

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, December 2, 1907.

This day, in compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, the Members-elect of the House of Representatives of the Sixtieth Congress assembled in their Hall and were called to order by Mr. ALEXANDER McDOWELL, the Clerk of the last House.

The CLERK. Prayer will be offered by the Chaplain of the last House.

The following prayer was offered by the Rev. HENRY N. Couden, D. D., Chaplain of the last House:

O Thou eternal, invisible, yet ever-present God, our heavenly Father, from whom cometh all wisdom, power, and goodness, continue, we beseech Thee, thy ministrations unto us and help us to grow into all that makes men holy and thus into all that makes a nation pure and noble, wise and just, strong and great, to the honor and glory of Thy holy name.

We bless Thee for the unparalleled growth of our Republic, for its material, intellectual, moral, and spiritual progress. Yet we realize that with every advance toward the higher civilization come larger and more complicated problems to be solved. Imbue us plenteously with heavenly gifts, that we may solve them in accordance with Thy will.

We thank Thee for the Congress now convened, and we most fervently pray that however great and illustrious have been its predecessors it may rise superior to them all in the wisdom of its resolves and enactments. Inspire, therefore, the Representatives on the floor of this House with great thoughts, pure motives, and patriotic endeavors, that they may fulfill the obligations resting upon them.

Pour out Thy spirit abundantly upon its chosen Speaker, that he may guide with firm hand and clear vision through all its deliberations to the highest and best results. Impart unto the President of these United States, his advisers, and all others in authority wisdom from above, that the affairs of state may be wisely administered and the laws of the land faithfully executed, that peace and prosperity may prevail throughout our borders, that we may dwell in peace with all the world, now and always, in the spirit of Him who taught us when we pray to say:

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

The CLERK. The Clerk will call the roll by States to ascertain if a quorum of the Sixtieth Congress is present.

The CLERK. The result of the ballot is: Mr. CANNON receives 213 votes and Mr. WILLIAMS 162 votes. Mr. CANNON, having received a majority of all the votes cast, is elected Speaker of the Sixtieth Congress. [Applause.] The Clerk will appoint Mr. WILLIAMS of Mississippi, Mr. SULLOWAY of New Hampshire, and Mr. OLLIE M. JAMES of Kentucky, as a committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the Chair. [Applause.]

[When Mr. CANNON appeared with the committee designated, the Members of the House, rising in a body, greeted him with loud and general applause, which was renewed as he ascended to the chair.]

Mr. WILLIAMS. Fellow-Representatives, the second to the highest office in the United States, and therefore in the world, is the office of Speaker of the American House of Commons, the House of Representatives.

I have the honor, for the third time in my life, not to introduce, but to present, to a House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States the Hon. JOSEPH G. CANNON, of Illinois, as its Speaker. [Prolonged applause.]

The SPEAKER. Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, we are to-day organizing the Sixtieth Congress, marking the one hundred and eighteenth milestone in the history of government by the people under the Constitution. Our predecessors in the years that are past have left to us an example of wisdom, moderation, and courage that has never failed to preserve the ideals and the interests of republican government in many crises, whether of peace or war, adversity or prosperity.

Each generation of statesmen has had its own peculiar problems and its own particular embarrassments. No problems of government ever recur in exactly the same aspects, and they may never be treated in exactly the same way. The formulas of action in one exigency may never be applied safely in another. Government, so far as it relates to courses of action, has no fixed precedents; and no veneration for those who have gone before justifies living men in approaching live problems with purpose or with vision circumscribed by the limitations of the past. But the fundamental principles of free government are eternal and unchanging, resting on the will and responsibility of the people, and are put in action through the deliberations of conscientious and fearless representatives of that will. This House is the only institution under our Constitution where that will of the people may be expressed with a fair approximation to scientific accuracy. [Applause.]

Other departments of the Government have lofty and important functions, but to this House alone belongs the peculiar, the delicate, and the all-surpassing function of interpreting and putting in definite form the will of the people. This duty we must perform ourselves. The principles of the past may help us to the extent of showing us the points of the compass; but beyond that we must depend on our own wisdom, our own constancy, our own industry, and our own fidelity to duty.

So far as the duty of organizing this House shall devolve upon me, I shall endeavor to perform the duty in a way to justify the confidence which your selection implies and to promote the great purposes for which we are assembled; but the duties of the hour rest not alone on myself. They rest on each one of you individually; and on your integrity, wisdom, and conservatism the people are relying as well as on mine. I have a right to expect your cooperation, because such cooperation will be your duty. I hope also that as we go on I may have it because of my efforts to merit your confidence and good will. [Applause.]

I am now ready for the oath.

SWEARING IN THE SPEAKER.

Mr. BINGHAM, the Member longest in continuous service in the House, was named by the Clerk to administer the oath of office to the Speaker-elect; and the oath was accordingly administered.

SWEARING IN OF MEMBERS AND DELEGATES.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll by States and Territories, and Members and Delegates, as their names are called, will please come forward to the area in front of the Clerk's desk and take the prescribed oath of office.

The Speaker then administered the oath of office to the Members and Delegates presenting themselves.

Mr. BUTLER and Mr. COCKS of New York qualified by affirmation.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. HEPBURN. I have been directed by the Republican Members of this House to present the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Iowa offers the following resolution, which the Clerk will report:

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That Alexander McDowell, of the State of Pennsylvania, be, and he is hereby, chosen Clerk of the House of Representatives.

That Henry Casson, of the State of Wisconsin, be, and he is hereby, chosen Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

That Frank B. Lyon, of the State of New York, be, and he is hereby, chosen Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives.

That S. A. Langum, of the State of Minnesota, be, and he is hereby, chosen Postmaster of the House of Representatives.

That Henry N. Couden, of the State of Michigan, be, and he is hereby, chosen Chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Mr. CLAYTON. For the resolution just submitted I offer the following substitute, and ask that the Clerk report it.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That Charles A. Edwards, of Texas, be elected Clerk of the House of Representatives.

That J. T. Ellington, of North Carolina, be elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

That H. E. Graper, of Tennessee, be elected Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives.

That Robert L. Douglas, of South Carolina, be elected Postmaster of the House of Representatives.

That E. B. Bagby, of the District of Columbia, be elected Chaplain of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the substitute.

The substitute was rejected.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The resolution was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. HEPBURN, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

The officers mentioned in the resolution above agreed to came to the bar of the House, and the oath of office was administered to them by the Speaker.

NOTIFICATION TO THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. OVERSTREET. Mr. Speaker, I offer the resolution which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana [Mr. OVERSTREET] offers the following resolution, which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the Clerk be instructed to inform the President of the United States that the House of Representatives has elected JOSEPH G. CANNON, a Representative from the State of Illinois, as Speaker and Alexander McDowell, a citizen of the State of Pennsylvania, as Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Sixtieth Congress.

The resolution was agreed to.

NOTIFICATION TO THE SENATE.

Mr. TAYLOR of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That a message be sent to the Senate to inform that body that a quorum of the House of Representatives has assembled; that JOSEPH G. CANNON, a Representative from the State of Illinois, has been elected Speaker; that Alexander McDowell, a citizen of the State of Pennsylvania, has been elected Clerk, and that the House is ready for business.

The question was taken, and the resolution was agreed to.

NOTIFICATION TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution. The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker on the part of the House of Representatives to join the committee appointed on the part of the Senate to wait on the President of the United States and notify him that a quorum of the two Houses has assembled and that Congress is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

The resolution was agreed to.

The SPEAKER appointed the following committee: Mr. PAYNE, Mr. TAWNEY, and Mr. WILLIAMS.

DISTRIBUTION OF ROOMS IN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution. The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That a special committee of five be appointed by the Speaker to report to the House at an early date plans for the distribution of rooms in the House office building and the redistribution of rooms under the control of the House in the Capitol Building.

A report from such committee shall be in order at any time.

The resolution was agreed to.

In pursuance of the resolution, the Speaker appointed the following committee: Mr. MANN, Mr. GAINES of West Virginia, Mr. YOUNG, Mr. LLOYD, and Mr. ADAMSON.

RULES OF THE SIXTIETH CONGRESS.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-ninth Congress be adopted as the rules of the House of Representatives of the Sixtieth Congress, including the standing orders of March 8 and March 14, 1900 (relating to consideration of pension and claim bills on Fridays), which are hereby continued in force during the Sixtieth Congress.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Pennsylvania yield to the gentleman from Mississippi?

Mr. DALZELL. I will yield to the gentleman from Mississippi five minutes.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, of course I have no desire to make a useless play to the galleries. I know, of course, that the resolution is going to pass, but I do not consider it consistent with the past record of this side of the House to permit it to pass without a protest. We are of the opinion, and have been for a long time, that entirely too much power is concentrated in the hands of the Speaker of the House, and without any party spirit at all, speaking only what I think is best for the country at large, believing if my party were in the majority I would still take that same view, I want to protest against the adoption of the rules in their present drastic form, without any opportunity to the Members of the House to propose amendments and without any opportunity for the House itself to pass upon proposed amendments. We will, of course, vote against the resolution.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin rose.

Mr. DALZELL. How much time does the gentleman from Wisconsin want?

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. Five minutes.

Mr. DALZELL. I will yield five minutes to the gentleman from Wisconsin.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, like the gentleman from Mississippi, I have no desire to consume the time of the House in an argument against the adoption of these rules. It was impossible for me to be present at the caucus on Saturday night. I did not arrive in the city until that evening. If I had been at the caucus I would have opposed the adoption of this rule.

I agree with the gentleman from Mississippi that there is altogether too much power concentrated in the Speaker of the House of Representatives. [Applause on the Democratic side.] It is more power, gentlemen, than ought to be given to any man in any government that pretends to be republican in form and democratic in spirit. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

Now, in saying this I do not wish to be understood as uttering a word by way of criticism of the very distinguished and honorable gentleman who has discharged the duties of Speaker of the past two Congresses with such great success. But, as the gentleman from Mississippi has just said he would oppose this if the House were Democratic, I oppose it not because it is a Republican House, but because the power given to the Speaker under these rules is unrepublican and undemocratic. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

To show that that is true, I call the attention of the House and candid listeners and readers everywhere to these facts: That the Speaker of the House of Representatives has the sole power of recognition of those who rise on the floor; he appoints all the committees, including all the chairmen; he appoints the Committee on Rules, which, in conjunction with the other rules, practically enables the Committee on Rules to dictate what legislation shall come before the House; he is himself ex officio the chairman of the Committee on Rules, and ever since I have been here there has never been a Speaker but who appointed two men with him of the majority party constituting the majority of the committee, who are with him in everything that comes before that committee.

Therefore the Speaker becomes practically the Committee on Rules. [Laughter on the Democratic side.] That was so in a Democratic House, gentlemen, when Mr. Speaker Crisp was here. [Laughter on the Republican side.] That has been so in a Republican House ever since.

Now, when the Committee on Rules reports a proposition, every man on the floor knows that the Speaker wants it adopted nine times out of ten, where it is of any importance, and we all know his power, which compels us to go into his room if we wish to ask to be recognized for unanimous consent. [Applause on the Democratic side.] We all know that we can not get a bill passed—every man on the floor does, Republican or Democratic—by unanimous consent unless the Member presenting it first goes to the private chamber of the Speaker and asks to be recognized. The Speaker does not have to give his reasons before the House for any objections he may have. He does not rise upon the floor, but in his private chamber he objects. I wish to say that the present Speaker of the House has always treated me with the utmost courtesy and kindness. A former Speaker of this House compelled me to go to his room at one time. I went there to present a bill which provided simply for the changing of the material which was to go into a public building and which had been recommended to him in a letter from the office of the Supervising Architect. I did not know that that letter had been written to him; I did not ask that it should be written to him. It was a voluntary letter and a voluntary suggestion upon the part of the Architect. I went to the Speaker's chamber. I had refused on a former occasion to do his bidding. When I went to his room he said, "I will see about that, come in again." I went in again. He did not ask me to sit down. He said, "I do not think I can do that; I do not want to do that; I can not allow that to come up." Not only that, but he compelled me to stand there, and when a perfect stranger came in, he sat him down in his seat and turned his back upon me. [Laughter.]

A very important rule had previously come before the House of Representatives. That same Speaker had stopped me at the entrance there and put his hand upon my breast and said, "Mr. COOPER, you will oblige me very much by not opposing this rule." That rule related to the Pacific Railroad funding bill. I did oppose it. I was the only Republican of the minority of the committee that reported against the bill; the rule was modified, and for the first time in thirty years the Pacific Railroad people lost their bill.

That same Speaker refused practically to recognize me for four or five years for any purpose, and never when he could help it.

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. May I have three minutes more?

Mr. BURLESON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the time of the gentleman be extended.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. DALZELL] has charge of the time.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes more to the gentleman from Wisconsin.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, one more thing. That this is too much power ever to give to one man in the House of Representatives is demonstrated by this fact: If the Vice-President of the United States had a similar power, then the Vice-President would appoint all of the committees of the Senate. He would appoint the Committee on Rules of that body and have the sole power of recognition. So that the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Vice-President of the United States together could agree practically to allow or not to allow legislation to come up before either Chamber.

Of course it is said that the House can at any time bring up legislation, but gentlemen know that they have repeatedly heard said on this floor, not alone in the last Congress, but in other Congresses, "I do not like this proposition, but the Speaker wants it."

My position is this: That the leader of this House should be on the floor and not in the chair. I say as a matter of practical experience that the very distinguished and very able gentleman who has the chair could render his country greater service leading the Republicans upon the floor than he renders them as the Speaker of the House. I think if the distinguished gentleman from Maine, the parliamentary clerk, who now stands at the right hand of the Speaker, were elected Speaker to sit there simply as a presiding officer after the manner of the speaker of the House of Commons, and the distinguished gentleman from Illinois [Mr. CANNON], who is now the Speaker of this House, were upon this floor leading us under a system of rules which would enable the House itself to elect a Committee on Rules, at the head of which would be the distinguished gentleman from Illinois [Mr. CANNON], much better business would be done in the way of legislation on this floor.

I think it is also unfair to adopt the pending resolution, because there are about 100 new Members, and they have not seen the working of the rules and know little about them. But of course the caucus having adopted what it did adopt the other night, it does not become me to vote against the resolution. I may say that I can not consistently as a Republican—for I understand that the Republicans of the House by unanimous vote adopted this rule in caucus, and that the caucus was properly called, although I did not know it—I can not, as I say, consistently vote against the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. DE ARMOND rose.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Pennsylvania yield to the gentleman from Missouri?

Mr. DALZELL. How much time does the gentleman want?

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if I can not be recognized in my own right as a Member of the House of Representatives? [Applause on the Democratic side.]

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Missouri is informed by the Chair that the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. DALZELL] is entitled to the floor, and at this time the gentleman from Pennsylvania is privileged to yield if the gentleman sees proper to do so and the gentleman from Missouri sees proper to accept the time.

Mr. DALZELL. I am willing to yield to the gentleman. How much time does the gentleman desire?

Mr. DE ARMOND. About twenty minutes.

Mr. DALZELL. Oh, I can not yield that much.

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker, I would be glad—

Mr. DALZELL. I yield ten minutes to the gentleman.

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker, I would be glad to ask the gentleman from Pennsylvania to inform me and also inform the House what is there pressing that he can not spare that much time now?

Mr. DALZELL. I will yield the gentleman twenty minutes. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker, I listened a very short time ago, as I have no doubt the other Members of the House did, to the carefully worded and blandly sounding address from the Speaker-elect, in which, among other things, the Members of the House and the people of the country were told that here in this House is lodged the power of the people to make known their wishes and to execute their will. It sounded well; it was expressed handsomely. But a few minutes have elapsed since that performance, and now here, with time so precious that only a few minutes can be conceded to anybody to express an opinion upon the subject, it is proposed to tie and shackle the House by rules about which a good many know nothing and about which a good many others know a great deal. Talk about the people having here representation and about here the will and wish of the American people being executed, when here, at once, out of hand, blindly, without consideration, without reading the code of rules, designed, cunningly designed, to put the Representatives in this House, the membership of it, and the mighty interests of the people of this nation in the sacred keeping of the Speaker! What is the occasion for hurry? You are determined to adopt these rules. Why not at least have the grace and decency to permit a little discussion and give a little time for their consideration; for the work predestined, cut and dried, to be put through? Why not? [Applause on the Democratic side.] The greatest reform needed in this land is required here. The crying abuse of all abuses, against which the citizenship of this Republic protests and long has protested in vain, is the subversion of the rights of the individual Members of this body. [Applause on the Democratic side.] Here we stand under the Constitution as equals, each one of us commissioned by the sovereign citizens of his district to come here and represent that district and its interests, and as a patriotic American citizen, a Member of the Congress of the United States, to represent and to voice as best he can the interests and rights and promote as far as he can the welfare of the whole people of these United States, and yet the first formal act is to throttle and gag and bind the membership of this House—to make it subservient in fact, whether in deed some of you realize it or not, to the autocratic will of the Speaker.

Now, we have no rules. Here is a moment, here is a brief space of time—would to God it could be prolonged and enlarged—when there is some semblance of freedom, when there is something like equality upon this floor, and yet even in this hour within which this Congress has been assembled and organized, the period of sixty minutes, a man can not speak in opposition to this legislative outrage except by permission. He can not be recognized in his own right as an American citizen. He can not be recognized as a chosen Representative, charged with the duties and freighted with the responsibility of his position, unless it be with the permission of some other Member, who possesses no rights superior to his own. [Applause on the Democratic side.] For one, representing an independent constituency of unshackled men, men neither upon whose limbs nor spirits are the gyves of tyranny, I avail myself of even this poor permission, which I ought not to be forced to ask, and but for the necessities of the situation would not accept, to express my protest. I know it is vain now and here, but I have faith in the God who rules over the nation, and I have faith and confidence in the patriotism and manhood of American citizenship upon which to base the hope that the time is not far distant when such protests as this will cease to be necessary because the evils against which they are raised will have passed away. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

Why the hurry for the adoption of this code of rules? Why do you wish to enslave yourselves and enslave us? Are you proposing to go back to your constituencies, as manly as they are independent American citizens, and when they ask you why you did not do this or why you suffered the doing of that, do you propose, as cowards and cravens, to defend yourselves and apologize upon the mere, miserable, mean pretext that these rules hampered you and controlled you and that you could not do anything else?

You can do something now. Now is the time of times for the American Representative to stand up proudly in the power and glory of his high office. [Applause on the Democratic side.] It is a high office. Upon the average, we represent here, or ought to be permitted to represent, if the Constitution were enforced and observed, and would then represent, on the average, about 200,000 American citizens. Not one, not an iota of the rights of the citizenship which I represent, of the citizenship of any district in this Union, North or South, East or West, Republican or Democratic, shall be cut away or frittered away or bargained away, in what amounts in effect, however you may gloss it and veneer it, to absolute surrender into abject slavery, without at least a feeble protest from me.

Why not refer the rules which you propose to a committee? Why not give opportunity for the consideration of proposed amendments? Why hasten pell-mell into slavery? You will find these bonds galling. You will find the time coming when your manhood may long to break the shackles for the time being and intuitively assert itself when chafing under the bonds which you put upon it. Behold the spectacle! There are no rules here at all. And yet in this membership of three hundred and ninety-one, the gentleman from Pennsylvania, the right hand of the Speaker—the man standing next to him upon the Committee on Rules, echoing his every wish, voicing his every sentiment, and voting to carry out his every purpose—is recognized here upon this floor, and no man is to be given permission even to say a solitary word in criticism or in opposition unless the gentleman from Pennsylvania kindly and generously concedes to him a little modicum of time! [Applause on the Democratic side.] I know well that if the gentleman from Pennsylvania pursues the course which I presume he will pursue, and which has been followed heretofore, he will avail himself of the opportunity to move the previous question, cutting off all debate.

But for that I would scorn, under these circumstances and at this stage of proceedings, to accept a minute or second of time within his control, but would insist upon my right to time as a Representative from the Sixth district of Missouri. [Applause on the Democratic side.] I know full well that the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. DALZELL] before an hour shall have expired may be expected to move the previous question, and if we are to judge of what is to happen by what has happened repeatedly in the House, a partisan majority behind him will sustain that resolution to cut off debate and come to an immediate vote, so that the man who says anything—and it must be said hurriedly and under adverse circumstances—must say it by reason of the gracious permission accorded to him under the kind ministrations of the Speaker by the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. DALZELL].

If there were not another man in the House to oppose this procedure, as to its form and its substance, I would do it. I would glory in doing it alone. I would be proud to do it at some length in my own time, and really as an unshackled Representative of a people entirely free themselves in heart and soul from the touch and tinge and debasement of slavery. [Applause on the Democratic side.] As it is, I avail myself of the poor opportunity that is so graciously extended.

Adopt your rules, if you will, but note this, and have warning of it now, that there are some here who will not be tamely tied, and who in the days to come, who in the legislative history of this Congress, will avail themselves, as occasion may offer—and it is not to offer very frequently—of the little opportunity that it is beyond your power to take from them, and that we shall appeal beyond this tyrannous decision, beyond this surrender, this humiliating surrender, of the rights of the American Representative. We shall appeal over your head, shall appeal through your rules, shall appeal in the mighty right of the American Representative of the mighty sovereign, the American citizen. And we shall hope that the time is not far distant when those who are chosen to represent free men in the greatest legislative body, as we frequently hear, upon the face of the earth shall stand forth panoplied in the glory of a noble trust, possessed of the powers of the real Representative, not by permission of anybody, responsible alone to his God above him and to his constituents behind him. [Loud applause on the Democratic side.]

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I can not conceive of anything more unnecessary than a discussion of the rules that are now offered for adoption at this day. They have been discussed time and again in this House and elsewhere—in the magazines, in the newspapers—and they have been vindicated by their results. Prior to the Fifty-first Congress the rules of the House of Representatives had remained for a great number of years unchanged. These, our rules, are an evolution. Rule after rule has gone upon the book in answer to some present emergency. The rules that prevailed prior to the Fifty-first Congress were so constructed as to place all the power of the House in the hands of the minority. In that Congress, which was presided over by that great Speaker and illustrious statesman, Thomas B. Reed [loud applause on the Republican side], the rules were amended by a committee consisting of William McKinley, JOSEPH G. CANNON, and J. G. Carlisle. [Applause.] Of the rules then on the book but a very few met with any change. The only substantial changes that were made were those with respect to counting a quorum, which placed in the hands of the majority—where it belongs—the power of this body, those that related to the order of business, and that rule which provided that 100 should constitute a quorum in the Committee of the Whole. With these exceptions the rules that you are asked to adopt are substantially the rules that have been in force, with their additions from time to time, since the foundation of the Government.

Now, these rules are not only the rules of the Fifty-ninth Congress; they are not only the rules of the Fifty-first Congress, both of which were Republican Congresses, but they are substantially the rules of the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses—Democratic Congresses, presided over by a Democratic Speaker. [Applause on the Republican side.]

So far as the power of the Committee on Rules is concerned, it received its impetus and the power it now possesses under the régime of your Democratic Speaker, Mr. Charles Crisp. So far as the power of the Speaker is concerned, it is to-day as it has been for a hundred years. It has been his power for a hundred years to recognize or to fail to give recognition. It has been his power for a hundred years to appoint the committees of this House; and it is nothing new now to find some Member who has been disappointed in his recognition by the Speaker for the purpose of passing some measure that the Speaker thought ought not to pass to get up on this floor and denounce the power of the Speaker. I do not know what took place between the gentleman from Wisconsin and the gentleman who is now unable to give his side of the story, because he has passed beyond.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman permit an interruption?

Mr. DALZELL. I will.

Mr. COOPER of Wisconsin. I took that matter over to the Senate, had it put in in the Senate, and it became law. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

Mr. DALZELL. I am not caring where you put it. I am calling the attention of the House now to the fact that the gentleman from Wisconsin has a grievance which arose out of an interview the other side of which it is absolutely impossible for this House at this day to know, because the other party to the interview has passed beyond; and it is not an unusual thing for a man with a grievance to get up on the floor of this House and denounce the power of the Speaker—that power which, as I say, has existed as it exists to-day for a hundred years.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this side of the House, the majority, is charged with the responsibility for legislation. This side, thus charged with the responsibility, has the right to prescribe the rules under which legislation shall be had. It is no secret at all that in the caucus of the Republican Members of the House these rules were directed to be adopted, as they have been in every Congress since the Fifty-first; and as I said a few moments ago, in the outset, they are vindicated and their wisdom has been proved by some of the best legislation in the history of the Republic now on the statute books, put there by virtue of these rules, and some of the best legislation in the future is likely to be put on the statute books by virtue of these same rules. Lest my friend from Missouri should be disappointed, I now ask the previous question. [Laughter.]

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Pennsylvania for a moment withhold the demand for the previous question?

Mr. DALZELL. Certainly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to add that the rules as yet have not been adopted, and we are proceeding under general parliamentary usage, the gentleman from Pennsylvania having the floor. When the gentleman from Pennsylvania yields the floor, if he does yield it, then any other gentleman is entitled to the floor. Holding the floor, the gentleman indicated that he would yield twenty minutes to the gentleman from Missouri. The Chair took that to be in substance notice to the gentleman from Missouri that, yielding to him, he still holds the floor, that he might move the previous question on resuming the floor. That is the effect, as the Chair understands it, of the gentleman yielding to the gentleman from Wisconsin, and also to the gentleman from Missouri, under general parliamentary usages.

Now, the Chair may be indulged one moment further. The Chair, the Speaker of the House, is a Member of the House the same as any other Member. Unanimous consent being asked, it would not be granted should any Member object. The usage in many Congresses in the past was that the Chair would submit the request to the House; and it is an open secret to gentlemen who have served in some of the former Congresses that the Chair, keeping track of the business of the House as the Speaker and at the same time exercising his right as a Member, would often indicate to some Member upon the floor, by messenger or otherwise, that he desired an objection to be made. The Chair has seen that frequently occur under both Democratic and Republican Speakers. The present occupant of the chair, ever since he has occupied that position, has thought the better way and the more manly and fairer way was to exercise his right as a Member to object to a request for unanimous consent. Therefore the practice has grown up that gentlemen see the Speaker, and if he has objections then he invariably says that it is useless to recognize the Member for unanimous consent, because if nobody else objected the Chair in his capacity as a Member of the House would object. [Applause on the Republican side.]

Under the rules, if adopted, the Chair begs to call the attention of the gentlemen to the fact that the right of a Member to be recognized can in most instances not be denied by the Chair. There are a large number of motions which are privileged in their nature, and a question of privilege, first, and a privileged motion, second, halts all business before the House, and the Chair has no discretion. Gentlemen who have had service in the House will recollect that those motions are many.

The Chair desires to state again that the Speaker of the House is the servant of the House, and it is in the power of the House of Representatives as a question of the highest privilege to at any time elect a successor to any Member of that body who may be holding this place. One further observation. When special orders or special rules are suggested, as they have been under all Administrations, Democratic and Republican, at least for twenty years, those orders or rules can not be vitalized until a majority of the House has adopted them under the Constitution and the rules of the House.

The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Pennsylvania that the previous question be ordered.

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker, I would submit a parliamentary inquiry, if I may be indulged.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DE ARMOND. That is, whether or not the Speaker will permit the House to act upon propositions and dispose of measures when a majority of the House requests him to do so.

The SPEAKER. When the majority acts under the Constitution and the laws no Speaker would dare to fail to obey the will of the majority. [Applause on the Republican side.]

Mr. DE ARMOND. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. DE ARMOND. The gentleman rises for the purpose of getting an answer to his parliamentary inquiry, and for the purpose of putting another question.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman is not answered, it is the misfortune of the Chair or the misfortune of the peculiar state of mind of the gentleman. The gentleman from Pennsylvania moves the previous question.

Mr. DE ARMOND. But, Mr. Speaker, I would like to submit this parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DE ARMOND. I wish to state that it is not the misfortune of any peculiar state of mind on the part of the gentleman from Missouri who submitted the inquiry. In times past a majority have made a request for the consideration of this or that measure, and consideration has been denied. What I am asking now is whether or not if a majority of the membership of this House requests the Speaker to permit action upon a particular matter, he will or will not do it—and it is not necessary to refer to the Constitution in making the answer. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

The SPEAKER. The Chair, so far as the Chair knows or has any knowledge, desires to say to the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. DE ARMOND] that in the knowledge and belief of the Chair the gentleman is mistaken. The will of the majority always, for thirty-four years to my knowledge, has been law unto the Speaker.

Mr. WILLIAMS rose.

Mr. SHACKLEFORD. Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I insist on the regular order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania demands the previous question.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Pennsylvania will yield for just a parliamentary inquiry—

Mr. DALZELL. I can not yield any further, Mr. Speaker. I demand the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I think we better have the yeas and nays. I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken, and there were—yeas 199, nays 164, answering "present" 3, not voting 22, as follows:

On motion of Mr. DALZELL, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. PARKINSON, its reading clerk, announced that the Senate had passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Secretary inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate is assembled and that the Senate is ready to proceed to business.

Also:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of two Senators be appointed to join such committee as may be appointed by the House of Representatives to wait upon the President of the United States and inform him that a quorum of each House is assembled and that Congress is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

And that in compliance with the foregoing the Vice-President had appointed as said committee Mr. ALLISON and Mr. TELLER.

Also:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard, with profound sorrow, of the death of the Hon. JOHN T. MORGAN, late a Senator from the State of Alabama.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate a copy of these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

Also:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard, with deep regret, of the death of the Hon. EDMUND W. PETTUS, late a Senator from the State of Alabama.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate a copy of these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased Senators whose deaths have just been announced, the Senate do now adjourn.

HOUR OF MEETING.

Mr. NEEDHAM. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from California offers the resolution which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That until otherwise ordered the daily hour of meeting of the House of Representatives shall be 12 o'clock meridian.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

PRINTING OF DIGEST AND MANUAL.

Mr. PERKINS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That there be printed 2,000 copies of the Digest and Manual of the rules and practice of the House of Representatives for the first session of the Sixtieth Congress, the same to be bound and distributed under the direction of the Speaker and Clerk of the House.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

DRAWING OF SEATS.

Mr. SHERMAN and Mr. HEPBURN rose.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Iowa rise?

Mr. HEPBURN. I rose for the purpose of introducing a resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman from Iowa probably his resolution is not in order until after the seats are drawn. The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Iowa later. The gentleman from New York offers the resolution which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the House do now proceed to draw seats for Members and Delegates of the present Congress, in pursuance of Rule XXXII, and when names of Members absent from the city or on account of sickness are called that seats be selected by their colleagues.

Mr. OLMSTED. Mr. Speaker, pending the consideration of that resolution, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. BINGHAM], the father of the House; the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. KEIFER], an ex-Speaker of the House; the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WILLIAMS], the minority leader, and, upon our side, the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE] be permitted to select their seats before any drawing is made.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from New York [Mr. SHERMAN] yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

Mr. SHERMAN. I do for that purpose.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. OLMSTED] asks unanimous consent that the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. BINGHAM], the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE], the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. KEIFER], and the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WILLIAMS] be permitted to select their seats before the names of the Members are called. Is there objection?

Mr. CLAYTON. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to offer any objection, but there is a very old Member of the House in the point of service on this side, who, I think, ought to be embraced in that motion. There has been a hiatus in his service, however. He was here many years ago, and I would like the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. OLMSTED] to include in that list the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SHERWOOD].

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

Mr. OLMSTED. I have no objection to that.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The question was taken, and the resolution was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WILLIAMS], the leader of the minority, if we might agree upon the first aisle beyond the center aisle as the divisional line between the two parties? [Cries of "No!"]

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, what the gentleman from New York [Mr. SHERMAN] now submits to me was agreed to by that side in the Fifty-second Congress, because the Democratic majority was so immense, and by this side in the last Congress, because the Republican majority was so immense. But with those exceptions it has never been agreed to. The Republican majority in the last Congress, one hundred and thirty-odd, has been cut down to 55 in this Congress. The Democratic membership of this Congress will, with the addition of two Members, precisely fill the space from the center aisle back to the aisle second from the wall yonder, leaving what is called the "strip" upon that side. It has been the universal custom of the House when that was the case, or anything approximating it, for the majority party after filling all that side of the central aisle to take the "strip" over there. As I have stated, we lack two men of having enough to fill up to that aisle, and when you take for the Republican membership up to the second aisle over yonder, they will occupy all of it and will occupy two spaces on this side. For the reason submitted I can not agree to that, and I suggest that the Democrats take the seats beginning at the center aisle and going back to the aisle second from the wall on that side.

Mr. SHERMAN. I assume that the gentleman voices the sentiment of his party, so I will not make the suggestion in the shape of a formal request.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the rule.
The Clerk read as follows:

DRAWING OF SEATS.

1. At the commencement of each Congress, immediately after the Members and Delegates are sworn in, the Clerk shall place in a box, prepared for that purpose, a number of small balls, of marble or other material, equal to the number of Members and Delegates, which balls shall be consecutively numbered and thoroughly intermingled, and at such hour as shall be fixed by the House for that purpose, by the hands of a page, draw said balls one by one from the box and announce the number as it is drawn, upon which announcement the Member or Delegate whose name on a numbered alphabetical list shall correspond with the number on the ball shall advance and choose his seat for the term for which he is elected.

2. Before said drawing shall commence each seat shall be vacated and so remain until selected under this rule, and any seat having been selected shall be deemed forfeited if left unoccupied before the call of the roll is finished; and whenever the seats of Members and Delegates shall have been drawn, no proposition for a second drawing shall be in order during that Congress.

The drawing of seats was proceeded with and concluded.

JOHN T. CHANCEY.

Mr. HEPBURN. Mr. Speaker, I have been directed by the Republican Members of this House to offer the following resolution, and I ask unanimous consent that it may be now considered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SHERMAN). The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That John T. Chancey be continued in the service of the House in his present position during the Sixtieth Congress.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

Mr. TAWNEY rose.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Minnesota rise?

Mr. TAWNEY. To make a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TAWNEY. Does this carry the same compensation that the gentleman is now receiving?

Mr. HEPBURN. I presume it does. I would state that it is the exact language of the resolution under which the gentleman now serves.

Mr. MANN. The compensation, as the gentleman from Illinois, my colleague, remarked, ought to be increased.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The question was taken, and the resolution was agreed to.

SPECIAL EMPLOYEES.

Mr. CLAYTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the resolution which I will ask to have read to the House.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That during the Sixtieth Congress and until the organization of the Sixty-first Congress Robt. E. Cowart, Jr., be authorized to act as special employee of the House of Representatives, and receive compensation at the rate of $1,500 per annum; that Felton B. Knight and Jos. J. Sinnott be authorized to act as special messengers of the House of Representatives, each to receive a compensation at the rate of $1,400 per annum, and that Paul D. Porter be authorized to act as special chief page of the House of Representatives, at the rate of $900 per annum and $700 additional for services as pair clerk.

Said officers shall at all times be under the direction and control of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and they shall be subject to removal for cause at any time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the resolution? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none.

The question was taken, and the resolution was adopted.

DEATH OF SENATORS MORGAN AND PETTUS.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, it is my painful duty to announce the death of the two distinguished Senators of the United States from Alabama, the Hon. JOHN TYLER MORGAN and the Hon. EDMUND WINSTON PETTUS. On a later day I shall ask the House to set aside a day in which suitable encomiums on the great work of these eminent statesmen may be paid. I now desire to offer the following resolutions, which I send to the Clerk's desk, and move their adoption.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. JOHN TYLER MORGAN and Hon. EDMUND WINSTON PETTUS, Senators of the United States from the State of Alabama.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate, and send a copy thereof to the families of the deceased.

The question was taken, and the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

DEATH OF HON. CAMPBELL SLEMP.

Mr. JONES of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, it is with the deepest regret that I announce the death of my colleague, the Hon. CAMPBELL SLEMP, which occurred very suddenly at his home in Big Stone Gap on the morning of October the 13th last. At some future time I shall ask the House to set apart a day when Members may be afforded the opportunity to pay tribute to his life, character, and public services.

DEATH OF HON. GEORGE W. SMITH.

Mr. RODENBERG. Mr. Speaker, it is with a feeling of sincere sorrow and regret I announce to the House the death of my colleague, the Hon. GEORGE W. SMITH, which occurred at his home at Murphysboro late on Saturday, November 30. Mr. SMITH had been a Member of this body eighteen years and was just entering upon his tenth successive term when the final summons came. At some future time I shall ask that a day may be fixed when tribute may be paid to the life, character, and public services of this distinguished son of Illinois.

I now offer the following resolutions, which I ask to have read:

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the House has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. GEORGE W. SMITH, a Representative from the State of Illinois.

Resolved, That a committee of fifteen Members of the House, with such members of the Senate as may be joined, be appointed to attend the funeral.

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House be authorized and directed to take such steps as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of these resolutions, and that the necessary expenses in connection therewith be paid out of the contingent fund of the House.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

The question was taken, and the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there be no objection, the temporary occupant of the chair will announce the committee provided for in the resolution. The Chair hears no objection, and the Clerk will announce the committee.

The Clerk read as follows:

Committee to attend funeral of Hon. George W. Smith, of Illinois.—Mr. LOBIMER, Mr. PRINCE, Mr. CHAPMAN, Mr. MCGAVIN, Mr. FOSTER, Mr. McDERMOTT, Mr. RODENBERG of Illinois, Mr. DAWES of Ohio, Mr. CHANEY of Indiana, Mr. RUCKER of Missouri, Mr. RUSSELL of Missouri, Mr. MAYNARD of Virginia, Mr. STEENBERSON of Minnesota, Mr. BROUSARD of Louisiana, and Mr. LEGARE of South Carolina.

Mr. RODENBERG. Mr. Speaker, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the late Senators MORGAN and PETTUS and Representatives SLEMP and SMITH, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly (at 4 o'clock and 12 minutes p. m.), the House adjourned.

PUBLIC BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, AND MEMORIALS.
