

effects, and environmental fate of each pesticide. The data allows EPA to evaluate whether a pesticide has the potential to cause harmful effects to human health and the environment, including effects to non-target organisms, federally threatened and endangered (listed) species, and to surface water or ground water. Through a rigorous scientific and public process, EPA specifies the kinds of data and information necessary to make regulatory judgments about the risks and benefits of pesticide products under FIFRA section 3, 4 and 5, as well as the data and information needed to determine the safety of pesticide chemical residues under FFDCA section 408. The regulations in 40 CFR part 158 describe the minimum data and information EPA typically requires to support an application for pesticide registration or amendment; support the reregistration of a pesticide product; support the maintenance of a pesticide registration by means of the data call-in process (e.g., as used in the registration review program); or establish or maintain a tolerance or exemption from the requirements of a tolerance for a pesticide chemical residue.

Abstract: The New Source Performance Standards (NSPS) for the regulations published at 40 CFR part 60, subpart DD were proposed on January 18, 1977, and promulgated on August 3, 1978. These regulations apply to existing facilities and new facilities located at grain elevators: each truck unloading station, truck loading station, railcar unloading station, railcar loading station, grain dryer, and all grain handling operations commencing construction, modification or reconstruction after August 3, 1978. This information is being collected to assure compliance with 40 CFR part 60, subpart DD.

In general, all NSPS standards require initial notifications, performance tests, and periodic reports by the owners/operators of the affected facilities. They are also required to maintain records of the occurrence and duration of any startup, shutdown, or malfunction in the operation of an affected facility, or any period during which the monitoring system is inoperative. These notifications, reports, and records are essential in determining compliance, and are required of all affected facilities subject to NSPS.

Form Numbers: None.

Respondents/affected entities: Grain elevators.

Respondent's obligation to respond:
Mandatory (40 CFR part 60, subpart DD).

Estimated number of respondents:
254 (total).

Frequency of response: Initially.

Total estimated burden: 584 hours (per year). Burden is defined at 5 CFR 1320.3(b).

Total estimated cost: $80,000 (per year). There are no annualized capital or operation & maintenance costs.

Changes in the estimates: The increase in burden from the most recently approved ICR is due to an adjustment(s). The adjustment increase in burden from the most recently approved ICR is due to an increase in the estimated number of existing respondents. The previous ICR documented 200 sources, but after a current ECHO database search, the number of respondents estimated in this ICR is 254. The growth rate remains at zero new sources per year.
