CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

MONDAY, November 9, 1903.

The first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress commenced this day at the Capitol, in the city of Washington, in pursuance of the proclamation of the President of the United States of the 20th day of October, 1903. The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Mr. WILLIAM P. FRYE, a Sen-ator from the State of Maine) took the chair and called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon.

PRAVER.

Rev. F. J. PRETTYMAN, of the city of Washington, offered the following prayer: Glory be to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, the only true and wise God. To Him be praise and glory and power and dominion forever and ever. Thou God of our fathers we and dominion forever and ever. Thou God of our fathers we worship Thee. We bring to Thee our grateful tribute of praise, for Thou art still our God. Thou didst look upon us in our pov-erty and hast brought us into great possessions. Thou didst care for us in our weakness and hast given to us a name and place and power in all the earth. Thou hast raised up men among us who have embodied the forces of righteousness and truth. Thy hand has guided our national destiny to this good hour. Amidst the tremendous responsibilities of the hour we look to Thee for that wisdom which cometh from above, for the wisdom which is first pure then praceable gentle and easy to be entreated which is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and of good fruits, without partiality, and without

We pray Thy blessing upon each member of this honorable Sen-ate, that having the fear of God with them they may bring all of their deliberations into accord with the eternal issues of the acts of this Assembly. We pray Thy blessing upon the citizen-ship of this land, that they may faithfully discharge their polit-ical duties as freemen with patriotic devotion to our free institutions

We pray that Thou wilt write all of the history of this Congress in the symbols of truth and righteousness, that it may stand among the councils of the nations as God's latest deliverance of peace and good will toward men. We ask it for Christ's sake. Amen.

THE PROCLAMATION.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Secretary will read the proclamation of the President of the United States convening Congress in extraordinary session.

The Secretary read the proclamation, as follows:

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

By THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. A PROCLAMATION. Whereas by the resolution of the Senate of March 19, 1903, the approval by Congress of the reciprocal commercial convention between the United States and the Republic of Cuba, signed at Habana on December 11, 1902, is neces-sary before the said convention shall take effect; and Whereas it is important to the public interests of the United States that the said convention become operative as early as may be: Mow, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power vested in me by the Constitution, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both houses of the Congress of the United States at their respective Cham-bers in the city of Washington, on the 9th day of November next, at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that they may consider and determine whether the approval of the Congress shall be given to the said convention. All persons entitled to act as members of the Fifty-eighth Congress are required to take notice of this proclamation. Market of the United States, at Washington, the

XXXVII-10

20th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and three and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-eighth.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President: JOHN HAY, Secretary of State.

SENATOR FROM FLORIDA.

Mr. BACON. Mr. President, in the absence of the Senator from Florida [Mr. TALIAFERRO], I beg leave to present the certificate of election of Hon. Stephen R. Mallory to the Senate. I ask that the credentials may be read and placed on file. Mr. HOAR. Should not the roll be called before other business is transmitted to constrain the present of the senate.

Mr. HOAR. Should not the roll be called before other business is transacted, to ascertain whether a quorum is present? The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair is under the impression that a Senator-elect who is present and desires to have the oath administered to him has a right to be sworn. The Chair examined the precedents and found them to be in that direction. The Secretary will read the credentials.

The Secretary read the credentials of Stephen R. Mallory, chosen by the legislature of the State of Florida a Senator from that State for the term beginning March 4, 1903. The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The credentials will be placed on file.

Mr. BACON. I ask that the oath of office be administered to the Senator-elect from Florida.

The PRESIDENT protempore. The Senator-elect will present himself at the desk, and the Chair will administer the oath prescribed by law.

Mr. Mallory was escorted to the Vice-President's desk by Mr. BACON; and the oath prescribed by law having been administered to him, he took his seat in the Senate.
