Trusted Traveler Programs

U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) operates international trusted traveler programs offering expedited processing for pre-identified, lower risk populations. These programs provide modified screening for pre-approved members, improve security by increasing efficiencies in allocating screening resources, and facilitate legitimate trade and travel. To find which program is right for you and for more information about the different trusted traveler programs on the southern and northern borders, visit CBP.gov.

Secure Electronic Network for Travelers Rapid Inspection (SENTRI)

- SENTRI, an expedited travel program for land border crossings along the southwest border, was first implemented at Otay Mesa, CA in 1995. SENTRI has grown to include approximately 20 lanes at the 12 largest southern border ports of entry (POE) along the U.S.-Mexico border.
- All SENTRI POEs allow expedited passage for vehicular traffic; and, in certain locations, SENTRI pedestrian processing is also available.

- There are over 425,000 SENTRI members: they account for 15% of cross-border traffic along the Southwest border.
- SENTRI costs $122.25 and is valid for five years. Participants receive a proximity Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) SENTRI card. SENTRI participants are vetted on an ongoing basis.

NEXUS

- NEXUS, an expedited travel program for air, land, and sea border crossings along the northern border, is a partnership between the Canadian and U.S. Governments, through the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), and CBP.
- There are currently over 1.25 million members enrolled in the NEXUS program.
- NEXUS costs $50 and is valid for five years. Participants receive a photo identification, proximity Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) and biometrically-enabled NEXUS card. NEXUS participants are vetted on an ongoing basis by both CBSA and CBP.
