO, if it continues with the fee setting process, will publish a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking in the Federal Register, setting forth its proposed trademark fees.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title of Collection: Student Loan Survey.

OMB Control Number: 3170–00XX.

Type of Review: New information collection.

Affected Public: Individuals or households.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 3,750.

Estimated Total Annual Burden Hours: 1,238.

Abstract: Under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, the Bureau is charged with researching, analyzing, and reporting on topics including consumer behavior, consumer awareness, and developments in markets for consumer financial products and services. To improve its understanding of how consumers engage with financial markets, the Bureau has successfully used credit record data as a sampling frame to survey people about their experiences in consumer credit markets.

The Bureau now seeks to obtain approval for a new survey of student loan borrowers to understand their borrowing decisions, their experience managing their loans, and their expectations for the future. The survey will be sent to a random sample selected from individuals in the Bureau's new Consumer Credit Information Panel (CCIP) which is itself a sample of de-identified credit records from one of the nationwide consumer reporting agencies. The survey responses will be matched to the Bureau's CCIP data to provide a more complete picture of borrowers' financial standings. The survey will follow similar methods as in the Bureau's prior Making Ends Meet Survey (approved under OMB Control Number 3170–0066) and Consumer Views on Debt Survey (approved under OMB Control Number 3170–0047) but sample a different population of borrowers and focus primarily on student loans. The Bureau expects to recruit about 15,000 participants to participate in the survey. The Bureau will collect demographics, measures of financial well-being, consumers' feelings about their financial well-being, experiences with the student loan system, and behavioral measures related to seeking out financial information or willingness to take financial-related actions.

Request for Comments: Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the Bureau, including whether the information will have practical utility; (b) The accuracy of the Bureau's estimate of the burden of the collection of information, including the validity of the methods and the assumptions used; (c) Ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) Ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques
