MEDIGAP INSURANCE

Insurers' Compliance With Federal Minimum Loss Ratio Standards, 1988-93

B-257438

August 23, 1995

The Honorable Fortney H. (Pete) Stark
Ranking Minority Member
Subcommittee on Health
Committee on Ways and Means
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Stark:

The value that Medicare beneficiaries receive from the dollars they spend on private insurance policies that supplement Medicare (commonly called Medigap policies) has been an issue of long-standing interest to the Congress. In 1980, the Congress amended the Social Security Act to establish a number of consumer protections for Medigap purchasers. These protections included a requirement that a certain portion of premiums be returned to policyholders in the form of benefits (called a loss ratio). The current requirement is that individual Medigap policies actually achieve a loss ratio of at least 65 percent and that group policies achieve a loss ratio of at least 75 percent. For policies that fall short of this standard, the company must refund or credit policyholders in order to meet the loss ratio requirement; however, for policies that were in effect when the refunds and credits requirement was enacted, no refunds or credits will be required until 1997.

In December 1988, you asked us to monitor benefit payments by Medicare supplemental insurance policies over the 1988 through 1994 period. This is our fourth report in response to your request.¹

Our objectives in developing the current report were to (1) identify trends in insurers' aggregate loss ratio performance by comparing and analyzing 1992 and 1993 loss ratio data with that previously reported for 1988 through 1991 and (2) review Medigap insurers' loss ratio performance by policy form, which is what consumers purchase, and identify insurers whose loss ratios were below federal standards during 1992 and 1993.

The information in this report was developed from computer databases obtained from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners ¹Our previous reports were Medigap Insurance: Better Consumer Protection Should Result From 1990 Changes to Baucus Amendment (GAO/HRD-91-49, Mar. 5, 1991), Medigap Insurance: Insurers Whose Loss Ratios Did Not Meet Federal Minimum Standards in 1988-89 (GAO/HRD-92-54, Feb. 28, 1992), and Medigap Insurance: Insurers' Compliance With Federal Minimum Loss Ratio Standards, 1988-91 (GAO/HEHS-94-47, Feb. 7, 1994).

(NAIC). NAIC created the databases from the annual Medigap experience exhibits that insurance companies are required to file with state insurance departments. For each year, we randomly tested the accuracy of the database by comparing the information on the annual experience exhibit with the data recorded on the database. Our verification showed that NAIC accurately created the computerized databases except for minor errors, none of which affected our analysis. We did not check the accuracy of the individual exhibits submitted by over 300 companies reporting Medigap loss ratio information. NAIC also did not verify the accuracy of the exhibits. This review was conducted from May 1994 to May 1995 in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards, except as noted above.

Results in Brief

The Medigap market grew steadily over the 1988-93 period, from $7.3 billion to $12.1 billion. Medigap insurers' aggregate loss ratios were relatively stable during the first 4 years of that period. Over the next 2 years, however, these ratios decreased about 10 percentage points, to an aggregate 75 percent for individual policies and 85 percent for group policies. In 1991, 19 percent of Medigap policies failed to meet loss ratio standards; this increased to 38 percent by 1993. The premium dollars spent on such policies increased from $320 million in 1991 to $1.2 billion in 1993. If insurers had been required to give refunds or credits on substandard policies, as they will in the future, policyholders would have been due about $125 million over 1992 and 1993. (See app. II for a list of individual policies and app. III for a list of group policies that did not meet the standard.)

Background

In 1980 the Congress amended the Social Security Act to establish federal standards for marketing and selling Medigap insurance. This amendment,² commonly known as the Baucus amendment, incorporated into federal law a number of consumer protections. These protections included a requirement that Medigap policies be expected to have loss ratios of at least 60 percent for individual policies and at least 75 percent for group policies. If an insurer's actuarial estimate was that a policy could be expected to meet the standard, the insurer was considered to have complied with the requirement regardless of whether its actual loss ratio ever met the standard.

The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (OBRA 1990, P.L. 101-508, Nov. 5, 1990) raised the minimum loss ratio standard that individual policies must meet to 65 percent, effective for policies sold or issued after November 5, 1991. In addition, OBRA 1990 (1) required companies, beginning in 1991, to report loss ratio data by policy form rather than in the aggregate for all policies; (2) required refunds or credits to policyholders when any policy fails to meet the applicable loss ratio standard, beginning in 1994; and (3) provided for NAIC to develop standards for simplifying and standardizing Medigap policies. Provisions of the Social Security Act Amendments of 1994 (P.L. 103-432, Oct. 31, 1994) extended the OBRA 1990 requirements for a 65 percent loss ratio and refunds or credits to policyholders for policies issued before November 6, 1991.

NAIC developed 10 standardized Medigap plans that were included in the July 1991 revision to its model act and regulation. All states and territories except American Samoa and Guam adopted the NAIC model. The states did not have to adopt all 10 standardized plans developed by NAIC, and six states adopted fewer than 10 plans.³

When interpreting loss ratios, two important factors to consider are policy maturity and credibility. Policy maturity refers to the length of time a policy has been in force. Before OBRA 1990, the NAIC loss ratio regulation applied the minimum standards to policies that had been in force for 3 years or more. OBRA 1990 provided for policies sold or issued after November 5, 1991, to meet the standards after they had been in force for 2 years. The Social Security Act Amendments of 1994 provided for policies to meet the standards after they had been in force for 12 months. In March 1995, NAIC adopted a revised model regulation to incorporate the Social Security Act Amendments of 1994, and the states have 1 year from then to adopt this revised model in order to maintain compliance with federal Medigap standards.

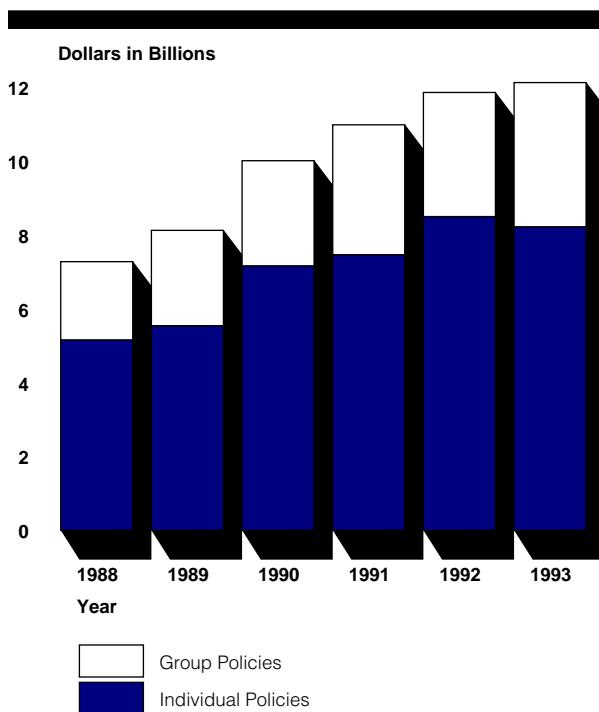

Credibility refers to the number of persons covered by a policy. The standard we used, based on the opinion of a state actuary who has studied the issue for NAIC, is that a loss ratio is credible if it is based on a number of policyholders sufficient to generate at least $150,000 in premiums within a state.

³Pennsylvania and Vermont adopted 7; Delaware adopted 6; and Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Massachusetts had alternative simplification programs in effect when OBRA 1990 was enacted and have a waiver from the standardized policy requirement.

Insurers' Aggregate Loss Ratio Performance, 1988-93

The Medigap market has grown steadily from $7.3 billion in premiums earned in 1988 to $12.1 billion in 1993. Most of the Medigap insurance market is comprised of individual policies (see fig. 1).

In 1992, a total of 347 insurance companies reported⁴ premiums earned on Medigap policies; in 1993 this number decreased to 325 companies. Almost 70 percent of the premiums for Medigap policies are collected by 25 companies. The Prudential Insurance Company of America is the largest insurer, accounting for about 23 percent of the premiums earned. (See app. I for the 25 largest Medigap insurance companies in 1993.)

Medigap insurers' aggregate loss ratios⁵ performance shows signs of deterioration. From 1988 to 1991, the performance of Medigap insurers

⁴Annually, insurers report loss ratio data to state insurance commissioners and NAIC.

⁵Aggregate loss ratios are the sum of benefits paid under all outstanding policies divided by the sum of premiums.

with mature and credible business⁶ generally improved. While the aggregate loss ratios were relatively stable over the entire period, more insurers met the aggregate loss ratio standards in 1991 than 1988. However, since 1991, companies' aggregate loss ratios have decreased and fewer companies with mature and credible business met the minimum loss ratio standards (see table 1).

Table 1: Aggregate Loss Ratios and Percent of Medigap Insurers Whose Loss Ratios Met the Minimum Standards (1988-93)

Year	Aggregate loss ratios		Medigap insurers
	Individual policies percent	Group policies percent	Total	Aggregate loss ratios met minimum standards ^a	Percent
1988	86	96	190	84	44
1989	82	82	208	117	56
1990	84	91	217	143	66
1991 ^b	86	93	216	154	71
1992 ^b	81	89	217	150	69
1993 ^b	75	85	205	121	59

^aInsurer's aggregate loss ratio by state met minimum standards in every state it did business.

^bFrom 1991 through 1993, companies were required to report loss ratio information by policy form. For this analysis we aggregated the 1991-93 premiums and claims to make the loss ratio information consistent with data reported in 1988 through 1990.

Loss Ratio Data Reported by Policy Form

Beginning with reports covering 1991 business, insurers have reported loss ratio information by policy form within a state rather than reporting only statewide aggregate experience. From 1991 through 1993, the number of Medigap policy forms grew by almost 45 percent, from about 20,000 policy forms to about 29,000 in 1993. Because new policies are offered each year and many other policies are low-volume; only about 10 percent of the forms in each year are mature policies with credible experience. However, these mature and credible policies account for over 60 percent of the total premiums earned (see table 2).

⁶For purposes of this report, a mature policy is at least 3 years old. Credible premium experience is when at least $150,000 is collected annually on a policy within a state.

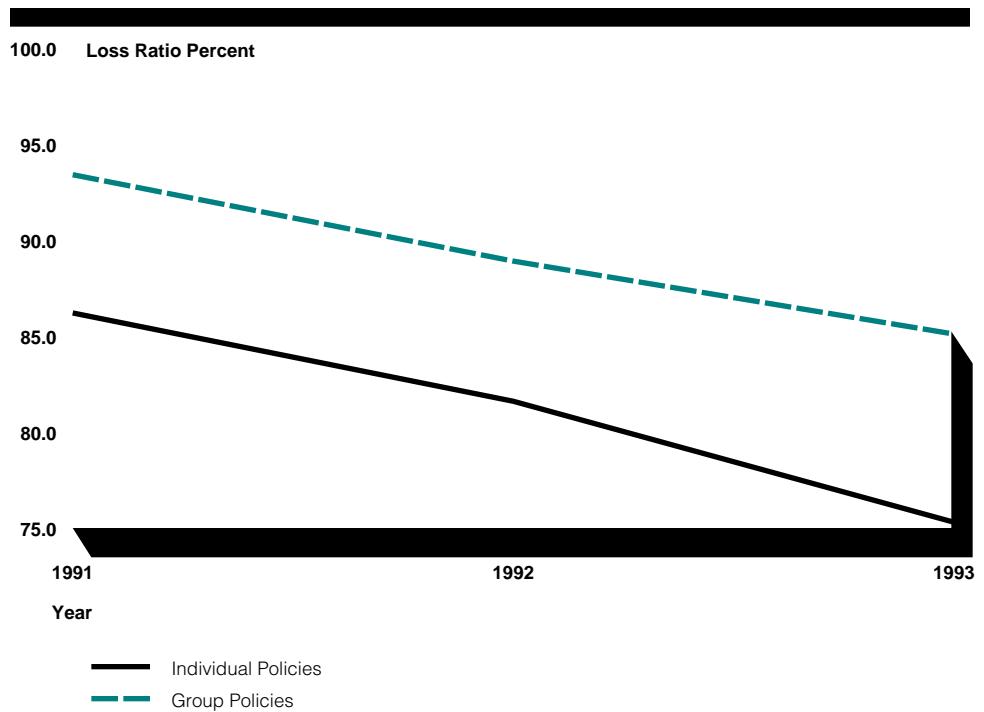

Table 2: Total Medigap Policy Forms and Forms With Mature and Credible Experience (1991-93)

	1991	1992	1993
Total policy forms	20,275	25,589	28,906
Number of mature and credible policy forms	2,011	2,513	2,755
Premiums earned on mature and credible policy forms (in millions)	$6,955	$7,684	$7,548
Percentage of total premiums earned on mature and credible policy forms	63	65	62

The remainder of this report discusses only those policy forms with mature and credible experience.

Since 1991, average loss ratios have declined for both group and individual policy forms; that is, the portion of premiums earned devoted to policyholder benefits has declined between 1991 and 1993. In 1991 the average loss ratio was 86 percent for individual policy forms and 93 percent for group policy forms, but in 1993 these had decreased to 75 percent for individual and 85 percent for group policy forms (see fig. 2).

A Declining Portion of Policy Forms Met the Minimum Loss Ratio Standard From 1991 to 1993

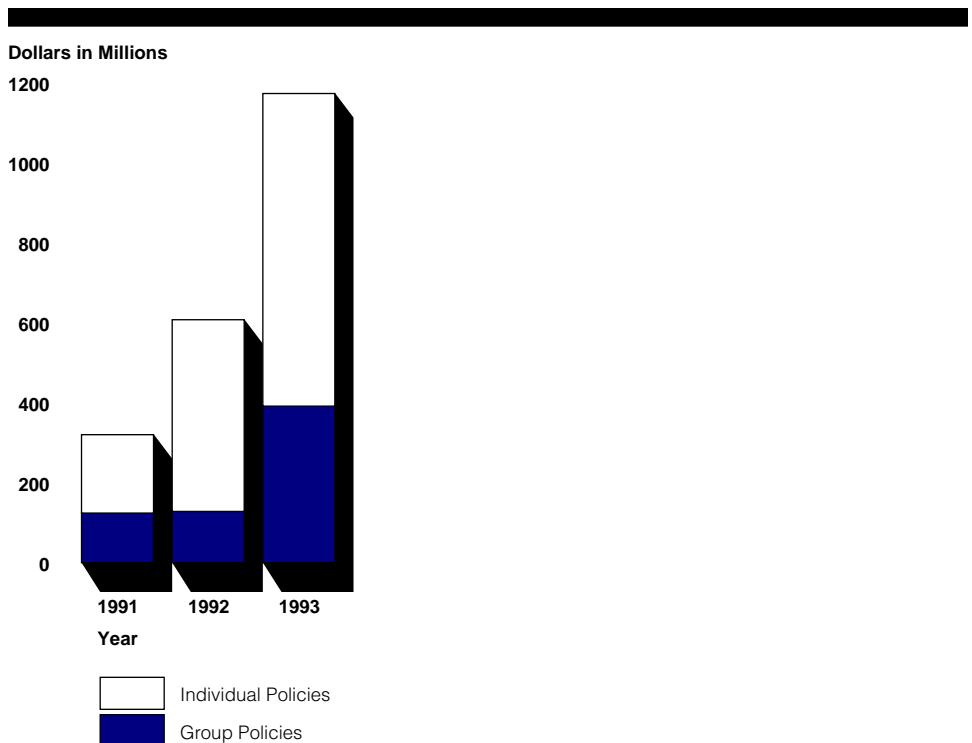

In 1992 and 1993, most policy forms met the minimum loss ratio standards; however, compared with 1991, the percentage of forms meeting the standards decreased, from 81 percent in 1991 to 74 percent in 1992 and 62 percent in 1993. Also, the premiums earned for policy forms whose loss ratio met the standards declined as a percentage of all premiums earned, from 95 percent in 1991 to 92 percent in 1992 and 84 percent in 1993 (see table 3).

Table 3: Medigap Policy Forms' Compliance With Minimum Loss Ratio Standards (1991-93)

	Medigap policy forms			Premiums earned
	1991	1992	1993	1991	1992	1993
Met the minimum standards	81%	74%	62%	95%	92%	84%
Did not meet the minimum standards	19%	26%	38%	5%	8%	16%
Number of policy forms	2,011	2,513	2,755
Premiums earned (in millions)				$6,955	$7,684	$7,548

Premiums earned on policy forms that failed to meet the standards increased from $320 million in 1991 to $1.2 billion in 1993 (see fig. 3).

About one-third of the 1,498 policy forms whose loss ratios were below the minimum standard sometime during the period 1991 to 1993 did not meet the standard in multiple years. The loss ratios of 89 policy forms were below the minimum standard in all 3 years and the companies selling these policies collected over $260 million in premiums for the 3-year period. (See app. II for a list of individual policies and app. III for a list of group policies that did not meet the standard.)

The Social Security Act Amendments of 1994 revised the refunds or credits requirement of OBRA 1990, effectively extending the requirement to policies issued before November 6, 1991. Refunds or credits on these policies will begin in 1997. If these policies had been subject to the refunds or credits requirement in 1992 and 1993, we estimate that policyholders would have been entitled to about $125 million in premium refunds or credits.
