

and facilitation. Based on a recent survey of those who participated in the NMB's ADR Programs, 94.6% said they were satisfied with the ADR Programs and said they recommend the program for all negotiators. Collecting the brief information on the Application for ADR Services form allows the parties to voluntarily engage the services of the NMB in the orderly settlement of all disputes and fulfill the purposes of the RLA.

2. This collection is necessary to confirm the voluntary participation of the parties in the ADR process. The information provided by the parties is used by the NMB to schedule the parties for ADR training and facilitation. Based on a recent survey of those who participated in the NMB's ADR Programs, 94.6% said they were satisfied with the ADR programs and would recommend the program for all negotiators. Collecting the brief information on the Application for ADR Services form allows the parties to voluntarily engage the services of the NMB in the orderly settlement of all disputes and fulfill the purposes of the RLA.

3. There is no improved technological method for obtaining this information. The burden on the parties is minimal in completing the one-page Application for ADR Services.

4. There is no duplication in obtaining this information and the information does not exist elsewhere.

5. This collection does not impact small businesses or other small entities.

6. The collection of this information is voluntary and occurs when the labor and management parties determine that training is desired or required. The NMB has no ability to control the frequency of applications, because the submission is voluntary. There are no technical or legal obstacles involved with this collection.

7. The information requested by the NMB is consistent with the general information collection guidelines of 5 CFR 1320.6 and 5 CFR 1320.8 (b) (3). The burden on the parties is minimal in completing the Application for ADR Services. We do not require submission of more than one copy of any document, nor do we require submission of any confidential information.

8. No payments or gifts have been provided by the NMB to any respondents of the form.

9. There are no questions of a sensitive nature on the form.

10. The total time burden on respondents is 5.0 hours annually. This includes the time required to collect information. After consulting with a sample of people involved with the collection of this information, the time to complete this information collection is estimated to average 12 minutes per response, including gathering the data needed and completion and review of the information.

Number of respondents per year: 25.

Estimated time per respondent: 12 minutes.

Total burden hours per year: 5.0 (25 × 12 = 300 ÷ 60 = 5.0 hours).

11. The total collection cost burden on respondents is estimated at $161.20 annually. There is no mail cost burden—the forms are usually emailed (not mailed) to the NMB for processing.

a. The respondents will not incur any capital costs or start up costs for this collection.

b. Cost burden on respondents—detail:

The total time burden annual cost is $161.20.

Time Burden Basis: The total hourly burden per year, upon respondents, is 5.0.

Staff cost = $161.20.

$32.24 per hour—based on mid level clerical salary.

$$32.24 \times 5.0 \text{ hours per year} = $161.20.$

We are estimating that a mid-level clerical person, with an average salary of $32.24 per hour, will be completing the Application for ADR Services form. The total burden is estimated at 5.0 hours, therefore, the total time burden cost is estimated at $161.20 per year.

The collection of this information is not mandatory; it is a voluntary request from airline and railroad carrier officials and union officials seeking to participate in the NMB's ADR training and facilitation processes. The NMB will send the form to the carriers and labor organizations upon request. The form is available on the internet at <http://www.nmb.gov>, which is the primary source of the form.

12. The total annualized Federal cost is $1,020.00. This cost represents the processing cost of the applications once they are received by the NMB. There are no printing or mailing costs. The forms are available on the NMB's website, and registrants print them and email them to us. The completed applications are maintained by the Office of Mediation Services.

a. Processing Cost = $1,020.00.

Basis (processing cost): Applications for ADR Services are submitted approximately 25 times per year and it takes approximately 60 minutes to process each application.

Staff Cost = $1,020.00.

$68 per minute (GS 11 Step 1 base hourly rate of $40.94 per hr. ÷ 60).

$$68 \times 60 \text{ minutes per application} = $40.80.$

$$40.80 \times 25 \text{ times per year} = $1,020.00.$

13. Item 13—no change in annual reporting and recordkeeping hour burden.

14. The information collected by the application will not be published.

15. The NMB will display the OMB expiration date on the form.

16(a)—the form does not reduce the burden on small entities; however, the burden is minimized and voluntary.

16(b)—the form does not indicate the retention period for record keeping requirements.

16(c)—not applicable, the form is not part of a statistical survey.

Dated: September 16, 2026.

II. Background

As part of its review of advanced non-light water reactor applications, the NRC staff evaluates materials performance to ensure passive components fulfill design requirements for the design life, and that adequate surveillance and monitoring programs are in place. NRC regulations in parts 50, 52, and 53 of title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR) describe the information applicants must include in applications for construction permits, operating licenses, combined operating licenses, standard design approvals, standard design certifications, and manufacturing licenses. This includes information related to requirements to ensure passive materials performance and performance monitoring. The NRC endorsed, with exceptions and limitations, American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) Code Section III, Division 5, “High Temperature Reactors” (III–5), with conditions, in Revision 3 of Regulatory Guide (RG) 1.87, “Acceptability of ASME Code, Section III, Division 5, ‘High Temperature Reactors,’” (ADAMS Accession No. ML25176A084) for use by non-LWR applicants and licensees subject to 10 CFR parts 50 and 52. The NRC staff has not endorsed this document for use by applicants and licensees subject to 10 CFR part 53. The NRC staff is currently considering whether to endorse both III–5 for applicants and licensees subject to 10 CFR part 53. If, based on the NRC staff’s review, the NRC staff determines that it cannot endorse either III–5 for use by applicants and licensees subject to 10 CFR part 53, it will revise this ISG accordingly before issuing it for use.

This revision to DANU–ISG–2023–01 adds an appendix providing risk-informed guidance on information related to materials performance that applicants should include in various applications. It also updates miscellaneous information and extends the ISG’s applicability to applications under 10 CFR part 53.

III. Discussion

The purpose of this draft ISG, “Material Compatibility for non-Light-Water Reactors, DANU–ISG–2023–01, Revision 1” (ADAMS Accession No. ML26155A114), is to aid the NRC staff reviewing non-light water reactor applications for permits, licenses, certifications, and approvals under 10 CFR parts 50, 52 and 53. III–5 and other codes and standards used for the design and construction of mechanical components specify the mechanical properties and allowable stresses for design of components in high temperature reactors. Because III–5 and other design and construction codes and standards do not provide methods to evaluate deterioration that may occur in service as a result of corrosion, mass transfer phenomena, radiation effects, or other material instabilities, this draft ISG revision identifies information that the staff should consider as part of its evaluation of a non-light water reactor application with respect to applicable design requirements including materials performance, environmental compatibility, and performance monitoring programs for safety-significant SSCs.

This revision of DANU–ISG–2023–01 adds an appendix to provide guidance related to information the NRC staff generally have used to perform the review of materials of construction and passive SSC performance for non-LWRs. This appendix provides guidance across key application content areas for materials performance, including description of the design and operating environment as well as performance evaluation and monitoring. Description of the design and operating environment includes identification of materials of construction, identification of environmental conditions, and use of codes and standards. Performance evaluation and monitoring covers primarily an environmental compatibility assessment and performance monitoring. The appendix concludes with tables providing guidance on what information is acceptable at the preliminary and final design stages across these key application content areas as a function of safety significance.

In addition to adding the appendix, this revision also makes the ISG applicable to applications under 10 CFR part 53 and makes other miscellaneous changes to the ISG.
