SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

Section 103(h) of the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act of 1977, as amended (Mine Act), 30 U.S.C. 813(h), authorizes MSHA to collect information necessary to carry out its duty in protecting the safety and health of miners. Further, section 101(a) of the Mine Act, 30 U.S.C. 811(a), authorizes the Secretary of Labor (Secretary) to develop, promulgate, and revise as may be appropriate, improved mandatory health or safety standards for the protection of life and prevention of injuries in coal and metal and nonmetal mines.

MSHA works to prevent death, illness, and injury from mining and to promote safe and healthful workplaces for U.S. miners. Section 115 of the Mine Act, 30 U.S.C. 825, requires MSHA to approve mine operators' health and safety training programs for miners. MSHA administers two grant programs: State Grants and Brookwood-Sago Mine Safety Grants. The grant programs provide training for individuals, miners, employers, and contractors in the recognition, avoidance, and prevention of unsafe and unhealthy working conditions in accordance with section 503 of the Mine Act, 30 U.S.C. 953, and section 14 of the Mine Improvement and New Emergency Response Act of 2006 (MINER Act), 30 U.S.C. 965.

State Grants

Under section 503 of the Mine Act, 30 U.S.C. 953, the Secretary may award grants to States to assist in developing and enforcing State mine health and safety laws and regulations, to improve State workers' compensation and mining occupational disease laws and programs, and to improve health and safety conditions in the Nation's mines through Federal-State coordination and cooperation. Any State in which mining takes place may apply for the State Grants. 30 U.S.C. 953(g) requires that MSHA may fund up to 80 percent of the State Grants activities and a Grant recipient must provide matching funds of no less than 20 percent of the total costs. This Grant program supports federally mandated training of miners and mine operators working at surface and underground coal, metal, and nonmetal mines. 30 U.S.C. 953(e) of the Mine Act also allows the program to train State inspectors.

MSHA recognizes that State training programs are a key source of mine safety and health training and education for individuals who work or will work at mines. MSHA encourages State training programs to prioritize health and safety training for small mining operations and underserved mines and miners within the mining industry, and to prioritize diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility. MSHA has recently expanded the priority to include underserved operators and miners including limited English proficient (LEP) and low literacy individuals.

MSHA supports programs that emphasize training on miners' statutory rights, including the right to be provided a safe working environment, to refuse an unsafe task, and to have a voice in the safety and health conditions at the mine. In particular, MSHA encourages grant recipients to address, in their training and education programs, occupational health hazards caused by exposures to respirable coal mine dust and respirable crystalline silica, powered haulage and mobile equipment safety, mine emergency preparedness, mine rescue, electrical safety, contract and customer truck drivers, improving training for new and inexperienced miners, managers and supervisors performing mining tasks, pillar safety for underground mines, and preventing falls from heights.

Brookwood-Sago Mine Safety Grants

Section 14 of the MINER Act, 30 U.S.C. 965, established the Brookwood-Sago Mine Safety Grants. This competitive grant program provides funding for education and training programs to better identify, avoid, and prevent unsafe working conditions in and around mines. Grantees can use these funds to establish and implement education and training programs or to create training materials and programs on MSHA-identified safety priorities. Funds can also be used to develop and implement training and related materials for mine emergency preparedness as well as for the prevention of accidents in underground mines.

MSHA expects Brookwood-Sago Mine Safety grantees to develop training or educational materials and/or provide mine safety training or educational programs, to recruit mine operators and miners to participate in training, and to conduct and evaluate the training program. 30 U.S.C. 965 mandates that
