SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

The Smithsonian Institution was created by act of Congress in 1846, under the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who in 1829 bequeathed his fortune to the United States to found at Washington, under the name of the "Smithsonian Institution," an establishment for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." The Smithsonian fund has been increased by other bequests and gifts. The Institution is legally an establishment having as its members the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Chief Justice, and the President's Cabinet. It is governed by a board of regents appointed by joint resolution of Congress, all of whom serve without compensation. The Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution is its executive officer and the director of its activities.

[1] The amount of money shown in this column is based on less than 2 years' service. Subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the President, members of the uniformed services entitled to receive basic pay shall, in addition thereto, be entitled to receive incentive pay as determined by the Secretary of the department concerned, for duty as a crew member involving frequent and regular participation in aerial flights; or for duty on board a submarine, including submarines under construction from the time builders' trials commence. (An Army or Air Force officer assigned to submarine duty with the Navy will be paid additional pay in accordance with Navy regulations.)

[2] The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff shall receive the basic pay and basic and personal money allowances prescribed by law for the Chief of Staff, United States Army, and such special pays and incentive pay to which he may be entitled under other provisions of law.
