The detailed sources of receipts are further classified according to funds—i. e., general, special, trust, and District of Columbia—and on page 12 will be found a condensed statement of both receipts and expenditures according to these fund distinctions, including the cash balance in the Treasury as at the beginning and end of the fiscal year.

The bases of the figures included in this report are explained in the Foreword appearing on pages 6 to 8.

Secretary of the Treasury.

FOREWORD

BASES OF FIGURES INCLUDED IN THIS REPORT

RECEIPTS

Section 305 of the Revised Statutes provides that receipts for all moneys received by the Treasurer of the United States shall be indorsed upon warrants signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, without which warrants, so signed, no acknowledgment for money received into the Public Treasury shall be valid. The receipts of the United States Government as published in this report are based upon warrants issued by the Secretary of the Treasury and represent the formal covering into the Treasury of the public moneys deposited in Treasury offices and Government depositaries during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929.

EXPENDITURES

The expenditures in this report are exhibited on two different bases, namely: (1) Warrants issued, and (2) checks issued.

(1) Warrants-issued basis.—Under the provisions of the act of September 2, 1789, which later became section 305 of the Revised Statutes, the expenditures of the United States Government are based upon warrants issued by the Secretary of the Treasury. From the organization of the Government in 1791, down to and including the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, the detailed expenditures of the Government under separate heads of appropriations provided by Congress were exhibited on what is known as the "basis of warrants issued."

There are two classes of warrants upon which expenditures are made from the United States Treasury, viz, (a) accountable warrants, so called because disbursing officers must regularly account for expenditures thereunder, which are issued to place funds to the credit of disbursing officers on the books of the Treasurer of the United States, subject to their official check for the payment of Government obligations; and (b) settlement warrants, which authorize the Treasurer of the United States to make direct payments to claimants upon settlements of the accounting officers.

Accountable warrants are issued practically as a bookkeeping expedient. They form the legal basis for charges against appropriation accounts upon the books of the Secretary of the Treasury and for corresponding credits to disbursing officers' checking accounts upon the books of the Treasurer of the United States, but do not involve an actual expenditure of cash from the Treasury at the time the warrants are issued. As far as the appropriation accounts upon the books of the Secretary of the Treasury are concerned, the warrants issued and charged thereto constitute expenditures on a warrant basis. To some extent, however, the money represented by such warrants is not actually expended during the fiscal year in which advanced to disbursing officers. The unexpended balances of funds in such cases are either used in the following fiscal year or returned by repay covering warrants to the appropriations from which advanced on the books of the Secretary. While the differences between the total expenditures on a warrant basis and a checks-issued basis are not material in cases where the unexpended balances to the credit of disbursing officers remain more or less constant from year to year, the former do not accurately reflect the trend of governmental expenditures, since they include unexpended balances remaining to the credit of disbursing officers at the end of the year but not expenditures from unexpended disbursing officers' balances at the beginning of the year. The expenditures on the basis of warrants issued in pursuance of section 305 of the Revised Statutes are shown in the fourth money column of this report beginning on page 69.

(2) Checks-issued basis.—In order to correct the situation described above a new and improved method of exhibiting the detailed expenditures of the Government was devised by the Treasury during the fiscal year 1927. The new method is on the basis of checks issued. It excludes from expenditures moneys placed to the credit of disbursing officers by warrant which remain unexpended and to their official checking credit at the close of the fiscal year, and includes in expenditures all checks drawn by disbursing officers during the fiscal year 1929 against unexpended balances of moneys placed to their checking credit during the preceding fiscal year. In other words, the expenditures on the basis of checks issued as exhibited in this report represent all the checks drawn upon the Treasurer of the United States during the fiscal year 1929 in payment of Government obligations without regard to the fiscal year in which the funds may have been placed to the credit of disbursing officers by warrant. A detailed explanation of this change is contained on pages 89 to 91 of the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Treasury for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, and on page 7 of the Combined Statement of the Receipts and Expenditures, Balances, etc., of the United States, for the same fiscal year. The detailed expenditures on the basis of checks issued are shown in the fifth money column of this report beginning on page 69.

APPROPRIATIONS

Article 1 of the Constitution of the United States provides that no money shall be withdrawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law. The appropriations exhibited in this report are the amounts which, by law, Congress authorized to be established upon the books of the Treasury during the fiscal year 1929. The figures necessarily differ somewhat from the appropriations exhibited in the annual "Digest of Appropriations, 1929," compiled by the Treasury Department, the "Statement of Appropriations of the Seventieth Congress, First Session," Senate Document No. 165, prepared under the direction of the Committees on Appropriations of the Senate and House of Representatives, and the comparative statement of appropriations for the fiscal year 1929 contained in the annual "Budget, 1930," for several reasons as may be observed by a study of the "Accountability Statement of Appropriations by Acts of Congress," appearing on pages 370 to 374 of this report. These differences are due principally to (1) the difference in the time at which the different reports are compiled, and (2) special provisions and limitations enacted by Congress in appropriation acts in regard to the availability of the appropriations. For instance, the three documents mentioned above are compiled about the beginning of the fiscal year for which the appropriations are made, and, therefore, include estimated amounts to cover permanent and indefinite appropriations, whereas the Combined Statement of Receipts, Expenditures, Balances, etc., of the United States is compiled after the close of the fiscal year, and the figures in this report under such appropriations are actual. As to the time of the availability of appropriations it will be noted by reference to page 370, that of the total appropriations provided in the annual appropriation acts for the fiscal year 1929, aggregating $2,906,585,736.28, the sum of $143,851,065.38 was made immediately available by Congress upon the dates of approval of the several acts, and therefore was established upon the books of the Treasury in the fiscal year 1928 instead of 1929. In like manner by the terms of the annual appropriation acts for 1930, aggregating $3,072,873,162.45, the sum of $177,803,131.37 was made immediately available upon the passage of such acts and, accordingly, was established upon the books of the Treasury during the fiscal year 1929. Appropriations contained in the first and second deficiency acts, fiscal year 1929, approved March 4, 1929, with the exception of $8,035,007.01 which did not become available until 1930, were established upon the books of the Treasury during the fiscal year 1929, and, therefore, are included in this report; these acts having been approved subsequently to the publication of the annual "Digest of Appropriations, 1929" and the "Statement of Appropriations of the Seventieth Congress, First Session," Senate Document No. 165, the appropriations contained therein obviously are not included in such publications for 1929, but are included in those publications for the fiscal year 1930. Other differences in appropriation figures are attributable to the fact that certain appropriations provided by Congress in the annual and deficiency appropriation acts are not payable from the general fund of the Treasury, but are provided for from postal revenues and from special funds hereinafter described.

SURPLUS FUND, ACT JUNE 20, 1874 (18 STAT. 110)

The term "Surplus Fund of the Treasury" as used by Congress in appropriation acts, and the act of June 20, 1874, and by the Treasury Department in the heading of the sixth money column of this report, beginning on page 69, does not represent a physical fund consisting of surplus cash or other assets as the term would ordinarily imply in accounting terminology. The term as herein used has no relation to surplus income. It is merely an expression to describe the writing off of the books of appropriations which have been repealed, or the unexpended balances of appropriations which have lapsed by limitation of law.

Appropriations when made by Congress and established upon the books of the Treasury Department do not represent so much income or cash actually set aside in the Treasury for the purposes specified in the appropriation acts. Appropriations are established upon the books of the Treasury simply as record accounts and merely represent the limit to which administrative offices may obligate Government funds during the fiscal years specified in the appropriation acts, and as a general rule are based upon anticipated future tax collections and other receipts. It follows, therefore, that when appropriations, or unexpended balances of appropriations, are carried to what is termed in the law the surplus fund of the Treasury it involves simply a matter of writing such appropriations off of the books without increasing the cash in the Treasury or affecting it in any manner. Under the act of Congress approved June 12, 1870, as amended by the act of June 20, 1874, on the last day of each fiscal year the Treasury writes off the unexpended balances of appropriations that have remained on the books for two full fiscal years.

In contradistinction, the term "surplus" as used in connection with the receipts and expenditures of the Government, represents the ordinary receipts, i. e., customs duties, internal revenue, and miscellaneous, for a given period in excess of the expenditures chargeable against such receipts for the same period, usually for a fiscal year (see p. 5). There is no relation between the two terms described. The excess or surplus of the Government's receipts over its expenditures is not permitted to accumulate in the Treasury from year to year, but is used as promptly as conditions permit to reduce the public debt.

FUND DISTINCTIONS

The detailed sources of receipts included in this report are classified according to funds, i. e., (1) general fund, (2) special funds, (3) trust funds, and (4) District of Columbia funds, and on pages 12 and 13, will be found a condensed statement of both receipts and expenditures according to these fund distinctions, including the cash balances in the Treasury at the beginning and close of the fiscal year.

(1) General fund.—Except as otherwise provided by law, moneys of the United States are covered into the general fund of the Treasury. Moneys in the general fund can be withdrawn from the Treasury only in pursuance of appropriations made by law. There are four classes of appropriations payable from the general fund of the Treasury, namely, (a) annual, being voted by Congress annually in the several departmental supply bills and limited for obligation [1] during the fiscal year for which made; (b) continuing (no-year), being available until expended, or until the object for which appropriated has been accomplished, such as construction of public works; (c) permanent-specific, being fixed amounts provided for each of a series of years by permanent legislation without annual action of Congress; and (d) permanent-indefinite, being indefinite amounts (so much as may be necessary) provided by permanent legislation without annual action of Congress. The major part of the Government's expenditures are made from appropriations provided from the general fund. (See pp. 12 and 13, column 1.)

[1] The unexpended balances on the books of the Treasury under annual appropriations are available for two additional years for the payment of such obligations, after which they are covered into the surplus fund of the Treasury.

(2) Special funds.—Numerous acts of Congress authorize the expenditure for specified objects of moneys received from specified sources. By these acts the revenues collected from certain sources are dedicated in advance to the objects therein specified, and can not lawfully be used for any other.

In each case such moneys constitute a special fund. Moneys in special funds, having been dedicated by Congress for specified objects prior to their collection and covering into the Treasury, are subject to withdrawal therefrom for those objects without further appropriation by Congress. In connection with the collection and use of special fund receipts, it will be noted by reference to page 22, and following pages, that ready references are given to the pages on which the appropriations of such receipts may be found. These references will be found especially helpful in cases where Congress has dedicated in advance the use of receipts from particular sources to several different objects of expenditure on a percentage basis, such as in the case of Federal water-power receipts (p. 24), forest reserve fund receipts (p. 30), mineral leasing act receipts (p. 35), and Alaska fund receipts (p. 41). (For summary of receipts and expenditures under special funds see pp. 12 and 13.)

(3) Trust funds.—There are several classes of trust funds provided by law for moneys held in trust for beneficiaries. Moneys held in trust are not available for general expenditures of the Government. They are payable to or for the use of the beneficiaries only. The beneficiaries may be either a single person or a class of persons. The funds may represent (a) moneys received directly from or on account of individuals, as in the case of moneys received from foreign Governments and other sources in trust for citizens of the United States or others under the act of February 26, 1896 (29 Stat. L. 32); (b) moneys collected as revenues of the United States and held in trust, such as the proceeds of sales of Indian lands which are placed in the Treasury in an interest-bearing fund for the benefit of Indian tribes (see sec. 7 of the act of January 14, 1889, 25 Stat. L. 645); and (c) grants of moneys from the general fund of the Treasury in pursuance of a treaty or other obligations, such as the perpetual trust fund created for the Ute Indians under section 5 of the act of June 15, 1880 (21 Stat. L. 204).

(4) District of Columbia funds.—The District of Columbia appropriation act, approved June 29, 1922 (42 Stat. 669, sec. 1), provides that on July 1, 1922, the Treasury Department shall open and thereafter keep an account showing all receipts and disbursements relative to the revenues and expenditures of the District of Columbia. The act also provides that after June 30, 1927, it shall be unlawful for any money to be advanced or paid out of the Treasury for District purposes, unless the District of Columbia, at the time of such payment, has to its credit in the Treasury money enough to pay the full percentum required of it. (See pp. 12, 13, and 411.)

[4] On Apr. 5, 1929, the sum of $65,342,768.79 standing to the credit of the checking account of the War Finance Corporation on the books of the Treasurer of the United States was transferred to the warrant account, $990,000 of which was covered into the Treasury to the credit of the appropriation "Subscriptions to capital stock, War Finance Corporation," as a repayment of capital stock originally advanced therefrom; the remainder, $64,352,768.79, was covered into the Treasury as "Miscellaneous Receipts—Earnings of War Finance Corporation." Since this transfer of funds from one account to another is merely a bookkeeping adjustment between accounts in this fiscal year of cash transactions occurring in prior fiscal years, and did not affect the cash in the Treasury during the current fiscal year, the items have not been included in either the receipts or expenditures of this report.

NOTE.—The customs receipts as published in this report differ in some respects from the figures published in the report of the Commissioner of Customs because the latter represent collections by customs officers throughout the country, while the former (this report) represent the actual deposit of such collections in the Treasury and its depositaries during the fiscal year 1929, the difference being due to the fact that some of the collections in the latter part of the fiscal year do not reach the Treasury or one of its depositaries until after June 30.

[2] Includes $13,517.52 income tax on Alaska railroads, appropriated under "Additional income tax on railroads in Alaska" (special fund), p. 233.

[3] Of this amount, $377,158.50 was reported by the United States internal-revenue stamp agent as Philippine Island revenues and $18,139.25 as United States revenues. Additional collections from sale of stamps affixed to products from the Philippine Islands were made and are included in the foregoing statement under the following districts: First California, $206.90; second New York, $2.70; Washington, $151.34; and Hawaii, $3,545.35; making a total of $381,064.79 Philippine Islands internal-revenue receipts covered by warrants issued during the fiscal year 1929 and appropriated under "Philippine special fund" (internal revenue), p. 233.

[4] Includes $20,000 "Estate taxes" credited to the appropriation, "Redemption of bonds and notes from estate taxes," p. 330.

NOTE.—The internal revenue receipts as published in this report differ in some respects from the figures published in the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue because the latter represent collections by internal revenue officers throughout the country, including amounts received through postmasters and customs officers, while the former (this report) represent the actual deposit of such collections in the Treasury and its depositaries during the fiscal year 1929, the difference being due to the fact that some of the collections in the latter part of the fiscal year do not reach the Treasury or one of its depositaries until after June 30.

[55] The $341,940.10 transferred to this object under War Department was carried to the surplus fund on War, p. 304, under the provisions of the act of Feb. 11, 1927.
[56] Transferred to "Military and naval insurance, Veterans' Bureau, 1929 and prior," act Mar. 4, 1929 (45 Stat. 1628). See note 58.

Salaries and expenses, Veterans' Bureau, 1928	$1, 000, 000
Military and naval compensation, Veterans' Bureau, 1928 and prior	7, 500, 000

[59] Transferred from 1926 account.
[60] See note 59.
[61] Annual appropriation provided for beginning with fiscal year 1923.
[62] Includes $51,806,100.89 paid by warrants on account of investments (net). The total face amount of investments held on June 30, 1929, on account of the Government life-insurance fund, including loans aggregating $133,914,090.69 made to veterans under the act of Mar. 3, 1927, as reported by the Director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, amounted to $347.579,090.69 purchased at a principal cost of $346,745,752.01. This amount includes increases in the investments of the Government life-insurance fund on account of unpaid accrued interest on old loans to veterans under the act of Mar. 3, 1927, which was added to the principal in connection with new loans, without affecting the cash in the Treasury.
[63] Includes $52,069,885.46 on investment account.
[64] The unexpended balance to the credit of the checking account of the War Finance Corporation on June 30, 1928, was $64,934,085.38, of which the sum of $64,352,768.79 was transferred on Apr. 5, 1929, to the warrant account "Miscellaneous receipts—earnings of War Finance Corporation." This transfer of funds from one account to another is merely a bookkeeping adjustment between accounts in this fiscal year of cash transactions occurring in prior fiscal years. Accordingly, the item is not included in either the receipts or expenditures in this report in as much as it did not affect the cash in the Treasury during the current fiscal year.

GOLD RESERVE FUND

On June 30, 1929, the gold reserve against United States notes and Treasury notes of 1890 was $156,039,088.03. There was no change in this fund during the fiscal year 1929, the receipts on account of franchise tax on earnings of the Federal reserve banks and Federal intermediate credit banks having been used for retirement of the public debt as shown on page 381. The United States notes, for which this reserve is held, were outstanding in the amount of $346,681,016, a sum which is fixed by law. When such notes are received they are reissued. The Treasury notes of 1890, for which this gold reserve is also held, were outstanding on June 30, 1929, in the amount of $1,283,450, exclusive of $2,600 held in Treasury offices. When such notes are received and retired they are not reissued.
