

in color and flash 4–16 times within four seconds, or (2) amber in color and function as an SAE J595 Class 3 or Class 2 strobe lamp for up to four seconds. Following either initial sequence, the lamps burn steady red for the remaining duration of the warning event as long as the collision risk persists. Once the potential risk has subsided and the TTC exceeds the safety threshold, the signal circuit is deactivated, ending the warning event and turning off the auxiliary lamps.

Grote asserts that similar forward collision warning technologies have been shown by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety to reduce rear-end crashes and contends that the RCW system would provide comparable safety benefits by reducing the frequency and severity of rear-end collisions involving CMVs. Grote emphasizes that it is not seeking relief from existing safety requirements, but rather permission to install additional safety equipment beyond that required by the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, and believes granting the exemption would achieve a level of safety equivalent to or greater than the level of safety achieved without the exemption.

A copy of Grote's application and supporting materials is available for review in the docket for this notice.

II. Legal Basis

FMCSA has authority under 49 U.S.C. 31136(e) and 31315(b) to grant exemptions from the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations. FMCSA must publish a notice of each exemption request in the Federal Register (49 CFR 381.315(a)). The Agency must provide the public an opportunity to inspect the information relevant to the application, including the applicant’s safety analysis. The Agency must provide an opportunity for public comment on the request.

The Agency reviews the application, safety analyses, and public comments submitted and determines whether granting the exemption would likely achieve a level of safety equivalent to, or greater than, the level that would be achieved absent such exemption, pursuant to the standard set forth in 49 U.S.C. 31315(b)(1). The Agency must publish its decision in the Federal Register (49 CFR 381.315(b)). If granted, the notice will identify the regulatory provision from which the applicant will be exempt, the effective period, and all terms and conditions of the exemption (49 CFR 381.315(c)(1)). If the exemption is denied, the notice will explain the reason for the denial (49 CFR 381.315(c)(2)). The exemption may be renewed (49 CFR 381.300(b)).

III. Applicant’s Request

Current Regulatory Requirements

Under 49 CFR 395.8(a)(1)(i), drivers required to prepare RODS must do so using an ELD. Under 49 CFR 395.8(a)(1)(iii)(A)(1), a motor carrier may allow its drivers to prepare RODS manually, rather than use an ELD, if the driver is operating a commercial motor vehicle (CMV) “[i]n a manner requiring completion of a record of duty status on not more than 8 days within any 30-day period.”

Applicant’s Request

The FOPT states that it is a nonprofit advocacy organization whose members are professional drivers and small carriers operating across the United States. FOPT requests an exemption from the ELD requirement in 49 CFR 395.8. The requested exemption would apply to FOPT members and any other professional driver choosing to participate. The exemption would allow drivers to record their RODS manually with a paper logbook, rather than with an ELD. FOPT indicates that drivers operating under the exemption would meet all other hours-of-service (HOS) requirements in 49 CFR part 395.

FOPT argues that paper RODS remain enforceable, are understood by enforcement officers nationwide, and that small carriers face disproportionate financial burdens from the ELD requirements. FOPT further states that “[t]echnical limitations and frequent malfunctions highlight the continued necessity of paper alternatives,” and that Executive Order 12866 requires agencies to avoid unnecessary regulatory burdens when reasonable alternatives exist.

Applicant’s Equivalent Level of Safety

FOPT believes the exemption would not compromise safety because FOPT would provide members education to ensure accuracy in paper RODS completion. Participating carriers would conduct random internal audits, and “violations of HOS limits by paper RODS users will result in exclusion from the exemption program.”

A copy of the FOPT’s application for exemption is available for review in the docket for this notice.

IV. Request for Comments

In accordance with 49 U.S.C. 31315(b), FMCSA requests public comment from all interested persons on FOPT’s application for an exemption from the requirement in 49 CFR 395.8(a)(1)(i), that drivers required to prepare RODS must do so using ELDs. All comments received before the close of business on the comment closing date will be considered and will be available for examination in the docket at the location listed under the Addresses section of this notice. Comments received after the comment closing date will be filed in the public docket and will be considered to the extent practicable. In addition to late comments, FMCSA will also continue to file, in the public docket, relevant information that becomes available after the comment closing date. Interested persons should continue to examine the public docket for new material.
