ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PUBLIC PRINTER.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC PRINTER,
Washington, D. C., December 1, 1919.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Appropriations including deficiencies were $8,879,153.27 ($141,300 approved July 11, 1919, included), a decrease of $174,562.22 from the previous fiscal year. There was appropriated on account of the office of superintendent of documents $377,393.20, leaving available for allotted printing and binding $8,501,760.07; of this amount $163,270.07 was not specifically allotted when appropriated. There were also available resources on account of reimbursement funds (repay printing) $5,171,568.28, an increase of $546,027.49—11.8 per cent—in excess of the repay income for the previous year, which in turn showed an increase over 1917 of 173 per cent.

The combined resources for 1919 total $14,050,721.55. The disbursements and obligations outstanding chargeable against this amount were $11,708,045.86, leaving an unexpended balance of $2,342,675.69. This unexpended balance consists of the following items: Salaries, office of the Public Printer, $12,776.67; holidays, $13,786.85; leave of absence, $14,386.78; salaries, office of the superintendent of documents, $13,038.71; general expenses, superintendent of documents, $8,122.15; printing and binding, $2,280,564.53; this printing and binding balance is subject to over and under payments on account of outstanding obligations for paper and material and supplies approximating $1,368,154.73 as of June 30, 1919.

The total expenditures for maintenance, operation, and general expenses of the Government Printing Office, not including the expenditures of the superintendent of documents, were $11,351,821.38, as compared with $13,158,535.31 for the previous year, a decrease of approximately 16 per cent.

PRODUCTION FOR THE YEAR.

The signing of the armistice on November 11, 1918, found this office in full swing on the largest output in its history. With practically all divisions running on three eight-hour schedules, the value of product was amounting to about one and a quarter million dollars a month. A decided let-up was apparent for a while after that time, due to cancellation of many orders covering large quantities of printing for war purposes. This let-up, however, was for but a short time; work that had been held back by various departments during the war period was sent in, and printing in connection with collection of revenue, Liberty bonds, and other activities brought about during the war was of such volume that the extremely large output continued throughout the year. The value of work produced was the largest of any year since the establishment of the Government Printing Office, and the largest number of employees was 5,307, in October, 1918. Congress was in session nine and one-half months, requiring more than the normal quantity of printing. During practically the whole year the office printed current publications as follows: Twelve dailies, ranging in copies from 200 to 33,000; 25 weeklies, ranging in copies from 100 to 140,000, and 58 monthlies, ranging in copies from 200 to 207,000. The Official Bulletin, issued by Committee on Public Information, was printed in this office up to March 31, 1919. This publication, which was started as an 8-page one, had gradually been increased in size until at times it was 48 pages, with a general average of 32 pages; the number of copies, originally beginning at 80,000, increased to 123,000 in September, 1918, and then dropped until the last issue from this office was 35,000 copies. The cost of this publication at times ran as high as $70,000 per month. All these current publications had a certain issue date, and were delivered on time.

A larger variety of printing was ordered during the year than previously, and some of the orders received were extremely large and wanted in a very short space of time. Delivery was promptly made, except in those cases where work was held up on account of lack of certain stocks, and the progress of work in the office has been very satisfactory, especially when considering that we were at all times breaking in new employees on the work, due to the fact that the turnover in employees by reason of transfer, resignation, and death amounted to approximately 5,000 during the year.

The following comparative statement is a summary of the productive operations covering the most important items entering into printing and binding during the fiscal years 1917, 1918, and 1919:

EXPENSE AND PRODUCTION.

The summary of expense and production for the fiscal year (facing this page) shows in detail the various items which go to make up the operating expense of each productive division, the value of product, the overhead expense, and the manner in which it is distributed and the amount of work performed for Congress, the departments, independent bureaus, and private individuals, together with the condition of each printing and binding allotment at the close of the fiscal year.

The total operating expense—not including that of the Division of Public Documents—was $12,315,055.73, an increase of 7 per cent over previous year; average number of employees actually working each day was 4,108, a slight increase over previous year; value of product was $12,774,712.34, an increase of about 4½ per cent over previous year. The charge for stock used in output was $4,591,394.89, and in the charge for work each dollar carried an average of 36 cents for stock, as against 38½ cents during previous year. Overhead expense increased $276,174; this was due almost entirely to the increase in leave and holiday pay and equipment; eliminating leave and holiday pay, over which the Public Printer has no control, the percentage of overhead expense was about 18 per cent, and I believe this to be much lower than obtains in any commercial printing plant in the country. Practically no increase was made in the administrative force, and the supervision of the larger volume of work was carried on efficiently and effectively.

The cost of heat, light, and power furnished by this office without charge to the city post office during the year amounted to $45,840.89, an increase of $9,616.45 over previous year. This item of expense has been carried by this office for a number of years, and I have recommended each year that some provision be made whereby the Post Office Department could be charged for it. By the provisions of public act No. 314, approved March 1, 1919, this expense will be paid by that department, beginning July 1, 1919, an appropriation of $40,000 having been provided.

The charges for work for Members of Congress and private parties amounted to $106,966.56. Existing law provides that such revenues shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts, and it is thus impossible for the Public Printer to reimburse his appropriation for the cost of labor and materials used in this work. This condition should be remedied by an act of Congress.

Value of output on job work increased 15 per cent over previous year, although the average number of employees was the same. Many improvements have been made in the method of handling this class of work, and it has been carried on in an efficient and very satisfactory manner.

The amount of book composition was the largest of any year, and practically all was machine-set. This was accomplished in the face of a constant turnover in the force of operators, which brought about a lower output than would have been produced if all operators were experienced. Operators were constantly leaving the service for commercial positions, where the pay was better.

During the year 22 presses were discarded and sold, and in their place 18 new presses were installed. All of these new presses had up-to-date features which permitted a better and more economical production. Some work which formerly had to go to bindery is now practically finished at one revolution of the new presses. The more improved machinery that is installed, the greater and more economical is the output; more latitude should be given the Public Printer in the matter of securing such machinery.

Number of postal cards printed decreased 76 per cent, due to lack of orders from Post Office Department. Presses ran but about half the time on cards, increasing the cost; charges to department were increased accordingly.

Number of money-order books printed decreased about 14 per cent, due to smaller orders from Post Office Department.

The number of employees working in the bindery divisions was 40 less than in previous year, and as the amount of overtime was considerably less than obtained in 1918, the output decreased in some items. The work was kept up in a very excellent manner, and most of the big yearly edition work was completed in advance of the usual time.

The policy adopted several years ago of manufacturing some of the supplies usually purchased continued, and has been found to be an economy both in money and productive time. During the year 45 different kinds of ink were made, totaling 148,613 pounds, exclusive of a large quantity of ink ingredients; 3,480 rollers were made for use in pressroom, with a total of 29,351 pounds of composition; comb and carbon paper were made in larger quantities than formerly, and the cost was well below market prices. The metal-melting room handled approximately 5 tons of monotype and 10 tons of linotype metal each working day, melting into ingots the used type so it could be run through machines again; this is done at a large saving over the purchase price, and is a very great convenience.

The following comparative statement shows the value of the finished product for the fiscal years 1917, 1918, and 1919:

SCALE OF PRICES.

The scale of prices was increased during the year about 5 per cent on labor. This was necessary because of the increase granted by Congress to all printers, pressmen, and bookbinders, and also because of the increasing cost of materials and supplies entering into printing and binding. Charges for work are maintained as close to cost as is possible. An investigation during the year established the fact that the average charges by the Government Printing Office were lower than those in commercial printing establishments.

PAPER.

As a general proposition, we were able to handle the paper situation fairly well throughout the year. The Joint Committee on Printing did not see fit to make awards on a number of paper stocks, and the greater bulk was necessarily ordered in the open market; after May 30, 1919, no contracts whatever were obtainable. At times it became necessary to order express shipments of paper, by reason of freight conditions and urgency of some work. The cessation of war found the office well stocked with those grades of paper which were being used for large war orders; this stock was then used for other work, although it was not always what was desired by departments. Our inability to enter into contracts for a definite supply has been a handicap, but a consistent effort was made to secure the best prices in open market for the benefit of the Government service and to insure proper delivery so that work could at all times proceed.

MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT.

A very large proportion of the productive machinery in the Government Printing Office has seen more years' service than can reasonably be expected. With the quantity and variety of work required of this office increasing every day, and working space remaining the same, it is an absolute necessity that as many up-to-date machines, especially the ones that combine a number of operations at one time, be installed. The cost of such machines is very considerable, but the few that I have been able to install have more than exceeded my expectation of economical output. The Public Printer, being limited to $100,000 each year for the purchase of machinery, is greatly handicapped in efforts to bring the equipment of the office up to the high standard so essential for prompt delivery of work. The same limitation of expenditure is in effect now as has been for years, while the purchasing power of that appropriation has decreased greatly. The following is a list of the machinery and equipment purchased during the year:

BUILDINGS AND PLANT.

The total cost of the upkeep of the buildings was $40,814.62, a slight increase—about $400—over previous year. The cost of materials used in this work, representing about 20 per cent of the total, has advanced greatly. Necessity required that work of this nature must be done in such a way and at such a time as not to interfere with production. Careful laying out permitted the repairs to be carried on without interference with the output.

The large number of machines in use and their almost constant operation called for an exceptionally large amount of inspection and repair work by our electricians and machinists, to the end that the output should proceed without interruption. Much of the machinery in this office has been in service many years, and keeping it in repair is an expensive proposition. Total cost of these repairs during the year was $64,605.04, an increase of $7,447.44 over previous year.

In addition, the usual quantity of miscellaneous work was performed by the various sections of our buildings division for other parts of the office. This comprised almost every conceivable class of work, and included the making and installing of files, shelves, tables, etc.; installation of all new machines and dismantling of discarded ones; making packing boxes used in shipping postal cards and other work, using discarded lumber for all of them; changing location of various divisions, moving the machines, etc.; making and installing large entrance door to coal vault; repairing, painting, overhauling, and the laying of concrete floor in old Globe vault; painting and overhauling of office furniture, making form and box trucks, repairs to all electrical equipment, etc.

The wages of carpenters, painters, electricians, and machinists were increased during the year; commercial establishments were offering more than was paid by this office, and the scale of pay was necessarily raised.

POWER PLANT.

The power-plant equipment of the Government Printing Office should be placed at the highest point for efficiency and economy. A plant that is required to be in operation so constantly should not be handicapped by the use of old equipment. Six of the eight boilers in use are about 20 years old, and are not equipped with the automatic stokers and coal and ash handling machinery found in modern plants. A breakdown of this old equipment would not only put this office out of business, but also cripple the city post office, and the effect would be keenly felt by the entire city of Washington. It would be advisable for Congress to take steps to prevent such a condition; recommendations for an appropriation to improve the plant have been made each year, and some action should be taken.

PERSONNEL.

There are about 200 separations from the service in this office each month; these generally are due to a better compensation elsewhere. The vacancies must be filled at once, and, in addition, the forces must be increased to carry on the work. This constant turnover in employees is a handicap to production, as it means the loss of trained employees and the taking on of those who are unfamiliar with the work. It is a difficult problem to keep the forces to full strength. Congress ordered increases in pay to various mechanical trades in the office, but with few exceptions none to the clerical force whose salaries are set by law. A complete readjustment of those salaries should be made at the earliest possible moment.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The medical and sanitary officer handled 4,859 cases of illness or injury in the office, an increase of 665 over previous year. Of this number 1,531 were of a surgical nature, requiring 2,735 redressings, and 3,328 were medical cases. In 2,998 cases the employees were, after treatment, able to return at once to their duties. The expense of maintaining this emergency medical service during the year was $6,491.76, and I consider it money well spent for the good of the service. During the year $2,146.20 was paid to employees suffering injury while in the performance of their duties, as provided by employers' liability act.

The total waste paper baled by this office and sold on contract during the year was 15,717,259 pounds. During the war several departments arranged to do some of the hauling of this waste in order to relieve delivery congestion in this office, and altogether 1,366,106 pounds of waste were handled by their trucks. The balance was handled entirely by Government Printing Office trucks. From a financial point of view this waste paper proposition is not handled properly; as it is now, this expense comes out of the appropriation for producing printing and binding for the Government, is necessarily carried as a portion of the overhead expense, and thus increases the charge for every piece of printing. The Secretary of Commerce has submitted a report on this proposition (H. Doc. 87, 66th Cong., 1st sess.), and recognizing that the expense is not carried in a proper way, agrees that consideration should be given a plan whereby the Public Printer be permitted to reimburse his appropriation by deducting the cost of this service from the revenues derived from the sale of waste paper, depositing the net proceeds in the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts. That would be the logical way to handle the proposition, but I am unable to adopt that method unless so authorized. The amount of the sales of various waste and condemned materials during the year was: Waste paper, $149,980.30; waste metal, $7,617.45; refuse wood and sawdust, $2,564.22; barrels, $726.65; waste leather, $377.34; old roller composition, $1,154.17. All of these amounts go to the Treasury as a credit to miscellaneous receipts.

The volume of work handled and the amount to be looked for under provisions of the law requiring all printing and binding to be done in the Government Printing Office after June 30, 1919, made it advisable to change almost the entire layout of the different divisions. This was done gradually and in such a way as not to interfere with the work, and now printing and binding progresses through the office without lost motion or superfluous trucking and handling. A considerable saving is effected by the changes, and work is more quickly handled. However, notwithstanding these changes and every other possible move that was made to conserve working space, the lack of room to handle the very large volume of work is keenly apparent, and must be remedied if the best interests of the service are to be served.

A very large quantity of old plates of the Congressional Globe and Congressional Record, which for many years were stored in what is known as the Globe vault, located in the rear of Third Street, near C Street, NW., were moved to the main office, where the metal will be used in the making of plates. It is estimated that approximately 440,000 pounds of excellent material will thus become available; it is urgently needed, and if purchased would cost about $45,000. The Globe vault was thoroughly overhauled and cleaned out, cement floor laid, new shelving erected, and it is now used as a storage place for office papers and jackets.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The work of this division is expanding rapidly. During the year a grand total of 61,033,165 copies of publications were distributed. The great bulk of these copies comprised the free distribution on orders of departments. I am convinced that the present method of free distribution is conducive of waste in that publications in many cases go to persons who can put them to no good use. A limiting of the free distribution and an expansion of the sale plan would be for the interest of the Government and also of the general public. Orders and inquiries from the public totaled 265,172, and the total cash sales amounted to $240,917.65. Mailing lists total 1,170, carrying over 1,000,000 names; during the year 340,000 names were added to these lists and 251,000 names were dropped. The changing from the pin-point stencil to one of the fiber type is being done as rapidly as possible, and at this time about 450,000 names have been transferred; we are handicapped in this work by the low salaries set by law, which will not provide the class of typists necessary to quickly bring the work up to date. The catalogue and index work has suffered from a lack of experienced cataloguers; some have resigned to accept similar positions elsewhere at better pay, and some of the positions authorized by law have not been filled; salaries are entirely too low for this class of work, and eligibles will not accept the only offer I can make. During the year 23 new editions of price lists were issued. These lists cover the publications by subjects, and is the only matter of an advertising character sent out by this division. By these lists we aim to keep the interested public familiar with what publications are available.

The distribution, by law, to depository libraries is unsatisfactory. Under existing regulations they are required to accept copies of everything of a public nature. Their shelves become loaded with publications for which they have no use or call, and the demand for relief continues to be heard. The clearing-house function of the public documents division, whereby libraries were permitted to return surplus publications for redistribution to other libraries that might have need for them, has had to be discontinued on account of the lack of help necessary to handle these returned publications. It is hoped that this general condition will be remedied by congressional action; otherwise it will allow the libraries a free hand to destroy and sell as waste paper thousands of publications which might be made to serve a good purpose.

Limitation of storage and working space results in a scattering of our stocks, causing considerable extra expense. During the year 2,023,457 publications were condemned and sold, but this action gave practically no relief, for on June 30 the publications which had been consigned to us by departments and bureaus for future distribution amounted to 30,416,981, a 33 per cent increase over previous year. Our active stock has been kept down by a careful study of public demand, but the consigned stock from other branches of the service over which we have no control seems to be limited more by what law permits than by actual demand. Some of this consigned stock will litter our shelves for years and then be condemned and sold as waste. Such a condition should not exist. If it continues there soon will be absolutely no room for the active stock of publications for which there is a constant demand.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Public act No. 314, approved March 1, 1919, directs that on and after July 1, 1919, practically all printing and binding for the Government shall be done in the Government Printing Office. This will eventually mean an enormous increase in the work to be handled by this office. Since occupying the present building the Public Printer has been compelled to take up various activities which required working space, as, for instance, the printing of postal cards and money orders, work formerly done in a number of branch offices abolished by Congress, and the mailing of publications formerly done in the departments. In order to do this work it was necessary to use the old building, which is unsafe and has been condemned several times, and also to crowd the productive divisions in the new building to such a degree as to greatly handicap the work. For years I have called this matter to the attention of Congress without avail. These conditions make it absolutely necessary that something be done to relieve congestion and to provide proper working space in which to handle all the new work which is to be diverted to the office after July 1. Conditions have gone beyond the point where it would be advisable to erect an entire new building at one time, as that would deprive us of too much working space. A new structure would of necessity have to be put up in sections, so work could continue to some extent. I most earnestly recommend action by Congress whereby a new building, corresponding to present office, be authorized, and that an appropriation sufficient to build a section extending from Jackson Alley to H Street and running west 60 feet be made at once. By so doing the balance of old building could be used during construction, and when new section is completed another section could be started.

I find that in the machinery market the purchasing power of a dollar is but half of what it was several years ago. With a yearly allowance of but $100,000 for machinery it is utterly impossible to properly equip the office. In years past that amount may have been sufficient, but now it is not. Some of the new work coming to the office will require machinery of a special design if it is to be done to the satisfaction of all concerned. I recommend that the limitation to $100,000 for purchase of machinery be changed so that out of the annual appropriation for printing and binding the Public Printer may spend up to $200,000 for that purpose.

I recommend a separate appropriation not exceeding $100,000 for the purchase and installation of the offset process for printing. This process, which is a well-established success in commercial offices, could be used to good advantage and would be of the greatest help in handling a larger volume of work. With the new equipment which I have in mind it will be possible to give the departments and bureaus better service and keep down the cost.

I recommend that the Public Printer be authorized to deduct from revenues derived from the sale of waste paper the entire expense of that service, reimbursing his appropriation by that amount and covering the balance into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. There is no doubt that the present plan of having the appropriation for printing and binding stand the expense of that service and carrying it as an overhead chargeable in cost of work to departments and bureaus is poor business and should be changed.

Under existing law the appropriation for printing and binding must stand the cost of all labor and material used in the printing done for Members of Congress and private individuals, amounting to about $100,000 each year, and as the revenues from this work go to the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts, no reimbursement of said appropriation is possible. I again ask for congressional action to provide for the reimbursement of the printing and binding appropriation by the amount of the charges for that work.

The number of persons in this office who have reached old age and are no longer able to give to the Government the proper service is increasing. There is no disputing the fact that economy demands the aged employees be retired and younger persons be put in their places. I therefore again invite the attention of Congress to the need of legislation providing for the retirement of such persons.

For years there has been a considerable waste in the printing and distribution of publications. Some of the work ordered by departments and bureaus and consigned to the superintendent of documents for future distribution remains on the shelves for years and then is junked. It would appear that some of the issuing offices are guided more in their ordering by the limitation of law than by demand. Our records show clearly that there is a tendency to order beyond the demand; copies of any publication for which there is even a remote possibility of demand are retained indefinitely in our stock, but even at that, every year it is necessary to condemn and junk millions of copies; if this was not done, there would not be room to handle live work. In my opinion, a solution will be found in the departments ordering only a sufficient number of copies to supply the official, or initial, distribution—not to estimate and order on a supposed public demand—and leave to the superintendent of documents the supplying, by sale only, of any future public demand. Such a plan would practically eliminate any general free distribution after initial distribution had been made, would supply to those who really want them any publication at a small cost, and would cut down useless printing and the accumulation of worthless stocks. I invite the attention of Congress to this phase of the public printing, as I deem it necessary that something be done to remedy it.

I earnestly recommend that a separate appropriation of $150,000 be made for the purpose of modernizing the boiler plant. This sum would provide four new 500-horsepower boilers, fully equipped with automatic stokers and coal and ash handling machinery.

The salaries of many clerks and supervisory officials are fixed by law, and in some of the most important ones no change has been made for many years. The work of supervisors is responsible and trying; the fact that so many persons are leaving the service and new ones taking their places means the constant supervision and training of inexperienced employees, and the volume of work for which they are held responsible has increased a hundredfold. The low salaries set for clerical work prevents many positions provided by law being filled, and some of that work must be done by just anyone we can find, and not always satisfactorily. A higher rate should be set for clerical and supervisory work, and while it is true that I have jurisdiction in some cases, the fact remains that the great majority must look to Congress for relief. I call this situation to the attention of Congress, with the hope that it will be remedied.

In conclusion, I desire, on behalf of the Government, to express appreciation of the loyal and efficient cooperation I received from all employees of this office in the prosecution of the work during the year. They responded willingly to the call for extra work, and put forth every effort to increase the efficiency of the office; without this cooperation the splendid record for the year would not have been possible.

Respectfully,

CORNELIUS FORD,
Public Printer.

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL AND SANITARY OFFICER.

AUGUST 25, 1919.

SIR: Herewith is a statement showing the number of cases, medical and surgical, arising during working hours and receiving treatment at the Government Printing Office emergency room during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919. A total of 4,859 cases were given treatment during the year; 1,531 of these were of a surgical nature and required 2,735 redressings in their treatment; 3,328 were medical cases, and are shown in columns of table to show the number that it was possible to relieve and who remained at work and the number who were obliged to go home or to a hospital after receiving temporary relief. There is also a list of employees who received compensation for time lost due to injury as provided under the act of September 7, 1916—to provide compensation for employees of the United States suffering injuries while in the performance of their duties—for which a total of $2,146.20 was expended.

Respectfully submitted.

D. P. BUSH, M. D.,
Medical and Sanitary Officer.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS
FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1919.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE,
OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS,
Washington, October 15, 1919.

SIR: In compliance with the provisions of section 61 of the general printing act approved January 12, 1895, I have the honor to submit the Twenty-fifth Annual Report of the Superintendent of Documents, being for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS.

The judgment of those who originated the bill providing for the organization of this office as a central bureau of information and distribution has been fully justified by its growth both as a distributing point and as a center of information. It is to be regretted that its functions are not better understood by Congress, the executive departments, and the public at large, and to give some idea of its scope we enumerate below the functions assigned by the act of 1895 and those which necessarily grow out of the law in order to carry out its provisions.

ASSIGNED FUNCTIONS.

1. To sell at cost any public document in its charge, the distribution of which is not specifically directed in the law.

2. To receive from any Government office any document published for sale, which sale must be made under the provisions of section 61.

3. To have general supervision of the distribution of all public documents (with exceptions as enumerated).

4. To prepare and print at the close of each Congress a Comprehensive Index (Document Catalogue) of public documents.

5. To prepare and print at the close of each regular session of Congress a Consolidated Index (Document Index) of congressional documents.

6. To index such single volumes of documents as the Joint Committee on Printing shall direct.

7. To receive all accumulations of documents from the several executive departments, bureaus, and offices of the Government, and annually to take over their surplus for distribution or sale.

8. To prepare and publish a Monthly Catalogue of Government publications, which shall show the documents printed during a month, where obtainable, and the price thereof.

9. To thoroughly investigate the condition of the designated depositories.

10. To distribute the documents as issued to the designated depositories.

AUXILIARY FUNCTIONS.

1. To maintain a library and a reference catalogue, which is the groundwork of any information service as regards public documents.

2. Answering letters of inquiry relative to what the Government has printed on certain subjects, and quoting the prices of the books containing the desired information, if they are in stock, or directing the inquirer to the nearest library where our statistics show it should be obtainable for reference.

3. Receiving the surplus accumulations of the libraries and supplying them with publications desired.

SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.

One of the fundamental functions of this office is the sale of publications to the public, and whereas the number sold last year, amounting to 4,782,657 copies, was far below the number distributed free by the departments, we believe the various distributing offices will come to recognize that a generous free distribution is productive of waste, as it places in the hands of people a great number of publications not wanted or usable, whereas the sale method places in the hands of the individual the particular book which he requires.

The handling of the mail, both actual orders and letters of inquiry in connection with this work, which is a stupendous task, amounting as noted above to 265,172 letters during the year, is greatly handicapped by the failure of Congress to provide adequate salaries for the employment of technically trained people.

DISTRIBUTION OF DEPARTMENTAL PUBLICATIONS.

In my last report I took occasion to mention an increase in the free distribution, which at that time amounted to 7,727,151, but by referring to our book statement you will find that during the period covered by this report there was a greater increase, amounting to 10,803,427.

DISTRIBUTION TO LIBRARIES.

The depository libraries received the usual distribution of publications printed for general distribution, amounting to 1,595,374, and the demand from these libraries for relief from burdens imposed upon them by being compelled to accept everything printed, and consequently receiving large numbers of publications which are not used, still continues.

This rule, while not advancing the interests of the libraries, also reacts against this office, for by reason of the shortage of help, we have been compelled to discontinue receiving returns from libraries.

This office has never been satisfied with the service it has been able to give to the libraries, but improvement in this respect has been handicapped by limitations imposed upon it by law, and the scope of the office activities in this direction can not be extended until suitable legislation is enacted.

ACCUMULATION OF PUBLICATIONS.

It is evidenced by the growth in the stock held for distribution by departments that too large a quantity of a great many publications is being printed. The records show 30,416,981 copies on hand June 30, 1919, which is an increase of 7,713,416.

It would appear in deciding on the size of an edition to be printed of a new publication that the issuing office is too often guided by the limitations of the law and not by the demand. In most cases when a publication is ready for distribution the department mails out only a small percentage of the edition, leaving the balance to be distributed over a period of years.

There is only one sure way to prevent waste in over-printing and that would be to print only a sufficient number for an official distribution for which labels would be furnished when the publication is printed, and leave it to the Superintendent of Documents to supply the public by sale. There is no question that such a method is the most equitable means of distribution. In the past year there was assorted and condemned and sold as waste paper 2,023,457 publications.

MAILING LISTS.

During the past year 70,000,000 impressions were made from our stencil lists of addresses, and to maintain our lists numbering 1,170 with a total of over 1,000,000 names, it was necessary to make 340,000 additions and to drop 251,000 names.

The work of changing from the pin point stencil to the fiber type has necessarily been slow as we are unable to obtain any additional appropriation for this work; and again we feel the effects from the low salaries paid in not being able to obtain the class of typist that this work requires. We have already transferred to the new stencils about 450,000 names and the remaining list will be recut as far as the limited force at our disposal will permit.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL WORK.

LIBRARY.

The work of the public documents library for the last year is exemplified by the following statistics, which show the United States Government to be one of the greatest publishing institutions in the world, and it will be observed that this list covers all classes of publications from merely statistical to strictly technical and also gives evidence of the constantly growing needs of this office for additional floor space:

CATALOGUES AND INDEXES.

The catalogue section, like the clerical department, has also been hampered by the resignation of cataloguers during the war period owing to small salaries paid, as many of the cataloguers were able to procure other positions elsewhere at several hundred dollars per annum in excess of cataloguer's salaries offered in this office. Not until the close of the past year have statutory positions been filled, and positions of two additional cataloguers, appropriated for last year, have never been filled.

The following publications have been compiled and issued during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919: Document Catalogue, No. 12, Sixty-third Congress, 1913-15; Monthly Catalogue Index, July, 1917-June, 1918, and Monthly Catalogue, July, 1918-June, 1919; Eighteenth Preliminary Schedule of Volumes, Reports and Documents of the Sixty-fifth Congress, second session, December 3, 1917-November 21, 1918.

Progress is being made on the Document Catalogue, No. 13, Sixty-fourth Congress, 1915-17, and the Document Index, No. 27, Sixty-fifth Congress, third session, December 2, 1918-March 4, 1919, but no definite statement can be made as to their issuance, owing to the want of experienced cataloguers. The Document Index, No. 26, Sixty-fifth Congress, second session, December 3, 1917-November 21, 1918, is in press.

PRICE LISTS.

The price list work has been carried on by a relatively small force issuing 23 new editions to the price list set, and doing considerable research work, and work on general correspondence.

This is one of the most important sections of the office as it involves the preparation of what is really the only advertising feature sent out by this office. By means of these price lists we aim to keep the general public in touch with the issuance of not only new Government publications, but old Government publications which relate to their particular line of inquiry.

These price lists cover subjects, a method which we have found by experience to be far superior to a mere numerical statement of what Government publications are available. The work on these price lists results in the clerks engaged thereon being peculiarly equipped for work in other branches of the office.

BUILDING.

The work of this office is seriously handicapped by lack of space for the accommodation of the working force, the library, and also storage facilities for the stock.

Under the present limitations of our storage room we are compelled to scatter our stock, which requires much additional labor at a considerable unnecessary expense, and the working force requires more space for the proper and easy carrying on of this work.

Unless some relief is offered for the present situation, we will be greatly handicapped in performing the functions of the office, and the congestion will become so great as to seriously interfere with the work.

PROPOSED LEGISLATION.

There is now before Congress a new printing bill which corrects to a considerable degree some of the defects of the present law. One of the most important features covered is the provision for one edition of each book, which has been advocated by this office since its creation.

While the selective privilege of a depository is not expressly mentioned in the bill, it is understood that the Joint Committee on Printing feels that under section 11 of the legislative appropriation act, 1919 granting it authority to correct all waste and duplication in the distribution of publications it has the right to consider this privilege for the libraries.

It is to be hoped that remedial legislation of the above-mentioned character will soon become a law, but it is the earnest wish of this office that before such a bill is passed a clause will be inserted which will place at the disposal of this office a sufficient number of copies of all publications to furnish all libraries with the publications desired.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

CENTRALIZATION.

In submitting the report for this year, however, in addition to the detailed statement of the work of the office, it is my intention to emphasize also the potential possibilities of this office as an instrument for furnishing information concerning Government publications to the general public and libraries.

This office was planned to be the representative at Washington of libraries and the general public, but unfortunately in the consideration of the bill creating the office a number of concessions were granted before its passage, which had the effect of weakening its functions by creating numerous agencies of distribution rather than centralizing it under the supervision of one Government officer.

There is a great need for a centralized bureau of distribution and information through which the public shall be correctly informed as to the activities of the Government, and it would certainly serve to remove the confusion that now exists in the minds of the general public and libraries as to where to write for information.

The success of such a centralized bureau is contingent upon Congress providing adequate salaries to permit of employing the service of technically trained people, as the efficiency of such service depends entirely upon experience which can be gained only through length of service, and failure of Congress to so provide encourages constant attempts to create other bureaus of information and even of distribution.

This argument is strengthened by the fact that a considerable part of the necessary equipment is already at the disposal of this office, namely, the greatest United States public documents library in the world, and the reference card catalogue, which is a finding list of considerable value.

We are already organized, and by glancing at the statistics for last year's work it will be found we are now supplying the general public and libraries with information, preparing the official catalogue and indexes, and making distribution for departments, and could very readily extend this service if a sufficient appropriation were provided.

ADVERTISING.

The only advertising feature which this office is able to maintain under the law and appropriation is a set of subject price lists issued and distributed free of charge, which also forms a valuable adjunct to the working tools of this office; but the matter of advertising, that is, informing the public as to what publications are available, could be carried a great deal further provided adequate means were available.

What the libraries and the general public want is information regarding governmental activities, and it would seem reasonable to assume that if it is profitable for private individuals and corporations to advertise Government publications, the Government should provide means for bringing the publications before the people. The question of an information service is so closely related to one of distribution that we can not help but feel that this office is the proper agency for such a service.

INVESTIGATION.

In order to carry out matters referred to above as regards information and other help given to the libraries a closer contact between the Office of the Superintendent of Documents and the libraries of the country is needed.

CONCLUSIONS.

The above report must make the possibilities of this office as a distributing agency for Government publications apparent, and it is hoped that the necessary legislation will be enacted, so that the functions will be enlarged along the lines suggested.

It is needless for me to emphasize the necessity for increased salaries, as you are well acquainted with the conditions under which we have had to labor for the last two years, and unless some remedy is offered along this line, it will be impossible to predict what the consequences will be in connection with the work which, owing to lack of help, has not been kept up to the usual standard in some of the sections; in fact, the successful accomplishment of the work during the past year has been achieved by the unusual efforts on the part of the employees which we now have, and I desire at this point to tender my hearty thanks to all employees who have so ably assisted.

Respectfully submitted.

JOSIAH H. BRINKER,
Superintendent of Documents.
