Abstract: The Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) has previously conducted the Census of Tribal Courts (CTCS), formerly known as the National Survey of Tribal Court Systems (NSTCS), through a survey that collects data on the staffing, functions, caseloads, civil and juvenile justice matters, and operations of tribal law courts serving tribal lands. The 2026 CTCS will be the second administration of this collection. It will provide insight on emerging issues and challenges facing tribal law courts since it was last conducted in 2014 and establish a time series of the data collection. BJS uses the information gathered in the CTCS in published reports and statistics. The reports will be made available to the U.S. Congress, Executive Office of the President, practitioners, researchers, students, the media, others interested in criminal justice statistics, and the general public via the BJS website.
