SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This is a proposed extension of the ICR, which is currently approved through September 30, 2026. An agency may not conduct, or sponsor and a person is not required to respond to a collection of information

EPA will consider the comments received and amend the ICR as appropriate. The final ICR package will then be submitted to OMB for review and approval. At that time, EPA will issue another Federal Register notice to announce the submission of the ICR to OMB and the opportunity to submit additional comments to OMB.

Abstract: Pursuant to Clean Water Act (CWA) section 312, states are authorized to petition EPA for more stringent requirements to apply within state waters for sewage discharges from all vessels, as well as certain discharges from vessels of the Armed Forces.

(A) Sewage No-Discharge Zones: CWA section 312(f) and the implementing regulations in 40 CFR part 140 identify the information that must be included in a state's application to EPA to establish a no-discharge zone (NDZ) for vessel sewage for some or all of the state's waters. In designated vessel sewage NDZs, the discharge of both treated and untreated sewage from vessels is prohibited.

(B) Uniform National Discharge Standards NDZs and Review of Discharge Determination or Standards: CWA section 312(n), the Uniform National Discharge Standards (UNDS), requires EPA and the Department of War to establish uniform national discharge standards to control discharges incidental to the normal operation of a vessel of the Armed Forces. CWA section 312(n)(7) and the implementing regulations in 40 CFR part 1700 identify the information that a state must submit to EPA in the state's application to establish an NDZ for one or more UNDS discharges. A state may seek an NDZ designation for any UNDS discharge for which EPA and the Department of War have promulgated national standards of performance and corresponding implementing regulations, respectively. Additionally, CWA section 312(n)(5) provides that the governor of any state may petition EPA and the Department of War to review any discharge determination or standard promulgated under CWA section 312(n) if there is significant new information that could reasonably result in a change to the discharge determination or standard.

The proposed collection of information is intended to capture the burden on state respondents to develop petitions that include the required information, as well as the burden on EPA to review the petitions. This ICR is necessary to fulfill EPA's obligations under the statute to receive and respond to state petitions; however, development and submission of a petition by a state is not required. Instead, a state must develop and submit a petition only when the state wishes to designate an NDZ either for sewage or for an UNDS discharge, or to request a review of an UNDS discharge determination or standard. The information collection activities discussed in this ICR do not require the submission of any confidential information.

Form Numbers: None.

Respondents/affected entities: States.

Respondent's obligation to respond:

Responses to this collection of information are required to obtain the benefit of a vessel sewage NDZ (CWA section 312(f)), an UNDS NDZ (CWA section 312(n)(7)(A)-(B)) or a review of an UNDS discharge determination or standard (CWA section 312(n)(5)(D)).

Estimated number of respondents: 8 (total).

Frequency of response: One time.

Total estimated burden: 408 hours (per year). Burden is defined at 5 CFR 1320.03(b).

Total estimated cost: $28,910 (per year), which includes $400 annualized capital or operation & maintenance costs.

Changes in the Estimates: There is a decrease of 169 hours in the total estimated respondent burden compared with the ICR currently approved by

OMB. This decrease is due to an adjustment to the number of petitions EPA expects to receive pursuant to CWA section 312(f), as EPA overestimated in the last renewal. The current estimate is also informed by information available to EPA regarding the number of states that are considering, or are in the process of, developing petitions.

Brian Frazer,

Director, Office of Wetlands, Oceans and Watersheds.
