Washington, November 30, 1872.

In conformity with the provisions of the law regulating the public printing, I have the honor to submit my annual report, "showing the exact condition of the printing, binding, and engraving, the amount and cost of such printing, binding, and engraving, the amount of paper purchased for the same, and such further information as may be within his [my] knowledge in regard to all matters connected therewith;" also, a statement, showing "the number of hands employed and the length of time each has been employed." The tabular statements accompanying this report are made up for the year ended on the 30th of September, 1872, and are as follows:

COST OF THE PUBLIC PRINTING AND BINDING.

Statements Nos. 1 and 2 will show the approximate cost of the public printing and binding for each Département of the Government during the year ended on September 30, 1872, as it appears on the books of this Office. The Statement No. 1, exhibiting the cost of the printing, binding, and lithographing and engraving for Congress, is given very much in detail, with the view of showing the cost, as nearly as is practicable, of each of the annual reports and other public documents which were printed in excess of the usual number, (1,650 copies, and 50 copies for the use of the Librarian of Congress,) under a resolution of Congress, and the manner in which they were authorized to be distributed. The actual disbursements of the Office, as detailed in Statements Nos. 3, 4, 5, and 6, were as follows :

For the public printing.....	$705,596 21
For paper for the public printing.....	498,989 25
For the public binding.....	541,663 16
For lithographing and engraving for Congress.....	42,257 90
For mapping for the Supreme Court of the United States.....	1,331 75
For salaries, &c., in the Office of the Congressional Printer.....	12,514 00

By reference to Statement No. 1, it will be seen that a large number of the public documents ordered to be printed, either by law, or by order of the Senate or the House of Representatives, were for distribution by the Executive Departments and Bureaus.

The following table exhibits the disbursements of this Office, under their respective headings, during the years ended September 30, 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, 1871, and 1872, viz :

The amount realized during the year from the sale of paper, paper-shavings, documents, &c., is $36,999.12, which has been deposited in the Treasury of the United States, as required by law.

Statement No. 4, appended to this report, exhibits the exact quantity of each kind of paper purchased during the year ended on the 30th of September, 1872, and the cost per ream. The aggregate amount expended was $498,989.25. There remained on hand at the end of the year papers of various kinds, as will be seen by reference to the same statement, amounting in value to $107,529.47.

It is a matter of considerable moment with the Congressional Printer whether the contractors to supply this Office with paper are men of honor and responsibility as manufacturers, or mere adventurers who seek speculation in this line of traffic; for, by virtue of his position, he is placed between the contractor and the Government, to guard the public interest against delinquency and wrong, by seeing to it vigilantly that the terms of the contracts are faithfully fulfilled in every respect.

It is but just, however, to the contractors for paper during the past year that I should state that, as a class, they have discharged their obligations with fidelity. The quantity required and consumed under these contracts has been unusually large, and the quality, with slight exceptions, has been well up to the standards adopted by the Committee on Printing. Under providential interpositions, it has been, at times during the past year, somewhat difficult to reach a prompt and adequate supply of papers under the existing contracts, but it is due to the contractors that I should state that, under the most adverse circumstances, they have evinced a disposition to do all in their power to discharge their contract-obligations with fidelity.

LITHOGRAPHING AND ENGRAVING FOR CONGRESSIONAL DOCUMENTS.

The aggregate amount paid for this character of work was $42,257.90, the details of which will be found in Statement No. 6.

MAPPING FOR THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Some of the records of the Supreme Court of the United States which are ordered to be printed are accompanied by maps, plats, diagrams, &c., and a small number of copies in fac-simile, on tracing-linen, are required for the use of the court. These, for the last year, cost the sum of $1,331.75.

THE PUBLIC BINDING.

The amount expended on account of the public binding during the year ended September 30, 1872, was $541,663.16, the details of which will be found in Statement No. 5. The value of the materials on-hand at the end of the year was $92 974.19.

The experience and the records of the past year show conclusively that, although the room and facilities of the Government bindery had been largely increased in 1871, its accommodations do not keep pace with the increase of its business.

CONGRESSIONAL PRINTING AND BINDING.

The orders made by Congress and executed in this Office for congressional printing and binding during the past year, ending September 30, amount to $893,189.97. The year preceding was $679,819.75, for the same class of work. This shows an increase during the last year, over its predecessor, within a fraction of 25 per cent.

By reference to the accompanying tables, it will be seen that this office has completed during the past year 119,284 pages of documentary composition, and 786,900 volumes of that class of work, many of which exceed one thousand pages each.

DEPARTMENT PRINTING AND BINDING.

The law of May 8, 1872, relating to the executive printing and binding, takes effect on the 1st of July next. Under this statute, each Department or public office is to be supplied with printing and binding in accordance with definite appropriations, which cannot be exceeded. It is somewhat important, therefore, that the several amounts thus appropriated to the Departments and offices shall not aggregate a sum exceeding that appropriated for the executive printing and binding, and placed to the credit of the Congressional Printer therefor. If this point is not kept in view by the Committees on Appropriations in the two Houses of Congress, and the departmental appropriations for printing and binding are made to exceed those of this Office, its fund may be exhausted before the requisitions made upon it are filled, and it may in this way be forced to suspend for want of funds, while the limit of authority to draw upon it for printing and binding may not have been reached.

The demand for executive printing and binding grows with each year, as the country expands in population and the interests of the Government become enlarged. The increase in departmental and other executive printing and binding, during the past year, over its predecessor, is about 15 per cent.

PATENT-OFFICE PRINTING, ETC.

The law of January 11, 1871, abolishing the publication of the annual mechanical report with illustrations, has reduced this expense very considerably. As a measure of economy it appears to be a success. The specifications and illustrations which are designed for use as evidence in the courts are now bound and issued monthly, instead of weekly, as heretofore, which is quite a saving in press-work, paper, and binding.

The present number issued is chiefly confined to providing the clerks' offices of the United States courts with volumes to be used in evidence. The expense of printing these is provided for in my annual estimates for appropriations, but, should an increase of this number be called for and ordered, it will be an act of justice to the funds of this Office that all copies held for sale should be sold by this Office, and the funds realized therefrom should be placed to the credit of its printing and binding funds, to re-imburse an expense not provided for in its regular estimate for appropriations.

STEREOTYPE-FOUNDERY.

This branch of the business of this Office continues to vindicate the convenience and economy of its establishment. The following is a correct exhibit of the product of its labor for the year ended September 30, 1872:

Value of plates, &c., manufactured, at trade-prices .....	$35,371 08
Amount expended for labor and material consumed .....	16,516 80
Net saving to the Government .....	18,854 28

BRANCH PRINTING-OFFICE.

The branch printing-office at the Treasury Building has been continued during the past year with very favorable results as to economy and efficiency, and reflects credit in its management upon the assistant foreman in charge.

THE PRINTING-OFFICE BUILDING.

I deem it a part of my duty to inform Congress of the present condition of the building in which the public printing and binding are now done, as well as to its present accommodations and prospective necessities. The enlarged building is barely adequate to meet the present necessities of its increasing business. There is no room to spare to a prospective increase, and I would recommend an appropriation sufficient to erect a wing on the west line of this property, from the main building to the alley, similar in structure (except the tower) to that erected on North Capitol street one year ago. That would give more favorable rooms for machine-shop, paper-warehouse, and stereotype-foundery than are at present afforded, and enlarge the composing-room, bindery, and folding-room, all of which will soon require additional accommodations.

In this connection I would respectfully call the attention of Congress to the present and prospective condition of the Government Printing-Office building and property under the newly-established grade of H street. This grade has been raised—though I have formally protested against it—so as to fill up the western entrance, used by the employés, considerably above the floor, while the pavement of the sidewalk is sloped toward, instead of from, the wall of the building, thus precipitating the roof and sidewalk water upon its foundation and exposing the press-room, which is filled with valuable and delicate machinery, to a moisture which will be injurious alike to property and the health of the operatives. So long as it is not practicable to elevate the floor of the press-room, with its vast and valuable machinery, to the grade of the sidewalk, that grade should be depressed so as to relieve the building of all accumulating water underneath its first floor and save the machinery from the inevitable consequences of a moisture which contracts rust.

Having done all in my power by way of courteous protest to save this property from damage, I now respectfully call the attention of Congress to the matter, trusting it will take such action as the necessities of the case may seem to demand.

CONCLUSION.

I would again call the attention of Congress to the salaries paid by law to the several clerks in this Office as inadequate to justly compensate them for the amount of labor performed under their increasing duties. I would further suggest that the law limiting the number of clerks to be employed in this Office should be so altered as to give the Congressional Printer discretion and power to increase the number of his clerks as, in his judgment, the necessities of the Office will warrant, under the same restriction that applies to other employés: that he "shall not, at any time, employ in said establishment more hands than the absolute necessities of the work may require."

From the statistics of this report, it is apparent that a vast increase of labor has been performed within this Office during the last year. The results establish their own record. The present organization and arrangement of the Office, with its increased facilities, under a skillful and faithful corps of subordinates, alike in the clerical and mechanical departments, have enabled the Congressional Printer to discharge his duties with comparative ease and comfort, and, he trusts, to the public satisfaction and benefit.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. M. CLAPP,
