COMPENDIUM OF BUDGET ACCOUNTS

Fiscal Year 2000

G A O

Accountability * Integrity * Reliability

Preface

Each year the President is required by law to submit a budget to the Congress.¹ This budget not only presents the President's policy proposals for the "budget year," in this case fiscal year 2000, but also congressionally enacted budgetary totals for the current year (fiscal year 1999) and reported actual totals for the previous year (fiscal year 1998). In effect, the President's submission analyzes and compiles separate presentations for hundreds of budget accounts,² covering all fiscal activities of the federal government, including "off-budget"³ accounts such as the Social Security trust funds and the Postal Service Fund. The President's budget also includes, as submitted, certain accounts, such as the legislative and judicial branch summaries, which by law or by practice are not subject to presidential review.

The President's budget is intended to address many objectives and meet many information needs; more than two dozen requirements are currently listed in 31 U.S.C 1105. Accordingly, the budget comprises a wealth of information in a daunting array of schedules, tables, graphs, and narrative summaries. The comprehensiveness of the President's budget submission is both its principal strength and most obvious inconvenience—its sheer size and complexity. For example, the President's budget for fiscal year 2000 spanned five volumes⁴ and over 2,600 pages.

This compendium was prepared principally to help GAO staff members and other interested individuals cope with the breadth of the federal budget. It gives users a convenient way to sort through the fiscal structure of the federal government and to determine the level of budgetary resources—used, estimated, or requested by fiscal year—for individual accounts.

¹31 U.S.C. 1104, 1105.

²A "budget account"—essentially a separate reporting unit for budgetary purposes—is defined as (1) an item for which appropriations are made in any appropriation act and (2) for items not provided for in appropriation acts, an item for which there is a designated budget account identification code number in the President's budget. (2 U.S.C. 900(c)(11)).

³"Off-budget" activities are those which are excluded from "on-budget" totals by law.

⁴The Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 2000 consists of five volumes: (1) the Budget, (2) Analytical Perspectives, (3) the Appendix, (4) Historical Tables, and (5) a Citizen's Guide to the Federal Budget. Each year, OMB also publishes other supporting documents (e.g., Federal Credit Supplement, Balances of Budget Authority, and Budget Information for States).

How to Use This Document

This compendium follows the same organizational pattern used in the Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 2000 - Appendix (the Appendix). Account summaries for the legislative and judicial branches precede listings for the executive branch, which is organized alphabetically by major department and agency, followed by other independent agencies. Individual accounts are then grouped by major subordinate organization—usually a bureau, service, or administration—or by major program area.

For each account, we report gross obligations in millions of nominal dollars; gross obligations reflect a financial estimate of orders placed, contracts awarded, services received, and other similar transactions during the fiscal year. We selected gross obligations as the display criterion because it best describes the relative size of each budget account, expressed in terms of financial commitments made within a given fiscal year, without regard to the type of underlying budgetary resource or when resulting outlays may occur.⁵

In addition to the account title and budgetary data by fiscal year, we have appended two additional codes to each account to enhance utility. First, to provide perspective on mission or purpose, each account includes a code reflecting the budget function or subfunction⁶ most directly associated with the transactions financed by that account; a general description of each function is provided in appendix I and a summary of gross obligations by subfunction is provided at the beginning of the account listing for each major department and agency. Second, we have coded each account by the cognizant congressional appropriations subcommittee to clarify the locus of congressional oversight for the specific budget account. Appendix II summarizes the cognizant congressional committee codes used in this ⁵It should be noted that gross obligations, while useful to describe account-level transactions, overstate department and governmentwide totals. For example, a given account may include obligations made to another budget account, which may then be reobligated by the receiving account in the same fiscal year. Other selection criteria, such as gross budgetary resources or net outlays, could mitigate this effect but would also produce a different set of concerns. For a discussion of this and other related issues, see Budget Account Structure: A Descriptive Overview (GAO/AIMD-95-179, September 18, 1995).

⁶The function and subfunction classification system is a way of grouping budgetary resources according to the national need addressed. The Congress uses this system in its concurrent resolution on the budget to allocate resources among competing needs. (See 2 U.S.C. 632.) Each account is generally placed in the single function or subfunction that best reflects its major purpose, without regard to agency or organizational distinctions. For discussions of this classification system, see Budget Issues: Fiscal Year 1996 Agency Spending by Budget Function (GAO/AIMD-97-95, May 13, 1997) and Budget Function Classifications: Origins, Trends, and Implications for Current Uses (GAO/AIMD-98-67, February 27, 1998).

document. The general designation "authorizing committee" is used, either singularly or in combination with an appropriations subcommittee designation, for those accounts whose spending authority is provided, in whole or in part, in laws other than appropriations acts. Table 1 describes the standard format followed for each grouping of accounts.

Table 1: Format for Account Presentations

Column heading	Description
Account (cognizant committee)	The name of the budget account title, as shown in the Appendix . At the end of each account title, the cognizant congressional committee code (see appendix II) is parenthetically appended. In some cases, a given account will include authorizing and appropriations committee codes, indicating joint or mixed oversight for some account components.
Acct. ID	Each budget account title is assigned a multi-position account identification code developed jointly by the Office of Management and Budget and the Department of the Treasury. For purposes of this document, the first two digits, representing the agency code, and the second four digits, representing the basic account symbol, are sufficient to uniquely identify the account.
Func.	Each account is associated with a distinct three-digit subfunction code reflecting its activities' most important purpose(s). (See appendix I for a descriptive listing of the budget functions.) If the account is associated with two or more sub functions, the function code is used; if the account is associated with two or more functions, the code "999" is used.
Act. 1998	In millions of dollars; this represents the actual gross obligations for fiscal year 1997 as recorded by the agency.
Est. 1999	In millions of dollars. This represents the estimated level of gross obligations based on enacted appropriations; for indefinite appropriations, this represents amounts likely to be required.
Req. 2000	In millions of dollars. This represents the estimated level of gross obligations based on requested levels of budgetary resources. In effect, this represents the President's policy proposal for fiscal year 2000.

For presentation purposes the Appendix occasionally merges or consolidates separate accounts under a single account title. For example, the National Institutes of Health account title within the Department of Health and Human Services includes 24 separate budget accounts (as defined in footnote 2) consolidated into one presentation in the President's budget. Beginning with the fiscal year 1997 budget submission, financial information in the Appendix was rounded to the nearest million rather than nearest thousand. This decision resulted in numerous account title changes as accounts below $500,000 were consolidated or merged with larger accounts.⁷

The federal budget account structure is dynamic, with numerous changes from year to year. Some of these changes can be discerned by noting the presence or absence of gross obligations within a given account presentation. For example, the fiscal year 2000 budget contains 1,149 accounts, showing obligations made in fiscal year 1998, estimated for fiscal year 1999, or requested for fiscal year 2000. Twenty-nine of these accounts show some level of gross obligations for fiscal year 2000 but nothing for fiscal years 1998 and 1999; typically, this is an indication of a new account proposal by the President. Where only fiscal year 1998 shows zero gross obligations, this typically indicates an account first enacted in fiscal year 1999 and proposed to continue during fiscal year 2000; 53 accounts fall into this category. Where some level of gross obligations are listed for fiscal year 1998 but nothing is shown for fiscal years 1999 or 2000, this typically indicates an account merged, consolidated, or terminated in fiscal year 1999; 33 accounts fell into this category. Lastly, 52 accounts show zero obligations for fiscal year 2000, but some level of gross obligations for fiscal years 1998 and 1999; this pattern usually indicates that the account title has been merged or consolidated, or has been or is being proposed for termination.

The account-level data in this compendium was extracted from automated information collected and maintained by Office of Management and Budget as part of its process to develop the President's fiscal year 2000 budget submission. We did not independently verify the data reported for each account although we did reconcile total obligations—for branches, departments, and agencies and for selected individual accounts—to published sources. If additional account-level detail is needed, users should consult the index to the Appendix for the page number of the specific account identified in this compendium.

⁷For financial management purposes, the Department of the Treasury assigns a unique account code to each separate appropriation within an appropriations act. Because of consolidations and merges, the President's submission typically presents a smaller universe of accounts than that tracked by the Treasury. In 1996 for example, Treasury reported about 1,620 accounts on an outlays basis, excluding divisions due to differing periods of availability; the Appendix listed about 1,040 accounts on a gross obligations basis in that fiscal year.

We will send copies of this document to interested congressional parties and others on request. This compendium of accounts was prepared by John Mingus, Senior Evaluator, under the direction of Michael J. Curro, Assistant Director. If there are any questions, these staff members and I can be reached at (202) 512-9573.
