Inspector General
Department of Agriculture

Subject: *Financial Audit: The Department of Agriculture's Fiscal Year
2004 Management Representation Letter on Its Financial Statements*

As you know, the Secretary of the Treasury, in coordination with the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), is required to annually prepare and submit audited financial statements of the U.S. government to the President and the Congress. We are required to audit these consolidated financial statements (CFS) and report on the results of our work.¹ In connection with fulfilling our requirement to audit the fiscal year 2004 CFS, we evaluated the Department of the Treasury's (Treasury) financial reporting procedures and related internal control over the process for compiling the CFS, including the management representation letter provided us by Treasury and OMB. Written representation letters from management, required by U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards, ordinarily confirm oral representations given to the auditor, indicate and document the continuing appropriateness of those representations, and reduce the possibility of a misunderstanding between management and the auditor.

In our report, which is included in the fiscal year 2004 Financial Report of the United States Government,² we reported a limitation on the scope of our work due to identified concerns with the adequacy of certain federal ¹The Government Management Reform Act of 1994 has required such reporting, covering the executive branch of government, beginning with financial statements prepared for fiscal year 1997. 31 U.S.C. § 331 (e). The federal government has elected to include certain financial information on the legislative and judicial branches in the CFS as well.

²The fiscal year 2004 Financial Report of the United States Government was completed by the Department of the Treasury on December 15, 2004, and is available through both GAO's Web site at www.gao.gov and Treasury's Web site at www.fms.treas.gov/fr/index.html.

agencies' management representations on which Treasury and OMB depend to provide their representations to us regarding the CFS. Specifically, Treasury and OMB stated that their representation letter to us on the CFS was based primarily on the individual federal agency representation letters. Consequently, our audit considered the content of the individual federal agency letters, and the incompleteness of certain of these letters impaired our ability to obtain sufficient evidence in support of our audit of the CFS. This limitation contributed to our disclaimer of opinion on the CFS. We performed sufficient audit work to provide the disclaimer of opinion and issued our audit report, dated December 6, 2004, in accordance with U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards.

As part of our audit of the fiscal year 2004 CFS, we received and reviewed selected federal agencies' management representation letters to assess their adequacy in support of our audit of the CFS. As the federal government gets closer to an opinion on its financial statements, it becomes more important that the federal agencies' management representation letters be complete and reliably prepared.

The purpose of this report is to communicate our observations on the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) fiscal year 2004 management representation letter. Our objective is to help ensure that future management representation letters submitted by USDA are sufficient to help support Treasury and OMB's preparation of the CFS management representation letter and our ability to rely on the representations in that letter in combination with individual federal agency representation letters. We reviewed five key areas in each management representation letter: (1) signatures, (2) materiality thresholds, (3) representations, (4) summary of unadjusted misstatements, and (5) reliability of representations. In reviewing the management representation letters, we applied the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' (AICPA) Codification of Auditing Standards, AU Section 333, Management Representations; OMB Bulletin 01-02, Audit Requirements for Federal Financial Statements; and the GAO/President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency (PCIE) Financial Audit Manual (FAM) section 1001, entitled "Management Representations."³

³GAO, GAO/PCIE: Financial Audit Manual: Update, GAO-04-1015G (Washington, D.C.: July 30, 2004), an update to Financial Audit Manual: Volumes 1 and 2, GAO-01-765G (Washington, D.C.: Aug. 1, 2001).

Results in Brief

USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter did not provide all the information necessary to support Treasury and OMB's preparation of the CFS management representation letter. This in turn impacted our ability to rely on the representations in the CFS management representation letter in combination with individual federal agency representation letters.

We identified some needed improvements in two of the five key areas we reviewed. First, the letter included 28 of the 29 representations⁴ from the FAM that were applicable to USDA. The other representation was not provided at all. Finally, USDA did not include a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements with its management representation letter and also did not provide a description of the misstatements.

We believe that these matters can be easily addressed. We are making two recommendations to USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer targeted to specific changes needed. Also, we are recommending that the USDA Inspector General work with the department to help ensure that future management representation letters meet the key conditions noted as needing improvements in this report.

In commenting on a draft of this report, USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General stated that they will work to address the conditions noted in our report. As it relates to the FAM representation that was not provided, the Acting Chief Financial Officer noted that her office believed that the disclosure was addressed in other parts of USDA's management representation letter and the Inspector General noted that the management representation letter did represent that all material instances of noncompliance were disclosed as well as all instances of known fraud. While USDA included representations that stated (1) there were no instances of noncompliance with applicable laws and regulations that could have a material effect on the financial statements and (2) all instances of known fraud were disclosed, it did not represent that all known instances of noncompliance were disclosed to the auditor as called for by the FAM. As such, we continue to believe that this FAM representation was not included in USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter and should be provided in USDA's future management representation letters. We are pleased that USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General stated that they will work to include the representation in future management representation letters.

⁴The FAM lists 27 representations that are ordinarily included, if applicable, in the management representation letter that an agency provides to the auditor. For 4 of the representations, the agency is required to address three separate components. As such, each agency is ordinarily expected to make a total of 35 representations. Six of the 35 representations are not applicable unless the agency received an opinion on its internal control. Since USDA did not receive an opinion on its internal control for fiscal year 2004, only 29 of the 35 representations were applicable to USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter.

Background

In conducting agency financial statement audits, U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards incorporate financial auditing fieldwork and reporting standards issued by the AICPA. Such auditing standards (AU Section 333) require auditors to obtain certain representations from agency management. These representations are part of the evidential matter to be considered by the auditor in its audit of the agency's financial statements. The representations obtained will depend on the circumstances of the engagement and the nature and basis of presentation of the financial statements. AU Section 333 discusses specific representations that should be obtained from management, including a requirement to attach a schedule of unadjusted financial statement misstatements for entities with uncorrected misstatements.

In addition, OMB Bulletin 01-02 and FAM section 1001 contain guidance on preparing federal agencies' management representation letters. According to the FAM, in addition to the representations included in AU Section 333, the auditor generally should consider the need to obtain representations on other matters based on the circumstances of the audited entity. FAM section 1001A lists 35 specific representations ordinarily included in the management representation letter and also includes a requirement to attach a schedule of unadjusted financial statement misstatements for entities with uncorrected misstatements. (See enc. I for these representations.) Representations listed in FAM section 1001A should be customized to the situation of the entity being audited or excluded if inapplicable. We perform our audit of the CFS in accordance with the FAM and related auditing standards.

Treasury and OMB are to receive management representation letters from certain federal agencies. This is important because U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards require that Treasury and OMB provide us, as principal auditor of the CFS, a management representation letter, and their letter depends on the information in such agencies' management representation letters. In their representation letter to us for the audit of the fiscal year 2004 CFS, Treasury and OMB stated that their representations are based primarily on the representations of those agencies covered by the Chief Financial Officers (CFO) Act and other selected agencies that were made in connection with the preparation of these entities' respective financial statements and provided to OMB and Treasury. For this reason, it is important that all federal agency representation letters be complete and reliable.

Objectives, Scope, and Methodology

In connection with our audit of the fiscal year 2004 CFS, we evaluated Treasury's financial reporting procedures and related internal control, including the CFS management representation letter. For the fiscal year 2004 CFS, 33 of the 35 "verifying agencies" submitted audited financial statements along with their management representation letters to Treasury.⁵ In our review of these 33 management representation letters, our overall objective was to assess their adequacy as it relates to our audit of the CFS. Specifically, we reviewed each agency management representation letter to determine whether the following five key conditions were met:

- the management representation letter was signed by appropriate agency officials;
- the management representation letter included designation as to the amounts above which matters were considered material (materiality thresholds);
- the management representation letter included applicable representations from the FAM;
- the management representation letter included a properly prepared summary of unadjusted misstatements for agencies with uncorrected misstatements; and ⁵See Treasury Financial Manual, vol. I, part 2, ch. 4700, for a list of the 35 agencies. These agencies, for fiscal year 2004, consisted of 23 CFO Act agencies and 12 material other agencies. The 33 agencies we reviewed did not include the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the Smithsonian Institution because these audits were not complete before the fiscal year 2004 Financial Report of the United States Government was issued. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Financial Accountability Act, Pub. L. No. 108-330, 118 Stat. 1275 (Oct. 16, 2004), added DHS to the list of CFO Act agencies, increasing the number of CFO Act agencies again to 24 for fiscal year 2005.

- the representations in the management representation letter were reliable based on a review of findings in the auditor's report.

This report is based on the audit work we performed for the audit of the fiscal year 2004 CFS, which was performed in accordance with U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards.

We requested comments on a draft of this report from USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General or their designees. A joint letter containing written comments from USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General is reprinted in enclosure II and discussed in the Agency Comments and Our Evaluation section.

Identified Issues with USDA's Fiscal Year 2004 Management Representation Letter

With respect to USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter, we identified the following two areas that need some improvement: (1) providing applicable representations from the FAM and (2) including a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements. Details regarding these issues are as follows.

Providing Applicable Representations from the FAM

Written representations from management ordinarily confirm oral representations made to the auditor during the audit, document the continuing appropriateness of those representations, and reduce the possibility of a misunderstanding. To meet auditing standards and OMB requirements, federal agencies' management and auditors need to ensure that management representation letters are complete and accurate.

We found that USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter included 28 of the 29 representations from the FAM that were applicable to USDA. The other representation, which was not provided at all, is as follows.

- FAM #27: We have disclosed to you all known instances of noncompliance with laws and regulations.

When agencies do not provide all representations in their management representation letters, it impairs our ability to audit the CFS and Treasury and OMB's ability to make these types of representations in the CFS management representation letter.

Including a Complete Summary of Unadjusted Misstatements

U.S. generally accepted government auditing standards require that for each federal agency with uncorrected misstatements, a summary of unadjusted misstatements be attached to the agency's management representation letter. Treasury and OMB use the summaries of unadjusted misstatements to assess the impact of federal agencies' unadjusted misstatements on the CFS and make appropriate management representations to us at the governmentwide level. The summaries are also used by us, as principal auditor of the CFS, to develop an overall governmentwide summary of unadjusted misstatements, which is then attached to the CFS management representation letter prepared by Treasury and OMB.

Also, in a matter related to the compilation process for the CFS, in fiscal year 2004, Treasury required agencies to submit a summary of unadjusted misstatements as part of the closing package using the standardized format provided for in the Treasury Financial Manual (TFM). The TFM, however, required additional details to be added to the summary of unadjusted misstatements than those called for by the FAM. Specifically, agencies were to also (1) include a description of the misstatements and (2) distinguish between misstatements affecting intragovernmental accounts and misstatements affecting accounts with the public. We need this additional information to develop the overall governmentwide summary of unadjusted misstatements. In order to avoid duplication of effort by the agencies in preparing two summaries of unadjusted misstatements, the additional information should also be included in the summary of unadjusted misstatements attached to the management representation letter. As such, we plan to work with PCIE to modify the FAM to call for these two additional disclosures to be included in the summary of unadjusted misstatements attached to the management representation letter.

USDA included a summary of unadjusted misstatements with its management representation letter, but the summary did not separate "known" and "likely" misstatements, as called for by the FAM. In addition, USDA submitted a summary of unadjusted misstatements as part of its closing package to Treasury as required by the TFM, but the summary did not include a description of the misstatements.

Without a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements from each of the verifying agencies with uncorrected misstatements, it is not possible for us, as principal auditor of the CFS, to reasonably determine the audit risk exposure for each of the line items in the CFS or to prepare an adequate summary of unadjusted misstatements at the governmentwide level.

Conclusions

In two of the five key areas we reviewed, USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter did not provide all the information necessary to support Treasury and OMB's preparation of the CFS management representation letter and our ability to rely on the representations in that letter in combination with individual federal agency representation letters, including that of USDA. The additional information needed from USDA is straightforward and should be easy to address.

Recommendations for Executive Action

We recommend to USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer that in the future the management representation letter

- fully include all representations from the FAM that are applicable to USDA and
- include a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements, if there are any uncorrected misstatements, that also provides a description of the misstatements.

We recommend that the USDA Inspector General work with the department to help ensure that future management representation letters meet the key conditions noted as needing improvements in this report.

Agency Comments and Our Evaluation

In written comments on a draft of this report, which are reprinted in enclosure II, USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General stated that they will work to address the conditions noted in our report. Specifically, USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer stated her office (1) has already changed the format for USDA's fiscal year 2005 management representation letter and all future management representation letters to include representation #27 and (2) will ensure that the summary of unadjusted misstatements includes component audit information on future submissions. In addition, USDA's Inspector General stated that her office will work with USDA management to help ensure that future management representation letters fully include all appropriate representations from the FAM as well as a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements.

As it relates to FAM representation #27, the Acting Chief Financial Officer noted that her office believed that the disclosure was addressed in other parts of USDA's management representation letter and the Inspector General noted that the management representation letter did represent that all material instances of noncompliance were disclosed as well as all instances of known fraud. While USDA included representations that stated (1) there were no instances of noncompliance with applicable laws and regulations that could have a material effect on the financial statements and (2) all instances of known fraud were disclosed, it did not represent that all known instances of noncompliance were disclosed to the auditor as called for by representation #27. As such, we continue to believe that FAM representation #27 was not included in USDA's fiscal year 2004 management representation letter and should be provided in USDA's future management representation letters. We are pleased that USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General stated that they will work to include FAM representation #27 in future management representation letters.

As it relates to the summary of unadjusted misstatements, both USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General indicated that the adjustments included on the departmentwide summary of unadjusted misstatements is intended to include only those adjustments identified during the consolidated audit and not unadjusted misstatements identified during the individual USDA component audits. They stated that they were not aware that GAO was requesting component audit information. Our issue was not related to the component units of USDA, but to USDA's departmentwide summary of unadjusted misstatements. As stated in our engagement letter dated May 3, 2004, which was issued by us to Treasury and OMB and copied to the verifying agencies' Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General, we were to receive a summary of unadjusted misstatements from the applicable agencies with the management representation letter. As noted in our report, both the summary provided with USDA's management representation letter and the summary included with USDA's closing package lacked certain details needed for it to be properly used by GAO for preparing the governmentwide management representation letter. For example, USDA's summary did not include a description of the misstatements. USDA also noted that there were not any likely misstatements to include on the summary. However, FAM 540.03 states that the auditor should quantify the effects of any misstatements and classify them as either "known misstatements" or "likely misstatements". We are pleased that USDA's Acting Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General stated that in the future they will provide a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements.

Within 60 days of the date of this report, we would appreciate receiving a written statement on actions taken to address these recommendations.

We are sending copies of this report to the Chairmen and Ranking Minority Members of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs; the Subcommittee on Federal Financial Management, Government Information, and International Security, Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs; the House Committee on Government Reform; and the Subcommittee on Government Management, Finance, and Accountability, House Committee on Government Reform. In addition, we are sending copies to the Fiscal Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and the Controller of OMB. Copies will be made available to others upon request. This report is also available at no charge on GAO's Web site at www.gao.gov.

We appreciate the courtesy and cooperation extended to us by your staff throughout our work. We look forward to continuing to work with your offices to help improve financial management in the federal government. Enclosure I: Representations in FAM 1001A

Guidance contained in FAM 1001 and FAM 1001A deals with the management representations that the auditor should obtain from current management as part of the audit. This guidance also acknowledges that judgment needs to be exercised to obtain representations that depend on the circumstances of the engagement and the nature and basis of presentation of the financial statements. Representations given in FAM section 1001A should be customized to the situation of the entity being audited, and additional representations may need to be obtained.

FAM 1001A lists 27 representations that are ordinarily included, if applicable, in the management representation letter that an agency provides to the auditor. For representations 3, 11, 16, and 18, the agency should address three separate components. As such, each agency is ordinarily expected to make a total of 35 representations. Representations 18, 19, 20, and 21 are not applicable unless the agency received an opinion on its internal control. In addition, representations 22, 23, and 24 address the three requirements of the Federal Financial Management Improvement Act of 1996 and are only applicable to the 24 CFO Act agencies. The 35 representations in FAM 1001A are as follows.

1. We are responsible for the fair presentation of the financial statements and stewardship information in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.
2. The financial statements are fairly presented in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.
3. We have made available to you all
 - a. financial records and related data;
 - b. where applicable, minutes of meetings of the Board of Directors [or other similar bodies, such as congressional oversight committees] or summaries of actions of recent meetings for which minutes have not been prepared; and
 - c. communications from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) concerning noncompliance with or deficiencies in financial reporting practices.

4. There are no material transactions that have not been properly recorded in the accounting records underlying the financial statements or disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.
5. We believe that the effects of the uncorrected financial statement misstatements summarized in the accompanying schedule are immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole. [If management believes that certain of the identified items are not misstatements, management's belief may be acknowledged by adding to the representation, for example, "We believe that items XX and XX do not constitute misstatements because [description of reason]."]
6. The [entity] has satisfactory title to all owned assets, including stewardship property, plant, and equipment; such assets have no liens or encumbrances; and no assets have been pledged.
7. We have no plans or intentions that may materially affect the carrying value or classification of assets and liabilities.
8. Guarantees under which the [entity] is contingently liable have been properly reported or disclosed.
9. Related party transactions and related accounts receivable or payable, including assessments, loans, and guarantees, have been properly recorded and disclosed.
10. All intraentity transactions and balances have been appropriately identified and eliminated for financial reporting purposes, unless otherwise noted. All intragovernmental transactions and balances have been appropriately recorded, reported, and disclosed. We have reconciled intragovernmental transactions and balances with the appropriate trading partners for the four fiduciary transactions identified in Treasury's Intra-governmental Fiduciary Transactions Accounting Guide, and other intragovernmental asset, liability, and revenue amounts as required by the applicable OMB Bulletin.

11. There are no
 - a. possible violations of laws or regulations whose effects should be considered for disclosure in the financial statements or as a basis for recording a loss contingency,
 - b. material liabilities or gain or loss contingencies that are required to be accrued or disclosed that have not been accrued or disclosed, or
 - c. unasserted claims or assessments that are probable of assertion and must be disclosed that have not been disclosed.
12. We have complied with all aspects of contractual agreements that would have a material effect on the financial statements in the event of noncompliance.
13. No material events or transactions have occurred subsequent to September 30, 20X2 [or date of latest audited financial statements], that have not been properly recorded in the financial statements and stewardship information or disclosed in the notes.
14. We are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control.
15. We acknowledge our responsibility for the design and implementation of programs and controls to prevent and detect fraud (intentional misstatements or omissions of amounts or disclosures in financial statements and misappropriation of assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements).
16. We have no knowledge of any fraud or suspected fraud affecting the [entity] involving:
 - a. management,
 - b. employees who have significant roles in internal control, or
 - c. others where the fraud could have a material effect on the financial statements.

[If there is knowledge of any such instances, they should be described.]

17. We have no knowledge of any allegations of fraud or suspected fraud affecting the [entity] received in communications from employees, former employees, or others. [If there is knowledge of any such allegations, they should be described.]
18. Pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 3512(c), (d) (commonly known as the Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act), we have assessed the effectiveness of the [entity's] internal control in achieving the following objectives:
- a. reliability of financial reporting—transactions are properly recorded, processed, and summarized to permit the preparation of financial statements and stewardship information in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, and assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition;
 - b. compliance with applicable laws and regulations—transactions are executed in accordance with (i) laws governing the use of budget authority and with other laws and regulations that could have a direct and material effect on the financial statements and (ii) any other laws, regulations, and governmentwide policies identified by OMB in its audit guidance; and
 - c. reliability of performance reporting—transactions and other data that support reported performance measures are properly recorded, processed, and summarized to permit the preparation of performance information in accordance with criteria stated by management.

[If the entity bases its internal control assessment on suitable criteria other than 31 U.S.C. 3512(c), (d), this item should cite the criteria used (for example, Internal Control—Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (COSO) of the Treadway Commission).]

19. Those controls in place on September 30, 20X2 [or date of latest audited financial statements], and during the years ended 20X2 and 20X1, provided reasonable assurance that the foregoing objectives are met. [If there are material weaknesses, the foregoing representation should be modified to read:

Those controls in place on September 30, 20X2, and during the years ended 20X2 and 20X1, provided reasonable assurance that the foregoing objectives are met except for the effects of the material weaknesses discussed below or in the attachment.

or: Internal controls are not effective.

or: Internal controls do not meet the foregoing objectives.]

20. We have disclosed to you all significant deficiencies in the design or operation of internal control that could adversely affect the entity's ability to meet the internal control objectives and identified those we believe to be material weaknesses.
21. There have been no changes to internal control subsequent to September 30, 20X2 [or date of latest audited financial statements], or other factors that might significantly affect it. [If there were changes, describe them, including any corrective actions taken with regard to any significant deficiencies or material weaknesses.]
22. We are responsible for implementing and maintaining financial management systems that substantially comply with federal financial management systems requirements, federal accounting standards (U.S. generally accepted accounting principles), and the U.S. Government Standard General Ledger at the transaction level.
23. We have assessed the financial management systems to determine whether they substantially comply with these federal financial management systems requirements. Our assessment was based on guidance issued by OMB.
24. The financial management systems substantially complied with federal financial management systems requirements, federal accounting standards, and the U.S. Government Standard General Ledger at the transaction level as of [date of the latest financial statements].

[If the financial management systems substantially comply with only one or two of the above elements, this representation should be modified as follows:

As of [date of financial statements], the [entity's] financial management systems substantially comply with [specify which of the three elements for which there is substantial compliance (e.g., federal accounting standards and the SGL at the transaction level)], but did not substantially comply with [specify which of the elements for which there was a lack of substantial compliance (e.g., federal financial management systems requirements)], as described below (or in an attachment).]

[If the financial management systems do not substantially comply with any of the three elements, the following paragraph should be used instead:

As of [date of financial statements], the [entity's] financial management systems do not substantially comply with the federal financial management systems requirements.]

[If there is a lack of substantial compliance with one or more of the three requirements, identify herein or in an attachment all the facts pertaining to the noncompliance, including the nature and extent of the noncompliance and the primary reason or cause of the noncompliance.]

25. We are responsible for the [entity's] compliance with applicable laws and regulations.
26. We have identified and disclosed to you all laws and regulations that have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts.
27. We have disclosed to you all known instances of noncompliance with laws and regulations.

Mr. Gary T. Engel
Director
Financial Management and Assurance
Government Accountability Office
441 G Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20548

Dear Mr. Engel:

The Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) and the Office of Inspector General (OIG) appreciate the opportunity to comment on the draft report dated May 25, 2005, relating to your review of the fiscal year (FY) 2004 management representation letter on its financial statements.

OCFO

We accept your position that USDA should have included a statement that all known noncompliance with laws and regulations had been disclosed. We believe that disclosure was addressed in other parts of our management representation letter. However, we have already changed the format for FY 2005 and all future management representation letters to include this statement.

Additionally, OCFO will ensure that the summary of adjustments passed includes component audit information on future submissions as you have recommended.

OIG

We agree with the recommendation addressed to OIG and will work with USDA management in the future to help ensure that future management representation letters meet the conditions you cited relating to fully including all appropriate representations from the Financial Audit Manual (FAM) as well as a complete summary of unadjusted misstatements, including detailed descriptions.

While in agreement with the recommendation, we would like to provide clarification to the Government Accountability Office's (GAO) comments so that users can place the report in the proper context. Specifically:

- GAO stated the representations that all known noncompliance with laws and regulations had been disclosed was inadvertently omitted from the management representation letter. We will ensure that all required disclosures are included in the future. However, we feel it is important to note that the letter did represent that all material instances of noncompliance were disclosed as well as all instances of known fraud.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Mr. Gary T. Engel

See comment 1.

- The summary of adjustments passed for the USDA Consolidated audit is intended to include only those adjustments identified during the Consolidated audit. The USDA component audits communicate the adjustments passed in their standalone management representation letters as part of the individual audits. We were not aware that GAO was requesting the component audit information. This information was available and subsequently provided; however, GAO indicated that it was not provided in time for them to rely on it if they had been able to issue an opinion. We will ensure that the detail is provided in the future. We request that in the future GAO communicate its requests in detail commensurate with its expectations.
- The detail description of the two misstatements totaling $1 million and $3 million, respectively, for the USDA audit was not included. However, these are clearly inconsequential and, in retrospect, did not warrant being brought forward to the schedule of adjustments passed.
- In addition, the schedule did not include "likely" adjustments; however, there weren't any. In the future we will so state, if applicable.

See comment 1.

See comment 2.

Additionally, please note that OIG had become increasingly concerned that the overall process to support GAO's financial statement effort needed improvement. GAO responded to our request to discuss these concerns and met with us on May 25, 2005. GAO agreed to provide a single point of contact who will work with OIG and the USDA financial managers to develop a list of clearly defined deliverables and due dates. We believe this new process will eliminate misunderstandings (such as the one discussed in the second dot point above) and help ensure that we are able to fully meet GAO's needs.

Sincerely,

Patricia E. Healy
Acting Chief Financial Officer

Phyllis K. Fong
Inspector General

The following are our comments on the Department of Agriculture's (USDA) letter dated June 9, 2005.

GAO Comments

1. See the "Agency Comments and Our Evaluation" section of this report.
2. Both GAO and USDA have expressed concerns related to the overall process of providing us the needed information for the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the U.S. government (CFS). In a meeting between USDA and GAO on May 25, 2005, both parties discussed how this process could be improved for future audits. At this meeting, we told USDA officials that we believe that we had clearly defined the deliverables and due dates for information requested that related to our audit of the CFS. We also noted that some of the information requested was called for in the engagement letter dated May 3, 2004, that was issued by us to Treasury and OMB and copied to the verifying agencies' Chief Financial Officer and Inspector General. Regardless, we will provide a single point of contact to work with USDA's Office of the Inspector General to facilitate meetings and data requests. Also, USDA agreed to appoint a single point of contact, the financial statement audit liaison, who will coordinate and obtain for us all necessary information to help ensure that USDA meets its deliverables and due dates.

GAO's Mission

The Government Accountability Office, the audit, evaluation and investigative arm of Congress, exists to support Congress in meeting its constitutional responsibilities and to help improve the performance and accountability of the federal government for the American people. GAO examines the use of public funds; evaluates federal programs and policies; and provides analyses, recommendations, and other assistance to help Congress make informed oversight, policy, and funding decisions. GAO's commitment to good government is reflected in its core values of accountability, integrity, and reliability.

Obtaining Copies of GAO Reports and Testimony

The fastest and easiest way to obtain copies of GAO documents at no cost is through GAO's Web site (www.gao.gov). Each weekday, GAO posts newly released reports, testimony, and correspondence on its Web site. To have GAO e-mail you a list of newly posted products every afternoon, go to www.gao.gov and select "Subscribe to Updates."

Order by Mail or Phone

The first copy of each printed report is free. Additional copies are $2 each. A check or money order should be made out to the Superintendent of Documents. GAO also accepts VISA and Mastercard. Orders for 100 or more copies mailed to a single address are discounted 25 percent. Orders should be sent to:
