Affected public: private sector for-profit institutions.

Abstract: To protect the public from misuse of explosives, implementing regulations at 27 CFR 555.109 require licensees/permittees to mark certain explosives they manufacture or import, as well as mark immediate containers and outside packaging. #### Revisions to This Information Collection

Information Collection (IC) OMB 1140–0055 previously covered only manufacturer markings, and another information collection, 1140–0062, covered importer markings. However, to streamline the ICs covering markings for manufacturers and importers, ATF has decided to combine the two ICRs into this combined one, and has slightly revised the title to no longer limit it to manufacturers. In addition, the number of licensees/permittees in both groups has decreased since the last renewal for each ICR, for a combined decrease in licensees/permittees from 2,066 to 2,054, or a decrease of 12. In addition, ATF has updated the ICR to account for only the portion of these licensees/permittees that actually manufacture or import and distribute the kinds of explosives they are required to mark, which is five percent of the total licensees/permittees registered to manufacture or import, resulting in a further decrease in respondents affected by this ICR to 103 total. Consequently, the total responses and burden hours have also decreased due to the reduced number of respondents, from 895 hours to 45, or a reduction of 850 hours. In addition, due to a new request by OMB, the agency is including in this ICR a monetized value for the time, which it had not included in previous ICRs.
