SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Arctic Research and Policy Act of 1984 (ARPA), 15 U.S.C. Chapter 67, provides for a comprehensive national policy to identify and address national research needs and objectives in the Arctic. The ARPA established an Arctic Research Commission (USARC), designated the National Science Foundation as the lead agency responsible for implementing Arctic research policy, and established an Interagency Arctic Research Policy Committee (IARPC). The ARPA legislation charges the IARPC, in cooperation with the USARC, to develop and establish an integrated national Arctic research policy that will guide Federal agencies in implementing their research programs in the Arctic.

About the Arctic Research Plan

IARPC is required by law to prepare and execute a 5-year Arctic Research Plan, which helps to coordinate the overall Federal effort in Arctic research. To date, three five-year Arctic Research Plans have been released and implemented, the most recent covering 2022–2026, and the current Implementation Plan for 2025–2026 is available at https://www.iarpc.collaborations.org/uploads/cms/documents/2025-2026_implementation_plan_high_res.pdf. As required by the ARPA legislation, IARPC works in partnership with USARC, as well as with representatives from Arctic communities, federally recognized Tribal groups, the State of Alaska, the private sector, non-governmental organizations, research institutions, and the academic community. Accordingly, the current Plan is being implemented by nine collaboration teams and eleven communities of practice which are co-lead by Federal agency staff and non-Federal individuals with subject matter expertise.

These Arctic Research Plans reflect the goals and missions of the Federal agencies supporting research in the Arctic and focus on research which will be enhanced through collaboration among Federal agencies, as opposed to agencies working alone. The updated Arctic Research Plan will guide Federal coordination of Arctic research for the period 2027–2031, positioning the United States to remain a global leader in Arctic research and stewardship for many years to come.

Seeking Public Input

As called for in the ARPA, IARPC seeks input from any interested individuals and organizations to ensure that the research interests and needs of all are addressed appropriately in the updated Plan. IARPC is committed to an open engagement process throughout the development of the Plan.

In particular, IARPC is interested in feedback in response to the following questions regarding what updates should be made to the Arctic Research Plan 2027–2031:

1. What are the critical issues and needs where federally funded science, engineering, and technology research should provide knowledge to promote sound decision-making at all levels related to the Arctic?

2. What are examples of research questions that address these issues?

Background

For context, the current Plan “Arctic Research Plan 2022–2026” has four policy drivers, four priority areas, and five foundational activities.

The policy drivers for the Arctic Research Plan FY2022–2026 are:

- Enhance the well-being of Arctic residents;
- Advance stewardship of the Arctic environment;
- Strengthen national and regional security; and
- Improve understanding of the Arctic as a component of planet Earth

The priority areas for the Arctic Research Plan FY2022–2026 are:

- Community Resilience and Health
- Sustainable Economies and Livelihoods
- Risk Management and Hazard Mitigation
- Arctic System Interactions

The foundational activities for the current Arctic Research Plan, which are meant to undergird the priority areas, are:

- Data management
- Education and Training
- Monitoring, Observation, Modeling and Prediction
- Technology Innovation and Application
- Tribal Consultation and Effective Processes
