LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC PRINTER,
Washington, December 6, 1920.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the annual report of the operations of the Government Printing Office for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920.

Very respectfully,

CORNELIUS FORD,
Public Printer.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PUBLIC PRINTER.

I have the honor of submitting herewith the Annual Report of the Public Printer for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920.

Appropriations, including deficiencies, were $9,218,829.56, an increase of $339,676.29 over the previous fiscal year. There was appropriated on account of the office of superintendent of documents $415,393.20, leaving available for allotted printing and binding $8,803,436.36; of this amount $1,358,690.27 was not specifically allotted when appropriated. There were also available resources on account of reimbursement funds (repay printing) $4,658,024.70, a decrease of $513,543.58—9.93 per cent—from the comparable income for the previous year, which in turn showed an increase over 1918 of 11.8 per cent.

The combined resources for 1920 total $13,876,854.26. The disbursements and obligations outstanding chargeable against this amount were $13,614,717.06, leaving an unexpended balance of $262,137.20. This unexpended balance consists of the following items: Salaries, office of the Public Printer, $9,805.27; holidays, $28,598.50; leaves of absence, $2,863.24; salaries, office of superintendent of documents, $16,978.74; general expenses, superintendent of documents, $7,406.78; printing and binding, $196,484.67. This printing and binding balance is subject to over and under payments on outstanding obligations for purchases of stock, equipment, and machinery, totaling $2,712,330.11, as of June 30, 1920.

The total expenditures for maintenance, operation, and general expenses of the Government Printing Office, not including the expenditures of the superintendent of documents, were $13,223,709.38 as compared with $11,351,821.38 for the previous year, a net increase of $1,871,888. The expenditures of the superintendent of documents were $391,007.68 as compared with $355,240.81 for the previous year, and expenditures on account of increased compensation were $1,146,130.39 as compared with $572,398.07 for 1919.

PRODUCTION.

During the year a large quantity of Government work which previously had been printed in commercial establishments was produced in the Government Printing Office. This was by reason of the recent law requiring practically all Government printing and binding to be done in this office. By regulations of the Joint Committee on Printing some publications were discontinued and the issue on others considerably reduced. All these factors resulted in an increase of 14 per cent in the number of orders placed for work, but carried at the same time a decrease of 19 per cent in chargeable presswork impressions. The increase in number of orders was mostly in job work; as a rule such orders were for rather small quantities. Notwithstanding these conditions, the value of the output was $12,589,-571.79, 1 per cent less than for the previous year, which was the record year of the Government Printing Office. Considerable work not of an urgent character which had been held up during the several years of war activities was cleared up, and the work of the office is in excellent shape and practically up to date, excepting such printing as is held back by reason of the difficulty in securing suitable paper stock. Congress was in session for a period of about 11 months, and the amount of printing and binding required was very large; the charge for congressional work was the largest on record, exceeding previous year by 57 per cent. During practically the entire year this office printed current publications as follows: Seven dailies, 20 weeklies, 54 monthlies, besides the usual quarterly, semiannual, and the annual reports; these publications carried from 100 to over 200,000 copies per issue, and were furnished promptly. In addition to the usual volume of printing a considerable quantity of Census work was furnished, including approximately 125,000,000 tabulating cards.

The following comparative statement is a general summary of the productive operations covering the most important items entering into printing and binding during the fiscal years 1918, 1919, and 1920:

EXPENSE AND PRODUCTION.

The summary of expense and production for the fiscal year (facing this page) shows in detail the various items which go to make up the operating expense of each productive division, the value of product, the overhead expense and the manner in which it is distributed, and the amount of work performed for Congress, the departments, independent bureaus, and private individuals, together with the condition of each printing and binding allotment at the close of the fiscal year.

The total operating expense—that is, cost of labor performed and materials used—not including the division of public documents, was $12,375,415.88, an increase of —1 per cent over previous year; this, of course, includes the higher cost of stock used. The average number of employees actually working each day was 4,066, a decrease of 42 from previous year; the value of the product was $12,589,571.79, a decrease of about 1 per cent from previous year. Not including the stock used for postal cards and money order forms, which cost $320,353.66, the charge made for stock used on the ordinary work was $4,007,117.66, about $584,000 less than last year; paper cost represented 33 per cent of total cost of the work. This difference was due to a general reduction in quantity called for in orders, and not to a reduced paper cost. The overhead expense increased $108,213, due to higher cost of materials used in operation, increases in compensation as were necessarily made, and the construction of new warehouse. Eliminating expense of leave and holiday pay, both of which are provided for by law, the overhead charge in this office was 17 per cent, a slight reduction from previous year. Considering the records we are required to keep and reports which must be made, and the system necessary to handle the large volume of work, I believe this is a reasonable expense.

Recent law provided that, beginning July 1, 1919, the cost of heat, light, and power furnished to the city post office building by the Government Printing Office power plant, and for which up to that time no charge could be made, must be paid for by the Post Office Department. The cost of that service for entire year was $47,337.73, and was paid for by the department.

The cost of the work ordered by Members of Congress and private individuals amounted to $161,008.41. The labor and material expended for this work are paid for out of the regular appropriation for printing and binding, and said appropriation should be reimbursed through the charge made for this work. Existing law does not so permit.

All sections of the office were operated without loss for the year, and the production was satisfactory. Overtime work was cut to the minimum, and every effort was made toward a maximum production in the regular eight-hour periods.

Summary of expense and production for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920.

RECONCILIATIONS.

The total overhead expense amounted to $1,853,719.14, as follows:

The volume of book composition was the largest for any year since the establishment of the Government Printing Office. Practically all this type was set on the monotype and linotype machines. During the year 135 operators left the service, and the filling of their places with new employees inexperienced in the work of the office was a decided handicap, and in view of this fact I consider that a very excellent record was established for book composition.

Job work increased by 6,509 orders, or 18 per cent over previous year, while the average number of employees actually working each day increased 18. This work has been well handled, and many time-saving methods have been adopted.

Six presses were discarded as being out of date, and two new ones installed in their place. The number of impressions decreased due to smaller orders, the hours of running time decreased due to less overtime, and expense decreased accordingly. The new equipment installed during the past few years increased the efficiency of the press-room and has been a decided economy. During the year 72 pressmen left the service, and their places were taken by new appointees.

The output of electrotype and stereotype work was 15,692,960 square inches, an increase of 2 per cent over previous year. During the year 20 electrotypers and stereotypers left the service and were replaced by 18 new employees.

The output of postal cards was 700,000,000, an increase of 157 per cent over previous year. The stock for this work, formerly purchased by department and furnished to this office, is now purchased direct by the Public Printer. It has been necessary to increase the charge to department for furnishing these cards by reason of decided increases in cost of the stock.

The number of books furnished for the money-order service of the Post Office Department increased about 28 per cent. This was accomplished with an average of three more employees working.

Both the printing and binding work in the branches located in the Congressional Library building increased; in addition to the regular Library work, considerable main-office work was handled.

The curtailment in edition work affected the various divisions of the bindery. The average number of employees working per day decreased 234, and a proportionate decrease was shown in most of the productive items.

Some of the departments had a considerable balance remaining in their printing and binding allotments at close of the year. The principal ones were: Treasury, $167,000; War, $351,000; Agriculture, $10,000; Post Office, $84,000; and Interstate Commerce Commission, $33,000.

During the year 130,314 pounds of printing ink were made in our own ink room, besides large quantities of blue toner and mucilage; in all, 60 different kinds of ink were made. Our roller room produced 3,281 rollers for presses, totaling 26,930 pounds of composition, at an average cost less than an outside-purchase price. The metal-melting plant remelted and cast into ingots approximately 6 tons of monotype and 11 tons of linotype metal each day.

The following comparative statement shows the value of the finished product for the fiscal years 1918, 1919, and 1920:

SCALE OF PRICES.

Public Act No. 23, approved August 2, 1919, directed that an increase to 75 cents per hour be made in rates of pay to printers, pressmen, and bookbinders. It was necessary, in order to be fair to the other employees and retain their services, for the Public Printer to grant a general increase in pay, in so far as he was able, to others not specified in above act. This action, together with the mounting costs on paper and materials used in printing and binding, made necessary, an increase in the scale of prices in order that the work should be charged at not less than cost, as provided by law. The scale was therefore increased approximately 10 per cent on labor; materials and paper were charged according to prices paid by this office. Charges are held as near cost as possible; for the entire year the difference between actual cost and charge was approximately 1 per cent.

PAPER.

The paper situation was extremely unsatisfactory during the year. Not only were the prices high, but it was difficult to secure the stocks. Outside of some few agreements effective from March 31 and covering but a small portion of the necessary tonnage, there were no contracts for paper; we were required to go into the open market and advertise for our supply, and in some cases no bids were received. We were able to deliver the work ordered in many instances only after substituting a stock different from that called for by department, which course was not always satisfactory. In so far as paper was concerned, we operated on a sort of hand-to-mouth basis. The situation became so bad that on March 20, 1920, the Public Printer met with the representatives of various paper manufacturers in the office of the secretary of book division of the Pulp and Paper Association in New York City, at which time the needs of the Government for public printing and binding were set forth and fully explained, and an urgent plea made for assistance in securing the necessary supply. These gentlemen evidenced a fine spirit of cooperation and duty toward the Government, and the result was the obtaining of a day's run every 90 days from the mills of various manufacturers. The bulk of our book papers was obtained by this means during the closing months of the year. The prices varied so that it was impossible in many instances to give a definite estimate on cost of work, as the difference between estimated and actual cost in many cases varied 100 per cent or more. The paper supply was a problem which seemed to have a new angle almost every day, and was met in the best possible way.

Every endeavor was made to conserve paper stocks. Employees were cautioned to avoid waste in any form, and the allowance necessary for spoilage in printing was reduced to the limit.

MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT.

On account of the high prices prevailing in the machinery market during the year only a portion of the $100,000 permitted for the purchase of machinery was expended. Only the most urgent purchases were made, as it was deemed wise to wait for a more favorable market. The machinery is subjected to a constant and trying usage, and a considerable replacement must be made in the near future. To enable the Public Printer to take advantage of a favorable market, it would be very advisable to increase the limit of expenditure for this item, now set at $100,000, so that replacements necessary to economically handle the steady volume of work can be made as soon as possible. The following is a list of the machinery and equipment furnished during the year:

BUILDINGS AND PLANT.

The total cost of the upkeep of the buildings was $61,427.15, an increase of $20,612.53 over previous year. This increase was almost entirely due to the increase in wages and advances in cost of materials. Adding to this cost the expense of maintaining the sanitary force and the proportionate expense of the power plant concerned in the upkeep of buildings, the total cost was 33.49 cents per square foot, which I consider a reasonable figure.

The new warehouse authorized to be built last year has been completed at a total cost of $49,975.65, and is now in use. It is 50 feet wide and 175 feet long, extending from H Street to Jackson Alley, at the west end of the old building. It has brick walls, reinforced-concrete floor, steel roof, and is practically fireproof. The additional floor space thus furnished has relieved to some extent the congestion existing for a number of years, but there still remains a crowded condition throughout the entire office, which is a serious handicap to the efficient handling of the product.

The machine shop handled 11,528 jobs during the year, varying from simple repairs to rebuilding of machinery. Ten large printing presses were rebuilt and put in first-class running condition at an average cost of $400 each; practically all sewing machines were overhauled at an average cost of $375 each, and a very considerable amount of other repair and rebuilding work was handled.

The carpenter shop had 9,390 jobs during the year, varying from simple repairs to construction of cabinets, trucks, etc.; 14,354 boxes were made for postal-card shipments. All this work required the use of 347,249 feet of lumber, of which 235,000 feet were reclaimed from old boxes and crates, at a saving of about $12,000.

The electrical shop handled 12,664 jobs during the year. This work covered every class of repair and new work, including repairs to motors and starting equipment, wiring new warehouse, installation of lights, etc.

The following statement gives in detail the various items concerned in the upkeep of buildings:

POWER PLANT.

The average cost per kilowatt-hour was $0.01705, as against $0.01784 for the previous year, showing a very slight decrease. The total output for the year was 4,453,438 kilowatt-hours, of which the city post office building used 1,553,642 kilowatt-hours. The furnishing of heat, light, and power to the city post office is becoming a serious strain on our power plant, as it is increasing all the time; if consumption is not curtailed it will soon tax our plant to the very limit. The grade of coal being delivered to this office is so poor that frequently it is difficult to keep steam to the requisite pressure. The coal is furnished by the Government fuel yards, and the Public Printer has no control over the quality.

The power plant of the Government Printing Office is not equipped to properly handle the work demanded of it. It consists of two water-tube boilers with automatic stokers, which are very efficient, and six Scotch marine type boilers from 18 to 20 years old, which are not up to date and are expensive on account of the lack of automatic stokers.

PERSONNEL.

The total number of employees, including those in the division of public documents, on the roll last day of June, 1920, was 4,720, as against 4,793 on same day in previous year. Separations from the service during the year were 1,155 and new appointments were 1,082. Many of the resignations were from the skilled-mechanic roll; these employees are constantly leaving the service because of a better compensation elsewhere. The increases authorized by Congress to printers, bookbinders, and pressmen during the year, while it helped some, did not meet the pay in average commercial plants, and we find that the younger men, naturally the most efficient, constantly are going to other fields. All these conditions make it difficult to keep forces to normal strength and also make it necessary to break in new employees to the work of the office, thus slowing down production. Compensation in all branches should be on a par with what obtains in commercial plants; if not, the Government will constantly lose the services of many efficient employees, to the detriment of the service.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The medical and sanitary officer handled 4,426 cases of illness or injury in the office, a decrease of 433 over previous year. Of this number 1,479 were surgical cases requiring 3,038 redressings, 2,947 were medical cases, and there was 1 death. In 2,554 cases the employees were permitted to return to their work after treatment. The cost of this service for the year was $6,878.16, and is a reasonable amount considering the advantages to the service and the welfare of the employees.

During the year a total of 14,572,550 pounds of waste paper was forwarded to contractor for sale, a decrease of over 1,000,000 pounds as compared with previous year. Of this amount 6,629,426 pounds were Government Printing Office waste, and the balance from departments and bureaus. The handling and baling of this waste is an expensive proposition, and until the existing law is amended must be carried as a part of the overhead expense chargeable to every piece of printing and binding turned out by this office.

The total sales of waste and condemned materials amounted to $153,469.46, as follows: Paper, $135,492.16; metals, $520.41; wood, $3,607.29; leather, $405.87; roller composition, $368.59; sponges, $1,360.05; machinery and miscellaneous, $7,031.09. Proceeds of these sales are required to be turned into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. This is not a good plan. The Public Printer's appropriation should be reimbursed by the amounts, as it represents a part of the receipts of the business. It will require a change of law to accomplish it.

There is a lack of proper working space in all divisions of the office. It has been inadvisable to further extend our productive operations into the old building, both on account of the building being old and unsafe and because of the inconvenience caused to the work; nevertheless, it has been necessary to do so. The volume of work has doubled in the past four years, and the estimated output can be set at a minimum of $1,000,000 per month. This amount of work can be handled most efficiently only when more working space is provided by an addition to present office; the old building should not be used except for light storage.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The total distribution of publications for the year was 63,645,789, an increase of about 2,600,000 over last year. Letters of inquiry and orders from the general public totaled 321,818, an increase of 56,646 over 1919. The receipts from sales of publications were $231,532.21, an increase of $30,792.22, and the number of publications sold was 5,895,470, an increase of 1,112,813. The prevailing impression that the increased cost and scarcity of paper would effect a marked reduction in the free distribution by the departments is not confirmed by our records of free distribution, which totaled 55,287,525, an increase of 1,081,383 over last year. We maintained 1,159 separate mailing lists, totaling upward of 1,066,000 names; revisions of these lists required 229,954 additions, and 265,314 names were dropped.

These figures show that the business of this division is increasing steadily, and the ruling of the Joint Committee on Printing as to the application of section 89 of printing act of 1895, restricting printing of reports, documents, and publications to 1,000 copies, will tend to further increase our sales business, as departments will have their opportunities for free distribution cut down.

There has always been a seeming lack of cooperation on the part of some of the departments and independent bureaus as to the information which should be furnished to the superintendent of documents covering general publication work. If we had definite information, when departmental orders were placed, as to whether the publication was to be for general public distribution or for official use only, together with a fair description of the work and an estimate of the demand which probably would be created for it, orders for our sales stock would be placed more intelligently and economically. As it is now, we have none of this information, and it is not possible for us to investigate each publication ordered; therefore a very conservative policy is followed in our ordering, frequently requiring going back to press for copies at an increased price to supply a demand which we had no means of anticipating.

The expansion of mailing activities in some of the departments is a matter to which I desire to call attention. Considerable mailing is being done outside the Government Printing Office which I am convinced the law of 1912 contemplated should be done in the Government Printing Office. The Economy Commission which first brought out this plan had in mind a centralized mailing plant for all Government publications, but unfortunately the law, passed later, did not include orders, instructions, notices, circulars, etc., and under these exceptions considerable mailing is being done in the departments. Granting that it is necessary to maintain mailing equipment to handle mimeograph and multigraph work, there is no reason why all mailing lists used exclusively for publications should not be kept in the Government Printing Office. If it is good business to mail publications intended for public distribution at this office, I fail to see why those intended for official distribution should be excluded. To do so destroys the saving contemplated when a central mailing plant was approved, and also handicaps the service to the public, for as a rule mailing-list work can be handled by us and placed in the post office in quicker time than it takes to haul it to departments by trucks, as our conveyors handle it from this office to the post office. The Economy Commission laid great stress upon the saving which was to be accomplished by the centralized mailing plan, and it can readily be seen that the savings are materially reduced when some of the publications are first hauled to department and then prepared for mailing and sent back to the post office, which is located across the street from this office.

The distribution of publications to depository libraries, as authorized by the law passed some 25 years ago, does not prove to be to the best interests of the Government and the public. Libraries receive copies of all publications, among which doubtless are many practically of no value to some, as there is no demand by the reading public in their section of the country for some certain publications, but the library receives them just the same. Last year we distributed to 476 depository libraries 1,576,551 publications costing $105,000, and if it were possible to make an investigation I believe it would be found that a large proportion of this expenditure was wasted, as thousands of those publications probably were never placed on the library shelves. A system whereby libraries could in a way make their selection of publications would be better for the public and be an economy.

Efforts which have been made to have departments reduce, either by distribution or condemnation, the stock of publications carried for them by the superintendent of documents have made no material decrease in the number on hand. During the year there were condemned and sold as waste paper 189,424 copies from the stock held for departments and 178,882 copies from our own stock. I have made a suggestion to the departments that they designate representatives to go over their stocks as consigned to us for the purpose of eliminating obsolete and excess publications, and if the suggestion is adopted a material reduction can be made.

During the year 38 price lists covering documents available to the public were compiled and issued; this virtually is our only means of advertising. Owing to vacancies in the cataloguing force, due to my inability to fill positions on account of the low salaries available, there has been some delay in our catalogue work.

The work of the public documents division is handicapped by low salaries; some positions provide an entrance salary of $840 and $900 per year, and it must be recognized that such compensation can not bring to the Government service the class of help necessary for the most efficient functioning of the division. The efficiency of the work is affected by the salaries we are able to offer, and the result of the present congressional appropriations for the work will inevitably result in the springing up of information service along our lines in other bureaus, with an unavoidable duplication and overlapping of the work we are now doing. An example of this tendency will be found in the suggested library information service to be connected with the Bureau of Education, which has already been favorably reported upon by committees of the House and Senate, and also is favored by the American Library Association. It would appear the more logical plan to increase the appropriation to the public documents division so as to permit expansion of the work to meet the demand, rather than to establish under another bureau of the Government a new division with the same aims and duties.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The class of work being diverted to this office by the new law requiring that practically all Government printing be done under supervision of the Public Printer is, to a large measure, job work. Such work can be handled more economically by an offset printing outfit than by any other, and such an equipment should be placed in the Government Printing Office. I again recommend a definite appropriation of not over $250,000 for the purchase and installation of the offset process for printing.

For a number of years I have strongly urged that Congress provide liberally for relief of the crowded condition in the office. Work can not be handled to the best advantage unless the proper space is available, and it is necessary to carry on some operations in the old buildings, although they have been condemned as unsafe. When the present new building was constructed the volume of work handled was not over half of what it is now, yet no material additions have been made to handle this increase. We need more working space, and I must renew my annual request for some action by Congress toward providing an additional building. I recommend that a new building, corresponding in general lines to the present new one, be authorized to be built on the site of the old building, and that an appropriation be made sufficient to build a section extending from Jackson Alley to H Street and running west 60 feet. In this way the total cost can be spread over a number of years, and when one section is completed it can be used for work and another section started.

The equipment in the boiler house is anything but modern. All the coal and ashes must be handled by hand, entailing an expense which should be unnecessary in a modern plant. Four new 500-horsepower boilers, equipped with automatic stokers and coal and ash handling machinery, should be installed. I recommend a definite appropriation of $500,000 for that purpose.

When the machinery market gets back to a somewhat normal basis, it will be very advisable to install new equipment in some of the divisions. Machinery which has been in use for many years is now obsolete and should be replaced with modern equipment.* I recommend that the Public Printer be authorized to use not more than $200,000, in place of $100,000, out of the regular printing and binding appropriation in the purchase of machinery; this authority is asked in order that advantage may be taken of any opportunity for reasonable purchases.

I recommend a more liberal appropriation for the work of the public documents division in order that the work can be expanded to meet all demands concerned in the publication work of the Government. Any proposal for other departments or bureaus to take up work along these lines should be considered as a duplication of our work and not necessity or economy. I also recommend that departments and bureaus be directed to order only a sufficient number on publication work to supply the official needs, leaving the public demand to be taken care of by the superintendent of documents by the sales method. I believe such a plan if adhered to would materially reduce the present waste in public printing.

The pressing need for favorable action in increasing the compensation of both legislative and mechanical forces of the office is imperative if the efficiency of the office is to be kept up. Practically the same compensation as is to-day paid the principal officers and the main clerical force, as well as the office force of the superintendent of documents, has obtained for years.

That Congress appreciated the necessity for a reclassification of Government employees and that a higher rate of compensation should obtain is evidenced by the appointment of a commission to investigate and recommend needed legislation for reclassification and adjustment of compensation.

The output of the office and the responsibility of the Public Printer and the supervising and disbursing officials have long since assumed proportions that make the compensation for services rendered highly inadequate when compared with that paid in business establishments under corporate or private control. For the past two or three years only by promises of his utmost endeavor with Congress for relief has the Public Printer been enabled to retain sufficient efficient employees on the legislative rolls to take care of the ever increasing demands of Congress, the departments, and the general public. Within the past year the office has lost by resignation the services of many of its best paid and most efficient employees, and the good of the service impels this appeal to the Congress for a proper adjustment of these rolls.

The higher rate of pay obtaining in commercial plants as compared with the salaries and wages paid for similar work in the Government Printing Office is now a serious drawback to the office. Printers, pressmen, bookbinders, electrotype finishers, machinists, electricians, plumbers, steamfitters, carpenters, and allied crafts are receiving a much higher wage than is at present paid to similar skilled men in the Government Printing Office. Not only is this condition an injustice to the present force, but the efforts of the Public Printer to bring in highly skilled mechanics, when necessity compels the increasing of the force and the filling of vacancies, meet with no response.

Owing to the seriousness of the situation it is urgently recommended that Congress take favorable action so that the salary and wage rate in the Government Printing Office will compare with the salary and wage rate paid in commercial establishments doing similar work.

I desire to express my appreciation of the faithful and loyal work by the employees in this office. They have cooperated with me in efforts to render efficient service to the departments, and I am indebted to them for the excellent record for the year.

Respectfully,

CORNELIUS FORD,
Public Printer.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF
THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS
FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED
JUNE 30, 1920.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1920.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE,
OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS,
Washington, October 7, 1920.

SIR: In compliance with the provisions of section 61 of the general printing act approved January 12, 1895, I have the honor to submit the Twenty-sixth Annual Report of the Superintendent of Documents, being for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920.

The public documents division of your department offers unlimited possibilities for service to the public, which is shown by the increase in business during the past year. When you consider the millions of dollars appropriated for the compilation and printing of Government publications, it does seem that every effort possible should be made to acquaint the general public with the great educational work that is being prepared by the Government for their benefit. It was the intention of those who originated the office that it should be a central bureau of information and distribution, and its growth along both of these lines has demonstrated the wisdom of their plans. Its development, however, is being retarded, and the public denied a service to which they are entitled, through the failure of Congress to recognize that the present salaries are entirely too low to obtain or to hold the services of employees equipped for our work. Efficiency in the information work of this office comes from two qualities properly combined—basic intelligence blended with a fair general education, and a capability for observing and absorbing knowledge of Government publications by experience.

The inevitable result through the failure of our office to keep pace with the times and render efficient service will be to invite the establishment of other information services, an example of which will be found in the suggested library information service to be connected with the Bureau of Education. This new agency has already been favorably reported on by the Education Committees of both the House and Senate and also by the American Library Association. This proposed library information service could not perform the work outlined by its creator without an unavoidable overlapping and duplication of the work we are now doing. It would appear that for the best interest of the Government and of the libraries a more logical plan would be to expand the work of our office rather than to establish under another executive department a new division with similar aims and duties.

SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.

The best evidence of the public's appreciation of Government publications is the increase of mail and publications sold over that of the previous year.

The ruling of the Joint Committee on Printing as to the application of section 89, printing act of 1895, restricting printing of reports, publications, and documents to 1,000 copies each is sure to result in increased sales, as under this limitation the departments can not continue the generous free distribution that has been made in the past.

In previous annual reports mention has been made of the lack of cooperation shown by most of the issuing offices which serves as a great handicap in knowing how to order for the sales edition.

Owing to the lack of information a very conservative policy is followed in ordering sales editions, which results in paying the additional cost for return to press for small editions, and a delay in serving the public.

The best solution for this problem would be for the publications bureaus to advise the superintendent of documents when drawing a requisition for the printing of a publication whether it is to be for general distribution or the official use of the department, and to give a general description of the publication, the number ordered, and what means are to be adopted in advertising the publication. It is impossible for the office to investigate every publication ordered printed, and the suggested plan would give necessary information to permit an intelligent order being placed for the sales edition.

DISTRIBUTION FOR THE DEPARTMENTS.

The prevailing impression that the increased cost and scarcity of paper would effect a reduction in the free distribution by the departments is not confirmed by our records of distribution for the past year, which totaled 55,287,525, or 1,081,383 copies more than the previous year. In addition to the above, many of the departments and various establishments of the Government are doing considerable mailing which the law of 1912 contemplated should be done at the Government Printing Office.

The Commission on Economy and Efficiency made a very exhaustive report on the centralization of the distribution of Government publications, which was the basis of section 8 of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act for fiscal year 1913 (act approved Aug. 23, 1912), which directed the Public Printer to perform at the Government Printing Office all work involved in the mailing operations connected with the distribution of publications for public distribution.

I am sure it was the intention of the commission that there should be only one mailing equipment, and one place for the mailing of publications, but unfortunately the law specified that the centralization of mailing should include only publications for public distribution, and excepted orders, instructions, directions, notices, and circulars of information. Under these exceptions considerable mailing is done by the departments, which serves to destroy the saving that might be effected by having one centralized point.

Granting the necessity for departments to maintain mailing equipment for getting out multigraphed and mimeographed work, there is no reason why all mailing lists used exclusively for publications should not be kept in the Government Printing Office. If it is good business to mail publications intended for public distribution at the Government Printing Office, I fail to see why those for official distribution outside of the department should be excluded.

These exceptions to the law only encourage the departments to violate its other provisions, which it is evident to us are being disregarded.

There is also a noticeable increase of orders from some of the departments to have sent to them anywhere from one hundred to several thousand copies of a publication. On numerous occasions we have questioned a department's request for large quantities of their publications, and quite often the answer has been they wanted the publications mailed the same day. There is absolutely no excuse for such a request as with our facilities we have often demonstrated that these special orders can be mailed from our office and be in the post office in quicker time than it would take to deliver them to the department by wagon.

The Economy Commission laid considerable stress on the saving that would be effected through the elimination of the hauling of publications to the department and back to the post office, by having the mailing done at the Government Printing Office, and it must be remembered that there was installed at a considerable expense an underground conveyor from the Government Printing Office to the city post office, which entirely eliminates wagon service between those points. But this saving is materially reduced through the necessity of having to use wagon service in making deliveries of quantities at various times to the departments.

I know some of the departments would like to get all the mailing operations back under their control and no doubt as an argument would advance isolated cases of delay which in all fairness should not be made to condemn the centralized plan, which is recognized as the best method of distribution.

When the departments had the publications under their control they were stored in attics, in basements, in rented buildings, and even storage warehouses, and now that we have a central distributing point these publications are out in the open and form a very good object lesson that something is radically wrong with the present method of distribution.

LIBRARY DISTRIBUTION.

It is recognized that the libraries of the country come into direct contact with the public and afford an excellent agency through which the public can be interested and educated regarding governmental activities. We are operating under laws passed 25 years ago which were most generous to a selected number of libraries; but experience has proven the present methods of distribution no longer practical, and what we need is legislation that will assist and encourage all libraries to give publicity to Government publications.

Last year we distributed to 476 depository libraries 1,576,551 publications costing $105,000, and if it were possible to make an investigation I believe it would be found that a large proportion of this expenditure was wasted, as thousands of the publications received never reached the shelves of the libraries.

We fully appreciate the necessity for the undertaking of progressive work not now accomplished by the office as at present organized, and it is our hope that any revision of the laws regarding the distribution of Government publications will consider the importance of the libraries as publicity bureaus for the education of the public.

ACCUMULATION OF PUBLICATIONS.

Our efforts to have the departments reduce their stock of publications we are carrying for them either by distribution or condemning excess and obsolete editions has not materially decreased the number on hand. In the past year there were condemned and sold as waste paper 189,424 copies from the departmental stocks, and 178,882 from those belonging to the superintendent of documents, making a total of 368,306 copies.

It is hoped that your recent suggestion to the departments that a representative be appointed to go over the stock for the purpose of eliminating excess and obsolete publications will serve to reduce the stock now on hand.

MAILING LISTS.

The number of names on our mailing lists now totals 1,066,050, which is an increase of about 66,000 names for the year.

Considerable progress has been made in transferring from the old pin-point to the new fiber-type stencil, but there still remain about 271,047 to be recut. This work has been retarded by the activities of the departments in revising their lists, which called for dropping 265,314 names and the adding of 229,954.

The discovery of a solution to be used in filling in used stencils will effect quite a saving, as it will be possible to recut thousands of stencils we have on hand which have been dropped from mailing lists.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL WORK.

LIBRARY.

The accessions to our library, which contains the most complete collection of Government publications in the country, amounted to 17,769 publications and 889 maps, exceeding in number the previous year by 2,370.

A review of the following statistics shows that Congress was responsible for nearly the entire increase, as they published 4,296 miscellaneous publications, which was 2,256 more than the last fiscal year.

CATALOGUES, INDEXES, ETC.

The following publications have been compiled and issued during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920: Monthly Catalogue Index, July, 1918, to June, 1919, and Monthly Catalogue, July, 1919, to June, 1920; Document Index No. 26, Sixty-fifth Congress, second session, December 3, 1917, to November 21, 1918; Document Index No. 27, Sixty-fifth Congress, third session, December 2, 1918, to March 4, 1919; Nineteenth Preliminary Schedule of Volumes, Reports, and Documents of the Sixty-fifth Congress, third session, December 2, 1918, to March 4, 1919; Twentieth Preliminary Schedule of Volumes, Reports, and Documents of the Sixty-sixth Congress, first session, May 19 to November 19, 1919.

Owing to vacancies in the catalogue section, work on the Document Catalogue, No. 13, Sixty-fourth Congress, 1915-1917, has been delayed; it is hoped, however, that the volume will be issued before another year. The Monthly Catalogue Index, July, 1919, to June, 1920, and the Document Index, No. 28, Sixty-sixth Congress, first session, May 19 to November 19, 1919, are in press.

During the year 38 price lists, comprising a like number of new editions, were compiled and issued.

BUILDING.

The growth of the work of the office calling for an increased force will find us with inadequate quarters. All available space is now being used, and plans for additional quarters should be given immediate consideration.

The old building offers decidedly poor accommodations for the 100 or more employees now located on the fourth floor, and besides being uncomfortably warm in summer it is impossible to properly heat it in the winter.

The library, which is absolutely essential as a working tool of the office, has outgrown the allotted space, and to move part of it to another floor would work a hardship on the bibliographical and reference forces of the office.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The revision of the printing laws has long been discussed, and it is generally conceded to be most desirable. In approaching this subject it seems logical to ask the question, Why is the printing law a failure, and what is the reason for the enormous accumulation of obsolete and useless publications that are condemned and sold as waste paper?

The various committees that have considered this subject have all reached the same conclusions that the present methods are fundamentally wrong. If that is true, I believe that the same excuses for the failure of the present laws will be found in the most recent drafts of printing bills, because they provide for the same number of distributing agencies and increase the number of copies to 2,500 of the classes of publications that are now restricted to 1,000 copies under section 89 of the printing act of 1895. It is reasonable to assume that with increased editions there will be a greater waste.

I submit for your consideration the following suggestions, which I believe will help to improve the present wasteful methods of distribution, and make available to the public and libraries the valuable information contained in Government publications:

1. One centralized office of information and distribution.
2. Limit the printing of departments to only a sufficient number of copies to supply their official needs, leaving the public to be taken care of by sales through this office, and by providing for sufficient copies for free distribution to libraries.
3. Selective privilege for depository libraries.
4. Only one edition of any publication.
5. Reports of division and bureau chiefs to be excluded from the reports of the departments, and such reports to be printed only as separate publications.
6. Provide for an advisory board on Government publications, to be composed of chiefs of publications divisions of the executive departments and independent establishments, the superintendent of documents, a representative from the Government Printing Office, and a representative from the Joint Committee on Printing.

NOTE.—Closer cooperation between the issuing offices and the superintendent of documents would provide a more intelligent basis for ordering publications. The issuing office should advise the superintendent of documents when drawing the requisition for the printing of a publication, whether the publication is for general distribution or the official use of the department, and should give a general description of the publication, the number ordered, and what means are to be adopted in advertising the publication.

CONCLUSIONS.

It is impossible for this office to function as it should function as long as present conditions prevail. Vacancies in the clerical roll can not be filled at salaries as low as $900 or $840; nor has it been possible to fill vacancies that have existed for years in the cataloguers' roll at $1,000 and $900; and, besides, Congress must recognize that with an increase in work there must be a corresponding increase in the force.

Since 1915 the letter mail of the office has increased over 25 per cent, whereas only four additional clerks have been added to our rolls.

It must be constantly borne in mind that this office was instituted and is maintained for service to the whole American public, and failure to keep it properly organized will only invite other departments to attempt to supply the deficiency, which will result in a great duplication of work.

Respectfully submitted.

ALTON P. TISDEL,
Acting Superintendent.
