* Document for sale by Superintendent of Documents.

† Distribution by office issuing document, free if unaccompanied by a price.

‡ Document not obtainable.

Explanation

Words and figures inclosed in brackets [] are given for information, but do not appear on the title-pages of the publications catalogued. When size is not given octavo is to be understood. Size of maps is measured from outer edge of border, excluding margin. The dates, including day, month, and year, given with Senate and House documents and reports are the dates on which they were ordered to be printed. Usually the printing promptly follows the ordering, but various causes sometimes make delays. When Congress and session are not given with the numbers of Senate and House documents and reports, 63d Congress, 2d session, is to be understood.

SALES OF GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS

The Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., is authorized to sell at cost of paper and printing any United States public document in his charge, the distribution of which is not otherwise provided for.

Publications can not be supplied free to individuals nor forwarded in advance of payment.

Publications entered in this catalogue that are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, are indicated by a star (*) preceding the price. A dagger (†) indicates that application should be made to the Department, Bureau, or Division issuing the document. A double dagger (‡) indicates that the document is not obtainable. Whenever additional information concerning the method of procuring a document seems necessary it will be found under the name of the Bureau by which it was published. The Senate and House documents and reports are issued in limited editions and, unless otherwise indicated, may be obtained only through Members of Congress.

In ordering a publication from the Superintendent of Documents, give (if known) the name of the publishing Department, Bureau, or Division, and the title of the publication. If the publication is numbered, give the number also. Every such particular assists in quick identification. Do not order by the Library of Congress card number.

The accumulation of publications in this Office amounts to several millions, of which over a million are assorted, forming the sales stock. Many rare books are included, but under the law all must be sold "at cost," regardless of their age or scarcity. Many of the books have been in stock some time and are apt to be shop-worn. In filling orders the best copy available is sent. A general price-list of public documents is not available, but lists on special subjects will be furnished on application.

MONTHLY CATALOGUE DISTRIBUTION

The Monthly catalogue is sent to each Senator, Representative, Delegate, Resident Commissioner, and officer in Congress, to designated depositories and State and Territorial libraries, to substantially all Government authors, and to as many school, college, and public libraries as the limited edition will supply.

Subscription price to individuals, $1.10 a year, including index. Back numbers can not be supplied. Notify the Superintendent of Documents of any change of address.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CARDS

Numbers to be used in ordering the L. C. catalogue cards will be found at the end of the titles of the more important monographic documents. The figure following the card number (separated from it by a slanting line) indicates the number of cards required for entries suggested (title entry not included) on the cards. The price of the cards is 2c. for the first card and $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for each additional card for the same title ordered at the same time. Remittances for the L. C. catalogue cards should be made to the Librarian of Congress. They can not be furnished by the Superintendent of Documents.

INDEX

An Index to the Monthly catalogue is issued at the end of the fiscal year. This contains index entries for all the numbers issued from July to June, and can be bound with the numbers as an index to the volume. Persons desiring to bind the catalogue at the end of the year should be careful to retain the numbers received monthly, as duplicate numbers can not be supplied.

HOW TO REMIT

Remittances for the documents marked with a star (*) should be made to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., by postal money order, express order, or New York draft. Currency, if sent, will be at sender's risk.

Postage stamps, foreign money, and defaced or smooth coins are not acceptable.

No charge is made for postage on documents forwarded to points in the United States, Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Samoa, or to Canada, Cuba, Mexico, or Shanghai. To other countries the regular rate of postage is charged, and remittances must cover such postage.

The issue of coupons redeemable in public documents by the Superintendent of Documents has been discontinued.

NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Vol. 2, no. 11, of the Agriculture Department's Weekly news letter to crop correspondents, speaking of the demand that some means be found to restrict the cotton acreage in the coming year, makes this suggestive comment: "Experience, however, has shown that such movements result not in a decrease but in an actual increase. Each man believes that his neighbors will plant less cotton and that the price will consequently go up. He determines, therefore, to take advantage of this by planting all the cotton he can."

In the daily Congressional record for December 1, 1913 (vol. 50, no. 167), notice was conspicuously given by the Joint Committee on Printing as follows: "The last issue of the Congressional record for the first session of the Sixty-third Congress will be published on Saturday, December 6, 1913," etc. The issue of the daily Record thus announced was never made. There was a daily Record on December 6, 1913, but it was no. 6 of the 2d session instead of no. 168 of the 1st session. In the volume notation it was no. 6 of vol. 51, not no. 168 of vol. 50. Collectors who are making up sets of the daily Record will need this information. The final number of vol. 50 (63d Congress, 1st session), is 167, dated December 1, 1913.

The statue of the Baron Frederick von Steuben, who served in the Seven Years War under Frederick the Great and in the American Revolution under Washington, was unveiled at the northwest corner of Lafayette Square, Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1910. It had been appropriated for by Congress, Feb. 27, 1903. A competition of artists had been invited in July, 1905, and the design of the sculptor Albert Jaegers of New York had been accepted in May, 1906, and a contract made with him Jan. 10, 1907, for furnishing and erecting the statue. The report of the proceedings of the unveiling, with incidental matter forming a memorial volume, was ordered printed Aug. 21, 1911. The first copies of the completed work were received by the Superintendent of Documents, Oct. 7, 1914. In the document notation it is House document 1455, 62d Congress, 3d session. The compilation, which has been made by Mr. George H. Carter, clerk to the Joint Committee on Printing, is very complete, including an account of the presentation of a replica of the Steuben statue to the German Government and its reception by Emperor William, descriptions and photographs of many Steuben relics, portraits of all the principal participants in the various ceremonies, and other matters of historical interest. The printing has been skillfully done, as becomes a memorial volume of such permanent value. Copies in cloth binding are on sale by the Superintendent of Documents at 75 cents.

The Journal of agricultural research announced in its first monthly number, issued Oct. 1913, that plans were being perfected for the cooperation of investigators in the State agricultural colleges and experiment stations by the contribution of papers to its pages. Apparently these plans have been perfected, for the Oct. 1914, number of the Journal announces the addition to its editorial committee of Raymond Pearl, Maine Agricultural Experiment Station; H. P. Armsby, Pennsylvania State College; and E. M. Freeman, Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station. It is directed that correspondence relating to articles from experiment stations should be addressed to Raymond Pearl, Orono, Maine. It is also explicitly stated that the magazine is published by authority of the Secretary of Agriculture with the cooperation of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations. The first number having been issued Oct. 1913, and six numbers completing a volume, the current number, Oct. 1914, is no. 1 of vol. 3.

The title "Department bulletins" seems to be definitely fixed for the series of publications proceeding from the Office of the Secretary of Agriculture and superseding the two long-established series of bulletins and circulars issued for many years past from the different bureaus of the Agriculture Department, each bureau having a numbered series of bulletins and a numbered series of circulars, each set of numbers in several instances running into the hundreds. Though over one hundred and fifty bulletins of the new form, proceeding directly from the Secretary's office, have been published, not until October was anything printed that looked toward giving them a collective title. The publication which fixed their status and gave them "a local habitation and a name" is a title-page, contents table, and index for "Department bulletins 1-25." This publication evidently looks to binding the Department bulletins, twenty-five numbers in a volume, as had previously been done with the Farmers' bulletins. As all of the bureaus of the Agriculture Department are contributors to the Department bulletins series, they cover a variety of subjects and the contents of each volume will be considerably diversified. Instead of a series of volumes on one branch of agricultural science, there will be a series in which each volume may touch on several phases of the agricultural life.

The Radio Service, Commerce Department, is an informal division of the Navigation Bureau, consisting of a Washington force of five members and a field force of about twenty-five inspectors and clerks. The annual report of the Radio Service is included in the annual report of the Commissioner of Navigation. The List of radio stations of the United States carries the same heading as other publications of the Radio Service, namely: "Department of Commerce, Bureau of Navigation, Radio Service." The List will be issued annually as of July 1, with quarterly supplements of changes and corrections. The 1914 list became available in October, price 15 cents. No supplements to the 1914 list have yet been issued.

A timely publication has been made by the Radio Service, Navigation Bureau, Commerce Department, under this title: Radio communication laws of the United States and the International radiotelegraphic convention, regulations governing radio operators and the use of radio apparatus on ships and on land.

This Office is advised that it is not likely that Animal Industry Bureau Bulletin 110, which has been in course of publication in parts, will be completed by the publication of the missing parts. The general title of the Bulletin is Biometrical study of egg production in the domestic fowl, and the following parts have been issued: 1. Variation in annual egg production, 1909; 2. Seasonal distribution of egg production, 1911; 3. Variation and correlation in physical characters of the egg, 1914.

Mines Bureau Bulletin 76, United States coals available for export trade, has been printed in three languages, Spanish, Portuguese, and English. Price for the English edition, 5 cents.

The long-expected Regulations governing the uniforms of officers and employees of the United States Public Health Service, Treasury Department, has been published in thirty-five pages of text and twenty-six plates, providing for olive-drab, khaki, and white uniforms. Price, 60 cents. The binding is cloth.

Supplement 12 to Public health reports, Vital statistics, a discussion of what they are and their uses in public health administration, is out in a 2d edition.

Some of the fundamental definitions which it lays down are the following: "Vital statistics are the statistics of life," "Morbidity statistics are the statistics of disease," "Mortality statistics are the statistics of death."

In pursuance of sec. 6 of the river and harbor act of Mar. 4, 1912, a compilation of Laws of the United States relating to improvement of rivers and harbors has been published as House document 1491, 62d Congress, 3d session. Vols. 1 and 2 issued by the Engineer Department have sixteen hundred and thirteen pages of laws, two and four pages of Appendix, respectively, and three hundred and eight pages of Index. This Index of three hundred and eight pages covers the material in vols. 1 and 2, and is the same in both volumes. Vol. 3 which was issued by the Judge Advocate General's Department and entered in the Monthly catalogue for Mar. 1914, has an individual index.

An unusual occurrence was the publication of House document 1179, 63d Congress, 2d session. It is a letter dated Oct. 19, 1914, from the Secretary of Agriculture, requesting that his letter of Oct. 14, 1914, be withdrawn, owing to the fact that a further examination has demonstrated that the statement made in the first letter concerning the finding of a new pest, the Egyptian pink bollworm of cotton, in Northern Florida, was erroneous. The insects reported from the Peninsular State turned out, when examined by experts of the Agriculture Department, to be an immature stage of another bollworm, less injurious.

The evidence taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the case of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad Company, has been published as Senate document 543, 63d Congress, 2d session, in two volumes. Vol. 1 contains the hearings with index, vol. 2, the exhibits with index. Both volumes contain twenty-four hundred and thirteen pages, besides an index in vol. 1 of twenty-three pages, the last page being numbered in error xiii.

Germany, France, Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, and the United States have joined in the adoption of an international or metric carat for the weighing of precious stones and precious metals to replace the varying carats of different countries. The weight of the new carat is two hundred milligrams, and in the United States it replaces a carat of about two hundred and five and three-tenths milligrams and carats of varying weights in other countries. Mineral resources of the United States, 1913, part 2, not yet published in full, reports in the separate print of the chapter on Gems and precious stones, page 705, that the new carat has been favorably received by the majority of the jewelers' trade in this country. The difficulties expected from a readjustment of the weights and prices of stones already catalogued have not proved to be great.

Agriculture Department has been receiving numerous letters showing that the writers have misapprehended the purport of Public 95, 63d Congress, the so-called Smith-Lever act, the legal title of which is "To provide for cooperative agricultural extension work between the agricultural colleges in the several States receiving the benefits of an act of Congress approved July 2, 1862, and of acts supplementary thereto, and the United States Department of Agriculture." The letter-writers evidently suppose that the millions appropriated by the law can be distributed directly to citizens to aid them in improving home conditions, educating their children, etc. Many will be disappointed to learn that the money goes only to the agricultural and land-grant colleges to enable them to employ qualified men and women as county agents and experts to travel in the farming country and instruct the people in better and more economical methods of farming and housekeeping.

The 4th edition of Miners' circular 8, First-aid instruction for miners, a Mines Bureau publication, is a reprint of the 3d edition, without a change even of the edition number. The Mines Bureau, recognizing the difficulty librarians may find in keeping track of several reissues of one report, has decided to issue hereafter only first editions, reprints, and revised editions, and to give in each case the date of issue.

Farmers' bulletin 628 is Game laws for 1914, a summary of the provisions relating to seasons, export, sale, limits, and licenses. It contains the President's proclamation and the amended regulations as to migratory birds approved Oct. 1, 1914, also the substance of the State and Canadian laws as well as those of the United States. 5 cents.

Part 5 of the Report of the Commissioner of Corporations on the Taxation of corporations is out of press. It deals with the systems of taxation in the Mountain and Pacific States. 25 cents.

A valuable new reference list from the Library of Congress is List of references on water rights and the control of waters. This is a very comprehensive list, including not only publications relating to the United States and the several States but also foreign countries. 15 cents.

The Solicitor of the Agriculture Department has issued a compilation carrying this title: Food and drugs act, June 30, 1906, and amendments of Aug. 23, 1912, and Mar. 3, 1913, with the rules and regulations for the enforcement of the act, food inspection decisions [40-155], selected court decisions, digest of decisions, opinions of the Attorney General, and appendix. The completeness of this compend gives it great value. Its contents have been previously published, but in many small publications, difficult to find and still more difficult to keep track of. Copies in half leather binding are supplied by the Superintendent of Documents at $1.00.

Treasury decisions for the week of Oct. 29, 1914 (vol. 27, no. 18), contains the full text of an act to increase the internal revenue and for other purposes (Public 217, 63d Congress, known by the popular name "war-tax law"); also, a Revised schedule of articles and occupations subject to tax. The weekly Treasury decisions are supplied to subscribers by the Superintendent of Documents for $1.75 a year. Single copies are sold at 5 cents.

The Agriculture Department has published an index to vol. 1 of its Weekly news letter to crop correspondents, which was first published Aug. 13, 1913. Those who have received it (and it is free) and have not saved the weekly numbers have thrown away a valuable and entertaining miscellany of farm knowledge, now made readily accessible by the new index.

The Census Bureau has not, at the time of this writing, announced the issue of a Statistical atlas for the 13th census (1910) but one is to be issued, and the work on it, even to the printing, is well advanced. In fact, the presswork is completed, and the presswork, when many colored diagrams are used, as in previous statistical atlases, is the main part of the work. The Census Bureau expects deliveries of the atlases within two or three weeks.

The War Department has issued another edition of Cavalry service regulations, United States Army (experimental). This is an important manual, but it is not Cavalry drill regulations, as many seem to suppose. A new edition of the Cavalry drill is in preparation, but it will be sometime before it will be ready. The Cavalry service regulations (experimental) has been issued to the cavalry officers and "will govern in the training and leading of cavalry," and in the month of June, 1915, each officer of the cavalry service must submit a report embodying his opinions and recommendations as to these regulations. The new edition of the Cavalry service regulations, which for the time being is the Army standard, is for sale in fabrikoid binding, by the Superintendent of Documents, at 50 cents.

Circular of information concerning census publications is a much inquired for and much needed publication just out of press and sent on application by the Census Bureau.

FIRST FRUITS OF THE NEW BANK SYSTEM

The Federal Reserve Board, a body which is destined to play a large part in the business and financial history of this country, has begun the issue of a series of circulars of an important and instructive character. Several numbers have thus far been published. No. 1 was issued by the Reserve Bank Organization Committee under date of Feb. 14, 1914. Circular 2 was not published. No. 3 is the first issue from the Federal Reserve Board. It is dated Aug. 25, 1914, and is accompanied by a blank form to be filled in with information as to the condition and resources of the bank to which it is sent. There are two prints of Circular 3, one for the reserve city banks and the other for the nonreserve city banks.

The Superintendent of Documents is advised that Circulars 4 and 5 "were eliminated." Just what the quoted words mean when applied to a public document is not altogether clear, but the probability is that they were "printed, but not published." Circulars 6 and 6a were printed confidentially, for the use of the Board, and have not yet been released.

Circular 7, dated Oct. 14, 1914, presents for consideration by the boards of directors drafts of a system of accounting for the banks. 47 pages quarto.

Circular 8, dated Oct. 17, 1914, presents for consideration the outline of a tentative organization for the banks in certain essential aspects of their business. 45 pages quarto.

Nos. 9 and 9^a have been printed but are considered confidential.

Circular 10, dated Oct. 28, has for title, Transfer of reserves to Federal reserve banks.

In addition to the set of circulars, there is Regulation 1, Procedure in appeals from decision of the Reserve Bank Organization Committee. Also there is a pamphlet containing the reports of the committees belonging to the Convention of officers and directors of Federal reserve banks held at Washington, D. C., Oct. 20 and 21, 1914.

FURTHER NEUTRALITY RULES

Neutrality and trade in contraband, a circular issued by the State Department, has been published as Senate document 604, 63d Congress, 2d session.

It declares that "generally speaking, a citizen of the United States can sell to a belligerent Government or its agent any article which he pleases." For the Government itself to sell articles contraband of war to a belligerent would be an unneutral act.

There is a wide difference between the act of the Government and the act of an individual.

AN UNLOOKED-FOR USE

The act creating the United States Geological Survey in 1892 provided that it should make a geological map of the United States. The Survey was willing, but found that the most necessary preliminary, a base map, did not exist. Consequently the Survey at once set about making a base map, and has been making it ever since from actual surveys. Thousands of "topographic sheets," each one a part of the base map, have been published.

These sheets have been offered for sale as they were issued, and great numbers of them have been sold. This sale has been much stimulated in recent years by a cause that the authorities of the Survey could not possibly have foreseen. This cause is the automobile, which did not become a practical apparatus until a score of years after the birth of the Survey. Automobiles cause road trips. Road trips require knowledge of roads. Nowhere else can such knowledge be acquired so readily and so accurately as by the use of the topographic sheets. But people who use the sheets only to trace the roads have no use for such a term as "topographic." Consequently the more popular name "road maps" has come into use, and under this name a large demand for the sheets has sprung up and is constantly growing.

It would not be surprising to learn any day that the largest calls for the topographic base-map sheets are made under the name of road maps, and that this demand has doubled the use of this publication of the Geological Survey, which has become even better known as a popular help for joy riding than it was as a branch of scientific map making.

THIS IS IMPORTANT

American manufacturers who have an idea of "capturing the South American market" should read with thoughtful care "Statements on the Latin American trade situation made by representatives of Latin American countries at a conference held before the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce, Washington, D. C., Thursday, September 10, 1914."

The Ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay, Peru, and Cuba made very plain and forcible talks about the necessity of complying with South American customs if we hope to acquire South American trade. One of them said: "It is worse than useless to send the American type of drummer to South America." Another said: "The United States must send down men to make friends with our people and overcome the existing distrust." And again: "We must have the goods we need and not the goods the American manufacturer thinks we ought to have." There is no doubt the market is there and that the death-struggle in which England and Germany are engaged has lost to them that control of it which they have been dividing between them for years past. It is open to the United States, but it can not be taken by force. One of the diplomats said: "It has become an aphorism all over South America that Americans do business only on their own terms and in their own way." In the present crisis it seems that more complaisance, more consideration for the ideas and feelings of the customer, may be found more productive than the methods hitherto in use, which it seems plain have repelled instead of attracting South American trade.

LIGHT FOR THE BLIND

An interesting publication is the List of books in embossed type in the reading room for the blind which the Library of Congress has just printed. These are of course the books printed with raised letters which the blind read with their fingers. Both the blind and those who choose their books are to be congratulated on the excellence of the selections shown in this list. The sightless are perhaps to be also congratulated on their escape from much printed trash which they could not well escape if they had their sight.

It is a little surprising to note how many kinds of raised type are supplied to blind readers. Having learned to read in one kind of finger-type only, the blind man who has another kind offered to him is little better off than a one-language American before a page of Greek text.

DONIPHAN'S EXPEDITION.

The Senate, Oct. 21st, adopted a resolution to reprint as a Senate document an account of Col. Doniphan's conquest of New Mexico during the War with Mexico, 1846-48. The pamphlet was offered for reprint by Senator Stone of Missouri last May, and the author's name is given as John T. Hughes, A. B., a member of the 1st Missouri Cavalry, which was Doniphan's command. The original illustrations are to be reproduced, which can be done much more easily now by photography than was possible half a century and more ago when wood-cutting was the only method of illustration open to the every-day pamphleteer.

Mr. Hughes's pamphlet was originally printed and copyrighted in Cincinnati in 1847. It should be a brilliant work, for it chronicles an exceedingly brilliant campaign. Doniphan maintained himself for many months in Mexican territory without communication with his own country, and when he cut his way out after more than a thousand miles of weary marching and successful fighting he found that the war was over and that he and his compatriots had conquered an empire.

The forthcoming reprint of the Hughes pamphlet is not the only report of Doniphan's expedition to be found in the Government publications of the United States. There is one back in the 30th Congress bearing the following title-page: "30th Congress, 1st session, Senate miscellaneous, no. 26. Memoir of a tour to northern Mexico, connected with Col. Doniphan's expedition in 1846 and 1847. By A. Wislizenus, M. D. With a scientific appendix and three maps. January 13, 1848, ordered that 5,000 copies be printed for the use of the Senate, and 200 additional for Dr. Wislizenus. Washington, Tipton & Streeper, printers, 1848."

The two reports are of about equal length, (Hughes's 144 pages, Wislizenus's 141 pages), but they differ widely in character. The Doctor, who was Doniphan's surgeon, was an enthusiastic naturalist, and his report is in large part devoted to botany, geology, and weather tables, and only in small part to fighting, while Hughes's report is pretty much the reverse of this.

A 500-VOLUME SET

At the moment of writing eight parts (books) have been issued of the permanent bound edition of the Congressional record, vol. 51, containing the proceedings of the 63d Congress, 2d session. The total number of volumes of Congressional proceedings from the beginning of the Government is now 489, and when all the parts of vol. 51 and its index have been completed the total will be 500 huge volumes of the work of the American Congress. These have appeared in several series, thus: Annals of the Congress, 1789-1824, 42 vols.; Register of debates, 1825-37, 29 vols.; Congressional globe, 1833-73, 109 vols.; Congressional record, 1873-1914 (providing there are no more than 18 parts in vol. 51), 320 vols. Total, 500 vols.

CLASSIFICATION OF I. C. C. PUBLICATIONS

In the next Monthly catalogue we hope to announce and describe a new scheme of classification of the publications of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The extreme development of the publishing side of the Commission's work has long ago outgrown the plan of classification originally adopted by the Office of the Superintendent of Documents, but the pressure of other duties has until now prevented the construction and application of a new plan.

The scheme of classification now adopted is so elastic that it can not be outgrown and so simple and logical that it will greatly facilitate the handling of the I. C. C. set. The new classification will be printed and copies supplied to all owners of the Checklist of public documents, in which the existing outworn classification is printed at pages 558-587.

AN OVERSIGHT IN THE MONTHLY INDEX

Attention is here called to an error in the Index to the Monthly catalogue, July, 1913-June, 1914. It was not discovered until the index had been mailed, when a notice of the correction was sent out with the September issue of the Monthly catalogue as follows:—

Strike out the 20th line of the 1st column on page lxxiv, "Navigation Bureau, Navy Dept.----88," and substitute therefor in the margin "Navy:"

CORRECTION FOR AUG. 1914, MONTHLY CATALOGUE

Topographic sheets

NOTE.—The Geological Survey is making a topographic map of the United States. The sheets of which it is composed are projected without reference to political divisions, and are designated by some prominent town or natural feature found on them. Three scales are ordinarily used, 1:62,500, 1:125,000, and 1:250,000. These correspond, approximately, to 1 mile, 2 miles, and 4 miles to 1 linear inch, covering, respectively, average areas of 230, 920, and 3,700 square miles. For some areas of particular importance special large-scale maps are published. The usual size, exclusive of the margin, is about 17.5 inches in height by 11.5 to 16 inches in width, the latter varying with the latitude. A description of the topographic map is printed on the reverse of each sheet.

Nearly two-fifths of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped, every State being represented. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia are completely mapped. Sheets of the regular size are sold by the Survey at 10c. each; but in lots of 50 or more copies, whether of the same sheet or of different sheets, the price is 6c. each. In no case can orders be filled at the wholesale rate unless the sum remitted solely for topographic maps amounts to at least $3.00.
