General Description of Collection:

This collection implements a statutory requirement imposing reporting, disclosure, and recordkeeping requirements on some community reinvestment-related agreements between insured depository institutions or affiliates, and nongovernmental entities or persons. The information assists interested members of the public in assessing whether the parties are fulfilling their agreements, and helps the agencies understand how the institutions they regulate are fulfilling their CRA responsibilities. There is no change in the method or substance of the collection. The overall reduction in burden hours is the result of economic fluctuation. In particular, the decline in the estimated overall annual time burden from 42 hours in 2023 to 19 hours in 2026 is the result of a reduction in the number respondents.

Request for Comment

Comments are invited on (a) whether the collections of information are necessary for the proper performance of the FDIC's functions, including whether the information has practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the estimates of the burden of the information collections, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collections of information on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology. All comments will become a matter of public record.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

[Docket No. CDC-2026-0133, NIOSH-356]

National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) Center for Firefighter Safety, Health and Well-Being Portfolio; Request for Information

Through its Center for Firefighter Safety, Health, and Well-Being, NIOSH conducts research and provides services to identify and help prevent new and emerging hazards in the fire service earlier and faster. As the threat from structural, wildland urban interface, and wildland fires grows, NIOSH seeks input to help refine its existing research and engagement priorities. This request is for information-gathering purposes and does not propose new regulations, requirements, or policies.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: NIOSH has decades of experience conducting investigations and research on firefighter safety and health. The NIOSH Center for Firefighter Safety, Health, and Well-Being provides a central point for engaging with the broad spectrum of research and service NIOSH conducts around firefighters. The goal of the Center is to protect firefighters by identifying new and emerging hazards in the fire service so that those hazards can be prevented earlier and faster. Firefighters are vital to the safety of our communities. While on duty, firefighters may experience acute events such as injuries, heart attacks, and fatalities. Over time, firefighters are at risk of cancer and other chronic diseases.

Protecting firefighters' safety and health is a top priority for NIOSH. NIOSH works closely with other federal agencies, researchers, and fire-service leaders and organizations to improve firefighter safety and health. As the threat from structural, wildland urban interface (WUI), and wildland fires grows, both firefighters and other workers face risks from fire-related exposures, such as smoke inhalation, post-fire clean-up activities, and hazardous materials. NIOSH is currently engaged in the following firefighter safety and health activities:

- Services: NIOSH offers a range of vital services to enhance firefighter safety and health, including:
