

implementation from State, Tribal, or local programs.

- The EPA is seeking feedback on practices not included in the draft guidance that can reduce risk when surface disposing or incinerating sewage sludge contaminated with PFOA and PFOS. Please provide any conditions, controls, monitoring, best management practices, or permitting practices and any examples of implementation from State, Tribal, or local programs that the EPA should consider.

- What next steps should the EPA take regarding the Draft Risk Assessment, and how would this help provide clarity about potential risks from use and disposal of biosolids and sewage sludge? Should the agency also reevaluate the underlying framework for the Draft Risk Assessment, and if so, how? What specific data or other information is available that may help inform the agency's potential next steps on the Draft Risk Assessment and other potential future actions related to PFAS in biosolids and sewage sludge?

- Given that risks can depend on land use decisions (e.g., risks are different for growing textile crops than produce), should the EPA evaluate policy options that would consider current and future land use practices (e.g., different land use or planted crops after a change in ownership)? What strategies should the EPA consider for protecting public health, future land uses, landowners, and property values?

[PSHSB & OET: PS Docket No. 26–72; DA 26–635; FR ID 354261]

Prohibiting Importation and Marketing of Previously Authorized Covered Communications Equipment Added to the Covered List in 2024 or Earlier

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In this document, the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau (PSHSB) and the Office of Engineering and Technology (OET) prohibit the continued importation and marketing of certain previously authorized equipment that has been determined to pose an unacceptable risk to the national security of the United States or the security and safety of United States persons. Through Public Notice, acting pursuant to § 2.939 of the Federal Communications Commission’s rules, PSHSB and OET apply such prohibitions to communications equipment added to the Covered List in 2024 or earlier.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Chris Smeenk, Attorney Advisor, at 202–418–1630 or Chris.Smeenk@fcc.gov, or Rebecca Clinton, Deputy Chief, Legal, at 202–418–7815 or Rebecca.Clinton@fcc.gov, Operations and Emergency Management Division, Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This is a summary of the Public Notice released on June 26, 2026 in PS Docket No. 26–72, DA 26–635. The full text of this document is available at: <https://www.fcc.gov/document/fcc-prohibits-importation-and-marketing-certain-covered-equipment>.

In November 2022, the Commission adopted rules to prohibit authorization of equipment identified on the Covered List. However, the Commission did not revoke previously granted authorizations of covered equipment. In October 2025, the Commission adopted the EA Security Second R&O (90 FR 53227) which, among other things, established a procedure to limit the scope of an existing authorization of covered equipment to prohibit continued importation or marketing of such equipment, without revoking the underlying authorization. The Commission noted that its goal was to mitigate potential national security risks associated with covered equipment in the nation’s supply chain that was authorized prior to a Covered List addition under 47 U.S.C. 1601(b). The Commission directed PSHSB and OET to “institute proceedings to determine whether to apply these prohibitions to some or all of the equipment currently on the Covered List” and it delegated authority to PSHSB and OET to apply such prohibitions pursuant to the framework and process outlined in the EA Security Second R&O.

The Commission specifically directed PSHSB and OET to conduct a public interest analysis pursuant to that framework, giving “particular weight to the fact that the relevant equipment was determined to pose ‘an unacceptable risk to the national security of the United States or the safety and security of United States persons’.”

On March 27, 2026, PSHSB and OET released a Public Notice (March 27 Public Notice) (91 FR 17275) seeking comment on whether the Commission should prohibit the continued importation and marketing of certain previously authorized covered equipment and the relevant factors, including national security and economic and supply chain considerations, that would justify such a prohibition.

Based on the record, we prohibit the continued importation and marketing of any covered equipment added to the Covered List in 2024 or earlier. This prohibition specifically applies to all such covered equipment that received FCC equipment authorization before the adoption of our 2022 rules and takes effect 10 days after publication of this Notice in the Federal Register. As explained further below, however, the prohibition is temporarily suspended for certain equipment added to the Covered List on March 12, 2021, when used for the purpose of physical security surveillance of critical infrastructure, until the Commission adopts a definition of “critical infrastructure.” And, for the avoidance of doubt, the prohibition does not apply to any equipment added to the Covered List after 2024.

National security impacts. Protecting national security remains one of the Commission’s primary objectives, and the focus of our analysis in this proceeding. Moreover, as the
