Abstract of Information Available

Human remains representing, at least, three individuals have been identified. No associated funerary objects are present. Ancestral remains were transferred to the FDOS from the Museum of Science & History, Jacksonville, Florida in 1997 under 872.05, Florida Statutes. Following identification of the provenance of the Ancestral remains, the collection was accessioned to proceed with consultation and repatriation. According to research and documentation, the remains were removed from an unknown site near Utqiagvik (formerly, Barrow) in the 1930s or early 1940s by Robert Shankel, an anthropologist and filmmaker. Shankel likely removed the remains during a visit to North Slope Borough during filming of the documentary "Survival of the North", which had limited screening in 1945 following Shankel's service during World War II.

Cultural Affiliation

Based on the information available and the results of consultation, cultural affiliation is reasonably identified by the geographical location or acquisition history of the human remains described in this notice.

Determinations

The FDOS has determined that:

- The human remains described in this notice represent the physical remains of three individuals of Native American ancestry.
- There is a connection between the human remains described in this notice and the Native Village of Barrow Inupiat Traditional Government.

Repatriation of the human remains described in this notice to a requestor may occur on or after January 15, 2026. If competing requests for repatriation are received, the FDOS must determine the most appropriate requestor prior to repatriation. Requests for joint repatriation of the human remains are considered a single request and not competing requests. The FDOS is responsible for sending a copy of this notice to the Indian Tribes and Native Hawaiian organizations identified in this notice.

A total of two lots of cultural items have been requested for repatriation. The material is from CA-SAC-497 (P-34-000556; JSA Parker 1), Snodgrass Slough in Sacramento County, California. It was excavated in the 1990s by Barry Scott of Jones & Stokes (now ICF Jones & Stokes). Archaeobotanist Eric Wohlgemuth deposited the botanical material at the UC Davis Department of Anthropology Museum in approximately 2012. The University is unaware of any treatment of the objects of cultural patrimony with pesticides, preservatives, or other substances that represent a potential hazard to the objects or to persons handling the objects.
