

ensure that health and safety training initiatives reach all mine workers.

- In addition, MSHA is tracking progress toward its new performance milestone of making half of MSHA signs available in Spanish.

To fulfill these goals and to carry out MSHA's initiatives, the Agency creates the "MSHA Participant Demographic Information Form." This optional form will be distributed among training participants by grantees after completing training. The new survey form will ask training participants to identify their age, gender, ethnicity, race, and primary language spoken. This information will be kept confidential (i.e., the responses are not associated with a specific participant) and will be reported only in the aggregate.

By collecting this demographic and primary language data, MSHA will improve its ability to identify barriers that prevent underserved rural and minority communities from benefitting from MSHA grantees' training and compliance assistance programs and thereby accessing safe and healthy jobs in the mining industry. The collected data may identify training needs for women and individuals with limited English proficiency in underserved communities in rural and minority areas. Equipped with this data, MSHA will be better able to take steps to overcome these barriers and lay out targeted activities, such as increasing the number of MSHA-approved non-English speaking instructors and training materials to assist individuals with low literacy and limited English proficiency.

Additionally, State grantees will submit to MSHA a modified form called "State Grants Demographic Information Progress Report." This form will report a summary of training participants' aggregate responses by the end of each quarter.

I. Background

The Orrin G. Hatch-Bob Goodlatte Music Modernization Act (the “MMA”) substantially modified the compulsory “mechanical” license for reproducing and distributing phonorecords of nondramatic musical works under 17 U.S.C. 115.¹ It did so by switching from a song-by-song licensing system to a blanket licensing regime that became available on January 1, 2021 (the “license availability date”), administered by a mechanical licensing collective (the “MLC”) designated by the Copyright Office (the “Office”).² Digital music providers (“DMPs”) are able to obtain this new statutory mechanical blanket license (the “blanket license”) to make digital phonorecord deliveries of nondramatic musical works, including in the form of permanent downloads, limited downloads, or interactive streams (referred to in the statute as “covered activity” where such activity qualifies for a blanket license), subject to various requirements, including reporting and payment obligations.³ The MLC is tasked with collecting royalties from

DMPs under the blanket license and distributing them to musical work copyright owners.⁴

In connection with the new blanket license, the MMA also provides for certain audit rights. Under the MMA, the MLC may periodically audit DMPs operating under the blanket license to verify the accuracy of royalty payments made by DMPs to the MLC.⁵ Likewise, musical work copyright owners may periodically audit the MLC to verify the accuracy of royalty payments made by the MLC to copyright owners.⁶ To commence an audit, a notice of intent to conduct an audit must be filed with the Office and delivered to the party(ies) being audited.⁷ The Office must then cause notice to be published in the Federal Register within 45 days of receipt.⁸
