Abstract of Information Available

In 1946, the University of California Museum of Anthropology (today the Phoebe A Hearst Museum of Anthropology) accessioned one sacred belonging which had been removed from a cave in a canyon of Mission Creek, San Bernardino County, California around 1915 by Laura Adams Armer. The sacred belonging is an olla.

At a time between 1885 and 1908, Edwin Lincoln McLeod, obtained one sacred belonging from Coyote Hole, San Bernardino County, California. Following the purchase of the McLeod Memorial Collection by Phoebe A. Hearst in 1916, the sacred belonging, a basket, was accessioned into the University of California Museum of Anthropology that same year.

In 1945, Grace Blair De Pue bequeathed nearly 3,000 cultural belongings to the University of California, Berkeley. Included in this accession is one object of cultural patrimony from Yuhaaviatam of San Manuel Nation. The one object of cultural patrimony is a basket.

Collections and collection spaces at the Phoebe A. Hearst Museum of Anthropology were treated with substances for preservation and pest control, some potentially hazardous. No records have been found to date at the Museum to indicate whether or not chemicals or natural substances were used prior to 1960.

Determinations

The University of California, Berkeley has determined that:

- The one object of cultural patrimony described in this notice have ongoing historical, traditional, or cultural importance central to the Native American group, including any constituent sub-group (such as a band, clan, lineage, ceremonial society, or other subdivision), according to the Native American traditional knowledge of an Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

- There is a reasonable connection between the cultural items described in this notice and the Yuhaaviatam of San Manuel Nation (previously listed as San Manuel Band of Mission Indians, California).

representative identified in this notice under ADDRESSES. Requests for repatriation may be submitted by any lineal descendant, Indian Tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization not identified in this notice who shows, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the requestor is a lineal descendant or a culturally affiliated Indian Tribe or Native Hawaiian organization.

Repatriation of the cultural items in this notice to a requestor may occur on or after August 14, 2026. If competing requests for repatriation are received, the University of California, Berkeley must determine the most appropriate requestor prior to repatriation. Requests for joint repatriation of the cultural items are considered a single request and not competing requests.
