HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, MAY 27, 1940

The House met at 12 o'clock noon and was called to order by the Speaker.

Rev. Patrick N. McDermott, national chaplain, the American Legion, Atlantic, Iowa, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, who art in heaven, sanctify our souls that we may worthily recollect ourselves in Thy divine presence. In Thee we live, move, and have our being. Everywhere Thou art present.

In these critical days, fortify our faith, strengthen our hope, and intensify our love for Thee and our fellow men.

Gratefully we thank Thee for the innumerable blessings showered upon our beloved Nation, founded as it is upon the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

Conscious of our glorious past, we thank Thee for the inspiration that, in season and out of season, has guided our Congress in interpreting Thy divine mind and recognizing Thy divine will. May Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Finally, O heavenly Father, we do thank Thee for the priceless gift of peace that we as a Nation enjoy. Preserve it to the end of time, and enable us to conserve it by our fidelity to Thee and our loyalty to our country.

We are not unmindful of the warning, "The nation that forgets God shall perish."

In Thy own inscrutable way, send Thy peace into the world that untimely death and wanton destruction may end. In this hour, knowing that Thou will not despise a humble and contrite heart, from the depth of our souls we cry out—"God save America, God bless America." Amen.

The Journal of the proceedings of Friday, May 24, was read and approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Frazier, its legislative clerk, announced that the Senate had passed without amendment bills of the House of the following titles:

H. R. 7543. An act to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to accept real estate granted to the United States by the city of Miami, Fla., and for other purposes; and

H. R. 9140. An act to authorize the Secretary of the Navy to acquire land at Key West, Fla.

The message also announced that the Senate had passed, with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested, a bill of the House of the following title:

H. R. 7615. An act authorizing the Bradenton Co., its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain, and operate a toll bridge across Sarasota Pass, county of Manatee, State of Florida.

The message also announced that the Senate insists upon its amendments to the bill (H. R. 9243) entitled "An act to provide for the promotion of promotion-list officers of the Army after specified years of service in grade, and for other purposes," disagreed to by the House; agrees to the conference asked by the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon; and appoints Mr. SHEPPARD, Mr. REYNOLDS, Mr. THOMAS of Utah, Mr. MINTON, Mr. JOHNSON of Colorado, Mr. AUSTIN, and Mr. BRIDGES to be the conferees on the part of the Senate.

The message also announced that the Senate agrees to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 7737) entitled "An act to amend the Judicial Code by adding a new section thereto, designated as section 266a, to provide for intervention by States in certain cases involving the validity of the exercise of any power by the United States, or any agency thereof, or any officer or employee thereof, and for other purposes."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. JONES of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that on tomorrow after the disposition of business on the Speaker's table and at the conclusion of the legislative program in order for the day, I may be permitted to address the House for 30 minutes.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas [Mr. JONES]?

There was no objection.

THE LATE FREDERICK C. FAIRBANKS

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to proceed for 1 minute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. Ludlow]?

There was no objection.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, an outstanding newspaper publisher and a splendid citizen is being laid to rest this afternoon in beautiful Crown Hill Cemetery, at Indianapolis, where sleep so many of the Nation's illustrious dead. Frederick C. Fairbanks, president of the Indianapolis News Publishing Co., publisher of the Indianapolis News, one of the greatest newspapers of our country, died in Mercy Hospital, San Diego, Calif., last Wednesday night, after a lingering illness, and his body was brought back for burial today amid the scenes of his childhood and his later activities as a lawyer and businessman. He was born in Indianapolis 59 years ago of prerevolutionary stock and was educated at Phillips Exeter Academy and Princeton University, graduating from the latter institution in class of 1903. He inherited unusual legal and business ability from his father, the late Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice president of the United States. The deceased was a man of boundless energy and kind nature, who liked everybody and was liked by everybody. As a publisher he was fair and just in his decisions and his solicitude for the welfare of his employees will endear him forever to their memory. He was courageous to the last degree in attacking political exploitation and corruption wherever it is found, for his conception of the duty of a publisher was that he owes an obligation to the people to do everything he can to keep the springs of public service pure. He had unlimited confidence in democracy and in the righteousness of the people's decisions when based on full information. In his death journalism has lost a shining exemplar and a sound counselor and our city and State have lost a good and useful citizen.

DEFENSE OF MEXICAN BORDER

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 1 minute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. SNYDER]?

There was no objection.

Mr. MAY. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SNYDER. I yield to the gentleman from Kentucky.

Mr. MAY. I would like to know if the gentleman can tell us when we are going to have the Army appropriation bill passed by the Senate considered?

Mr. SNYDER. We have not had any hearings on that yet.

Mr. MAY. There have been considerable hearings on this side heretofore and a large amount of hearings in the Senate.

Mr. SNYDER. It is on the Speaker's desk. I asked for hearings the other day, but the majority of my committee were not ready. We are supposed to start them Wednesday morning.

Mr. Speaker, it is 1,800 miles along the Mexican border. I inquired of the Bureau of Immigration this morning and I find there are about 374 civil-service people down there guarding the Mexican border. I think the United States Army should guard the Mexican border instead of a handful of civil-service people.

I am introducing a bill calling for the erection of certain patrol towers along the Mexican border. I trust it will be called up in the near future and acted upon. Let us put the Army down there to guard that border. Thousands of wolves in sheep's clothing are coming into the United States through Mexico every year and more the last few months than before. We must trap these wolves—trap them and put them to hard work building one of my transcontinental highways across the Nation.

There was no objection.

Mr. SMITH of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and to include an article by Mr. Archibald MacLeish in the Nation.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. SMITH]?

There was no objection.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. DICKSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 20 minutes tomorrow at the conclusion of the special order heretofore granted the gentleman from Texas [Mr. JONES].

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 1 minute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, the main weakness in our national defense is the "fifth column" made up of the "reds" that dominate the C. I. O. Until we break the strangle hold of the C. I. O. on certain agencies of the Government we will continue exposed to great danger. This is no time to play the game of hide-and-seek on questions that involve public safety. Those who are on the side of government by law should be willing to stand up and be counted. An immediate consideration of the Smith amendments to the Wagner Act would afford this opportunity. The Labor Board must be liquidated, for government by the Board is government by the C. I. O., and government by the C. I. O. approaches communism. Nathan Witt and Saposnik in policy-making positions in the C. I. O. are a thousand times more dangerous than a thousand Browders in the field. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

FRITZ JULIUS KUHN

Mr. LELAND M. FORD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 1 minute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. LELAND M. FORD. Mr. Speaker, I have this morning made an affidavit calling for the cancellation of citizenship of Fritz Kuhn. I am writing a letter to the Honorable John T. Cahill, United States district attorney of New York, which reads as follows:

MAY 24, 1940.

HON. JOHN T. CAHILL,

United States District Attorney, New York City.

DEAR SIR: I am enclosing herewith an affidavit which clearly shows the fraudulent procurement of citizenship by Fritz Julius Kuhn, which citizenship was conferred upon him by the United States district court at Detroit, Mich., on the 3d day of December 1934, at which time Kuhn received certificate of naturalization No. 3845908, dated December 3, 1934.

The enclosed affidavit is submitted to you for the purpose of enabling you to perform your duty of instituting suit to cancel the certificate of citizenship and set aside and vacate the judgment fraudulently obtained by him from the said court. Mr. Kuhn at the present time is in Dannemora Penitentiary, New York, which places him within your jurisdiction. I would be pleased to have an acknowledgment of the receipt of this letter, giving me some definite time within which prosecution may be started. Please institute this suit immediately and advise me, as the Congress is likely to adjourn.

For your further information I am also enclosing the report No. 1476 on House Resolution 282, referred to in the affidavit. Among other things in the affidavit, I call your attention to page 15 of the report, which contains the basis for some of the statements of fact in the affidavit.

Very truly yours,

L. M. FORD.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

County of Los Angeles, ss:

LELAND M. FORD, being duly sworn, on his oath says that Fritz Julius Kuhn was naturalized a citizen of the United States by the judge of the United States district court at Detroit, Mich., on the 3d day of December 1934 by fraudulently pretending to comply with the naturalization laws, and as evidence of such citizenship conferred, received certificate of naturalization No. 3845908, dated December 3, 1934; and

That the fraud imposed upon the court and upon the naturalization laws of the United States consisted, in part, in deliberately claiming and asserting under oath, in his petition for citizenship filed in the said United States district court on June 28, 1934, that he was, without any mental reservation made known therein, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the United States;

That, upon such fraudulent representation, and at the hearing of the said petition, the said Fritz Julius Kuhn did then and there in open court give false and perjurious testimony in support of such claim in that the said Fritz Julius Kuhn, with deliberate intent fraudulently to deceive the court and before the court granted his said petition, did solemnly declare and swear falsely on oath in open court and in the presence of the court, that he would support and defend the Constitution of the United States, and that he did absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance and fidelity to every prince, potentate, state, and sovereignty, and particularly by name to the foreign state and sovereignty of which he was at that time a citizen or subject; that he would support, defend, and bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and that he took this obligation freely and without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; whereupon the judge of said court did thereupon grant the said petition and confer United States citizenship upon the said Fritz Julius Kuhn;

That the said Fritz Julius Kuhn did not, in fact, renounce his allegiance to the state of Germany which he swore it was his intention so to do in his said petition for citizenship hereinbefore referred to, and which in open court he swore then to be doing in fact at the hearing upon his said petition;

That, by the sworn testimony of himself and other witnesses before the special committee of the House of Representatives of the United States on un-American activities, as stated in their report No. 1476, of January 3, 1940, the said Fritz Julius Kuhn has been unequivocally shown not to have renounced his allegiance to the state of Germany which he swore in his said petition for citizenship hereinbefore referred to it was his intention to do, and which, in open court at the hearing upon his said petition, he swore he was then in fact renouncing;

That the said report No. 1476 establishes, among other things, that the said Fritz Julius Kuhn, referred to therein as Fritz Kuhn, is the fuhrer or directing head of an alien organization in the United States known as the German-American Bund, and that this said bund receives its inspiration, program, and direction from the Government of Germany through the various propaganda organizations which have been set up in the United States by the Government of Germany, and which function under the control and supervision of the Nazi Ministry of Propaganda and Enlightenment of the German Government, as more fully set forth in testimony before the said special committee, and thereby conclusively established; that the said bund is widespread in the United States, and that it has taken its orders from the said Fritz Julius Kuhn as its national fuhrer; that his said activities have been against the good order and happiness of the United States, and against the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and against the Constitution of the United States to which the said Fritz Julius Kuhn did fraudulently swear in open court he would bear true faith and allegiance, and would support and defend against all enemies foreign and domestic of the United States;

That more and fuller details of the fraudulent acts of the said Fritz Julius Kuhn against the laws and good order of the United States are set forth in the said report No. 1476; and it is believed that more amplified testimony is in the files of the said special committee more fully showing by the acts of the said Fritz Julius Kuhn that he is, in fact, and always has been an enemy of the United States; and

That for the reasons set forth herein there is shown good cause for the appropriate United States district attorney to perform the duty imposed upon him by the naturalization law to institute proceedings to set aside the judgment of admission to citizenship fraudulently obtained by the said Fritz Julius Kuhn, and to cancel the said certificate of citizenship issued to the said Fritz Julius Kuhn, in the court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens in the judicial district in which the said Fritz Julius Kuhn is now residing;

That the Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly ruled that the naturalization laws must be construed strictly, and in favor of the United States as against the alien.

LELAND M. FORD.

Mr. JENNINGS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and include therein an address by the Honorable Howard H. Baker.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Tennessee?

There was no objection.

Mr. SPRINGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and include therein a brief editorial appearing in the Washington Evening Star.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and include therein an editorial from the New York Journal of Commerce.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

HON. ROSS A. COLLINS

Mr. POWERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my remarks at this point in the RECORD and include therein an article by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, which appeared in the Washington Times-Herald on Saturday, May 25. This article pertains to the father of mechanization of the United States Army, the distinguished, capable, and able gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. COLLINS].

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

The article referred to follows:

WASHINGTON DAILY MERRY-GO-ROUND

(By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen)

During 20 somnolent years after the World War, the United States Army drilled its men, policed its posts, played polo, counted out Army property from socks to asbcans, ran its post exchanges, and performed all the other humdrum, prosaic duties of a peacetime Army, unworried over the modern military trends which were to make Europe a shambles.

During most of those 20 years, the chief thorn in the side of the Army was a cherub-faced, rotund Representative from Mississippi who refused to let the Army go to sleep. His name was Ross COLLINS, and with disconcerting consistency he kept taunting the Army with the fact that what it needed was more tanks, armored cars, airplanes, and fewer horses.

"Have you investigated the number of horses in the Air Corps?" Representative COLLINS once asked Gen. John F. Preston, inspector general of the Army.

"No, sir," replied General Preston, who was testifying before Representative COLLINS' appropriations subcommittee. "I know at San Antonio they did have some for polo and exercise."

"For the officers or for the womenfolk?" inquired COLLINS.

"No, sir; for the officers."

"For airplane duty?" persisted COLLINS.

"For airplane duty," General Preston replied.

"They must be flying steeds," grunted the Representative.

WATCHES ARMY MONEY

ROSS COLLINS is in a strategic position. For years he has sat on the Subcommittee on Military Appropriations, where he could watch every item spent in national defense, and help to shape the policy of the Army.

And the Army came to hate him. They called him a pacifist. They tried to contribute to his defeat back home in Mississippi.

They hated him because he was always trying to goad them into adopting the type of weapons with which Hitler is now sweeping Europe. And today the Army, a little belatedly, admits that Ross COLLINS was right.

When asked why he began to urge a mechanized Army 10 years ago, when the general staff was none too enthusiastic, COLLINS drawled:

"Look up and down Pennsylvania Avenue. Do you see any horses and buggies? No. People are all traveling in motor cars. Then why should we handicap the Army by putting them back in the horse and buggy days?"

"Or take khaki cloth. We all know that it will not stop machine-gun bullets. So why expose our soldiers to them? Hitler doesn't. He manufactures armor for his men—armor in the form of tanks.

"We are the greatest scientific and industrial Nation in the world, but we have applied our science and industry to everything except our military defense."

M'ARTHUR'S "CHINESE ARMY"

Representative COLLINS blames Gen. Douglas MacArthur for handicapping the mechanization of the Army, and pays tribute to the present Chief of Staff, Gen. George Marshall, as an ardent advocate of modern military equipment.

"MacArthur wanted a Chinese army," says COLLINS; "a lot of men and low fire power. That's exactly the reverse of the Germans. They had a small army under the Versailles Treaty, and they had to make every man count for a lot. So they specialized in modern weapons. Each man had to get the maximum fire power out of his weapons. That is why Germany developed the airplane, the tank, and the armored car to such perfection.

"That's the secret of our national defense today. We don't need a lot of foot soldiers, as MacArthur would have. It is harmful to mobilize them without equipment. It is far easier to train men than to equip them, and if you train them with outmoded weapons you have to train them all over again.

"What our Army needs is less gold braid and trolley wire on its uniforms and more overalls. Put every man into overalls and you'll have a lot better defense than if he has stripes on his pants."

OLD OFFICERS

Another complaint Representative COLLINS makes against the Army is that it is run by old men. Many of its officers, he says, are wartime clerks frozen into the Army during the World War, who remain because they couldn't make a living elsewhere.

During the Hoover administration, COLLINS inserted in the Army appropriation a cut of 2,000 inefficient and old officers from the rolls. A howl went up from the Army such as has not been heard since Admiral Cockburn burned the Capitol in 1814. Eventually the provision was defeated in the Senate, and there has been no tampering with the Army's outmoded promotion system until this year, when a provision for the retirement of officers over 60 seems sure to pass Congress.

Today the Army has come around to consider ROSS COLLINS a real friend. But he still is critical, and recently held the 1941 War Department appropriation bill up to ridicule because out of about a billion dollars only $100,000,000, or one-tenth, is to be spent for equipment—and COLLINS considers equipment far more important than manpower.

ARMY HOSTESSES

However, the Army will never forget those pungent days when the sarcastic gentleman from Mississippi was trying to rouse it from its lethargy, and when he cross-examined Maj. Gen. C. H. Bridges regarding Army hostesses:

"I know you want ladies around the post," said COLLINS. "These schools have a way of putting uniforms on the best-looking girls and making honorary colonels of them. It's part of a plan to play up sex appeal. You are putting women into the Army every chance you get."

Or again, when examining the Chief of the Air Corps as to why aviators needed bands, the gentleman from Mississippi said:

"I suppose you take your bands up in the air with you—an instrument in every plane—to play heavenly music to the angels."

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the Appendix of the RECORD and include therein a speech delivered by Gov. Arthur H. James, Governor of the great State of Pennsylvania, before the Republican State Central Committee of Minnesota, at St. Paul, on Wednesday evening, May 22, 1940.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

Mr. REED of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and include therein an editorial.

Mrs. ROGERS of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the RECORD and include therein two letters from Lewis J. Murphy, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. GIFFORD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for one-half minute, and to revise and extend my remarks.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIFFORD. Mr. Speaker, I listened to the fireside chat of the President last evening. To assume the mannerism and I trust the dialect of the late Calvin Coolidge, "Everything is all right." [Laughter and applause.]

Sudden and amazing change of doctrine among our great writers, teachers, and molders of public opinion. Consternation reigns because of their own tragic, misleading, and fateful utterances. Archibald MacLeish leads the way in assuming his own share of culpability. His Mea Culpa is timely and praiseworthy. Would that those in high places would acknowledge error. We would accept such confessions as only an indication that they had become wiser, and it would bring confidence to the future.

How devastating to theoretical dogma is even a little of practical demonstration. The one word "Hitler" is sufficient to cause theorists and pacifists to plead in terror that the Nation be now aroused from the lethargy and smugness they themselves have brought about. Complete isolationists are nearly bereft of followers. America is awakened to the stark realities of a war-torn world. Our national safety can no longer be taken for granted, even though we determine to take no part in present hostilities abroad. The Monroe Doctrine is an accepted vital national policy. Its potential dangers to our peace can no longer be ignored. We have declared protection to the entire Western Hemisphere, and there is now no retreat. Our people must be prepared to sacrifice and contend not only to preserve our safety and liberties but those of many other nations of far different attitudes of general policy.

The greatest responsibility rests upon the Congress. It may be necessary not only to support but to curb the executive branch of the Government. Politics in matters of preparedness are dismissed. Politics in matters of watchful, pitiless criticism of inefficiency, failure, and attempts to make of national defense an issue for the continuation in power of a discredited management must be accentuated. In other nations, inefficiency, or loss of public confidence can be displaced in a few hours. Years might pass before such remedy could be applied in these United States. Great domestic issues are to be fought on the political battleground during the next few months. National defense must not becloud those issues. All are in agreement on that question. Generalship is important. It is the great issue even on the battlefields of France at the gravest moment of actual fighting. Let not the slogan of "swapping horses in the middle of the stream" be heard in the campaign. It has lost its persuasive jingle.

We now need great business and industrial generals in charge. Our present political leader never has liked or trusted such leaders. He was determined to be their master. He has persistently branded them with a variety of opprobrious epithets. His own lack of business sagacity has been amply demonstrated for 7 long years. Will he now take advice and suggestion? Surely he may be expected to turn upon his "economic royalists" in a rage at any moment, unless he can greatly change his temperamental nature. Masses of people may still be enthralled by his extraordinary personality and fireside confidences. Businessmen, however, will be suspicious. Their wounds are far from healed. Can they carry on with any degree of confidence?

Seven years of constant ebullitions of hatred from his noisy satellites have instilled a permanent distrust of any olive branch, no matter how flowered and perfumed for the occasion. A change of leadership is imperative.

It would be heartening and allay fear if glaring failures were acknowledged. The huge public debt brought about by constant so-called social experimentations, often proven worse than worthless, is the monument erected to this administration.

After 7 years of experimentation in relief, another huge relief bill has been voted, with no attempt to remedy its glaring inefficiencies in method and results. The culpabilities recited in volumes of testimony are ignored and even "chuckled at" because of political advantages gained thereby.

Financial policies, other than the accumulation of this mountainous debt, such as our gold and silver accumulations, are steadily pursued in the full knowledge of ultimate disaster. Bureaucratic powers—not steadily, but in "bounding leaps"—are encircling the whole gamut of business activity. Huge business organizations may be mischievous, but huge government is deadly to initiative and the providing of employment. It is now not a far cry to the encirclement of the citizen in his free conduct of his mode of living. Government propaganda influences his thought and actions. Soon he will submit his cherished liberties to Government rules and regulations.

Seemingly it is hoped that these vast and costly experiments will be forgotten under the whipped-up hysteria of national defense. Calm voices may yet be heard in the land. A halt in the mad spending orgy may yet be demanded.

A great democratic leader, who for years has urged these billions for relief, has now refused to advocate or vote favorably. No one has been so loyal or has so ably pleaded for billions of blank checks for his President. He deserves high praise for his courage in demanding a return to sane finance.

But the Congress is unable to check itself from indulging in the mad sprees of spending begun under his former leadership. I venture to predict that his great influence will regain to him a sane following as the people awake to the realities of this highly dangerous financial situation.

Certificates of governmental indebtedness have been distributed and even eagerly purchased in such quantities that "haunting fear" is always present lest they be thrown on the market at a time when they may not be readily purchased. If they fall but a few points, the results will be disastrous. Some recall that 4½-percent bonds fell to almost 80 points in the twenties. Bonds carrying low rates of interest—with a debt of nearly fifty billions foisted on our Nation—may not always appeal to a people anxious to obtain a reasonable return on their savings. They must be warned of this danger. Perhaps they will then demand a sane program under an efficient administration.

Mr. HAWKS. What is the difference between "on hand" and "on order"? I would like to know. The President used these expressions in his fireside chat last night, but he did not give us any details. I have an idea that the figures will be most illuminating, and probably not so favorable to the last 7 years. [Applause.]

Mr. SABATH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 1 minute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. SABATH. Mr. Speaker, just a few moments ago the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. Cox], instead of directing attention to the real "fifth column" danger in this country, once again unjustly assails and attacks the Congress of Industrial Organizations as being behind the communistic movement supposed to be abroad in the land. Ignoring the fact that the entire country fully realizes that it is Hitler's Nazi propagandists that really constitute the so-called "fifth column," the gentleman, and some others, continue to misrepresent legitimate American labor organizations and very evidently for the purpose, if that shall be possible, of not only destroying the confidence of the American people in but of actually destroying the organizations themselves.

The C. I. O. and the other great labor organizations are not communistic controlled. They are officered and controlled by the rank and file of American workers. They have time and again in the past proved their 100-percent Americanism and 100-percent loyalty to American institutions and, make no mistake about it, will do so again as often as the opportunity offers and as often as their country needs them.

I do not contend that the C. I. O. or any other American labor organization has never made a mistake, as, for instance, when a couple of years ago the C. I. O. in desperation instituted the sit-down strike for the purpose of improving the conditions of their lowest-paid members in the auto industry. But when the courts held the sit-down strike to be illegal, they immediately stopped, and for nearly 2 years now neither the gentleman from Georgia nor anyone else has heard of sit-down strikes. Nor do I wish to be understood as saying that not a single member of organized labor has been untouched by the communistic folly. But I do assert that for every Communist follower in this country, you will find many, many times that number of undercover agents and propagandists getting in their poison for Hitler's Nazi and bund organizations. Mr. Speaker, beyond doubt they are the real and actual menace to the Stars and Stripes within our borders. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Georgia and others who are against the C. I. O. and, as I honestly believe, to all other bona fide labor organizations, leave no stone unturned to make it appear that the C. I. O. is communistic.

Within the last year and a half numerous irresponsible men have appeared before the Dies committee for the express purpose of bolstering up the not only unsupported but false charge that the C. I. O. and other labor bodies are controlled by Communists. In nearly every case these witnesses against legitimate labor organizations have been subsequently revealed as either having criminal records or as men who have been kicked out of labor organizations for disloyalty or crookedness, or are racketeers or ex-convicts. Only in yesterday morning's paper I read that William C. McCuiston, who had been a star witness before the Dies committee last fall, attempted to hang himself in an eleventh precinct cell here in Washington. McCuiston had testified before the Dies committee that the National Maritime Union, C. I. O. affiliate, was dominated by Communists, and that its president, Joseph Curran, was a Communist. This witness had been indicted for murder in New Orleans last March. When picked up day before yesterday for drunkenness he was boasting that he was wanted for murder.

This man is a fair sample of the type of men induced to go before the Dies committee to question the patriotism and Americanism of legitimate labor organizations. Every day I am receiving letters from members of organized labor who one and all indignantly protest and deny there is the slightest truth in the charge that the C. I. O. and other labor organizations are communistically controlled. I have here a letter from Mr. Robert E. Renfrew, who signs himself "just a seaman, but a damn good American." His letter is similar to many others. He says, in part:

Being a member of the National Maritime Union I am of course bitter at the attempt of the Dies committee to smear us as Communists. We definitely are not. We are a rank-and-file organization, and the officers are elected by we, the membership. If they are no good, we just kick them out. Joe Curran is our president. He is one of the finest leaders in the country. He is no Communist or traitor to his country. He hates, as we all hate, the filthy name of communism. He is the first American-born and the youngest maritime leader in our country. He was called before the Dies committee and abused. The committee had with it as our critics several former N. M. U. officials whom we, the membership, had kicked out of the union because of their gross dishonesty.

Mr. Speaker, the effort to besmirch labor leaders and labor organizations with the charge of questionable loyalty has been going on ever since there have been any labor organizations. I well recollect that as long as 40 years ago the Republicans and a few paid representatives of the vested interests were in the habit of charging that all who advocated the cause of organized labor were Socialists—yes, Anarchists—just as today they are charged with being Communists.

Those who point to organized labor as the menace to our liberties and our national security are barking up the wrong tree. It is to the Nazis who form the "fifth column" to whom they should point with scorn and just indignation. Not only do these disciples of the bloodthirsty Hitler attempt to undermine the confidence of the people in their own Government, playing class against class, creed against creed, race against race, religion against religion, seeking to make it appear that even Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Perkins are serving in the ranks of the "fifth column," but they even maintain their own secret courts to try those Hitler subversives who may not work hard enough for nazi-ism. These courts are maintained for the purpose of maintaining discipline and encouragement to the Nazi workers in America, and they are distinctly un-American, if not actually treasonable, and as such should be prosecuted and exterminated. It is to be regretted that gentlemen here should be so completely blind to nazi-ism, fascism, and Silver Shirts, the un-Christian front and all those subversive and disloyal organizations that are cooperating with them.

In last Thursday's Washington Times-Herald, I read the following from Hal Burton, that newspaper's correspondent in Mexico:

The "fifth column" is closing ranks in Mexico, facing north toward the American border. Germany has 200 busy agents at work—more than in World War days, when Carranza maintained a dubious "neutrality."

These are not Communists that the above correspondent is talking about; they are followers, agents, and representatives of Adolf Hitler.

Surely no one who is the least familiar with my record in this body will charge that I have any sympathy or respect for any misguided Communist. Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to point out and drive home is the fact that the real danger is the constant and insidious propaganda carried on by men like Father Coughlin, the leaders of the Silver Shirts, and other similar poison injectors exactly as planned, practiced, and carried out in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, and so forth, all under the guise of fighting communism, when in fact there was none such existing in those countries. The Nazi agents in this country are using the same tactics, same propaganda, the same subversive methods of approach, meanwhile keeping up the same continuous attacks on the Jewish race and the Catholics, all for the subtle purpose of cleverly diverting public attention from their own dastardly schemes and treasonable conduct, and making it appear that the real culprits in America are not themselves, but the Communists.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I again appeal to every loyal American citizen, every Member of Congress, not to permit himself to be used by nazi-ism under the pretense they are fighting communism. For the danger that confronts America—and that fact should now be clear to all—is not communism, but nazi-ism and fascism. All the hue and cry we hear about communism is merely a part of the Nazi propaganda, insidiously circulated by the directors of the Nazi conspiracy to fool the people. Although this stands out as clear as day, there are still some among us who dare to think and to say that nazi-ism and fascism are not so bad.

I take it, Mr. Speaker, that no one would accuse Mr. William Randolph Hearst of harboring any love for communism, so that what he states in the following signed article on the subject of fascism and nazi-ism may be accepted by us at its full face value:

In Italy, the Fascist Government has suppressed all freedom of thought and expression, has drilled and dragooned all independent industries and all prosperity out of the country, and has utterly impoverished the people in order to gratify the Government's imperial ambitions and to maintain the nation in arms.

In Germany, not only is all liberty lost, but all modern ideas of freedom of thought and speech and publication ended, but as further evidence of complete return to the Dark Ages, the Nazi Government has revived medieval methods of execution and political processes of wholesale assassination.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. Dies], like the gentleman from Georgia, has great fear of the Communists and their activities and feels that the communistic leaders are using the Nazi forces to aid their cause. Also, like the gentleman from Georgia, he appears to feel that there is great danger in organized labor. This, Mr. Speaker, I repeat, appears to be an effort not to get the real facts about the "fifth column" but to weaken and, if possible, destroy the unfortunately wrangling factions of organized labor. If the leaders of the great labor organizations appreciate what is good for them they will cease making accusations against each other and instead join hands in the interest of America in eliminating the confronting danger of communism, fascism, and nazi-ism.

The view that it is communism rather than nazi-ism that constitutes the big impending danger to America, while on the other hand that organized labor is dangerous to American institutions, is so far afield from the actual fact that I cannot see how the gentleman from Texas could be blind to the true situation. During the past 12 or 15 months twelve or more men have been subpoenaed and testified before the Dies committee. Great stress in the way of advance publicity was laid on the testimony that they were to give in showing communistic activities in the United States. Unfortunately, their testimony proved nothing but complete duds. Without mentioning the names of all who appeared, I name some of those to whom my references apply. In addition to the murder suspect, McCuiston, whom I have already mentioned, there appeared one Duzenberg, and also the great Colonel Krivitsky, who at one time was connected in an official capacity with the Russian Government, and who was authorized to make purchases for his Government in France, but who, instead, pocketed the Russian funds and then came to the United States as a temporary visitor, and who was kept in the United States for a period of 6 months notwithstanding that a warrant of deportation had been issued by the Bureau of Immigration, but who was held here, as I am informed, under a subpoena of the Dies committee and later allowed to depart for another country. There also appeared before the Dies committee one Gitlow, a former Communist, who testified before the committee for 3 days and whose testimony was for naught. The testimony of others, summed up, was much ado about nothing.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Texas was asked to give names of dangerous Communists, but up to date he has failed to name any. On the other hand, I observe in the Con-GRESSIONAL RECORD of May 20, 21, 23, and 24, the names of Nazi leaders and organizations who are actually active in fomenting trouble and discord and building up the "fifth column," but I have as yet failed to notice where any of them have been called as witnesses before the Dies committee. Not only that, but just a few days ago the chairman of the committee informed me of the dangers of Nazi activities in my own city, where he claimed the Nazi organizations had over 20,000 organized and active members. When I asked why the leaders, or at least the most dangerous of them, should not be subpoenaed, he stated that where he might show a front-cloak of evidence, yet he was apprehensive of a decision rendered by a judge in Philadelphia or Baltimore.

I recall that case but, unfortunately, Mr. DIES did not issue subpoenas and without any authority of law seized some papers and documents. If he does not know, I wish to inform him that he has the power of subpoena and under that power he can take any and all papers of any organization or men if any representative of his committee will state that they suspect or believe they are guilty of subversive activities. Why Mr. DIES has not exercised that power in Chicago and elsewhere that I have mentioned, I cannot understand. I feel it is his duty before he obtains any additional funds to serve subpoenas on all these Nazi and subversive organizations and at least take possession of their books, communications, documents, minutes, and so forth, the location of which in Chicago he told me he personally knows. And especially should he do so not only in view of what he stated to me, but in consideration of what the newspapers have quoted about the activities of the Nazi organizations in his State which, according to reports, they are using as a base in building up the "fifth column" in Mexico. Further, I feel the gentleman from Texas should know by this time that the so-called German Bureau of Information, which is guilty of sending out inflammatory literature, is but a blind for the real official Nazi propagandists. In conclusion, why is it that Mr. DIES has made no effort to ascertain the source of these vast sums of money which have been expended for the dissemination of Nazi propaganda in this country.

But, Mr. Speaker, the attacks charging labor organizations with being communistic, I repeat, in conclusion, are made for a purpose, and that is the weakening or the destruction of labor in America. I repeat that I believe that all our labor organizations are wholeheartedly American and loyal and devoted to our institutions and will show now and hereafter, as they have heretofore, that they can be trusted.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SABATH. I would, if I had the time.

[Here the gavel fell.]

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. SCHWERT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my remarks in the RECORD and to include therein a speech made by Senator JAMES M. MEAD at the National Association of Postal Supervisors in Buffalo.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. MUNDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my remarks in the RECORD and to include therein an editorial from the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader of South Dakota.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from South Dakota?

There was no objection.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. V

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the joint resolution (H. J. Res. 551) providing for the taking effect of Reorganization Plan No. V and ask unanimous consent that it may be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole, and that the agreement already entered into providing for one-half hour to be controlled by the gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER] and one-half hour by myself be carried out in the consideration of the joint resolution.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

Mr. TABER. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the right to object. I shall not object to the resolution being considered and the debate that has already been agreed upon, but I do think it ought to be considered in the Committee of the Whole instead of the House as in Committee of the Whole. Therefore I object to its being considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of House Joint Resolution 551, providing for the taking effect of Reorganization Plan No. V.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Missouri that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of House Joint Resolution 551.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of House Joint Resolution 551, with Mr. LEAVY in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

By unanimous consent, at the request of the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. COCHRAN], the first reading of the joint resolution was dispensed with.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 10 minutes.

When the President submitted Reorganization Plan No. V, which provides for the transfer of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization from the Department of Labor to the Department of Justice, he called attention to the existing law, which requires that 60 days must elapse before a reorganization order can go into effect, and suggested that the Congress provide that his plan go into effect immediately. That is the purpose of this joint resolution.

The Secretary of Labor, Mme. Perkins, approves the transfer, going so far as to say it has been too long delayed.

When Mr. Lewis Douglas was Director of the Budget, I recommended to Mr. Douglas and the President that the Immigration Bureau and the Naturalization Bureau be put together. That suggestion was acted upon favorably. I likewise suggested then that it should be transferred to the Department of Justice. That suggestion was not accepted. The gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. WARREN] has, time and again, urged the President to place this organization in the Department of Justice, where it properly belongs. The principal duty of the Immigration and Naturalization Service is law enforcement. Recall if you will we have, at this session of Congress, increased the appropriation of the Bureau of Investigation nearly $10,000,000. It has been very busy investigating subversive activities. Aliens are mixed up in these activities and there can be coordination between the two agencies.

Practically all of the duties of the Naturalization Service must be of a judicial nature. Years ago any court could issue naturalization papers but there was such abuse of our laws it has now been placed solely in the hands of the Federal judiciary, where the applicant must appear in person.

If ever there was justification for transferring a Government activity from one department to another it will be found in this order. There are only a few, if any Members, opposed to the transfer. They cannot submit a sound argument for their views.

The Immigration Service likewise has a great deal of business before the Federal courts, especially those cases where deportation warrants have been issued and appeals have been taken to the Federal courts. By placing this organization in the Department of Justice, it will make for better enforcement of our immigration and naturalization laws, which we certainly need in these critical times. This is not a reflection upon the Secretary of Labor. The fact is we have not been liberal enough with our appropriations for border patrol and investigation. Madam Perkins has, to a certain extent, been handicapped by lack of sufficient personnel.

The nine members of your Select Committee on Reorganization are unanimous in favor of this plan.

There is one matter, however, that I desire to call to the attention of the House. When the President submitted this plan it was so worded that it transferred "funds available," including the funds available for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, for the use of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, to the Department of Justice.

The word "available" being included in the plan, and the appropriation bill for 1941 for this Bureau not yet having been sent to the President, we have no assurance that the appropriation for 1941 will be available when the President signs this plan, or 10 days thereafter. The gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER] very properly called attention to this matter, and in order to prevent what might be an embarrassing situation it is my purpose to offer a committee amendment at the end of the resolution which will take care of the situation and likewise will take care of numerous private acts that we have passed, and are on the calendar, which might be considered at a later date, wherein the Secretary of Labor is directed to carry out certain provisions of the immigration law.

Mr. Chairman, I can conceive of no sound argument that can be advanced against this proposal. If I knew one I would address myself to it at the present time. I therefore close and ask the gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER] to use some of his time. [Applause.]

Mr. TABER. Mr. Chairman, this resolution calls for the transfer of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization from the Department of Labor to the Department of Justice. Taking this activity away from the Secretary of Labor, Madam Perkins, is something that should have been done many years ago. As to the kind of set-up that we are going to have afterward I have this to say:

Many of us are going to vote for this resolution today, not because we believe it is the right thing to do from the standpoint of a logical set-up of the Government, because it manifestly is not. The Immigration Service is an administrative agency and should be kept so. The Department of Justice is a law-enforcement agency and should be kept so, but we are going to vote for this reorganization plan because the President has not the patriotism or the courage to remove the Secretary of Labor, a notorious incompetent and one who for the last 7 years has steadily and steadfastly failed and refused to enforce the immigration law and continuously admitted and kept here those who were not entitled to stay.

It is the hope of those who are voting for the resolution that Mr. Jackson, the Attorney General, will do a better job; that he will either force Mr. Houghteling, the Commissioner of Immigration, to about-face on the position that he has followed under Mme. Perkins or will substitute for him an aggressive American.

America today is up against a serious proposition. Everywhere throughout this country subversive groups are rampant. Last Tuesday night in New York City a tremendous Communist gathering was held without interference by the public authorities and the propaganda there was absolutely subversive and anti-American. Similar gatherings are being held in many places throughout the country. Small groups of subversive organizations are at work steadily, and the President has not yet made a move to get rid of those in Government positions who are interested in subversive activities. Amongst others, I refer to Smith, Madden, and Saposin in the Labor Board.

The President has called for unity. Let him take the first step. Let him propose getting rid of the vicious laws that hamper industry. Let him propose establishing efficiency in Government departments. Let him show that he means what he says when he asks for unity.

Let us have a Secretary of War and of the Navy and a chief in the other departments and agencies of executive experience and forcefulness. Such action will carry America through the crisis. It cannot be done if we are to extend the maladministration and incompetence that has characterized the Roosevelt administration. Let Mr. Roosevelt show the way to unity.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York [Mr. DICKSTEIN].

Mr. DICKSTEIN. Mr. Chairman, I do not agree with my colleague from New York [Mr. TABER] on his criticism of Commissioner Houghteling. The Commissioner has had a difficult job on his hands, and my good friend from New York does not seem to realize the valuable services rendered by him. Commissioner James Houghteling is an outstanding American, whose integrity and patriotism could not and should not be questioned. I shall support this reorganization plan, although I do not believe that it will solve the problem we are facing. There is an alien hysteria in this country today. The alien is being blamed for everything that is happening all over the world. The Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization assists an alien from the time he enters the country and tries to assimilate that alien and prepare him for citizenship, and I do not see how that work is going to fit in with the work of the Department of Justice. I do not see how they are going to get around this particular phase of the service. I do not think that this phase of immigration and naturalization is law enforcement at all, requiring a transfer to the Department of Justice. This does not mean that I do not have enough faith in Mr. Jackson, whom I believe to be one of the ablest and most capable Attorneys General we have had.

I might have agreed with a plan to transfer to the Department of Justice the divisions in the Labor Department handling warrants for deportation, based on smuggling, or anything else involving a crime which the Attorney General may want to prosecute, but they should have left and continued the present status of Naturalization and Immigration Divisions in the Department of Labor.

Mr. STEFAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DICKSTEIN. I yield for a brief question.

Mr. STEFAN. Will this transfer to the Department of Justice affect the employees of the Department of Labor located in foreign countries looking over the immigrants abroad?

Mr. DICKSTEIN. It transfers the whole Bureau.

Mr. STEFAN. What will become of the employees of the Bureau?

Mr. DICKSTEIN. They will all be merged into the Department of Justice. What will happen to able, conscientious men like Edward J. Shaughnessy, present Deputy Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and many of his colleagues who have worked there for years and are experts on immigration, naturalization, and deportation matters, I do not know. I only hope, for the sake of the service and the country, that they will keep Mr. Shaughnessy, who has served his department faithfully, and upon whose advice my committee and I have grown accustomed to rely in our legislative work, and that they will keep him an executive position where he will be able to continue his good work.

Mr. STEFAN. I mean these foreign-service men who are employed in Berlin, Vienna, Prague, and other countries working on immigration applications.

Mr. DICKSTEIN. They will be transferred with the Bureau, they will be transferred under this reorganization plan.

It is my best judgment that this matter was too quickly decided on. There were no proper hearings before the committee. There were some suggestions that I and other members of my committee might have been able to give, but we did not have an opportunity. Let me at this point say to the Membership of the House that the criticism leveled against Secretary Perkins was wholly unjustified. She has made an excellent Secretary of Labor who has handled the difficult problems which no other Secretary had to contend with in a fair manner and in accordance with the law.

In view of the sentiment now prevailing in this House, however, I feel that nothing I can say will change the stand the House has taken on this reorganization plan.

Mr. TABER. Mr. Chairman, I yield 10 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MASON].

Mr. MASON. Mr. Chairman, the resolution before us for action is nothing more nor less than a resolution to divorce Mme. Perkins from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization. It has for its sole purpose the separation of Mme. Perkins from that Bureau. Nine out of every ten Members of this House will vote for this resolution in order to remove the Bureau from under the influence and mismanagement of Mme. Perkins, not because they feel the Bureau should be placed in the Department of Justice.

The move to transfer some 2,500 to 3,000 well-trained, high-grade employees of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization to another Department in order to get it away from Mme. Perkins reminds me of the old story about Mahomet and the mountain, because it proposes to move the mountain rather than to move Mahomet, the mountain in this case being the Bureau with its employees, its millions of case records, its files, and its whole equipment, and Mahomet in this case being Mme. Perkins. Rather a foolish thing to do, do you not think, when the desired result could much more readily be brought about by removing one person.

Now, if it is a good thing, a desirable thing, to divorce Mme. Perkins from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, why would it not be a good thing to divorce Mme. Perkins from the Department of Labor, a department that has to do with carrying out our labor laws, that has to do with establishing labor policies, a department that can show and has shown partiality as between labor organizations? Why not divorce Mme. Perkins from the entire Labor Department as an essential defense preparation measure? I will leave that thought for the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. HOFFMAN] to elaborate upon, because he knows much more about that angle of this matter than I do.

This move to transfer the Bureau under the plea that it is needed in order to tighten up the enforcement of the law in connection with spies and undesirable aliens is a move to fool the American people as to the basic need for this change. It gives a wrong impression of the situation. The trouble is nothing that a transfer will cure or can cure. There is nothing wrong with the Bureau; the whole trouble is with the head of the Department of Labor. When the Bureau is transferred to the Department of Justice, as it will be by almost a unanimous vote of this House, will it be any better managed? I doubt it. The record of the Department of Justice during the past few years has not been so good. The Justice Department has just begun action against Communist agents in this country who have violated the laws in connection with fraudulent passports, although evidence of these matters has been available for a long time.

The new Attorney General has lately quashed the indictment against some 15 or more "fifth column" agents in Detroit, an indictment secured under orders from Attorney General Murphy, and secured by Murphy's representative. The indictments were ordered quashed by Jackson as one of his first moves after taking charge of the Department of Justice, for two reasons, namely:

First. That the statute under which the indictments were secured against these "fifth column" agents was an old statute. It forbids illegal recruiting on American soil for service on foreign soil, and fixes a penalty for the same. According to Jackson's position in this matter, the Ten Commandments, because of age, should no longer be applicable to present-day situations.

Second. That no public injury had been done by the violation of this law against recruiting and so the indictments should be quashed.

If contributing to the murder of American boys in Spain, by getting them to enlist under the false notion that they were to fight for democratic principles in Spain is no public injury, then what is it? If in Robert Jackson's opinion, no public injury has been done when hundreds of American boys lost their lives in Spain as a result of the activities of these "fifth column" agents, then he should listen to the heart-breaking testimony of American mothers who testified before our committee as to the methods used to entice their boys to go to Spain. No, the record of the Department of Justice is not any too good in the matter of enforcing the law against "fifth column" agents.

Last Thursday I gave this House three examples of coddling, sympathizing with, and protecting Communists by high government officials. Today, in connection with this resolution I offer another concrete example of the same thing in connection with our National Youth Administration.

My attention has recently been called to the fact that the President intends to have the National Youth Administration play an important role in the current defense program. The White House has pointed out that the National Youth Administration, being a Nation-wide organization, and operating vocational schools and machine shops throughout the country, will lend itself admirably to the training of mechanics and skilled craftsmen who are so urgently needed in a number of vital defense industries.

I heartily endorse any program that has for its purpose the furthering of our defense needs. However, I am also deeply concerned to insure having such a program free from any possibility of sabotage or "fifth column" influence. My experience as a member of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities has impressed me with the necessity of eternal vigilance against the inroads of subversive forces—even in Government departments.

I am advised that the records of our committee disclose that Maurice Mandell, a high-ranking official of the National Youth Administration, was, and there is no reason to doubt that he is now, a member of the Communist Party.

The record discloses that Maurice Mandell was recently appointed chief of the Projects Administration, in charge of all projects throughout the United States for the National Youth Administration. Prior to this appointment Mr. Mandell was an executive of the National Youth Administration in California. Charges were filed against Mr. Mandell in California accusing him of being a member of the Communist Party, and the matter was referred to a board composed of private citizens for investigation and report. The board sent the results of the investigation to Mr. Aubrey Williams with the recommendation that there be further investigation. I do not know what further action the officials of the National Youth Administration took in this matter except that they subsequently appointed Mr. Mandell to a higher position in the organization. The committee has on file sworn statements to the effect that Mr. Mandell sat in closed meetings of the Communist Party. [Applause.]

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
Mr. MASON. I yield.

Mr. RANKIN. Where would the gentleman suggest we put the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization?

Mr. MASON. I would not suggest moving it at all. I would suggest moving Mohammed rather than the mountain. Do not forget in this connection that you are not divorcing Mme. Perkins from the Department of Labor, a department that will have a great deal to do with the fixing of labor policies and the enforcement of labor laws during these coming trying times. But I shall leave that to the gentleman from Michigan to discuss, for he is better versed on it than I.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MASON. I yield to the gentleman from Mississippi.

Mr. RANKIN. Does the gentleman think this ought to be under the Department of Labor regardless of who may be Secretary of Labor?

Mr. MASON. No. I say it naturally and normally belongs in the Department of Labor, and our problem is to secure a competent administrator for the Department of Labor rather than move the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization. It is easier done that way and that is the logical way to do it.

Mr. RANKIN. I am just as anxious as the gentleman from Illinois, who is now addressing the House, to get rid of these "fifth column" and undesirable aliens, but I am wondering whether or not the Department of Labor is the proper department to handle this agency?

Mr. MASON. The Department of Labor is the proper and natural department to handle this Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization.

Mr. RANKIN. Why?

Mr. MASON. The enforcement of the law belongs in the Department of Justice. When violations of the law occur the Department of Justice should have jurisdiction.

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from New York [Mrs. O'DAY].

Mrs. O'DAY. Mr. Chairman, I am very much astonished at the attack of my colleague the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MASON], who has been of such great value on the committee, on Miss Perkins, our Secretary of Labor. If he had a longer record with the committee, if he knew what had gone on in the committee under the regime of the previous Secretary of Labor, he would recognize what a vast improvement there has been in that Department. I am afraid that my good friend is overcome by the hysteria which now seems to be sweeping over the country. I am astonished that a man of his ability and courage should be overcome by that. There is no doubt at all that his attack on Miss Perkins, which is utterly without basis, carries over to the Department of Justice. If he feels it is not to be trusted, I would almost put him in the same category with those who are against our Government. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may desire to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. RABAUT].

Mr. RABAUT. Mr. Chairman, during the last month, in company with my colleague from California, Mr. CARTER, I visited El Paso, Tex., for the express purpose of securing some first-hand knowledge regarding the effectiveness of our border patrol on the Mexican border and to look into several matters connected with the illegal entry of Mexicans into the United States. When I tell you gentlemen that we are spending well over $500,000 per year in maintaining, in our various Federal penal institutions, Mexicans who have been apprehended and convicted on a charge of being in this country illegally, it will be seen that it is a problem that should have the serious study and consideration of every Member of this House.

I have come to the realization, as a result of the investigations I have made of this immigration problem, that until we contrive some means of registering all noncitizens in our country and prescribe requirements, such as fingerprinting, that will be effective in establishing positive identification of all such noncitizens, we are never going to successfully cope with the problem of properly enforcing our immigration laws.

Therefore I want to take this occasion to commend the statement made by the Attorney General a few days ago in which he recognized the impelling need for just such a form of identification of the aliens in our country as I have suggested. If we are to ferret out those people in the United States who are accepting the benefits and liberties that flow from their residence here and at the same time are working surreptitiously and treasonably to undermine our democratic spirit and institutions, we must have some way of making positive identification or registration of them. Such a requirement is as much in the interest of the law-abiding, patriotic aliens as it is against the interest of those who are endeavoring to destroy, by insidious means, our democratic ideals and processes.

I am confident that the transfer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to the Department of Justice will permit of a much closer liaison between those engaged in apprehending aliens in this country illegally and those charged with the duty of prosecuting such lawbreakers, and I am likewise confident that the House will see fit to approve of this projected transfer. [Applause.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Nebraska [Mr. STEFAN].

Mr. STEFAN. Mr. Chairman, I desire to ask a question of the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. COCHRAN]. The morning Washington Daily News today carries a long story indicating some opposition to this transfer, and in one paragraph it is stated:

When President Roosevelt announced the transfer of this agency at a White House press conference, it was made known it was to coordinate the Immigration Bureau more closely with the work of the F. B. I.

Now, is the F. B. I. going to administer this division in the Department of Justice, or is Mr. Biddle going to have a separate division in the Department of Justice and operate as a separate organization? I am merely asking for information.

Mr. COCHRAN. If the gentleman will read the President's message, he will not find a line to justify that statement. It will be closely related to the Department of Justice as a whole. Of course, the F. B. I., as well as every other branch of the Department of Justice, will be expected to cooperate with a division of the Department of Justice; but this is going to be a separate division in the Department of Justice, and not under the control of the F. B. I. Of that you can be assured. F. B. I. is merely an enforcement agency, not an administrative agency, as the gentleman from Nebraska well knows. It can be of great value in assisting to enforce our immigration laws, and immigration and naturalization officers can likewise be of assistance to the F. B. I. That is what we need in this Government, more teamwork.

Mr. TABER. Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. HOFFMAN].

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Chairman, some of us will heartily support this portion of the reorganization plan, for the reason that it is quite evident that the Labor Department is altogether too sympathetic with subversive groups, more especially with the Communists and their west-coast leader, Harry Bridges. A careful reading of the Landis report shows that Bridges is a Communist in thought and deed, though he denies the name. That, however, is in keeping with the Communist program which all too often in its dealings in this country professes to have in mind a desirable objective but works destruction.

Mme. Perkins has not only befriended Bridges who, through her efforts, has been able to remain in this country, but she is the woman who gave encouragement to the sit-down strikes—the sit-down strikes in 1937, where we had the seizure of private property by armed mobs. Those strikes were carried on in violation of the laws of the State. The strikers drove honest men and women from their jobs; they denied to American citizens by the thousands their civil liberties; they destroyed personal and real property to such an extent that their acts under Michigan statutes were felonies, yet Mme. Perkins stated that she was not sure that the sit-down strike was a violation of our law.

Mme. Perkins for several years has been one of the greatest contributors to subversive influences, and now after the President has frightened the whole Nation by his address delivered before Congress—even though he took the opposite course in his fireside chat of last night and told us that "all is well," having entered upon a program of preparedness, there is no reason why we should leave with Mme. Perkins or her Department any further opportunity to sabotage our national-defense program.

It is because of her maladministration of the labor laws and the administration of the N. L. R. B. that industrial life in this country now finds itself at the mercy, so he thinks, of a John L. Lewis and those disloyal agents who take shelter in his organization.

It is time that we strip the Secretary of Labor of all opportunity to do further harm. It is time, if we are patriotic and if we wish to defend America, that we abolish the Labor Board and other subversive boards. It is time that we clip the wings of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee, which has done so much to get us into a condition industrially where we would be an easy prey to a "fifth column." It is time that we awaken to the viciousness and the opportunity for disloyalty contained in the so-called La Follette-Thomas bill, S. 1970, and stamp it for what it is, a tool of those who mean to disrupt our industrial system.

If I understood the President's fireside chat of last night correctly, he stated in substance that the wage-hour law was to be maintained as it is; that there was to be no retreat from the N. L. R. B. rulings nor from any of the activities of the N. L. R. B.; the pensions and social-benefit payments were to be increased in both number and amount.

Well, that may be all very well for a political campaign speech, for a speech through which the President hopes to gather the old-age pension vote and the labor vote; but it was a deceptive statement, unworthy of the Chief Executive of a Nation such as ours, unworthy of a President who so recently frightened our whole people by his threat of danger from a foreign aggressor.

The President knows just as well as you and I that $1 will only purchase $1 worth of labor, material, or manufactured products. He knows that the dollar which is spent for an increase in wages, for the payment of an old-age pension, an unemployment benefit, for a public building, cannot be spent for aircraft or other necessary preparedness.

The President told us a week ago that our national existence, and he spoke in all seriousness, depended upon immediate rearmament. He told us that we needed 50,000 planes. He knows that we cannot manufacture them within a reasonable time. He knows that a preparedness program, such as he advocated and said was absolutely necessary, if we are to continue as a nation, can only be achieved by the utmost self-sacrifice on the part of everyone. He knows that it is folly, yes, criminal negligence, to talk about a 30-, a 40-, a 42-, a 44-, or a 48-hour week if we are to meet the competition of a foreign nation where the people work 60 hours, 7 days of the week. It is all very well, and we agree with him that there should be no war millionaires; neither should there be profiteering, racketeering union officials. No one questions the loyalty of the American workingman; everyone knows of the disloyalty of the racketeering labor officials. They are just as common, just as criminal, as are the industrial leaders who would benefit from our misfortune.

The time will come, if the President's statement of the situation is correct—the time may now be here—when everyone must lay aside his desire for profit, his desire for a better home, for the more abundant life, and make the fight for national existence.

This administration can contribute greatly toward a preparedness program by freeing industry, business, the whole body of our citizens, from the restrictive laws, boards, commissions, and Federal agencies which have placed us, as a Nation, whether intentionally or not, at the mercy of the so-called "fifth column."

Weeks ago on the floor it was pointed out to Congress how one of the agencies was holding up the Navy Department in its program for national defense, and we know that in many other factories the same thing happened, and is now possible.

If this Congress adjourns and goes home without putting on the statute books the remedial legislation which will enable industry to produce the things which we must have, and I mean now, aircraft, antiaircraft guns, ordnance, tanks, motor transportation, in fact, munitions of all kinds; if we go home and leave on the books laws which prevent that production, when the emergency arises, then on our shoulders rests the responsibility for the unpreparedness which will enable our enemies to overcome us; upon our shoulders will rest the responsibility, if the aggressor comes to our shores, as the President said he could so easily come, of any defeat, of any disaster which may follow that visit.

Mr. GIFFORD. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HOFFMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts.

Mr. GIFFORD. The gentleman listened to the President's speech last evening. Is it a proper paraphrase that the President distinctly said last evening he was going to keep on spending just the same? Had we not better get out of here just as soon as we can?

Mr. HOFFMAN. The President did tell us that he intended to continue to spend.

An editorial in the Washington Daily News of this noon called attention to that very fact. I quote:

Another point on which the President dwelt was the retaining of all the New Deal's social gains—old-age security, unemployment insurance, help to the underprivileged, conservation of resources, subsidies to agriculture and housing. The emergency, he said, is not such as to require yielding on any of these. Indeed, he hopes to enlarge on such blessings. We wish we could feel as sanguine as Mr. Roosevelt does. But it is a fact that all these things cost money the Government hasn't got. And the imperative new weapons of defense will cost more money the Government hasn't got.

The President, in our opinion, deserves 100-percent support on his assertion that there must be "no new group of war millionaires * * * growing rich and fat in an emergency of blood and slaughter and human suffering." But we wish the President had gone further and had advocated taking the one step necessary to prevent the war profiteering he denounces—and, incidentally, the one step necessary to preserve some of the social gains he cherishes and to obtain our imperative defense needs—namely, taxation.

The Gallup poll reports that 76 percent of the people favor special defense taxes now. Unfortunately, neither the President nor Congress appears to believe that our citizens are ready for that inescapable sacrifice. Instead their policy continues to be: More borrowing.

In this election year the President and Congress are still dealing with voters as if they were irresponsible children. They are still pursuing a policy of appeasement.

Raymond Clapper, in his column, expressed the same thought when he wrote:

Yet, in effect, Mr. Roosevelt says there is nothing in our present emergency to interfere with the more abundant life. He says there is nothing that justifies a retreat from any of our social objectives—conservation, assistance to agriculture, housing, and help to the underprivileged. He finds nothing to justify a lowering of standards of employment and even hopes that business may be able to bring wages up. He sees nothing to justify longer hours and he would like to see old-age pensions and unemployment insurance extended to new groups.

It would be a grand thing to see all of that come true. Certainly it does not all have to be sacrificed. But first things come first. Those were first things when we were relatively secure and we ought to have done more in some respects than we did.

But something else comes first now. If it fails, everything goes down. That is defense.

The great trouble with Mr. Roosevelt is that he cannot forget politics. He breathes and he speaks politics; he does not seem to have a single thought which is disassociated from politics. One week he comes before Congress and, with all the fanfare and trappings of a mammoth circus, he does his utmost to frighten Congress and all of our people. He stresses the fact that in a few short weeks or at the most, months, there may be knocking at our doors a foreign navy; that bombing aircraft from Germany, coming by way of the southern hemisphere, and up through Mexico and the offshore islands, may be blasting Omaha and our interior towns and cities. And, the next week, after Congress has authorized the appropriation of unnamed sums to prepare for national defense, he tells us that we must increase both the number and the amount of pensions, of social benefits; that we must still keep the clamp on the number of hours that men may work in defense of their homes and country; that if they work overtime to defend the families they love, to preserve their own liberties, they must receive wages at the rate of time and a half.

If we on the Republican side, who have criticized the President as being wasteful, permitting the use of relief money to be expended for political purposes, with failing to suppress the activities of the Communists and of the "fifth column" allies, have been sincere—and our charges, the record shows, are justified—we shall, in my judgment, be guilty of shirking responsibility, of a betrayal of our trust, if we refuse as a coordinate branch of this Government to continue here in session, perform the duties which the people have imposed upon us, and leave the President and his New Deal advisers in sole charge of our destiny. If we are competent to serve our country in time of peace; if it is our privilege and our duty to be on the job during the existence of a great depression; if it is necessary that we be here when our national debt is being doubled, then how much more necessary is it that we should be here when national disaster threatens us? How important it is that we show the courage and the will to stay here at our assigned post of duty and do what we can to keep our Nation on an even keel, steering toward that one haven—national preparedness—ready to meet any emergency which may come. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from California [Mr. VOORHIS].

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of this resolution because I believe it is a wise move to be taken at this particular time. But I am deeply concerned at some of the implications that are being attached to it. We are called upon today to be not only devoted and zealous, but more than usually fair and careful about the effect of what we say on an already overwrought American public.

I resent very much any implication that either the Secretary of Labor or the Attorney General is lacking in patriotism or devotion to this country's welfare. I do not think it is even necessary for me to say that, but I cannot help saying it. It is not necessary that we should always agree with one another in order to give the other fellow credit for being as devoted to the national interests as we are. I have not necessarily always agreed with all the policies pursued by every department even in this administration. I believe that in this very difficult time we are now passing through there is one thing more important than anything else, and that is unity of purpose and objective. But I will defend with every bit of energy I have the right of people on the minority side to discuss, and, if they feel called upon, to criticize the methods taken to arrive at that goal. In a like manner I am going to oppose with every bit of energy I have any attempt to employ the deep concern of the people of America over the matter of national defense, both internal and external, for cheap political purposes, or for the purpose of attempting to brand with the brand of a "fifth column" or an un-American activity whole classes and groups of people, when we know very well such a charge is not true. Furthermore, it is important to remember that it is convenient for conservatives to give the impression that the whole "fifth column" danger is from Communists, and it is convenient for progressives to give the impression that the whole "fifth column" danger is from Fascists or Nazis. But only those persons who oppose all foreign-sponsored movements equally, only those who are willing to defend democracy for its own sake will do real service to our Nation.

I should like to say one word about what the gentleman from Michigan said. I have not one single shadow of doubt that if the time should come when it is evidently clear that all the skilled labor of any category one might mention is employed and that it is required for purposes of national defense that more such labor be available be worked, you will find that American labor will be the first to say they are willing to see the hours of labor lengthened to meet such an emergency. Mr. Green has already said almost exactly that. But to take this occasion to break down all labor legislation just because a new excuse can be found is an altogether different matter and one that some of us will resist. [Applause.]

May I also say a word about some other things that have been said previously today. We have heard today the "fifth column" identified completely with a certain labor organization. That is a distortion of the truth. I have come to the place where I do not care whose political support I do or do not have. I am a member of the Dies committee and signed its report, and I am perfectly ready to say on the floor today that I believe the C. I. O. has some housecleaning to do.

I think it is going to do it and I think it is trying to do it. The reason I say this is that I am acquainted with some of the leaders in that organization in California and I know how they feel. But I think it is evidently a political ruse to say that the membership of this organization is to be identified with the "fifth column" movement. That is not true.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. VOORHIS of California. I yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Does the gentleman know of anyone here or anywhere else who claims the individual members of the C. I. O., as a group, are identified with a "fifth column"? I know of no one who makes such a claim.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. I do not believe anybody in his sober moments would say that.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Of course not.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. But I think that implication has been very strong here today in a couple of statements that have been made, and I just want to correct the Record.

Mr. HOFFMAN. It is the leadership, the ones to whom the gentleman referred a moment ago—for instance, John Brophy, whom Lewis himself condemned as a Communist.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Does the gentleman think he is?

Mr. HOFFMAN. I am willing to take his actions and Lewis' statement for that, and act on it. Yes; I think he is.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. That leads me to the thing I want most of all to say, and that is this, and it goes for the Dies committee, it goes for the Department of Justice, and it goes for you and me, that in this time our duty is to be not only devoted but very careful to be fair and to deal only with real facts. We are called to work against the real foreign agents. [Applause.] If we do not make a careful distinction between the real foreign agent, the important fellow, on the one hand, and the man who may be struggling against economic difficulty, the man who may have progressive economic ideas but who would die for his country tomorrow if he is asked to do so, then we are going to fail in our effort to protect the country against the real foreign agent.

So I think it is very important that in the consideration of this bill before us we consider the matter on its real merits. We should give credit where it is due, to the efforts that have been made in the past and to the proposal of the President, which is not a reflection on any department or any department head, but is merely a prudent move, to try to meet a situation which all of us know and are glad to have met in the best way we can do it in the United States today. [Applause.]

Mr. GIFFORD. Mr. Chairman, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. REES].

Mr. REES of Kansas. Mr. Chairman, I think it is unfortunate that this House should pass on this proposed legislation without giving it a little more deliberate consideration. I regret, too, that a good many of our Members are going to vote for the transfer of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization to the Department of Justice because of a feeling that the Cabinet member having charge of this Bureau does not, in their opinion, handle the situation satisfactorily. In other words, a good many of our Members will not vote so much upon the merits of this bill but because they feel that this particular Bureau should not remain under the present head of the Department of Labor. I also feel that in giving consideration to the changes to be made in the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization that the Department of State should have been given some consideration. The Department of State is pretty closely allied to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization.

This is a rather critical time during which to transfer this agency. We are transferring some 3,000 employees, together with all the records and files, from one Department to the other. As I understand it, there will not be any reorganization within the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, but it is put under a different department head. I have a feeling that if it were possible to do so, the Department of Justice could work with the Department of Labor and take care of the investigations and prosecutions that are required.

I am going to vote for the bill, because—like other Members of the House—I am anxious that the immigration and naturalization laws are properly administered and carried out. This is absolutely necessary under our present times and conditions; and I hope that through the office of the Attorney General this Bureau will be properly and fairly administered.

I want to take this occasion to commend the employees of the Immigration and Naturalization Service who have been there for many years, who have rendered, I think, efficient and distinguished service. I have in mind Mr. Edward J. Shaughnessy, Mr. Thomas B. Shoemaker, and Mr. Henry B. Hazard, together with many others who have rendered efficient service in the duties with which they are charged.

Mr. Chairman, as I said before, I expect to support this measure, hoping that this Bureau will render even more efficient service. I trust, however, that the men and women who have been employed in it for many years, and who have rendered distinguished service in their various divisions, will be permitted to continue, without being hampered in carrying on the work they are now doing.

Mr. TALLE. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. REES of Kansas. I shall be glad to yield to the distinguished gentleman from Iowa.

Mr. TALLE. Mr. Chairman, our immigration laws are selective and restrictive. Because of the fact that they are restrictive they are often referred to as "labor's tariff." Organized labor has shown a deep interest in immigration legislation because through it the supply of labor and the quality of labor can in a measure be controlled. This is the historical reason for placing the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization in the Department of Labor.

As a member of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization I have had occasion to examine numerous individual cases which prove to my satisfaction that certain judicial aspects centering around some of the functions of this Bureau might be an adequate reason for placing it in the Department of Justice.

I may add further that my examination of many individual cases has convinced me that the Bureau might well be placed in the Department of State. Visas, for instance, are issued by this Department. The conditions surrounding the issuance of visas abroad to persons who allege their purpose to be a mere visit in our country should be examined with care. I have found that in numerous instances such temporary visas are extended time upon time, and finally some complication arises which may make the visitor's departure from our country difficult. Then an appeal is made for permanent residence. There is reason to believe that undue advantage is taken by some persons who come to our country allegedly as visitors, but in truth as candidates for permanent residence. It would, therefore, not be illogical nor impractical to place the Bureau in the Department of State.

It matters not a great deal, I believe, which of these three Departments is charged with the responsibility of enforcing our immigration and naturalization laws, provided the laws are actually enforced.

A high type of citizenship is the most valuable asset any country can possess. I trust that whichever Department is assigned the responsibility of enforcing our immigration and naturalization laws will appreciate the full significance of the valuable service it can render to the American people.

The conditions which may prevail in Europe following the present war may be such as to induce numerous persons to seek refuge in the United States. The immigrants who come to our country bring with them their ideas, their background, and their way of life. It will be to the interest of good citizenship in our country to prepare now for that future day, lest the cherished institutions of our Republic be endangered.

Mr. GIFFORD. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of the time to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DIRKSEN].

Mr. DIRKSEN. I believe if I had to write the reorganization plan that is before us today, I could, without unseemingly ego or immodesty, have improved upon the handiwork of the President of the United States.

The Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, after all, is only remotely related to the functions of the Department of Labor. In the course of experience obtained as a member of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization for a period of 4 years, I was rather persuaded that the function of immigration properly should be lodged in the State Department, because there is a coordination of effort in connection with the consulates throughout the whole wide world dealing with the admission of people into the United States, and since it involves a relationship with a citizen of a foreign country it is, more properly speaking, a function of the State Department. The Visa or Passport Division still operates in the State Department and certainly the whole question of exclusion, of admission, and of deportation of aliens, with the exception of the investigatorial features, should have gone to the State Department. Secondly, the Bureau of Naturalization, now incorporated, of course, in this joint service, might properly have gone to the Department of Justice, because all of their work is intimately related to the functions of the Federal courts. The hearings are held and the final admission concluded in a Federal court and there is no logical reason why this function should not go to Justice.

I would have taken the border patrol of some 856 people, under the leadership of a very capable patrolman, Mr. Kelly—and I take off my hat to him—and consolidated it with the customs patrol in the Treasury Department in the interest of economy and efficiency.

And, finally, insofar as those functions are concerned that relate to investigation, that relate to the investigation of those aliens within our borders who have been guilty of crimes, who have made illegal entry into this country, who have subjected themselves to deportation by virtue of offenses committed against our laws, that function might very properly be lodged in the Department of Justice and administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It is to be assumed that this will be a permanent transfer and therefore it should be approached from the standpoint of the strict merits of the proposal rather than from a standpoint of personalities.

It is rather unfortunate that a Cabinet member in 1937 should have delivered a rather casual opinion with respect to sit-down strikes and, subsequently, with respect to pending cases like the Strecker case and the Bridges case, which served to develop a lack of confidence and a lack of faith on the part of many people in this country, and now in an hour of emergency they are afraid that possibly a continuation of those functions in that Department will not be discharged with that diligence and dispatch that might be necessary in a rather emergent hour.

What an amazing thing that an experience in Europe and a very euphemistic phrase should suddenly have stirred the wells of hysteria in this country. If it is properly documented, it was when General Mola, who was a follower of General Franco in the Spanish civil war, was asked how he was proceeding against Madrid, was said to have made this reply: "I have four columns proceeding against Madrid, and I have got one column of sympathizers, a 'fifth column,' on the inside of the city."

Mr. DICKSTEIN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DIRKSEN. I understand probably that is its derivation, but that is neither here nor there. The fact of the matter is that in the light of the experience in Europe, it does constitute a problem for our country, and I do believe that if the investigatorial job had been entrusted to the F. B. I., the passport work to the State Department, the naturalization work to the Department of Justice, and the border patrol to the Treasury for consolidation with the customs patrol, it might have been a bit of a better reorganization plan, and more nearly achieved the objectives which the President may have had in mind.

However, it is here in its present form and requires action. I favor its passage, because I think this is one of those times when something must be done in that particular direction.

However, I do believe that on the basis of the 4 years' experience on the Immigration Committee I should say a kind word for the late lamented Colonel McCormick, who was once in charge of the Bureau as Commissioner, and for Mr. Houghteling, of Chicago, the present Commissioner, who is a fine, resolute, upstanding, loyal, and devoted citizen of this country, and for Edward J. Shaughnessy, with whom it has been my privilege to have an intimate fellowship during a period of years, and who is probably the most capable man in the field of immigration and naturalization that we have in the United States today.

As we proceed to face this reorganization plan, let me say this to you. Our job is only half done. There must be some implementing legislation that must be cautiously and carefully contrived, if we are to achieve the results in the President's mind, and in the minds of those who feel a sense of alarm from within.

One particular instance is the Bridges case, which will serve to illustrate.

Dean Landis, of Harvard Law School, wrote a 150-page opinion on that matter, which is rather interesting, and if you can find time to examine that opinion, it will be worth your while. The law provides for deportation of an alien who is a member of an organization that advocates by force and violence the overthrow of this Government, but may I point out to you that an alien or a citizen can be an affiliate of an organization and receive its help, and emoluments, financial gain, attend their meetings, confer with their leaders, and yet the fact that he is only an affiliate and not a member so often lets him out, when under other circumstances he should have been disciplined or deported.

Let me therefore admonish you that there is another job to be performed in connection with this, and that is implementing legislation to hold up the hands of the administrators. [Applause.]

The task before the Nation today is to proceed in a calm, orderly, effective, and legal way to scrutinize every admission to this country to insure insofar as possible that only desirable immigrants may be admitted. The next task is the effective patrol of our borders to prevent illegal entries and the smuggling of aliens into this country. Insofar as the present patrol admits, this task is being reasonably well performed. The next task is to find those aliens already within our borders who have illegally entered, or who have violated the sufferance of this Nation and to dispose of them if they are undesirable or if no circumstances appear which would warrant their remaining in this country. The final task is one of Americanization as to that group of aliens who are legally here and who should be assimilated into the traditions of this country as quickly as possible in the interest of national unity.

These many functions could have been disposed of by a reorganization between the Labor, State, Justice, and Treasury Departments in such a way as to achieve some economy, a degree of efficiency, and a maximum of enforcement.

However, in the absence of such a plan, the country will generally approve the present proposal and I propose to support it. I do share the hope that at some subsequent date, further attention will be devoted to this matter in the hope that it may be perfected in the interest of great efficiency and economy.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I yield the remainder of my time to the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. WARREN. Mr. Chairman, we have had a short field day here dealing more or less with personalities rather than with the merits of this proposal. For the last 2 years I have very strenuously advocated this transfer to the President, and at times I have been so persistent about it that I feared I was annoying him. There is no wave of hysteria sweeping over me at this time that would make me any more enthusiastic for this transfer than I have been ever since the subject of Government reorganization was first broached.

I think we lose sight of the fact that this Bureau, or something similar to it, was formerly under the Treasury Department. We all know that in the last part of the nineteenth century and the beginning of this century immigration was treated more or less as a labor proposition and that there was a strong and determined effort on the part of certain big industries in this country to bring in immigrants on account of the resulting cheap labor that would follow. All one has to do is to look into the functions and duties of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and I think if he will look upon it impartially, he will agree that it is and has always been, certainly in the last 10 or 15 years, a subject for the Department of Justice to handle. In that respect, I disagree with my good friend the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DIRKSEN], who suggests that most of the functions should be under the State Department. It is not out of place for me to say that there is another Member of the House who has given much thought and study to this question during his first term here, and that is the very able and distinguished young gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. GORE], who wrote a splendid brief on the subject. I happen to know that many months ago the President had the advantage of the efforts of the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. GORE] and his research, for it was forwarded to him.

Mr. Chairman, I am not interested in personalities, whatever.

Mrs. NORTON. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?
Mr. WARREN. Yes.

Mrs. NORTON. Is it not a fact that Miss Perkins herself asked to have this transfer made in order to coordinate the activities in the Department of Justice?

Mr. WARREN. It is my understanding that she did request this, and, of course, the present Secretary of Labor will not always hold that position, and the present Attorney General will not always hold his position. It is just a question of where this particular Bureau should be.

Mr. Chairman, we are approaching this reorganization differently from any one that has been handled heretofore. Rather than wait for inaction, we are affirmatively coming here with a resolution and asking that the House approve it, so that it may go into effect 10 days after its passage. I think that is all to say about it except that for the first time we have a unanimous committee. When I can agree on a reorganization proposal with my good friend the gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER], my good friend the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. GIFFORD], and my good friend the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DIRKSEN], for all of whom I have great respect and esteem, then I am firmly fortified in my own position. I agree that proposals that we have had in the past did not contain by a long shot all that I would like to have seen in them.

There were some omissions, some glaring omissions. There were also some proposals that did not particularly appeal to me. But that is now all a thing of the past, and the committee comes in here today with a unanimous report. I am sure that what actuated this committee in bringing in the report was not the fact that someone happened to hold a particular Cabinet position, but our belief that the functions of this Bureau properly belonged under the Department of Justice. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from North Carolina has expired. All time has expired. The Clerk will read.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, etc., That the provisions of Reorganization Plan No. V, submitted to the Congress on May 22, 1940, shall take effect on the 10th day after the date of enactment of this joint resolution, notwithstanding the provisions of the Reorganization Act of 1939.

REAL AMERICANISM

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. Chairman, I am highly in favor of this resolution approving the President's transfer of the Bureau of Immigration to the Department of Justice.

I believe the most dangerous influences we have in this country today are what are known as the "fifth columns." They have been operating here for a long time. They began with the sit-down strikes. I have never doubted that that policy was dictated from Moscow. They did the same thing in France, and today France is paying a bitter penalty for those activities.

I want to call attention to the fact that one of the most cruel and inhuman activities of these "fifth columns" has been with reference to the Negroes of this country. For years the Communists, and probably the Nazis and the Fascists, have been working among the colored people of this Nation trying to stir them up against the white people of the country, and particularly in the South. Just the other day we had the most astonishing manifestation of it I have ever known when the so-called Negro Congress met here in Washington and declared that if we got into a war with Communist Russia they would not fight for the United States. Some of the better Negroes got up and walked out. One said, "You are trying to add to our handicap of being black the additional handicap of being 'red.'" He knew what it meant. The sensible, law-abiding Negroes of the South know what it means.

These so-called Afro-Americans are being used by the Communists—this "fifth column" element that is trying to stir up trouble between the Negroes and the white people, especially in the Southern States. They are simply making trouble for the law-abiding Negroes as well as the whites in the Southern States.

I am in favor of this measure, and I believe the Attorney General will enforce this law. I am tired of hearing Americanism preached to me by somebody who cannot even speak the English language and whose logic nobody can understand. [Applause.]

The time has come to wipe out these "fifth columns." The old-line Americans are becoming aroused. They are going to say to them not only "Let us hear you pronounce the word 'shibboleth'" but they are going to want to see the nailprints in their hands when they come pretending to be the saviors of real Americanism. Americanism is going to be preached by real Americans from now on and in language and terms no one can misunderstand.

I hope there will not be a vote against this resolution. [Applause.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that all debate on this section and all amendments thereto close in 6 minutes.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

Mr. DICKSTEIN. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to the pro forma amendment.

Mr. Chairman, on April 8, 1937, the Rules Committee voted out a resolution of mine to continue the investigation of "fifth column" activities, yet the very gentlemen who today preach so fervently in favor of getting after the "fifth column" are the ones who stood on the floor and voted against my resolution. Only 36 Members voted for the investigation. The proposition was ridiculed on the floor. We were asked if we expected to find Nazis under the bed, Fascists in the closet, and Communists in the cellar.

In 1934 I called the attention of this House to the presence of a "fifth column" and the spreading of subversive doctrines in this country. I begged and pleaded that steps be taken to check it, but no one paid any attention to me at all. I was accused of seeking publicity and got no cooperation from this Congress. Finally, however, because of my persistent appeals to this Congress they created the Dies committee, but because of certain motivating circumstances in this House I was not made a member of it.

You talk about "fifth columns" and subversive activities. What do you know about the "fifth column"? What do you know about communism except to make a lot of speeches? We have the Dies committee that has spent $200,000, yet there exists today almost more Fascist and Nazi and Communist subversive groups in this country of ours than before the Dies committee was created. What are you doing in addition to making a lot of speeches? And now the gentleman from Texas [Mr. DIES] wants another $100,000. Mr. Chairman, is he going to find the "fifth column" with that $100,000? He could not find them with a million dollars unless the Congress passed some law to make it a crime for a person to advocate or seek to destroy our Government.

Oh, Mr. Chairman, all of this legislation is poppycock. This plan was not properly considered. The Committee on Immigration of both the House and the Senate should have been consulted by the Select Committee on Government Reorganization. We could have suggested certain definite plans that would have been for the best interests of the country. But it went through just one, two, three, and now we cannot even debate the question.

I have on my desk information regarding one Nazi camp after another. There are 110 organizations that practice and preach un-Americanism, hatred, and intolerance. What are you doing about them? All you can see is red, red, and more red. I hate Communists just as much as you do, but let us clean them all out, let us not discriminate by picking out just one subversive movement and letting the others go. That this can be done was well demonstrated by the McCormack committee which during its brief period of existence was able to expose the real danger of the Communist, Fascist, and Nazi movements in the United States and was able to suggest laws to cure some of the evils. Unfortunately, only a few of the measures recommended by that committee, including the registration of all foreign agents in this country, were enacted into law.

You talk about registration of aliens. Why not register everybody? Why pick out the aliens? I have no objections to being registered. Let us find out who the enemies of our country are. In all these years that we have been talking and talking, not one piece of constructive legislation has been brought to the floor of the Congress to eradicate and destroy the poison that is penetrating from within. I can give you illustration after illustration if I had the time. I could show you Nazi camps and Fascist camps, generals and majors, operating within the Christian Front, the Christian Mobilizers, the White Camelias, the "white shirts," and the "dirty shirts," but you do nothing about it. All you shout here is "reds." Yes; I agree with you, we ought to get rid of the "reds," but, as I said before, in order to protect our institutions and our form of government we should be just as vigorous in our attack on and prosecution of all subversive groups, whether they are domestic or directed from abroad.

This is no time to quarrel amongst ourselves. We must have unity of action. Having had this matter under consideration for the last 6 years and knowing more about it than the average Member whose attention has just been called to this danger of subversive groups in this country, I am willing to cooperate with any committee or group in Congress that honestly wants cooperation in exposing subversive influences in this country. This is no time for dissension. America must be rid of the poisonous, cancerlike growth of foreign propaganda which has cleverly concealed itself in the pattern of our national life. We all must work together against a common enemy.

The Clerk read as follows:

Sec. 2. Nothing in such plan or this joint resolution shall be construed as having the effect of continuing any agency or function beyond the time when it would have terminated without regard to such plan or this joint resolution or of continuing any function beyond the time when the agency in which it was vested would have terminated without regard to such plan or this joint resolution.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I offer a committee amendment which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The Clerk read as follows:

Committee amendment offered by Mr. COCHRAN: At the end of the resolution insert the following new section:

"Sec. 3. Any appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, made after the taking effect of such reorganization plan, for the use of the Immigration and Naturalization Service or the Department of Labor in the exercise of functions transferred by such plan, shall, for the purposes of section 3 of such plan, be considered as having been made prior to the taking effect of such plan. Any provision, in any act of Congress enacted at the third session of the Seventy-sixth Congress, after the taking effect of such plan, which confers upon the Secretary of Labor any function with respect to the Immigration and Naturalization Service or with respect to the immigration and naturalization laws, shall be construed as having conferred such function upon the Attorney General and not upon the Secretary of Labor."

The Committee amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last word.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that all debate on this amendment close in 10 minutes.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. COCHRAN]?

There was no objection.

Mr. TABER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HOFFMAN. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. TABER. Can the gentleman tell the Committee who has been chairman of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization during all the time that nothing has been done, as called to our attention by the gentleman from New York, who has just spoken?

Mr. HOFFMAN. I am not quite sure, but I think it was the gentleman from New York [Mr. DICKSTEIN], who was chairman of that committee during the time to which he referred. I know he has been chairman of that committee for some time.

Mr. Chairman, my only purpose in speaking at this time is to call the attention of the gentleman from New York [Mr. DICKSTEIN], who gets up here so often when anything is said against the Communists and draws the red herring of some other organization across the trail, to the fact, which all of us know, that the gentleman from New York can take all of his information, which he alone, according to his statement, seems to possess, over to the Dies committee, or he can bring it to the attention of the House. I do not believe that the gentleman from New York intended to charge that all the Members of the House were lacking in patriotism and would not listen to him or would not act upon his suggestions, if he has any.

May I just suggest to the gentleman from New York that he take his information over there instead of coming here on the floor and kicking us around, complaining all the time about what those on the Dies committee do not do. If he will take it over there, that committee will act on it. The gentleman is very earnest, and he will have a respectful hearing, where he can get quick results.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike out the last two words.

Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of the reorganization resolution now before the House, but I want to speak on a matter that is not directly concerned with this resolution. It is my opinion that the Congress before adjourning should by some sort of a tax law provide for the raising of the revenue that has been asked by the President of the United States in connection with his special defense program, and I am in favor of his defense program.

Mr. Chairman, I have some figures published in the Washington News in connection with tax-exempt securities to which I wish to call attention. In part, the article reads as follows:

In 1934, according to a Treasury study, 33 individuals who reported less than $5,000 of net income actually received interest from tax-exempt securities of from $100,000 to $1,000,000 on which they did not pay one dime of taxation. A married person with no dependents earning $5,000 a year pays a Federal income tax of $80. That is not much for a person fortunate enough to have a $5,000-a-year salary. But what shall we say of an income-tax system which collects exactly the same amount from another person who has $5,000 in taxable income and $1,000,000 more in nontaxable income? Obviously we cannot say that the system is based on the principle of ability to pay.

Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that there is a place the Ways and Means Committee might properly look toward raising revenue to meet this expense in connection with the defense program.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Will not the gentleman point out that not only is all that income tax exempt but it is treated as nonexistent, so that the tax paid on the $5,000 is paid as if the $5,000 were the only income, not as if it were part of a very large income. So that even such tax as is paid by such a taxpayer comes in a very low bracket when it ought to be in a high one.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Yes. We have people in this country who are receiving millions and millions of dollars in income upon which they do not pay a single dime, yet they have the benefits of our school system, our court system, police protection, fire protection, and everything else. It is indefensible that this income is not compelled to bear its share of the public expense.

That tax system is not based upon ability to pay. But, in addition to that, this is what we can do in order to raise at least some of the necessary revenue with which to meet the expenses the United States Government is going to be called upon to meet to prepare our country to defend itself against invasion by any nation; and this is the time to do it, and this is the place.

Mr. BEAM. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. BEAM. I believe the gentleman is making a very patriotic statement. For the information of the House, I should like to ask the gentleman if he can give us any idea as to the amount of tax-exempt securities outstanding throughout the country?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Yes; I can. There are between $50,000,000,000 and $55,000,000,000 of such securities that are partially exempt, and something like $25,000,000,000 that are entirely exempt.

Mr. BEAM. I believe that if the gentleman would foster any legislation of that character, we would be very happy to support it.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I may say to the gentleman that I introduced a bill in the first session of the present Congress to tax the income from all taxable securities issued by the United States Government. I may also say that as yet no action has been had upon the bill. The Committee on Ways and Means has the bill. This committee should take action on this bill or some other similar bill.

Mr. GEYER of California. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. GEYER of California. I believe the gentleman is making a very splendid statement. I agree with him in every way, shape, and form. I expect to support that legislation if ever we have the opportunity to do so here. It seems to me that we must now go to some untapped source of revenue.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Exactly. Now the gentleman has hit it; and this is the biggest source that is untapped that we have in America today.

Mr. GEYER of California. That is right. The revenue must be taken from these sources in an orderly way and spread out over those who have no means.

Mr. O'CONNOR. We do not want to increase the taxes on the home owner, the farm owner, or the businessman any more than they are now.

Mr. GEYER of California. I agree with the gentleman on that point.

Mr. WHITE of Idaho. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Idaho.

Mr. WHITE of Idaho. The gentleman is correct in his statement; but may I say that the tax-exempt securities are absorbing all the investment capital of the country. The financial sections of the New York papers reported last week that all the investments in the New York financial market were going into tax-exempt securities.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Exactly. The rich people of the country are hiding behind that sort of an investment. Every President from Woodrow Wilson to and including President Roosevelt have asked the Congress for this legislation, but for some reason or other we cannot obtain its enactment. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee do now rise and report the joint resolution back to the House with an amendment, with the recommendation that the amendment be agreed to and that the joint resolution as amended do pass.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly the Committee rose; and the Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. LEAVY, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the joint resolution (H. J. Res. 551) providing for the taking effect of Reorganization Plan No. V, had directed him to report the bill back to the House with an amendment, with the recommendation that the amendment be agreed to, and that the joint resolution as amended do pass.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the joint resolution and the amendment to final passage.

The previous question was ordered.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the joint resolution.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the passage of the joint resolution.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. Speaker, I demand the yeas and nays on the passage of the joint resolution. I want to see if there will be a single vote against it.

The yeas and nays were refused.

The joint resolution was passed.

On motion of Mr. COCHRAN, a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The SPEAKER. This is District of Columbia day. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee the gentleman from West Virginia [Mr. RANDOLPH].

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION ACT

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H. R. 9791) to amend the District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act, and ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act, approved August 28, 1935, is further amended to read as follows:

At the end of section 1 (c) change the period to a colon and add the following: "Provided, That such term 'wages' shall not include that part of the remuneration which, after remuneration equal to $3,000 has been paid to any individual by an employer with respect to employment during any calendar year, is paid to such individual by such employer with respect to employment during such calendar year and after December 31, 1939."

Substitute the following subsection (d) for section 1 (d):

"(d) 'Benefit year' with respect to any individual means the 52-consecutive-week period beginning with the first day of the first week with respect to which the individual first files a valid claim for benefits, and thereafter the 52-consecutive-week period beginning with the first day of the first week with respect to which the individual next files a valid claim for benefits after the termination of his last preceding benefit year. Any claim for benefits made in accordance with section 12 (a) of this act shall be deemed to be a 'valid claim' for the purposes of this subsection if the individual has during his base period been paid wages for employment by employers equal to not less than whichever is the lesser of (1) 25 times his weekly benefit amount, and (2) $250."

Substitute the following subsection (e) for section 1 (e):

"(e) An individual shall be deemed unemployed in any week during which no earnings are payable to him, or in any week of less than full-time work if the earnings payable to him with respect to such week are less than his weekly benefit amount."

Substitute the following subsection (f) for section 1 (f):

"(f) 'Earnings' means all remuneration payable for personal services, including wages, commissions, and bonuses and the cash value of all remuneration payable in any medium other than cash whether received from employment, self-employment, or any other work. Gratuities received by an individual in the course of his work shall be treated as earnings. The reasonable cash value of any remuneration payable in any medium other than cash, and a reasonable amount of gratuities shall be estimated and determined in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the Board."

In section 1 (g), immediately following the words "16 years of age", insert the words ", or a child who is unable to work because of physical disability".

In section 1 (n), line 2, after the word "District", insert the words "or elsewhere", and strike out the remainder of the sentence.

Immediately following section 1 (n) add the following new section 1 (o):

"(o) 'Base period' means the first four out of the last five completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the first day of the individual's benefit year."

In paragraph 3 of section 3 (a) strike out the following words: "and 1940."

Immediately following section 3 (a) add the following section 3 (b):

"(b) Every employer who employs one or more individuals in any employment shall, beginning with the month of January 1940, pay 2.7 percent of the total wages paid with respect to such employment."

Strike out paragraph 4 of section 3 (a).

In section 3 (b) strike out the letter "(b)" and insert in lieu thereof the letter "(c)".

In section 3 (b), line 2, strike out the words "calendar year 1941" and substitute in lieu thereof "second 6 months of the calendar year 1942".

In section 3 (b), line 14, substitute the word "paid" for the word "payable".

In section 3 (b), lines 8 and 13, change the figure "3" to "2.7". Substitute for section 4 (b) the following section 4 (b):

"(b) Contributions shall become due and be payable at such time and in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe. No extension of the time for filing any return or for the payment of the contributions shall be allowed to any employer. All moneys so required to be paid to and collected by the Board shall be subject to audit by the District Auditor."

Immediately following section 4 (e) insert the following new section 4 (f):

"(f) Refunds: If not later than 1 year after the date on which any contributions or interest thereon became due an employer who has paid such contributions or interest thereon shall make application for an adjustment thereof in connection with subsequent contribution payments, or for a refund thereof because such adjustment cannot be made, and the Board shall determine that such contributions or interest or any portion thereof was erroneously collected, the Board shall allow such employer to make an adjustment thereof, without interest, in connection with subsequent contribution payments by him, or if such adjustment cannot be made, the Board shall refund said amount, without interest, from the clearing account or benefit account upon checks issued by the Board or its duly authorized agent. For like cause and within the same period, adjustment or refund may be so made on the Board's own initiative. Should benefits have been paid based upon work records filed by the employer, claiming an adjustment or refund, such benefit should be disregarded for purposes of figuring such adjustment or refund, and any such benefit payments already having been made at the time of the refund, based upon records filed with this Board by such employer, shall to that extent be allowed and shall not be deemed to have been paid erroneously: Provided, That applications with respect to adjustments or refunds for the years 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939 may be made within 1 year from the effective date of this act. All refunds paid pursuant to this subsection shall be subject to a prior audit by the District auditor."

Substitute for section 8 the following new section 8:

"Sec. 8. (a) On and after January 1, 1938, benefits shall become payable from the benefit account of the District unemployment fund. All benefits shall be paid through employment offices, in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe.

"(b) An individual's weekly benefit amount shall be the amount appearing in column B in the table set forth in this subsection on the line on which in column A of such table appears the total wages for employment paid to such individual by employers during that quarter of his base period in which such wages were the highest."

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFIT TABLE

Column A	Column B, weekly benefit amount	Column C, qualifying amount
Wages paid in highest quarter of base period:
$37.50 to $138.....	$6	$150
$138.01 to $161.....	7	175

$345.01 to $368.....	16	250
$368.01 to $391.....	17	250
$391.01 and over.....	18	250

"(c) Each eligible individual who is unemployed in any week shall be paid with respect to such week a benefit in an amount equal to his weekly benefit amount less the earnings (if any) payable to him with respect to such week. For the purpose of this subsection, the term 'earnings' shall include only that part of the remuneration payable to him for such week which is in excess of 40 percent of his weekly benefit amount for any week. Such benefit, if not a multiple of $1, shall be computed to the next higher multiple of $1.

"(d) Any otherwise eligible individual shall be entitled during any benefit year to a total amount of benefits equal to 19 times his weekly benefit amount or one-half of the wages for employment paid to such individual by employers during his base period, whichever is the lesser.

"(e) Dependent's allowance: In addition to the benefits payable under subsections (b) and (c) of this section, each individual who is unemployed in any week shall be paid with respect to such week $1 for each dependent relative, but not more than $3 shall be paid to an individual as dependent's allowance with respect to any 1 week of unemployment, nor shall any weekly benefit which includes a dependent's allowance be paid in the amount of more than $18."

Substitute the following paragraph (2) for paragraph (2) of section 10 (a):

"(2) That he has during his base period been paid wages for employment by employers equal to not less than the amount appearing in column 'C' of the table in section 8 (b), on the line on which in column 'B' his weekly benefit amount appears;"

Substitute the following paragraph (5) for paragraph (5) of section 10 (a):

"(5) That he has been unemployed for a waiting period of not more than 2 weeks. No week shall be counted as a week of unemployment for the purposes of this subsection—

"(A) unless it occurs within the benefit year which includes the week with respect to which he claims payment of benefits: Provided, That this requirement shall not interrupt the payment of benefits for consecutive weeks of unemployment: And provided further, That the week or the 2 consecutive weeks immediately preceding a benefit year, if part of one uninterrupted period of unemployment which continues into such benefit year, shall be deemed (for the purposes of this subsection only) to be within such benefit year as well as within the preceding benefit year;

"(B) if benefits have been paid with respect thereto; and
"(C) unless the individual was eligible for benefits with respect thereto as provided in sections 10 and 11 of this act, except for the requirements of this paragraph; and"

Substitute the following subsection (a) for section 14 (a):
"Sec. 14. (a) The Board is hereby authorized and directed to administer the provisions of this act. Subject to the Civil Service Act, the Board is further authorized to employ such officers, examiners, accountants, attorneys, experts, agents, and other persons, and to make such expenditures, as may be necessary to administer this act, and to authorize any such person to do any act or acts which could lawfully be done by the Board. The Civil Service Commission is hereby authorized and directed to confer a competitive classified civil-service status upon those employees performing services for the Board upon the effective date of this act:

Provided, That (1) such employees are certified by the Board as having rendered satisfactory service for not less than 6 months; (2) that they qualify in such appropriate nonassembled, noncompetitive examination as may be prescribed by the Civil Service Commission: Provided, however, That all employees certified by the Board in accordance with condition (1) hereof shall automatically be eligible to take such noncompetitive examination; (3) that they are citizens of the United States; and (4) that they are not disqualified by any provision of section 3 of civil-service rule V. The Board may, in its discretion, require bond from any of its employees engaged in carrying out the provisions of this act."

TRANSITION PROVISIONS

Sec. 2. (a) As used in this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise—

(1) "old law" means the unemployment-compensation law prior to its amendment by this act;

(2) "new law" means the unemployment-compensation law as amended by this act;

(3) "effective date" means the date upon which the new law becomes effective; and

(b) Except as otherwise specifically provided in subsection (c) of this section, the new law shall be exclusively applicable with respect to any individual on and after the effective date. No provision of the old law shall be construed to limit or extend the rights of any individual as fixed by the new law, after the new law becomes exclusively applicable with respect to such individual as provided in this section.

(c) With respect to any individual who is unemployed during a continuous period of compensable unemployment (as defined in par 4 of subsec. (a) of this section) section 1 (d), 8 (a) (insofar as it relates to the determination of the weekly benefit rate for total unemployment), 8 (b), 8 (c), 8 (d), and 10 (a) (2) of the old law shall be exclusively applicable until the expiration of such continuous period of compensable unemployment.

(d) Upon application by an employer, filed pursuant to suitable regulations by the Board, the Board shall determine the extent to which the employer's contributions paid for the first 6 months of the calendar year 1940 were in excess of his contributions due for said period under the new law and shall make an adjustment for that amount, without interest, solely in connection with subsequent contributions by him.

EFFECTIVE DATE

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect as of 12:01 a. m., July 1, 1940.

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, this proposed legislation to amend the District Unemployment Compensation Act is brought before the House today after weeks and months of hearings, meetings, and discussions by the committee and all interested parties. I believe the chairman of the Subcommittee on the Judiciary, the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. McGEHEE] and the ranking minority member on that subcommittee, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DIRKSEN], and all those who have worked so diligently on this subject, have done an excellent job. We do know that seemingly all the differences which have existed over a long period of time while this legislation was being considered have been ironed out. The board of trade, representing the business interests of the city; the American Federation of Labor, the C. I. O., and all interested groups, both labor and capital, have unanimously agreed on this bill to amend the District Unemployment Compensation Act.

In general, the proposed bill changes the tax rate from 3 to 2.7 percent and limits to taxable wages which an individual can earn from any employer within any calendar year to $3,000. These provisions are made effective as of January 1, 1940. Employer experience rating in the District of Columbia will be postponed from January 1, 1940, to July 1, 1942. The Board is given authority to allow employers to report quarterly, instead of monthly, and provision is made for an audit of all contributions by the District auditor. The Board is also given authority to refund money erroneously paid to it.

A minimum benefit of $6 is prescribed and the maximum benefit amount is increased from $15 to $18. The waiting period is shortened from 3 weeks to not more than 2 weeks, and a claimant will not be penalized for obtaining partial work during the waiting period. The eligibility provision is changed from 13 weeks to 25 times an individual's weekly benefit amount, or $250, whichever is the lesser. The calculation of benefits is placed entirely on a monetary basis rather than a time basis, and benefits are allowed 19 times an individual benefit amount, or one-half of the wages paid to him in his base period. Each claimant is allowed an additional dollar a week for each of his dependent relatives until a total of $3 additional are paid to him for any 1 week. However, no claimant is allowed a total of more than $18 in any one week regardless of dependent allowance.

This bill is intended to bring the tax rate and benefit payments in line with those in the other States, as well as to simplify administration of the unemployment-compensation program.

I could take additional time in explanation of the bill, but I feel that the measure is of vital importance, and that the House has a right to hear about its provisions in detail. For that reason I shall not consume any more time, as I know the gentleman from Mississippi, the chairman of the subcommittee, is going to ask unanimous consent to be heard on the pending legislation.

Mr. McGEHEE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that I may address the House for whatever time I may desire, not to exceed 15 minutes.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Mississippi?

There was no objection.

Mr. McGEHEE. Mr. Speaker, as a preface to my remarks on the provisions of the bill that is now pending before the House, permit me to say that in my humble opinion it behooves the membership of this body to give serious thought to the ultimate changes that must eventually be made to the basic Social Security Act passed by the Congress 2 or 3 years ago.

In the passage of this legislation, we launched out into a new field of legislative endeavor, a radical departure from all legislation that has been considered by this body since its inception. Its purpose in general was to alleviate the prevalent conditions at the time of unemployment, with a view to taking care of similar conditions that might arise in the future. There was no precedence on which to base the conclusion reached, we merely launched out on practically an uncharted sea, guided and directed by a desire to be of aid and assistance to certain classes of our people.

My reason for saying that the membership should give thought, not so much to the act that is before us, but the basic legislation as heretofore passed with a view of not permitting it to become so weighty on that other class of people—that is, the employers—to the extent it will destroy the very purpose of its creation.

Since the enactment of the general Social Security Act of 1935, from that period to date, we do have the experience that will give us an idea as to the destructive extent it may reach. In the continued amending of the basic act we can not afford to liberalize it to the extent that it will create a desire among the unemployed to remain in that status, nor can we assess the employer to the extent it will destroy his capacity for employment. Hence, in my opinion, the whole structure in the next 2 or 3 years must be worked out on an equitable basis, so as to aid the unemployed as far as possible and aid the employer to the extent that he can expand and continue to give employment.

This bill has reference only to amending the Unemployment Compensation Act of the District of Columbia, and what is going to be said of the ultimate outcome insofar as the District is concerned in the event it is not properly amended, is applicable to practically every State in the Union, either in a larger or lesser degree.

Permit me to show how the present act and the collections that are mandatory under it are affecting the District of Columbia at this time.

During the year 1939 the employer paid to the unemployment-compensation fund the sum of $6,763,000; benefits were paid out in the sum of $1,423,000, leaving a surplus in the unemployment-compensation fund for the District of $5,340,000. There was collected in the District prior to December 31, 1938, over and above all benefits paid the sum of $10,782,160 and on December 31, 1939, when this act had only been in force for 3 years there was a surplus in the District unemployment-compensation fund in the sum of $16,450,000, it is estimated on January 1, 1941, this surplus will amount to the enormous sum of $21,000,000.

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McGEHEE. I gladly yield to the gentleman from West Virginia.

Mr. RANDOLPH. The gentleman has given us the figure that has been collected, and to me it is a startling sum of money to lay idle. I am sure the gentleman feels that we should have this money working in the channels of trade and not build up over a period of time an oversized lump sum as exists at the present time.

Mr. McGEHEE. Yes; and I thank the gentleman for his contribution.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McGEHEE. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. How does the unemployment insurance bill for the District of Columbia compare with the rest of the United States?

Mr. McGEHEE. If the gentleman will permit me to complete my statement, every change that is suggested in the bill before the House today will be called to the attention of the House and it will be shown how it compares with the act of the different States of the Union.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. I mean the present unemployment compensation in the District and how that compares.

Mr. McGEHEE. As to the percentage of unemployment?

Mr. FITZPATRICK. No. How does the legislation itself compare with the 48 States. Is it just the same?

Mr. McGEHEE. Oh, no; under the act that is now in force in the District of Columbia, with its complicated provisions, it is more difficult to administer than in any other State of the Union.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. But that is not the question. Is the act the same?

Mr. McGEHEE. It is practically the same. The general basic provisions are the same as the other States of the Union.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. The gentleman feels, however, there should be an exception made of the District and it should have a different set-up from the other States?

Mr. McGEHEE. Oh, no; I am merely trying to alleviate the conditions that exist in the District of Columbia so as to permit the unemployed to receive his benefit checks earlier than he is now, because sometimes it is 8 or 10 weeks before he receives them. Under the present act the employees must pay 3 percent, where in practically every State of the Union they pay only 2.7. In paying this 3 percent, as I stated a moment ago, you see the enormous surplus that is being placed in the Treasury of the United States and likely will never be used.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McGEHEE. I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts.

Mr. McCORMACK. I thought it was intended to allow a reduction, where the fund was high enough, to lower than 2.7.

Mr. McGEHEE. In answer to the gentleman, I may say that the subcommittee that has been working on this bill for many months made an effort to adopt a sliding-scale rate of payment by the employer; but it was thought by the attorneys, or some of the attorneys, on the committee that this provision would be in violation of the provisions of the basic act as passed by the Congress for all States. Hence all we could do to relieve the employers of the District of Columbia at the present time was to reduce it to 2.7, with the hope that in the future we will be able to give them further relief.

Mr. McCORMACK. The gentleman is aware of the amendment that I offered last year, and which was included in the bill last year, but was stricken out in the Senate. If that provision had gone into the bill, it would have enabled more liberal benefit payments to be made, and yet it would have saved the employers of the country from $165,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year.

Mr. McGEHEE. I am familiar with the amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts to the basic act.

Mr. McCORMACK. And the employers themselves "ganged up" against the amendment; the very employers of the country whom it was aimed to save from $165,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year in unemployment pay-roll taxes "ganged up" to defeat that very provision.

Mr. McGEHEE. I do not know the cause of the defeat of the gentleman's amendment.

Mr. McCORMACK. I can assure the gentleman of that fact, because I know what the "ganging up" process consisted of.

Mr. CARLSON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McGEHEE. I yield.

Mr. CARLSON. Do I understand from the gentleman's statement that this does not reduce the payments in the District below the national average?

Mr. McGEHEE. That is right; 2.7 percent.

Mr. CARLSON. And there is no provision in the bill to give additional reduction for experience rating?

Mr. McGEHEE. No.

What will happen to the employers of the District in the event there is not some relief given to them? The peak payment to the unemployed in the District was in 1938, which included the payments that were due the unemployed for the years 1937 and 1938, and this only amounted to about the sum of $1,700,000, which is only one-fourth of the amount that is being collected annually.

It is impossible to pass this enormous sum on to the unemployed for the reason that it would raise their benefits above their monthly wage.

Now, this situation is true not only in the District of Columbia but practically every State in the Union, and with your permission I want to give you some statistics on other States.

In the State of Alabama the tax collections for the year 1939 amounted to the sum of $8,497,000; benefits paid out in the sum of $4,285,000; with an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $7,402,606, and on December 31, 1939, a total surplus of $11,849,000, or an increase of 60.6 for the year 1939 alone.

In the State of Connecticut the tax collections for the year 1939 amounted to the sum of $16,684,000, with benefits paid in the sum of $5,126,000, and an accumulated surplus in the sum of $16,266,321 on December 31, 1938, with a total surplus on December 31, 1939, in the sum of $27,771,000, or an increase during the year 1939 of 70.7.

In the State of Illinois the tax collections during the year 1939 amounted to $68,132,000, with benefits paid out in the small sum of $16,783,000, with a total surplus on December 31, 1939, in the sum of $173,044,000.

The State of Massachusetts collected in 1939 the sum of $37,766,000, paying out benefits in the sum of $19,651,000, with an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $51,730,133, making a total surplus on December 31, 1939, in the sum of $71,371,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 37.9.

The State of Maryland collected in 1939 the sum of $12,108,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $5,747,000, and an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $9,269,231, making a total surplus on December 31, 1939, of $15,926,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 71.8.

The small State of New Jersey collected in 1939 the sum of $45,764,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $14,906,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $66,690,639, making a total surplus on December 31, 1939, of $99,547,000, or an increase of 49.2.

The State of New York collected during the year 1939 the sum of $116,235,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $80,019,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $138,959,357, with a total surplus on December 31, 1939, in the sum of $178,974,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 28.7.

The State of Ohio collected during the year 1939 the sum of $55,427,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $23,662,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $97,884,134, and on December 31, 1939, a total surplus of $132,487,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 35.3.

The State of Wisconsin collected during the year 1939 the sum of $14,620,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $3,567,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, of $37,959,530, and on December 31, 1939, a total surplus of $50,081,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 50.4.

The State of Mississippi collected during the year 1939 the sum of $2,208,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $1,444,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, of $3,347,137, and on December 31, 1939, a total surplus of $4,197,000, or an increase for the year 1939 of 25.4.

Without further burdening the membership in giving total collections, disbursements, and total surplus for each State, I shall only give you the total tax collected throughout the entire country and disbursements and total surplus in the Treasury of the United States. The total taxes collected for the year 1939 amounted to $824,876,000, with benefits paid out in the sum of $429,298,000, having an accumulated surplus on December 31, 1938, in the sum of $987,912,801, and on December 31, 1939, a total surplus of $1,537,797,000, which shows an increase for the year 1939 alone of 55.5. Hence you can readily see that the average increase of this surplus fund at the present rate of collections will in the future practically amount to 50 percent yearly.

It does not take an Einstein or a college mathematician to reveal to us whether the employer will be in a stable position to give employment in 8 or 10 years, with this ever-increasing and constant drain from the capital structure of the employer, which retards his expansion and depletes his financial resources and lessens his ability to continue employment. Hence it behooves the Congress to give relief to not only the District of Columbia but to the States of the Union.

We are not able to give to the employers of the District of Columbia at this session the relief they are entitled to, but we are in a position to give some relief and also give to the unemployed increased relief insofar as the District is concerned, because the conditions of employment are not comparable to those in the States, and may I say whatever action taken by the Congress insofar as the District is concerned certainly should not be taken as a criterion in amending the laws of other States or the basic act of the Union.

The act before the House today affects and amends the present act only in the following instances:

First. Under the present act the employer pays a full 3 percent on all salaries regardless of amount. This bill merely amends this provision of the District act, and limits it to the first $3,000 paid to an individual during the calendar year by a single employer. This provision is in line with the provisions of the acts in every State in the Union.

Second. It reduces the rate of payment by the employer from 3 percent to 2.7 percent, which is in line with the acts of the States, but makes this further provision that in the event of its passage and enactment into a law, it is retroactive to January 1, 1940, and allows the employer a credit against future contributions for the overpayments caused by this retroactive provision.

Third. It postpones the effective date of experienced rating from January 1, 1940, to July 1, 1942.

Fourth. It gives the Unemployment Compensation Board authority to allow the employer to report quarterly instead of monthly, thereby relieving the employer of this arduous and tedious task of monthly reports.

Fifth. Gives the Board authority to make refund of moneys that have been erroneously paid by the employer. Under the present act if the employer makes an overpayment, the Board has no authority to make a refund.

Sixth. It further provides that all contributions shall be subject to an audit by the District Auditor.

These are practically the only amendments insofar as the employer is concerned, to the act that is now in force, and the changes as recommended by the committee insofar as the employees are concerned, are as follows:

First. The benefits paid to the unemployed are now worked out on a complicated time basis and under the proposed act on a simple money basis.

Second. There is no minimum prescribed by the present act and under the proposed act a minimum of $6 per week is prescribed, which is in line with the minimum benefits as provided in the acts of the other States of the Union.

Third. The maximum benefits under the present act are $15 per week and under the proposed act $18 per week. The maximum proposed under this act is somewhat above the average, which is about $15 per week, but several States have $18 per week.

Fourth. The time under which the unemployed makes collections under the present act varies from 4½ weeks to 26%, being entirely dependent on the weeks worked in the preceding 2- to 5-year period. Under the proposed act it is 19 times the individual benefit amount or one-half of the wage paid to an individual by employers in the base period, whichever is the lesser.

Fifth. Under the present act the weekly benefit amount is 40 percent of the individual's average weekly wage during the preceding 2 years, which provision requires much detailed report by the employer. Under the proposed act it is entirely controlled by a table based on one twenty-third of the individual's high quarter wages, requiring no detailed work whatever by the employer and administrative agency. The provisions of the proposed act of one twenty-third of the individual's high-quarter wages being a compromise of the provisions of the acts of the States of the Union, which are from one-twentieth to one twenty-sixth.

Sixth. The present act provides for an allowance for dependents of an additional 10 percent of the individual's average weekly wage for spouse and an additional 5 percent for each other dependent, but further provides that the individual is limited to 65 percent of his average weekly wage, regardless of the number of dependents and he may not receive more than $15 in any one week.

Under the proposed act this is amended to provide "there shall be paid to each individual who is unemployed in any week, $1 for each dependent relative, but not more than $3 shall be paid to an individual as dependents' allowance, nor shall any weekly benefit which includes a dependent's allowance be paid in the amount of more than $18."

The proposed act further amends the present act to include as a dependent any child over 16 years of age physically unable to work.

Seventh. The present act provides for a 3-week waiting period. The proposed act provides for not more than a 2-week waiting period, which is in line with practically all the States.

Eighth. The unemployed to be eligible under the present act must have had 13 weeks of employment in the last 52 weeks and under the proposed act, he would be eligible if the wages in his base period equals to 25 times the individual weekly benefit amount, or $250, whichever is the lesser.

Ninth. Under the present act there is no provision for civil-service status. In the proposed act the Civil Service Commission is authorized and directed to confer a competitive classified civil-service status upon those employees performing services for the Board upon the effective date of the act, provided that such employees are certified by the Board as having rendered satisfactory service for not less than 6 months and that they qualify in such appropriate nonassembled, noncompetitive examination as may be prescribed by the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. AUGUST H. ANDRESEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McGEHEE. Yes.

Mr. AUGUST H. ANDRESEN. What consideration has the committee given relief from taxes to the employer who gives continuous employment to his help?

Mr. McGEHEE. That takes effect in July 1942. We could not place it in this bill at this time. We continued the provisions of the present act in that respect until July 1940.

Mr. Speaker, I have related the proposed changes to the present act. As the chairman of the committee has suggested, this subcommittee has been working for 2 or 3 years trying to give relief to the employers of the District of Columbia, also give further needed relief to the unemployed. We have worked in conjunction with the labor organizations and the business people of the District; all parties concerned have unanimously agreed upon the provisions of this bill, and I hope that the Congress will pass it. [Applause.]

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. DONDERO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to extend my own remarks in the Record.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

Mr. DIRKSEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for recognition.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Illinois is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. DIRKSEN. Mr. Speaker, there is very little I need offer to the exhaustive discussion of the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. McGEHEE]. The legislation before you is complete in agreement, because of the consummate patience exercised by the chairman of the subcommittee, the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. McGEHEE], and also because of the fine cooperative spirit that was manifest between the employers and labor in the District of Columbia. A number of times our deliberations have finished on the rock of disagreement, but his patience at such times served to keep it alive and bring new hope of final enactment. There were so many considerations that went into the making of this legislation. We recognized if we went too far from base, we might conceivably torpedo the legislation now on the books of 48 States of the Union. So we had to have that in mind of course in fashioning a bill. The other impelling reason for a bill at this time was that the funds in the District of Columbia for unemployment benefits have grown by leaps and bounds. I forget exactly the proportion of income to outgo, but perhaps the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. BATES] can refresh my memory.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. In 1939 the collections amounted to something over $6,000,000 and the benefits to only $1,400,000.

Mr. DIRKSEN. So that we are taking in four times as much as has been paid out. Obviously that situation invites abuses and difficulties. Moreover, employers should not be subjected to unnecessary taxes.

Mr. AUGUST H. ANDRESEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DIRKSEN. Yes.

Mr. AUGUST H. ANDRESEN. Could the gentleman give us any idea as to what relief may be expected by the employers of labor who give continuous employment. Are these people required to pay continuously when they take care of their own labor by continuous employment?

Mr. DIRKSEN. Yes; everybody will pay under this bill until such time as we can make the system effective, the date of which has been postponed to another time until we can get the thing worked out.

The bill that is before you today is in no sense of the word a final solution of the problem of unemployment compensation for the District of Columbia. It comes here in the nature of an emergency proposal, the idea in the minds of the subcommittee being that when the Seventy-seventh Congress meets it will address itself once more to this problem in the hope of working out some kind of system or proposal whereby those who stabilize and regularize their employment can have the benefit of a diminished tax. We are handicapped at the present time, however, and the best we can offer to the employers under existing law is a reduction from 3 percent to 2.7 percent, which will be something in excess of $1,000,000 a year.

Obviously, if you reduce one side, it is only natural that labor should ask, and equitably so, for some concessions. They thought the minimum benefits should be increased somewhat. They were increased. They thought the maximum benefits should be increased; they were increased from $15 to $18. They thought the duration of the waiting period should be cut down; it has been cut down from 3 weeks to not more than 2. They thought that the duration of benefits should be increased, and we finally made them 19 weeks, or 50 percent of whatever the aggregate was in the so-called base period. So there have been concessions on both sides for employer and for labor.

The particular bill before you today I feel has the universal and unanimous backing of the American Federation of Labor, the Central Trades Union Council, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and the employers of the District of Columbia.

So once more I pay my compliments to the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. McGEHEE] for the splendid job he has done, and for the rare patience and fortitude he exhibited so that there might be a bill here. There is nothing more that could be said at this time except that the matter is not foreclosed for amendment at some future time, because much remains to be done to perfect and make operable unemployment compensation in the District of Columbia. [Applause.]

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the bill to final passage.

The previous question was ordered.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

JUVENILE COURT, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H. R. 9804) to amend and clarify section 6, subsection 2, of the act approved June 1, 1938, known as Juvenile Court Act of the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, and asks unanimous consent that it may be considered in the House as in the Committee of the Whole.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That for the purpose of continuing and confirming jurisdiction heretofore conferred upon the juvenile court of the District of Columbia, section 6, subsection 2, of the act approved June 1, 1938 (Public, No. 571, 75th Cong., 3d sess.; 52 Stat. 596, ch. 309; D. C. Code, 1929 ed., Supp. V, title 18, sec. 256), entitled the "Juvenile Court Act of the District of Columbia," be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows:

"2. ADULTS.—The court shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to determine cases of adults charged with willfully contributing to, encouraging, or tending to cause by any act or omission any condition which would bring a child within the provisions of this act. The court shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia in all cases arising under the act entitled "An act making it a misdemeanor in the District of Columbia to abandon or willfully neglect to provide for the support and maintenance by any person of his wife or of his or her minor children in destitute or necessitous circumstances," approved March 23, 1906 (D. C. Code, title 6, secs. 270-273). Nothing herein shall be construed as having the effect of limiting the jurisdiction of said court in matters arising under the act entitled "An act to provide for compulsory school attendance," approved February 4, 1925 (43 Stat. 806, ch. 140); or under the act entitled "An act to regulate the employment of minors," approved May 29, 1928 (45 Stat. 998, ch. 908)."

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I move to strike out the last word.

Mr. Speaker, the purposes of this legislation are to clarify certain general expressions contained in the present Juvenile Court Act of the District of Columbia. The present law by its wording limits the jurisdiction of the juvenile court in nonsupport cases to children and does not make any provision for the mother. In this way jurisdiction is divided between the district court, on the one hand, and the juvenile court, on the other, although the mother usually enters the appeal for herself and for her children.

We believe the bill is needed, as it will remedy situations of this kind.

PARKING OF AUTOMOBILES IN THE MUNICIPAL CENTER

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H. R. 9115) to authorize the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to provide for the parking of automobiles in the Municipal Center, and ask unanimous consent that it may be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized, in their discretion, to permit such officers and employees of the District of Columbia government as the Commissioners may select to park motor vehicles in any building or buildings now or hereafter erected upon squares Nos. 490, 491, and 533, and reservation No. 10, in the District of Columbia, known as the Municipal Center, and to make and enforce regulations for the control of the parking of such vehicles, including the authority to prescribe and collect fees and charges for the privilege of parking of such vehicles.

SEC. 2. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are further authorized, in their discretion, to permit the public to park motor vehicles in such portion or portions of squares Nos. 490, 491, and 533, and reservation 10, in the District of Columbia, known as the Municipal Center, as may be set apart by the said Commissioners for such purpose, and to make and enforce such regulations as the Commissioners may deem advisable for the control of parking in such portion or portions of the Municipal Center as they may set apart for such purpose, including authority to restrict the privilege of parking therein to persons having business in the Municipal Center, and to make and enforce regulations to prohibit parking in all portions of the Municipal Center not set apart by the Commissioners for such purpose. The Commissioners are further authorized in their discretion to prescribe and collect fees and charges for the privilege of parking motor vehicles in such portion or portions of the Municipal Center as may be set apart for such purpose, and, to aid in the collection of such fees and charges and the enforcement of such regulations, the Commissioners may install mechanical parking meters or devices.

SEC. 3. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are further authorized to prescribe reasonable penalties or fines not to exceed $25 or imprisonment not to exceed 10 days for the violation of any regulation promulgated under the authority of this act.

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I move to strike out the last word.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this legislation is to authorize the parking of automobiles in the new Municipal Center. This parking space is intended primarily for the parking and storage of municipally owned vehicles, those operated by the various departments and officials of the District of Columbia. However, the space provided is larger than necessary for this purpose at the present time and it is felt that the extra space could be used to the advantage of the District by permitting employees to park their cars therein at reasonable rates and also to permit the use of this space by the public having business to transact with the District of Columbia.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF STEAM AND OTHER OPERATING ENGINEERS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill H. R. 8815, to grant per diem compensation to the appointed members of the Board of Steam and Other Operating Engineers of the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, and ask unanimous consent that it may be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia [Mr. RANDOLPH]?

Mr. SCHAFER of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I am interested in ascertaining when the Schulte milk bill to break up the milk distributing monopoly in the District of Columbia will be brought up for consideration. Can the gentleman give us any information with reference to that bill?

Mr. RANDOLPH. I may say, in answer to the gentleman from Wisconsin, that perhaps the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. SCHULTE], author of that measure, can answer the question at this time if he desires to make any comment.

Mr. SCHAFER of Wisconsin. I believe that the bill in question should be enacted. I do not understand why the people of the District of Columbia, particularly the children who need milk, should be hijacked and held up by the great milk monopoly which exists in the Nation's Capital.

Mr. RANDOLPH. I am sure many of us appreciate the gentleman's remarks.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia [Mr. RANDOLPH]?

There being no objection, the Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 2 of the act entitled "An act to regulate steam and other operating engineering in the District of Columbia," approved February 28, 1887, as amended, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 2. That all persons applying for such license shall be examined by a board of examiners composed as follows: Two practical engineers, neither of whom shall be in the employ of the United States or the District of Columbia, to be appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the boiler inspector for the District of Columbia. Each appointed member shall receive compensation at the rate of $10 per day when actually engaged in the work of the board. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia may remove any member of the board for misconduct, incompetency, neglect of duty, or for any other sufficient cause. Said examination shall be conducted in all respects under such rules and regulations as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall from time to time provide; and all engines and steam boilers shall be subjected to such tests as the said Commissioners may prescribe."

With the following committee amendment:

Page 2, line 6, after the word "board", insert the following: "such compensation not to exceed $300 per annum. One of the appointed engineers shall be appointed for a term of 1 year and the others for a term of 2 years. On the expiration of such appointments, all appointments shall be made for the term of 2 years except such appointments as may be made for the remainder of unexpired terms. Vacancies caused by death, resignation, or otherwise shall be filled by the Commissioners only for the unexpired terms. Members shall be eligible for reappointment."

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I move to strike out the last word.

The purpose of this legislation is to provide adequate compensation for the members of the Board of Steam Engineers of the District. The compensation at the present time is only $150 a year, while the work has greatly increased during the past few years. This legislation provides a salary of $10 a day while actually engaged in the work of the Board, but the total cannot exceed $300 a year.

The committee amendment was agreed to.

RETIREMENT OF MEMBERS OF METROPOLITAN POLICE

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H. R. 8846) to provide for the retirement of certain members of the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia, the United States Park Police force, the White House Police force, and the members of the Fire Department of the District of Columbia, and ask unanimous consent that it may be considered in the House as in the Committee of the Whole.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from West Virginia [Mr. RANDOLPH]?

There being no objection, the Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 12 of the act entitled "An act making appropriations to provide for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and for other purposes," approved September 1, 1916, is amended by adding, after the fourth paragraph of such section, a new paragraph to read as follows:

"Whenever any member of the Metropolitan Police Department of the District of Columbia, or of the United States Park Police force, or of the White House Police force, or the Fire Department of the District of Columbia has served 25 years or more as a member of such department or police force, or the Fire Department of the District of Columbia, or any combination of such service, he may, at his election, be retired from the service of any such police department or police force or fire department, and shall be entitled to receive retirement compensation from the said policemen and firemen's relief fund, District of Columbia, in an amount equal to 50 percent per annum of the salary received by him at the date of retirement."

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, this bill will give the members of the Police and Fire Departments in the District of Columbia the right to retire voluntarily after they have served 25 years. Retirement would be at half pay. It has been found by carefully looking into the records that practically every large city in the United States has such a law, but in Washington, D. C., the members of the Police and Fire Departments can retire for proven disability only. There is no provision for retirement because of age or service. It is therefore felt that this legislation is needed and should be passed at this time.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. RANDOLPH. Mr. Speaker, there are several measures pending on the District of Columbia Calendar which are of a more controversial nature than those which we have brought before the House today. In keeping with our promise to the majority leader, may I say that this completes the District of Columbia Calendar for today.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR APPROPRIATION BILL—1941

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I call up the conference report on the bill (H. R. 8745) making appropriations for the Department of the Interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, and for other purposes, and ask unanimous consent that the statement may be read in lieu of the report.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

LXXXVI—436

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. TAYLOR]?

Mr. CLEVENGER. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order there is not a quorum present.

The SPEAKER. Evidently there is not a quorum present.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move a call of the House.

A call of the House was ordered.

EDWARD T. TAYLOR,
JED JOHNSON,
J. G. SCRUGHAM,
JAMES M. FITZPATRICK,
CHAS. H. LEAVY,
HARRY R. SHEPPARD,
ALBERT E. CARTER,

Managers on the part of the House.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 15 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RICH].

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, we now have before us the conference report on the Interior Department appropriation bill. I was one of the conferees, but I did not sign the report because I do not believe this report should be approved by the House. We have been making appropriations for the various departments of the Government. We have had estimates from the Bureau of the Budget. When we passed this bill in the House the House tried in a measure to keep close to the Budget estimate, and the House passed a bill carrying appropriations amounting to $135,434,330. After the Senate acted upon this bill it had increased the amount the House appropriated by $16,856,143. The Senate had some additional Budget estimates, but not that amount. Where is the Senate economy they talked about?

It seems as if the Senate and the House figure that because the amount of this appropriation is not up to the amount we appropriated last year we have accomplished something, but I say that that means nothing. When we think of the enormous cost of operation of the Government, the great expenditures of the various bureaus, we should make reductions not in the amount the House would like to have, but in the Budget estimates, because the Budget officer has proved to the country and to everybody that appropriations are entirely too large for the amount of money we receive.

We have asked the question on the floor of the House many times, "Where are you going to get the money?" It seems as if nobody has been able to answer that question. Then we have asked the question, "With what kind of money are you going to pay these bills?" It does not seem that the New Deal wants to tell us what kind of money they are going to use to pay the bills. Now I believe one of the appropriate questions to ask the Deal Deal administration would be, "What have you done with the money we have given you not only for national defense, but for the other departments of the Government?" I believe if a correct inventory and recapitulation of the assets were taken you would find that you have not done a very good job.

What do we have in this bill? After the House conferees assembled we went over to join the Senators. The reason I could not sign this bill is that I believe we should have stood firm in our determination to try to cut down the amount of the appropriations. Let us see what we did.

The Senate receded on 16 amendments to the amount of $1,822,000, but the House conferees receded on 54 amendments, amounting to $15,033,000, or 8 times as much as the amount on which the Senate receded. I believe the House conferees deserve the censure of the House of Representatives in not having more fight. We do not put the fight into this that is necessary to cut down expenses.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I yield to the gentleman from New York, one of the conferees.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. What percentage of the bill as it passed the House did the Senate agree to, without adding amendments?

Mr. RICH. The Senate agreed to practically everything the House passed, but the Senate added over $15,000,000.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. That is a small percentage compared with the amount of the bill as it passed the House.

Mr. RICH. Yes; but the point is you should have stood your ground and refused to permit the Senate to add those amounts to the bill.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Does the gentleman believe the Senate should not have anything to say about an appropriation bill?

Mr. RICH. I believe the Senate should have something to say about it, but it was not a Senate appropriation bill as much as it was a conferees' appropriation bill. That is what I want to show, and in order to do it let me show the Members of the House just what happened as far as the conference report was concerned.

The House conferees agreed to $1,062,000 additional for the Bituminous Coal Division. The House turned that item down, yet the conferees in conjunction with the Senate added it to the bill. It should never have been agreed to by the conferees but should have been brought back to the House for a vote. However, they smothered it in this conference report so that the Members here are not going to get much of a chance to vote on it.

Then we added $1,000,000 to the Bonneville project after it was shown on the floor of the House that we believed it had money enough if expended properly to provide all the power lines that would be needed on the Bonneville project; yet we added $1,000,000 to that item.

Mr. SCHAFER of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I yield to the gentleman from Wisconsin.

Mr. SCHAFER of Wisconsin. Is this $1,000,000 for the building of power lines so that our New Deal government's electric business can furnish cheap electricity to the Mellon Aluminum Trust?

Mr. RICH. Well, they are going to furnish cheap electricity to anybody that will go out to the States of Washington and Oregon, much cheaper than it will cost the taxpayers of this country to furnish it, because of the fact that the Government does not add to its cost every item of expense that a public utility is supposed to add to its cost of operation.

Mr. SCHAFER of Wisconsin. When the bill came before the House the committee report and the hearings indicated that millions of dollars were to be expended from our almost bankrupt Federal Treasury so that the New Deal-socialist government electric authority could build power lines in order to furnish cheap electricity to great corporations, including the Mellon aluminum monopoly, which has plants in the far West.

Mr. RICH. I may say to the gentleman that the Government is entering into all kinds of business, not only the electrical business, but it is entering into every kind of business, making this a communistic form of government.

Mr. DWORSHAK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I yield.

Mr. DWORSHAK. Can the gentleman inform the House what the total appropriations already made amount to for the construction of the distribution lines of Bonneville power?

Mr. RICH. The approximate amount is $35,000,000, and they are going to ask for millions of dollars more, and by the time we get through with the Grand Coulee in connection with the Bonneville you are going to have half a billion dollars more in these two projects.

Mr. MOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I yield to the gentleman from Oregon.

Mr. MOTT. I know the gentleman wants to be fair about this, and I know that he is already convinced that Bonneville is a legitimate and a highly useful project, and now I want to ask the gentleman if it is his contention, after spending some $500,000,000 on Bonneville, that we should not go ahead and complete the distribution system so that the Government can begin to get returns from the Bonneville investment.

Mr. RICH. I will say to the gentleman from Oregon that we now have authorized the expenditure of enough money to take care of the amount of current they have sold to the people of Washington and Oregon, and you will not need to take this million dollars at this time under this particular bill. I am convinced of that myself.

Mr. MOTT. I want to call the gentleman's attention to the fact that the testimony before the committee does not substantiate what the gentleman has just said. The gentleman has read the testimony of the Administrator and the witnesses who appeared there to show to the committee how much money was necessary to carry on the transmission construction this year and the amount which they said was necessary the committee did not allow them and they got it in the Senate. That is true, is it not?

Mr. RICH. I will say that since they have started this, you want to socialize the Government, and you want to use all the power that Bonneville will generate, in my own judgment, while I believe you have got enough money appropriated to furnish transmission lines over the section of the country that will utilize all the power that you can furnish with the installations, and even more than the installations you have on Bonneville at the present time.

Mr. MOTT. If the gentleman were familiar with the situation I am sure he would not say that.

Mr. PIERCE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I yield.

Mr. PIERCE. Was there not a Budget estimate for the million dollars the gentleman speaks of?

Mr. RICH. Well, Governor, it is not any trick to get anything from this Budget Bureau. I think that whenever we quote the Budget Bureau and think that we are doing something or that we are keeping within the lines of the Budget, that does not mean much. I will say that the Budget Bureau is not worth a whoop—not a tinker's damn—because they are now going to give you Budget estimates for this year, and when you get through, with the President's cooperation, you will have appropriated 100 percent more than the revenues you will get for 1941. So a Budget Bureau of that kind does not mean anything. There is no business to it.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. If the gentleman will yield, I would like to ask the gentleman from Oregon a question. Can the Governor tell the members of the Committee what percentage of the cost of this transmission line is charged up to power or is it all charged up to power?

Mr. PIERCE. It is all reimbursible, and it will all be paid back.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. The entire cost?

Mr. PIERCE. Yes, sir.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. Can you tell the members of the Committee what percentage of the cost of the construction of the dam is charged to power?

Mr. PIERCE. Yes; all that the engineers allotted to it.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. What is the figure?

Mr. PIERCE. I could not give you the figure.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. Thirty-two percent?

Mr. PIERCE. Thirty-two percent, or about one-third.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. And the people of the rest of the country pay the balance?

Mr. PIERCE. No; that is for navigation.

Mr. RICH. Now, I want to show you something else. Here is a little chart I got up which shows the States that "put" and the States that "take." The States that put are illustrated in blue and the States that take are illustrated in red. The States that put, pay into the Treasury more money than they receive today, and the States that take are the States that are getting more from the Treasury than they pay in.

Mr. WHITE of Idaho. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I cannot yield to the gentleman right now because I want to show you how this whole thing works.

The State of Colorado is getting out of this bill, according to the Interior Department report, $3,870,000.

Mr. LEWIS of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman from Pennsylvania has expired.

Mr. RICH. Give me 5 minutes more.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes additional to the gentleman from Pennsylvania, inasmuch as he has mentioned Oklahoma.

Mr. RICH. Then the gentleman had better give me 10 minutes more, if I have to tell all about Oklahoma.

Mr. WHITE of Idaho. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield if we get him more time on this side?

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, these gentlemen want to bother me so I cannot get a lot of this into the Record. In Oklahoma they got out of this bill $4,283,000, Nevada got $1,986,000, the State of Washington got $18,931,000; California, $27,569,000; New York gets $483,000; Pennsylvania, $1,185,000, but I will show you how that is broken down after awhile. I will show these fellows when this is broken down how the Interior Department recognizes Pennsylvania. Arizona, $5,560,000; North Dakota, $1,269,000; Tennessee, $737,000; Oregon, $4,671,000; Arizona, Oklahoma, and Nevada in the Boulder Canyon project, $4,000,000; and Arizona and California, $3,500,000, which makes a total of $78,449,000 which 12 States get, or 59 percent of this total appropriation. Twelve States get 59 percent and 36 States get 41 percent.

Now, to show what Pennsylvania is getting out of this, I shall insert in the Record what the items were, because the Interior Department has made $760,000 for taking care of the Bituminous Coal Commission, and the Bureau of Mines, which benefit the States of the country at large, but it just happens to be located in Pittsburgh:

Coal Division.....	$123,768
Division of Investigation.....	600
Parks.....	72,055
Biological Survey.....	127,129
Geological Survey.....	68,175
Fisheries.....	33,300

There is but one thing that I claim that I had anything to do with, and that was to get $20,000 for a fish hatchery at Lamar, but that is the first fish hatchery that was started, 10 years ago, and they have not yet finished it, and my friend, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. LEAVY], put that in the bill, but they gave three other States new ones and put them in the bill, and then I had to turn around and try to vote it down, but I could not.

Mr. LEAVY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I will say this; that the committee knew well enough to take care of itself.

Mr. LEAVY. Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. RICH. Well, I shall have to yield to the gentleman from Washington, since I mentioned the State of Washington getting pretty nearly $19,000,000.

Mr. LEAVY. I was delighted to assist in getting the $20,000 to which the gentleman referred. He should not be criticized, whatever, for that. He has been extremely fair in that regard. Let me ask the gentleman if in his calculations, where he says the State of Washington gets $18,000,000 and the State of Pennsylvania gets only one million and a half or two million dollars, he has taken into account the fact that of the $18,000,000, three generators are ordered, to be built at Pittsburgh, that will cost ten and a half million dollars, and that is going right back to the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. RICH. I want to answer that. Those generators are ordered, but none of this money in this bill will go into the payment of them. These figures were given to me by the Secretary of the Interior or his assistant, so I am giving you the correct figures that are applicable to this bill for these particular States. Mr. Speaker, these gentlemen who are on their feet are going to use so much of my time that I am not going to have an opportunity to explain a lot of the other items in this bill. I want to tell about one item, where we had five different items, and some of the fellows did not want it, so the first thing we did, we put the five items together, and David Harum, when he traded horses, never had anything on our conferees.

Mr. ANDERSON of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. Yes.

Mr. ANDERSON of Missouri. Will the gentleman state what Missouri received out of this contribution?

Mr. RICH. Very little of it.

Mr. ANDERSON of Missouri. The State of Missouri donates more than it gets.

Mr. RICH. Missouri is one of the States that puts in more than it takes out, that is right.

Mr. ANDERSON of Missouri. Missouri believes that it is more blessed to give than it is to receive.

Mr. RICH. Missouri is in that category.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman from Pennsylvania has again expired.

Mr. RICH. Please give me 5 minutes more.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield 5 additional minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEWIS of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RICH. I shall have to yield for just a question but I ask the gentleman to make it snappy.

Mr. LEWIS of Colorado. Is the gentleman aware of the fact that those figures are based in large part on the payments of taxes by large corporations which have their head offices in large eastern centers although the operation of such corporations are largely, if not wholly, in the West and their income derived from the West?

For example, a large proportion of the leading corporations in Colorado have their head offices in New York.

Mr. RICH. What is the gentleman's question?

Mr. LEWIS of Colorado. I want to know if the gentleman understands that; and that being so if he does not realize that his figures are highly misleading.

Mr. RICH. I can show to the gentleman from Colorado from the information before me what his State pays into the Treasury in income taxes. I keep those figures current. The State of Colorado gets $61 per capita from the Federal Government but only pays in $2. So you see it is getting the lion's share. I cannot yield further to the gentleman.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. RICH. My time is running out and I cannot get more but I yield for one question.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Has the gentleman considered that the region outlined in red on his map, the receiving region in this case, or, as he says, the States that take, is a great part of our country? This is an Interior Department bill, a bill appropriating money to be expended largely in the newer part of our country; that is, in the West.

Mr. RICH. We want to be generous with the West, but we ought not to put everything out there; we should save something for the other States. You are getting not the lion's share, but the elephant's share—the elephant, that good old Republican beast of burden that is giving you in the Western States more by far than you are entitled to.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. I cannot agree to that.

Mr. WHITE of Idaho. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. RICH. No; I cannot yield further.

For water utility and conservation projects they have a Budget estimate in the Senate for $2,600,000 granted after the House passed the bill. The Senate not only put in the $2,600,000, they put in $5,000,000. The House conferees take credit for reducing that by $1,822,000. The Senate receded to the extent of that $1,800,000 on that one item. But this in itself shows that the House conferees did not do what they should have in trying to cut down these appropriations.

The bill carries many items for which the House did not appropriate at all and for which there are no Budget estimates, items that were put in on the floor of the Senate by Senators interested in having something given to their own districts. They did not even take the time to go down and get a Budget estimate. And I say that we as conferees were wrong in agreeing to permit this action on the part of the Senate when they did not even take the trouble to go down to the Budget officer to get estimates that would permit them to go in. I believe we deserve some share of censure because we legislate in that manner. This is the reason items not only in this bill, but in other appropriation bills, go up.

Let me say for the Members associated with me on this appropriation bill that they are just as good men as any to be found in this House, but they are interested in their own projects and States. You cannot blame them for asking for things for their own States, items that mean something to their own localities. The majority of the Members of the House do that, even the chairman of the committee, the gentleman from Colorado [Mr. TAYLOR], one of the finest men in the House of Representatives. He is wrapped up in reclamation. He believes that the sun rises and sets in Colorado. You cannot hate him for that. [Applause.] The same applies to other members of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. Speaker, I believe we ought to vote down a lot of these items. Let us cut down these appropriations. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure that Members on both sides of the aisle have appreciated the very interesting and somewhat informative address just delivered by the distinguished and able member of the committee, the gentleman from Pennsylvania. We always enjoy listening to his speeches, and sometimes he makes very splendid suggestions. He is a most valuable member of the Subcommittee on Appropriations, and I am glad at this time to pay a just tribute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania. [Applause.]

The gentleman talks about the great increase of this bill over the amount carried in the House bill. It is considerably increased; but the fact is that although the House brought the bill in some $3,000,000 below the Budget estimate, when the bill went over to the Senate they held extensive hearings and secured information the House did not have. May I also call the attention to Members that although this bill is now some $16,000,000 above the figure as passed by the House, that increase to a very large extent is supported by Budget estimates. The fact is that practically all of the increases allowed by the conferees were supported by Budget estimates.

Moreover, may I call your attention to the fact that four additional important activities of the Government have been added to the Interior Department appropriation bill. Yet, despite this fact the Interior bill as presented today is $13,000,000 plus below the amount that was spent last year for the Interior Department. For fear some of you may have forgotten it, let me again list the new agencies of government and activities that have this year been added to the Interior Department, none of which, you understand, they had last year.

There has been added to the Interior Department the Bureau of Fisheries, which extends its expenditures into every section of the country and is a very popular and important department of the Government. There has been added to this bill the Bureau of Insular Affairs, which is becoming a very important department of Government. There has also been added the Bureau of Biological Survey, undoubtedly one of the most important and popular agencies of our Government. The Biological Survey has important activities in many States of the Union. In addition to that there have been added the United States High Commissioner for the Philippine Islands.

Despite these important additional activities, I am delighted to remind Members of this House that this bill as it stands is exactly $13,426,300.60 below the amount it took to operate the Interior Department during the present fiscal year.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 10 minutes to the gentleman from Nevada [Mr. SCRUGHAM].

Mr. SCRUGHAM. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Pennsylvania raised some pertinent questions as to where the money came from in connection with many of these items, and where it was to be spent. With particular reference to the reclamation items, I wish to state that the money came primarily from the Western States themselves, derived basically from the sale of public lands within the States benefited and from oil royalties.

Major contributions of Federal reclamation to the economic and social development of the 15 Western States in which projects are operating include not only the creation of more than 50,000 irrigated farm homes on project land, and protection for 30,000 more on land without an adequate water supply, but this area supports nearly a million persons on the farms and in the 254 cities and towns dependent on these farms; the establishment of 863 public schools and 1,076 churches, construction of hundreds of miles of roads and other improvements; values in farm lands and improvements for tax purposes, based on 1937 assessment of typical projects, $206,537,000, and the creation of actual values of more than $400,000.

These are divided as follows, and I will not go into this assessment increase in any great detail, but will merely give you an idea of where the money goes. Increased assessed valuations in 11 western States from reclamation appropriations are cited in Senate Document No. 36, Seventy-sixth Congress, first session, as follows:

Arizona, from $27,239,000 to $43,582,000.
 California, from $5,000,000 to $300,000,000.¹
 Colorado, from $7,018,785 to $50,000,000.²
 Idaho, from $63,171,150 to $79,800,000.
 Montana, from $9,866,606 to $15,000,000.
 Nevada, from $4,211,331 to $7,700,000.
 New Mexico, from $8,500,000 to $10,000,000.
 Oregon, from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000.
 Utah, from $33,010,939 to $45,000,000.
 Washington, from $17,228,549 to $100,000,000.³
 Wyoming, from $8,000,000 to $19,023,000.
 Totals, 1937, $206,537,312,⁴ on completion of program, $689,744,032.

These figures are cited to show that the whole economic life and the whole economic development of the arid States is largely dependent on the carrying out of these reclamation projects.

As to where the money goes, will you look at this, please. I have here a chart showing the expenditures on the Grand Coulee and the Boulder Dam project. You will find here a graphic illustration of where the money goes which was appropriated for the Grand Coulee and Boulder Dam projects. The circles represent the money going from the Grand Coulee project into the various States. The black squares represent the money going to those same States from the Boulder Dam appropriation. You will notice the overwhelming preponderance of the money spent on the Grand Coulee and the Boulder Dam projects for machinery and equipment went to States east of the Mississippi River. It created business and it created employment in the East as much as in the West.

I have little patience with the argument that the Government is paying for something in the West and receives nothing in return. The money originally came from sales of the public lands and from oil royalties in the areas in question and much of the actual expenditure of the money goes east of the Mississippi River, as shown by these two typical projects.

I fully appreciate the useful help given by the gentleman from Pennsylvania in calling attention to the matter. He is serving a most useful and helpful purpose in bringing out the true facts, but he does not go far enough in his chart showing where the money comes from and where it is spent.

Mr. LEAVY. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. I yield to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. LEAVY. In addition to the fact that this money in its beginning came from the West from the sale of land and from oil royalties and from other natural resources, the money is being paid back into the Federal Treasury; is that not a fact?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. All of these irrigation and reclamation projects are reimbursable. The investment is paid back to the Federal Government to serve as a revolving fund to create new wealth and new means of supporting population.

Mr. LEAVY. And construction payments right at this moment are paid up to 98 percent of the amount due?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. Something like that percentage, possibly higher.

Mr. MURDOCK of Utah. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. I yield to the gentleman from Utah.

Mr. MURDOCK of Utah. Is it not only showing half of the picture when the gentleman from Pennsylvania points out the fact that the big Eastern States pay the big end of

² The 1937 estimated assessed valuation of $7,018,785 used here does not include the valuation in areas to be benefited by the Colorado-Big Thompson project.

⁴ This total includes estimated assessed values in 1937 of $17,216,592 in Federal Reclamation projects in Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Texas.

taxes to the Federal Government? If he wanted to be fair in this thing and in his presentation of the matter, and if he wanted to give the House the whole picture, would he not point to the fact that the States of Utah, Nevada, Montana, Arizona, and all the rest of those intermountain States contribute more annually in the form of new wealth than any Eastern State to which he can point? Along that line may I call your attention to the fact that in 1937 one mining company in Utah, the Utah Copper Co., made $30,000,000 in net revenues, and every dime of it went to the States of New York, Pennsylvania, and other financial centers, so that those States get credit for paying the tax on wealth that the gentleman's State and my State produces.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. I yield to the gentleman from Montana.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Is it not a fact that the irrigated West provides a market for the manufactured and agricultural products of the Midwest, the East, and the South that has averaged more than $200,000,000 annually?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. Yes. That is a part of the record.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Is it not a further fact that for every person living on irrigated land and making his own living on that irrigated land two persons living in cities are dependent upon that one person living on irrigated land?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. Yes, something of that kind is in the record.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. I yield to the gentleman from Arizona.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. This is an Interior Department appropriation bill. Is it not manifestly unfair to contrast the eastern part of our country with the western part of it in regard to expenditures in this particular type of appropriation bill? If this were an Army or a Navy bill involving the safety of our entire country, such a contrast would be very improper, and if it were an Agricultural appropriation, it would be a different matter, but the West is the part of the country where such expenditures are properly made, and rightfully so, under this appropriation bill.

Mr. SCRUGHAM. Yes.

Mr. TABER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SCRUGHAM. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. TABER. I want to take this opportunity of congratulating the gentleman from Nevada on having performed the great engineering feat of moving Boulder Dam expenditures into New York and Pennsylvania.

Mr. SCRUGHAM. You will find that the biggest part of the expenditures for Boulder Dam project equipment not only in New York but in other Eastern States, also Wisconsin. [Applause.]

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Montana [Mr. O'CONNOR].

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the committee to some data I gave before the House Committee on Appropriations on the bill that is now before the House.

When we build a battleship or when we build anything else of that kind, we never get any money returns, but when the Federal Government invests money, or loans money, rather, to these reclamation projects, that is an investment on which the Federal Government receives returns, and it receives back the amounts that are invested. As has already been pointed out by the gentleman from Washington, all of the repayments up to date that are due are 97 percent paid; in other words, it is about the best investment that can be made, as far as I can find. I do not know of any other class of loans that proves to be 97 percent good.

My own State, for instance, is one-third owned by the Federal Government. Thirty-three million acres of our land in Montana are owned by the United States Government. All the royalties on our mineral and oil lands and the grazing fees for cattle and sheep are paid into the Federal Treasury. If we had all of those revenues from the various agencies that pay into the Federal Government from my own State, maybe we would not be asking for so much assistance here.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. RICH. Would the gentleman's State and the other States of the West accept these public lands and take them over and operate them themselves?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I am not so sure but that we should do that. Although I am not authorized to speak on this matter. We would have the tax money if we did.

Mr. RICH. It would be the best thing in the world for the States that take, because then you could operate your lands as you saw fit and would not be a detriment to the other States, and you would be able to handle the lands as you ought to. The trouble is that most of the Western States want the Government to take over these lands.

Mr. O'CONNOR. May I say to the gentleman that when Montana became a State 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ percent of the land was retained by the Federal Government, which it still owns, and out of which we do not get a single dime, yet for the use and enjoyment of it we have to pay the Federal Government. This is why the Federal Government should in turn at least lend us sufficient money so that we can build up our irrigation projects, out of which the industrial East gets \$200,000,000 annually because we serve as a market for your manufactured products. Do not forget that.

Mr. RICH. They are giving you more than they are getting. What I would recommend to the Federal Government is to give you those lands and let you run them as you see fit.

Mr. O'CONNOR. It might be a good suggestion.

I wish to direct your attention particularly now to the water-utilization program outlined by the Secretary of the Interior. The following States are interested directly: Montana, Wyoming, Utah, North and South Dakota, Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, Nebraska, New Mexico, Kansas, Oregon, Texas, and Oklahoma.

These projects under the $5,000,000 plan can be carried along in conjunction with the relief program in these States. If we retain in this bill the amount the Senate wrote in in addition to the amount that was already there, making a total of $3,500,000, we will not only develop irrigation projects by reason of which the Government will get its money back but we will also be enabled to employ relief labor there, inasmuch as the $50,000 restriction was removed through the striking of section 11 from the relief bill. That is under the operation of what is known as the Wheeler-Case law. Our irrigation development has created 50,000 farms out of a desert in the arid and semiarid West. In the cities, towns, and villages that are dependent for their existence on the purchasing power of these farmers are nearly three times the number that live on the farms, namely, a quarter of a million people. It has been truthfully said that for every person living on an irrigated project and directly making his living from his production on the land, there are two persons living in the cities and towns who are dependent upon him. We have a number of small water-conservation projects for construction, in part, by relief forces, such as the Big Horn-Turlock; pumping Yellowstone River, Sadie Flat; pumping Haley, pumping Buffalo Rapids project, Dead Man's Basin project; and various other projects on the upper Missouri and Yellowstone tributaries and the Saco Divide which would approximate $3,000,000 in cost and would make good homes for thousands of people. Now a fine start was made last year on some of these projects, but there is not sufficient money unless we retain the $3,500,000 item in the bill to enable us to go ahead with these projects. In the West, such as Montana, the greatest need of our ranchers and farmers is an adequate water supply. Reservoirs for the watering of livestock may be created with small expense by the help of relief labor. Montanans do not ask Uncle Sam for a hand-out. They merely ask him to keep up a good program he has already started and give the people a chance to make a living. They will pay him back.

We have other important projects that are being investigated, such as the Vaughn Division of the Sun River project where the dam is already built, the Gibson Dam on the Sun River, the Daley Spur for storage on Beaverhead River, the Canyon Ferry Reservoir on the Missouri River, Lake Como Reservoir, Bitter Root, and the general development growing out of the Fort Peck pumping project.

The $3,500,000 amendment, No. 71, must by all means be retained.

[Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 additional minutes to the gentleman from Montana.

Mr. MAHON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. MAHON. May I say that I concur heartily in what the gentleman says about these funds for the Case-Wheeler bill. I trust we will have no difficulty in retaining them in the bill.

Mr. MURDOCK of Utah. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Utah.

Mr. MURDOCK of Utah. Has the gentleman ever taken time to check up on the vast amount of money contributed by his State through the production of copper to the financial centers of New York and Boston and the rest of them, on which they claim the payment of taxes?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Yes. May I say to the gentleman that skyscrapers with towers on them reaching up into the heavens were built in the city of New York by reason of the copper and the gold taken out of my own State of Montana, and the same is true of the States of Arizona and Utah and other western States. Large buildings in Chicago have been built by people who made their money out of the sheep grower and the cattle grower in the gentleman's State and in my State. Many millionaires were made in New York, Boston, and Chicago by the products of our Western States. Further, the western people furnish a market for you industrial people of the East of $200,000,000 annually, in addition to what you have already taken out of our States as I said before.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from Arizona.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. The same thing applies to all the Mountain States. They have been the great reservoir of natural wealth out of which so many family fortunes in the East have grown.

Mr. O'CONNOR. That is right.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Besides the copper mines, there are gold and silver camps in the West that have furnished the means for the erection of skyscrapers not only in New York City but in San Francisco.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Yes.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Is it not true that San Francisco had its Virginia City, Nev. Is it not also true that $100,000,000 worth of wealth has been taken out of Tombstone, Ariz., and what is left there to show for it?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Further, Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, built a $5,000,000 house on Fifth Avenue in New York City out of the money he got from copper mined in the State of Montana.

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Well, some of that came from Jerome and Clarkdale, Ariz.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Is it not a fact that the Members of the House from the city of New York voted for this bill?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I do not believe the West has a better friend in the House than the gentleman from New York [Mr. FITZPATRICK]. He is always with us. I also wish to include in this statement many others of the New York delegation. I may say also to my good friend, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RICH], that he fights a lot, and he fights loudly, eloquently, and viciously against some of these matters, but down deep I know that his heart throbs in unison with the people out in that country who are trying to carve out a home out of a desert and make a living without coming down here on their knees asking for relief. I hope the $3,500,000 will be retained in the bill. [Applause.] [Here the gavel fell.]

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. ALLEN].

Mr. ALLEN of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, one of the items in this bill which carries a larger amount than that agreed on in the House is that providing funds for the Bituminous Coal Division for the next fiscal year.

At the time we had this bill before us, the House cut the appropriation for the Bituminous Coal Commission by over $1,000,000. They did so, as I see it, for two very definite reasons: First, because after 4 years of experimentation the Bituminous Coal Division has failed in every respect to carry out the provisions of the law which we enacted, and, secondly, by their regulations and their actions to date the Coal Division has given us some indication of what we can expect if they ever do establish minimum prices and if they ever do put into effect the regulations which they have established to date.

I think we should deprive this division of all funds. It will not be until next year that we will have an opportunity to bring this division and the Coal Act itself before Congress for judgment. But if they persist in carrying out the regulations which they have already established, I predict that chaos will prevail in a great, fundamental industry of this Nation, namely, bituminous coal. That industry will be paralyzed, the consumers will be called upon to pay an uneconomic price for the coal which they consume, more mines will be closed down, and more miners thrown out of employment.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we can only learn in one of two ways, either by the experience of others or by our own experience, and if we read the pages of history we are bound to observe that never, except in a socialist State, have profits been guaranteed to any industry by government edict. We cannot guarantee profits to bituminous coal by means of a few regulations and rules established by a Government bureau here in Washington.

Furthermore, we have given this Commission power to regulate prices only. Any man or woman in this House knows that you cannot regulate prices unless at the same time you regulate production. Both go hand and hand, and that is a fundamental economic problem which we learned many years ago. Mr. Ickes and the Bituminous Coal Commission cannot regulate prices for the bituminous-coal industry unless they control production at the same time, and Mr. Ickes has already told us, in one of his speeches, that he cannot do it and has given indication that his next request from the Congress will be the power to allocate production at the various coal mines of this country. When you control prices and when you control production you might just as well hand the whole industry over to the Government. Outright ownership will follow. Socialism will be the result.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ALLEN of Pennsylvania. I yield to my colleague.

Mr. RICH. How is he going to regulate production unless he regulates the production of oil? And then he must regulate the amount of imported oil so that we are not going to furnish oil from South America or some other country to the detriment of our bituminous-coal operators.

Mr. ALLEN of Pennsylvania. It is obviously unreasonable and unfair to expect that the Government can regulate one segment of the fuel industry without applying similar restrictions to other segments. Bituminous coal will be regulated, restricted, regimented, and suffocated by red tape. Competing fuels are absolutely free of all these obstructions.

I sincerely hope that the membership of this House will give consideration to this problem before they vote for this conference report. [Applause.] I for one prefer to use the funds herein involved for national defense rather than waste them on this futile, extravagant experiment.

[Here the gavel fell.]

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. GARRETT asked and was given permission to revise his own remarks in the Record.

CONFERENCE REPORT—INTERIOR DEPARTMENT APPROPRIATION BILL, 1941

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. LEAVY].

Mr. LEAVY. Mr. Speaker, in the limited time at my disposal I want to address myself to the remarks just made by the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. ALLEN] with reference to the National Bituminous Coal Commission.

First let us remember there is no coal commission. Under the reorganization it has become the Coal Division, and there is but one man that heads it now instead of a commission of five men, and the personnel on the staff has been reduced to about 25 percent of what it was 3 years ago.

The act automatically expires next year unless Congress sees fit to reenact it. The coal industry in this country is paying a 1-cent-per-ton tax, and 1 week ago today the United States Supreme Court—and I happened to be in the courtroom when the decision was read—held this act constitutional in practically all of its phases, particularly as to the 19½-cents-per-ton tax for the noncompliance by producers. Now, to take away from the industry and from the Coal Division the right to administer the act in the last year as fully as it needs to be would be, in my judgment, the height of folly. The industry is paying nearly $4,000,000 into the Treasury. The total sum called for here is slightly over $2,200,000, or something like that, and why not in this year give them of their own money—since the act is a constitutional act—sufficient funds to administer it so that we may know next year whether we want to continue this legislation or repeal it. We should know whether it has been a success, and we certainly can never know that fact if we starve the administration of it to death financially. [Applause.]

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. ANGELL].

Mr. ANGELL. Mr. Speaker, Bonneville Dam, as is well known, is in my district on the Oregon side, and on the Washington side in the district of my colleague from Washington. The amount carried in this conference report is for transmission facilities, transmission lines, and substations, and the amount as it passed the House was $5,650,000. The Senate raised that amount $1,000,000, making it $6,650,000, which has been agreed to by the conferees. That only brings it back to the Budget allowance. It places it exactly where it was under the Budget allowance. There were hearings in the Senate, and expert testimony was given there, as was given in the House committee, to show conclusively that these funds are absolutely necessary in order to provide these transmission facilities that this power may be marketed. Bonneville Dam is not a white elephant; it is not a project established merely to give an avenue for spending Federal funds. It is a project which pays its own way. I can clearly demonstrate that to you when I show you that the first two units will develop only 86,400 kilowatt-hours a year, and the applications now received are for 657,614 kilowatts, and the applications ready for connection amount to 92,971 kilowatts. One institution alone, the Aluminum Co. of America, has recently taken, pursuant to contracts running over a period of years, 32,500 kilowatts a year, which is just double the amount it agreed to take originally, and it alone will take up practically the entire output of the first two units of this project. I call attention to the fact that units 5 and 6 will produce 108,000 kilowatts, and that, sold on the basis of the contract price, $17.50 per kilowatt per year, will bring in $1,890,000 revenue per year. This project not only pays its own way, but under the set-up all of the money expended will be paid back with interest, and we will be provided with a utility which will supply the community with electric power at a saving of 20 to 25 percent.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ANGELL. Yes; I yield to my friend the gentleman from Massachusetts.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. I know the gentleman wants to have his statement clearly understood, but he does not mean to say that the total cost of the Bonneville Dam will be repaid by the returns from this power and that it will repay all of the bonds that are outstanding on the dam.

Mr. ANGELL. I intend to say just exactly that, as to costs allocated to power development.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. The facts are that only 32 percent of the cost of the dam is charged to power.

Mr. ANGELL. Oh, that is not true as far as power costs are concerned.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. It is true, because the records of the Power Commission show it.

Mr. ANGELL. I will show the gentleman clearly that it is not true.

Mr. BATES of Massachusetts. What are the facts?

Mr. ANGELL. These are the facts: The Columbia River is the second largest river in the United States. It carries on its bosom a great amount of commerce from that whole interior country. It has been under development before the power project was ever heard of for navigation, and this project is only partially a power project. As a matter of fact, power is a mere side issue; it is a byproduct. The main project is the development of navigation on the Columbia River. They have a sea lock in the dam which provides for taking care of oceangoing vessels and to provide river transportation for that whole interior country. The gentlemen who made up the allocation as to the amount of money that should be allocated for power figured it out exactly, as far as they were able to ascertain what the cost of the power project alone should be, and they estimated it to be 32 percent of the entire cost of the project, as I remember it, so that every single dollar which goes to the construction of the Bonneville Dam as a power project is charged and will be repaid with interest, and the good citizens of Massachusetts will get back every single penny loaned for the construction of the dam, and, as shown today, a very large part of the material that goes into the construction of the dam comes from the East.

Mr. Speaker, the Bonneville power administration has agreed to deliver a second block of 32,500 kilowatts of power to the Aluminum Co. of America, which now is building its first western reduction plant, to use Bonneville power.

Attracted to the Pacific coast by the large quantities of low-cost energy becoming available on the Columbia River as the result of a Federal construction program at Bonneville and Grand Coulee, the company signed a 20-year contract last December for an initial 32,500 kilowatts of power.

The new contract runs for 5 years and increases the company's total demand for Bonneville power to 65,000 kilowatts. It permits the firm to double capacity of the Vancouver plant, where aluminum will be produced from alumina processed at East St. Louis, Ill., and Mobile, Ala.

The company advised Paul J. Raver, Bonneville power administrator, that it would immediately begin construction of the additional unit made possible by the augmented power supply.

In requesting the additional power, Aluminum Co. officials told Administrator Raver that in view of the unusual demand for aluminum resulting from the situation in Europe and the preparedness program of the United States, they felt the company should proceed immediately with expansion of the Vancouver plant.

Date for delivery of power under the second contract is dependent upon completion of generating units 3 and 4, now being installed at the Bonneville powerhouse by the United States Corps of Army Engineers. These two generators, each having a capacity of 54,000 kilowatts, are expected to be ready early in 1941. The first contract calls for delivery of power upon completion of the company's first Vancouver unit, expected some time next fall. The present installed capacity of the Bonneville powerhouse is 86,400 kilowatts—two generators; the ultimate—10 generators with total capacity of 518,400 kilowatts.

The power is being sold to the Aluminum Co. on the basis of $17.50 a year for each kilowatt, the standard wholesale power rate at all points on the Bonneville system outside of a 15-mile zone around the dam, where the rate is $14.50.

The new contract brought the total contractual obligations of the Bonneville power administration for all types of agencies—public and private utilities and industries—to 97,610 kilowatts and placed the administration in the position of selling power ahead of the actual installation of generating capacity.

In other words—

Raver said—

the actual demand for power is preceding our ability to supply it, and it is necessary to schedule deliveries to correspond with the completion of our generating facilities.

Execution of the contract in no way affects the priorities given public bodies and cooperatives by the Bonneville Act.

In negotiating all contracts—

He explained—

due consideration is given to the protection of the interests of public agencies, which, under the law, have a preference to Bonneville power.

Units 1 and 2 of the Bonneville project, completed and in operation, produce 86,000 kilowatts. Units 3 and 4, which are under construction, and for which appropriations have been made, will be completed on or about April 1941 and will produce 108,000 kilowatts. Units 5 and 6 are also under construction, and, with the $800,000 provided by the House, require no additional appropriation, and will be completed early in the summer or late spring of 1942. They will produce 108,000 kilowatts. The additional units, 7, 8, 9, and 10, have not been started, and are not authorized. The additional expenditures provided by the action of Senate, as set forth in Senate report No. 1397, are strictly limited to speeding up the construction of units 3 and 4, and to building the foundations for units 7, 8, 9, and 10.

The Portland (Oreg.) Journal, commenting editorially on the demand for Bonneville power, says:

BONNEVILLE PREDICAMENT GOOD NEWS

For the time being, the Bonneville administration is in the happy predicament of having more power sold than it can deliver. The second Aluminum Co. contract brings total contract commitments to industries, cities, public utilities departments, and private companies to 97,610 kilowatts. Capacity of the two generators now in service is 86,400.

That doesn't mean that there is a shortage of Bonneville power today, or that there will be one in 1941, when over 300,000 kilowatts will be available. The Aluminum Co., Sierra Iron, and several P. U. D. contracts are not yet effective.

But it does mean that Bonneville power sales are keeping pace with installation of additional generators by the Army engineers. And it makes welcome the news that the Senate has approved an additional appropriation of $2,600,000 for powerhouse construction.

The new appropriation, added to the $800,000 allowed by the House, will provide $3,400,000 for powerhouse work. That will permit speed-up of work on four additional generators so they will be ready about next January 1, when the first 32,500-kilowatt Aluminum Co. contract becomes effective.

Bonneville has passed out of the dream stage and has become a going concern. It is selling power in increasing quantities for domestic, commercial, and industrial use. It seems not only possible, but certain, that Bonneville power will find a market as rapidly as generators and lines are completed, until its entire 10-unit, 518,400-kilowatt capacity is put to beneficial use.

On page 174 of the Senate hearings the prime power sales progress schedule is given, and this exhibit may be summarized as follows:

Item	Number of applications	Kilowatts
Applications received.....	121	657,614
Applications ready for connection.....	40	92,971
Feasibility reports completed.....	25	128,621
Contracts submitted and executed.....	23	82,210

Since the preparation of the exhibit, Administrator Raver testified on pages 213 and the following of the Senate hearings that the Aluminum Co. was negotiating for an additional contract of 32,500 kilowatts, which has now been consummated, and that another large industrial organization has asked for a reservation of 50,000 kilowatts.

BONNEVILLE AND MINING WAGE EARNERS

The gainful direct employment in mining is relatively small compared with processing and indirect employment. In the United States as a whole there is only 1 wage earner in mining to 10 wage earners in industry.

The following table from the United States Department of Commerce statistics shows mining wage earners in the principal Western States and the number of industrial workers per mine worker:

State	Number of mining wage earners	Industrial worker per miner
Arizona.....	6,253	0.8
California.....	33,895	7.2
Colorado.....	14,202	1.6
Idaho.....	4,152	2.5
Montana.....	9,461	1.0
Oregon.....	1,841	28.0
Utah.....	7,556	1.5
Washington.....	3,958	20.6

This table shows that mining activity in Oregon and Washington has lagged behind other States, and that Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, and Montana have largely exported their minerals in an unfabricated state, and imported their mining supplies and materials.

The Northwest has the following strategic minerals which are now nationally imported. This classification was taken from War Department official lists:

STRATEGIC MINERALS VITAL TO NATIONAL DEFENSE LOCATED IN THE NORTHWEST

- Antimony: Essential military shells and auto batteries.
- Chromium: Stainless steel.
- Magnesium: Metal of future—airplanes.
- Manganese: Vital to steel industry.
- Mercury: Explosives.
- Mica: Electrical industry—automobiles.
- Nickel: Steel industry and munitions.
- Tin: Containers.
- Tungsten: Automobile and steel.
- Critical list, Northwest minerals, War Department official list: Lead, graphite, zinc.
- Essential list, Northwest minerals: Copper, gold.
- Commercial list, Northwest minerals: Bismuth, China clay, diatomite, feldspar, gypsum, iron, limestone, phosphate, silica, silver, talc.

Mining furnishes a substantial indirect pay roll for supplies and materials used in mining, for transportation, clerical help, and trade. In the Western States cited 20 to 33 percent of the value of the mined product goes into mining supplies and materials. Conservatively, the indirect pay roll is nearly double the direct pay roll.

Direct mining employment is not the measure of value of the mining industry. Its chief value lies in the national or regional wealth it produces and the indirect and industrial pay roll it creates. To secure national industrial independence, we must produce rather than import our strategic and critical minerals.

There is no direct means of measurement available for the possible additional direct-mining pay roll in the Northwest. The extent of the cited minerals in the region has not been fully explored, neither has full information been secured on the quality. However, it is known that the quality approaches the lower grade. The large extent of the magnesium and mercury deposits is fairly definitely established. The United States Geological Survey and the Bureau of Mines are now exploring the chrome and manganese occurrences. Electrochemical and electrometallurgical technology is the avenue to be used to overcome the commercial handicap of low-grade ores. This has been worked out for chrome, manganese, and magnesium by the United States Bureau of Mines and Washington State College at Pullman. To release the remaining listed minerals for commercial use, further exploration and research are necessary. As an example of the fact that the direct-mining pay roll is not the real measure of intrinsic worth of the mining industry, it can be cited that all the iron mines in the United States had only 14,873 direct wage earners. The steel furnaces and rolling mills in the same period employed on the average 359,630 wage earners, or 24.1 industrial workers per mine worker.

With the present state of our knowledge as to the occurrences, quality, and transportation requirements of the Northwest's mineral resources, the best that we can do is to roughly estimate from statistical analysis and comparisons with other States the probable additional direct-mining employment under existing known conditions.

Such an estimate of additional mining wage earners of all classes, metallic and nonmetallic, is as follows:

Low direct-employment estimate would be about 70 percent of present mine employment in Oregon and Washington, or additional wage earners, 4,000; conservative upper estimate, 22 percent of existing California employment, 7,400; or the indirect ratio can be conservatively taken as 60 percent of the national average, or 1.6 indirect employees in all classifications per 1 mining wage earner.

The industrial ratio also, to be conservative, can be taken as 25 percent of the national average, or 35 percent of the California ratio.

Summarizing these rough estimates, we secure the following on mining and allied wage earners:

	Lower range	Upper conservative range
Direct mining employment.....	4,000	7,400
Indirect employment.....	6,400	11,800
Industrial employment fabricating all classes of mineral products.....	10,000	18,500
Total.....	20,400	37,700

In making these estimates the intent was to base the same on known facts and to be conservative.

The direct mining and industrial employment based on mining alone, cited above, represents a 10- and 18.5-percent increase over the last reported existing total mining and industrial employment in Oregon and Washington.

The complete Bonneville plant will have sufficient available capacity to make such employment possible. The time that this employment can be reached will depend on the program of exploration, research, construction, and marketing.

This industrial employment applies only to minerals and does not include industrial activity represented by steel, forest product, agricultural, and general manufacture. These would be in addition to the mining activities.

The total over-all industrial direct employment from Bonneville can fall into four possible classifications, depending on the type of industry contracted. These are:

- (1) Basic industries with a small ratio of undistributed satellite industries, represented by 28.2 wage earners per 1,000 horsepower. This is the situation at Niagara Falls, N. Y.----- 12,400
- (2) Basic industries with larger number of smaller industries. Conditions similar to Niagara County, N. Y., or 42 direct wage earners per 1,000 horsepower.----- 18,300
- (3) 33 percent of present industrial employment in Oregon and Washington, or 100 wage earners per 1,000 horsepower. Fair distribution of smaller industries induced by the basic industries.----- 44,000
- (4) National average of ratio of basic to distributed industries, or 153 wage earners per 1,000 horsepower.----- 67,500

These over-all industrial employment figures are based on total Bonneville installed and available horsepower. Indirect employment of 1 to 2 per industrial worker is in addition to the above.

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman from Oregon has expired.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. MURDOCK].

Mr. MURDOCK of Arizona. Mr. Speaker, I have heard a good deal of sectionalism in this debate today. Much has been said about the States that give and the States that take. One part of our country is arrayed against the other part of the country. That it is just as logical as if a man contrasted his right lung with his left kidney in discussing their relative worth.

Back in 1787 Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin constituted the great West, and in 1787 there were some fearful souls who said, "Beware of the West." Their counsel, thank God, did not prevail. The ordinance of 1787 had the development of that great West in vision, and the still greater document, the Constitution of the United States, provided that States should be formed out there and admitted on terms of equality with the other 13 States. That was unselfish political statesmanship.

Thus came about the unity of the Nation, one great Nation, a family of States, being one and indivisible. That was the wisdom of our forefathers. Do we want a United States consolidated in an economic and industrial and commercial relationship? We do; just the same indivisible country and economic unity as we have in a political sense.

All such appropriations as that being made here, Mr. Speaker, have been shown to be reimbursable and returnable. Not one penny that you are investing in the great West is being poured into the sea or down a rat hole. It will return manyfold. Every man in the West who is furnished employment creates employment for two or three in the East. That part of our country lying west of a line drawn through Kansas City, the great West, is dependent upon the great East. The great East is equally dependent upon it, and I want that mutual relationship to be understood.

Not only ought we to appreciate this great united country with its variegated industry, but we ought to strive to make it greater, more united, and more variegated. Powerful nations in the Old World, under a pretext of requiring more room in the sun, fight with desperation and without ethics to add to their domain other lands rich in natural resources, especially of mineral resources, and also more productive areas which they say they require to round out their national necessities. Now, we have in this country, without very much fighting for it, but merely possessing the land, all of the much-sought-after natural resources which some other nations risk millions of lives and the terrible verdict of history in order to obtain. Ask Italy or Japan or Germany what price they are willing to pay for obtaining that which they regard as necessary for a well-rounded national economy and existence.

Yes, we ought to thank Heaven that our manifest destiny does not mean a conquest of highly civilized neighbors in order to deprive them of their lands that we might have what we want. But our manifest destiny as a nation is to conquer this goodly land "from sea to shining sea." Having carried the flag from the Atlantic to the Pacific across the best portion of this continent, it is our manifest destiny to conquer the land and inhabit it to the full. It is a part of the task of the Interior Department of our Government to utilize this land in a spirit of wise conservation and a still wiser utilization. This costs money, but it is a far better investment than many other greater expenditures that our Nation has put out. It is by a wise kind of expenditure that national economic unity and proper interdependency can be established.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman from Arizona has expired; all time has expired.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the conference report.

The previous question was ordered.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground there is not a quorum present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has just counted. Evidently there is not a quorum present. The Doorkeeper will close the doors, the Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members, and the Clerk will call the roll.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the first amendment in disagreement.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment No. 6, page 11, line 23:

"WAR MINERALS RELIEF COMMISSION

"Administrative expenses: For administrative expenses made necessary by section 5 of the act entitled 'An act to provide relief in cases of contracts connected with the prosecution of the war, and for other purposes,' approved March 2, 1919 (40 Stat. 1272), including personal services, without regard to the civil-service laws and regulations; traveling and subsistence expenses; supplies, and all other expenses incident to the proper prosecution of this work, both in the District of Columbia and elsewhere, $11,200: Provided, That any claim that has not been prosecuted and disposed of prior to July 1, 1941, shall not thereafter be considered by the Secretary of the Interior and shall be barred."

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate No. 6 and concur in the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RICH].

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, the amount of money allotted to the War Minerals Relief Commission is small, but we have been carrying this Commission along now for almost 22 years. It certainly seems to me that this business should have been wound up 10 years ago. It is not right, it is not just to let this thing drag along in this fashion. They should finish their job and be disbanded. It is unsound for us to keep up this item of expense just to prolong the job for lawyers who want jobs.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I may say to the gentleman from Pennsylvania that I concur heartily in all that he has said. The amendment of the Senate restores the appropriation of $11,200 for the War Minerals Relief Commission which was eliminated from the Budget estimates by the House. The Senate has amended the original Budget language to provide that no claims shall be considered and adjusted after June 30, 1941. This will have the effect of winding up the affairs of this Commission at the close of the fiscal year 1941. It is my understanding that 161 claims are pending at the present time. The House conferees were willing to accept the proposal with the limitation provided by the Senate amendment.

Mr. RICH. I hope they do. It is high time to close it up.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the motion.

The previous question was ordered.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the next amendment in disagreement.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment No. 9: Page 13, line 24, after the figures "$159,000", insert the following: "of which amount not exceeding $10,000 shall be available for expenditure in the discretion of the High Commissioner for maintenance of his household and such other purposes as he may deem proper: Provided, That the salary of the legal adviser and the financial expert shall not exceed the annual rate of $10,000 and $9,000 each, respectively: Provided further, That section 3709 of the Revised Statutes (41 U. S. C. 5) shall not apply to any purchase or service rendered under this appropriation when the aggregate amount involved does not exceed the sum of $100."

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate No. 9 and concur in the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RICH].

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, in reference to this item I would like to say that we have now spent $750,000 to build a home and a summer home in the Philippine Islands for the High Commissioner. This item is for the purpose of bearing a great part of the expense. We paid $18,000 for rent. We are increasing the amount we give to the Commissioner.

If we are going to give the Philippines their independence in 1945—and a bill was passed for that specific purpose—why should we increase the appropriation we make to look after the Filipinos? We ought to be cutting down these appropriations and make them learn to handle the business of government operation. It just is not good business and does not appeal to me as a businessman. I hope the amendment will be voted down.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER].

Mr. TABER. Mr. Speaker, this is a scheme to raise the personal funds that the High Commissioner to the Philippines has at his disposal. It will allow him to spend for his own household $10,000 and it will add $8,000 to the funds now available for the High Commissioner and his office.

It also provides for two additional jobs, the salary of a legal adviser and a financial expert at an annual salary of $10,000 and $9,000, respectively, at a time when we are planning in a few years to be out of the Philippines. It sounds like the most silly and ridiculous operation that can be imagined and I hope the House will refuse to concur in this amendment.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, replying to the distinguished gentlemen from New York and Pennsylvania, may I say that there are no new jobs involved in this amendment. There is no appropriation involved in this amendment. There is no question of policies involved in this amendment. It simply restores an item that went out on a point of order when the bill was being considered in the House on the ground it was legislation on an appropriation bill. Similar language has been provided under this item for a number of years and has heretofore been regarded as necessary. We felt that a majority of the Membership of the House would favor the amendment, that it is a just and essential provision, and that the House should accept it.

Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The question was taken; and on a division (demanded by Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma) there were—ayes 111, noes 86.

So the previous question was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. JOHNSON].

The question was taken; and on a division (demanded by by Mr. TABER) there were—ayes 122, noes 106.

So the motion was agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that amendments in disagreement Nos. 11 and 12 be considered together. They have reference to one matter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. JOHNSON]?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the two amendments in disagreement.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment No. 11: On page 25, line 9, after the word "Provided," insert: "That in addition to the amount herein appropriated the Secretary of the Interior may also incur obligations, and enter into contracts for the acquisition of the additional land, not exceeding a total of $325,000, and his action in so doing shall be deemed a contractual obligation of the Federal Government for the payment of the cost thereof, and appropriations hereafter made for the acquisition of land pursuant to the authorization contained in the act of June 18, 1934, shall be available for the purpose of discharging the obligation or obligations so created: Provided further."

Amendment No. 12: Page 25, line 20, after the word "appropriated", insert "or of this contract authorization."

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move to re-cede and concur in the Senate amendment.

Mr. RICH. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that this amendment allows $300,000 for contractual obligations so far as the purchase of land is concerned. I would like to know why we want to contract for additional land when the State of Nevada says it does not want the Government to buy any more land in that State, when the State of New Mexico does not want the Government to buy any land in that State, when the State of Colorado refuses to permit the Government to buy any land in that State, and when the State of Oklahoma, the State from which the chairman of the subcommittee comes, does not want the Federal Government to buy any land? Notwithstanding all this, we provide this revolving fund of $300,000 to purchase land.

Mr. Speaker, when the majority of these States refuse to permit the United States Government to buy land in those States, why do we want to authorize $300,000 additional for that purpose? It is not right, and I think it is time to stop the purchase of these lands because it seems to me that the majority of the States have refused to permit the Government to come into the States to make these purchases. The States say the Government buys the land and we lose the taxes, and they are right.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, answering the gentleman from Pennsylvania, I may say that the sum involved is far less than the amount authorized by the Congress of the United States to be appropriated annually for this purpose. The Indian Reorganization Act authorized an appropriation of $2,000,000 annually for this purpose. In many areas of the country the Indians are in need of land on which to raise farm products, cattle, hogs, and so forth. This program is a part of a plan to make the Indians self-supporting; and the gentleman from Pennsylvania says he favors that. The House conferees felt justified in accepting the Senate amendment, particularly in view of the fact that authorizations of about the same amount have been carried in the bill during recent years.

Mr. RICH. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. RICH. Has the gentleman a Budget estimate for this amount?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. No; there is no Budget estimate.

Mr. RICH. These conferees want to go beyond the scope that the House has tried to set up here. They have not a Budget estimate, and yet they want to appropriate this money. It is time to stop.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. As I said a moment ago, the Congress of the United States passed the law, and this is authorized by that law.

Mr. RICH. There is something wrong with the Congress when it appropriates and appropriates and there is no money in the Treasury. It is time to stop.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I know the gentleman from Pennsylvania seems to think there is something very seriously wrong with the Congress of the United States, and there may be, but anyhow the Congress has spoken and it has stated the policy.

Mr. RANKIN. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from Mississippi.

Mr. RANKIN. I want to ask the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RICH] if he would vote for it if we had a Budget estimate?

Mr. RICH. No; because the Budget officers themselves do not know what they are doing; neither does the Congress.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from New York [Mr. REED].

Mr. REED of New York. Mr. Speaker, many of the States today are objecting to the purchase of land in those States because it takes that land off the tax rolls. There are some States today that can hardly carry on their civil government because of the large amount of land that has been taken from the tax rolls, and they are unable to provide revenue for the support of their judges, county officers, and so forth.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. That is very true, but there are also other States that are very anxious that land be purchased, and I may say to the gentleman that that applies particularly to my State with reference to Indian lands.

Mr. REED of New York. That is all right now, but a little later the gentleman will be in here wanting the Federal Government to pay the State and local taxes of the State of Oklahoma.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I think the gentleman is mistaken.

Mr. LAMBERTSON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from Kansas.

Mr. LAMBERTSON. I want to make this objection to these contractual obligations. No matter if they have been authorized, and the Congress is often very loose in its authorizations, we do bear the responsibility in the last analysis on the appropriations. When we do not have the nerve to appropriate we offer contractual obligations. An amendment will come up for consideration a little later under which $2,000,000 is appropriated and $6,000,000 authorized for contractual obligations. Just think of that. I think it is a crime, and we ought to beat every amendment that has that sort of thing in it. It binds future Congresses against the spirit of the Constitution which limits us to the present.

Mr. CASE of South Dakota. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from South Dakota.

Mr. CASE of South Dakota. What does the gentleman think of concurring in the Senate amendment with an amendment to provide further that preference in acquisition shall be given to the purchase of lands from aged Indians or lands involved in estates.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I would be in sympathy with what the gentleman has in mind, but the Indian Service has assured the committee it will give consideration to the aged Indians. I believe the Indian Service will keep faith with the committee.

Mr. CASE of South Dakota. The gentleman has that assurance from the Indian Office?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Yes.

Mr. CASE of South Dakota. The gentleman spoke of this dead-land proposition, and that is a serious matter.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. That is a serious matter, and it must be cleared up.

Mr. TABER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. TABER. This is an attempt to get contract authorization for buying more land, $325,000 above the Budget. Just now we are going to be stretching ourselves just as far as we can to provide for the necessary items for national defense. There is absolutely no excuse for this item. There is no reason at all why we should authorize the Secretary of the Interior to enter into contracts for the purchase of lands. No one can buy land in that way at as good advantage as he can if he has the money with which to pay for the land. I hope the House will show some business judgment and refuse to concur in the Senate amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. JOHNSON].

The question was taken; and on a division (demanded by Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma) there were—ayes 114, noes 97.

Mr. TABER. Mr. Speaker, I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken; and there were—yeas 173, nays 164, not voting 93, as follows:

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order that since this roll call was not an automatic roll call, as the result of the absence of a quorum, each Member who votes from now on must qualify.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair was about to qualify all Members who wish to vote.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the next amendment in disagreement.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment No. 18: On page 45, line 15, after the "1040" in parenthesis, insert "including the development or purchase of electrical energy and the distribution and sale thereof."

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede and concur in the Senate amendment with an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma moves that the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 18 and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the matter inserted by said amendment, insert the following: "including the purchase of electrical energy and the distribution and sale thereof."

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. RICH. May I say that the committee did a good thing in cutting out the words "development or" which the Senate placed in this bill, but they did not go far enough because we are setting the Government up in another business, that of buying and selling electrical energy, and spending $1,150,000 to do so. If you want to continue to make this a communistic government, of course, I cannot stop you.

Mr. JOHNSON of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I would like to assure the House that no additional appropriation is involved in connection with this amendment. It simply permits the use of funds which would have been provided in any event. It will permit the sale of power purchased by the Bureau of Indian Affairs from the Reclamation Service, to towns and private business located adjacent to the Colorado River project in Arizona. It is my understanding that this is the most economical method of bringing power to this area, from the generating plant at Parker Dam. Only a small portion of the power will be sold, however, the greater portion being required for use on the project.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. JOHNSON].

The question was taken; and on a division (demanded by Mr. JOHNSON) there were—ayes 106, noes 97.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I think we may as well record the Members on this question, and I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken; and there were—yeas 163, nays 159, not voting 108, as follows:

THE TRUTH ABOUT OUR PATENT SYSTEM

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 1 minute and to extend my remarks in the RECORD at this point.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, there appeared in the Appendix of the RECORD, page 3181, as part of remarks by the gentleman from California, Hon. JOHN Z. ANDERSON, an article by Mr. Frank C. Waldrop, originally published in the Washington Times-Herald of May 20, 1940. The article was entitled "A Hiding Place for the 'Fifth Column'—Nazi Use Our Patent System To Sabotage Us."

The author of this screed was obviously either ignorant or disregardful of facts which are easily obtainable either from those administering the patent system or from the officials of the Department of War and the Department of the Navy. Even the statutes of the United States would have supplied the facts if the writer had not seemingly been more eager to have a dramatic "story" than a correct one.

It must appear strange to any reader of this effusion that it bears no evidence of the writer's quest for information from the Commissioner of Patents or from any representative of the departments having the gravest concern and the most intimate familiarity with the problems of our national defense. They have expressed no fear that the patent system is lending itself to sabotage by alien governments or treacherous groups in this country. I do not know whether Mr. Waldrop's column in the Times-Herald is the "fifth" or some other, but I am quite certain that it is, in this instance, the last in point of factual reliability. Let us turn to official and dependable sources for the truth, and here is what we find:

First, the patents covering inventions belonging to the Army and the Navy are held in complete secrecy.

Second, not only the Army and the Navy but also other agencies of our Government benefit by the patenting, and therefore the disclosure, of foreign inventors in the United States.

Let me particularize not simply for the benefit of Mr. Waldrop but still more for the removal of whatever false impressions he has left upon the minds of his readers, including those who have read his article.

Mr. Waldrop has indicated that the American patent system is a convenience for the secret agents of foreign governments which would weaken or prevent our defenses against an enemy in time of war. The very reverse is the case. When patent applications are filed complete details are known in the United States Patent Office, and as soon as the patent is granted full knowledge is available to the general public. Consequently a patent is the last place in which to hide anything, since in its very nature a patent is a public document. When foreigners obtain patents in the United States they must reveal the purpose and the methods of construction of the inventions for which they seek this protection. In particular, with respect to patents relating to the national defense, the United States Government is immediately made aware of the details of the foreign inventions. It is not, therefore, the inventions that are patented in the United States that need be feared, but those which are not patented here, for the details of these are withheld from our officials and citizens. Hence the securing of patents assures the revelation, not the concealment, of the secrets of foreign countries.

It is further asserted that American patents are used to block off and harass American rearmament. This statement can only have been made in complete ignorance of the law which relates to the use of inventions by the United States Government. An act of Congress passed June 25, 1910, and amended July 1, 1918 (36 Stat. U. S. C., title 35, sec. 68), provides that—

Whenever an invention described in and covered by a patent of the United States shall hereafter be used or manufactured by or for the United States without license of the owner thereof or lawful right to use or manufacture the same, such owner's remedy shall be by suit against the United States in the Court of Claims for the recovery of his reasonable and entire compensation for such use and manufacture.

And contains also the provision:

That in any such suit the United States may avail itself of any and all defenses, general or special, that might be pleaded by a defendant in an action for infringement, as set forth in title 60 of the Revised Statutes or otherwise.

By virtue of this law the United States Government may use any patented invention in furtherance of the national defense or other governmental activity. Not only can the Government use the invention itself without being hindered by the patentee but also manufacturers engaged to make devices for the United States Government are saved from suit by the patentee.

In other words, the Government may freely use these inventions relating to national defense. The patentee, of course, is not left completely without redress. By subsequent application to the Court of Claims the reasonable compensation for the use by the Government is determined, but this application does not interfere in any way with the armament or defense of the country. Accordingly, it may be pointed out that the actual situation is exactly the opposite from that indicated by the article. Inventions which are patented in this country are completely public, and the Government is not precluded in any manner from making a full use of any of these inventions. Inventions relating to armaments which are not patented in this country may never become known here, and it is of these, therefore, that the United States could have no use or benefit.

There have been no complaints by American manufacturers that they are hampered by foreign patents. Thus far foreign patentees have been particularly anxious to have their inventions manufactured in this country, for ours is the most profitable market for them. Not only has there been no complaint on this score, but measures which were designed to meet a supposed evil were opposed by American manufacturers.

If the United States should become involved in war, there is an act of Congress which would empower the Government to prevent the patenting—and by that process the disclosure—of inventions that might be useful to the enemy. And, of course, the invention could be used by the United States for its own purposes. Our experience in the World War demonstrated that the grant of patents of military and naval value in the years preceding 1917 redounded to the advantage of this country. Thousands of German patents were seized and proved of great utility to the Government and the industries supplying its needs.

The facts here presented negative fears and particularly contradict loose assertions that this country is endangered by the grant of patents to Germans or other foreigners, or that individuals or "captive American firms" can prevent our employment of these alien inventions for our own defense.

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

"FIFTH COLUMN" ACTIVITIES

Mr. PATMAN. Mr. Speaker, as sincerely as I know how, I want to put before the Congress of the United States certain facts and information which are of vital concern to our Government and therefore to the people of our great Nation.

In these trying days the future of not only Europe's democracy but perhaps our own American democracy is at stake.

THE AMERICAN CITIZEN WHO RODE FIRST HITLER TROJAN HORSE INTO OUR COUNTRY SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED IMMEDIATELY

We have every reason to believe that Adolf Hitler and his bloody legions of nazi-ism are looking toward this continent as their next move of conquest.

Therefore it becomes increasingly important to the welfare of our Nation that we profit from the mistakes made by the European democracies—mistakes which apparently have made Hitler the virtual ruler of Europe today.

And the greatest mistake made by the democratic Allies was the mistake of allowing Hitler's "fifth column"—his propaganda agents—to steal into the democracies and secretly and dastardly prepare that nation to be delivered to Hitler.

That must not happen in America. But it can happen.

"FIFTH COLUMN"

When the Fascists were approaching Madrid, Spain, in the war in 1936, a general said, "We have four columns of soldiers approaching Madrid and the 'fifth column' will rise up from within Madrid to help us." That is where the phrase "fifth column" came from. A report coming to America from one who resides in Holland is to the effect that for months preceding the time that Germany invaded Holland and Belgium large posters advertising a brand of coffee were placed all over these two countries on billboards, houses, barns, and other places where such advertising is usually placed. When the parachutists arrived and landed, the first thing they did was to go to the nearest coffee sign. When the advertisement was taken down by the German parachutists, on the back of it there was a diagram and map which showed exactly the location of the nearest German sympathizer. Names and addresses were given on the backs of these posters. In that way the German soldiers were greatly assisted, and from the homes of these sympathizers they were able to organize themselves, along with others, and destroy the telephone, telegraph, radio, and other means of communication, the transportation system, shoot the local policemen in the backs, and do other things calculated to cause consternation and disorganization which would allow the German troops to come in and take charge of the country easily. Hitler has always boasted that he would take charge of the world by stealth and intrigue; that he would have plenty of support in each country before going into that country.

This Trojan-horse policy was adopted at the Seventh Congress of the Communist International held in Moscow. It was described by George Dimitrov in an address to the congress on August 20, 1935, in the following language:

Comrades, you remember the ancient tale of the capture of Troy. Troy was inaccessible to the armies attacking her, thanks to her impregnable walls; and the attacking army, after suffering many sacrifices, was unable to achieve victory until with the aid of the famous Trojan horse it managed to penetrate to the very heart of the enemies' camp. We revolutionary workers, it appears to me, should not be shy about using the same tactics.

Years ago Adolf Hitler described in detail this new and diabolical method of destroying the governments and liberties of other countries. I ask you to ponder his words:

When I wage war, troops will suddenly appear. * * * They will march through the streets in broad daylight. * * * No one will stop them. Everything has been thought out to the last detail. They will march to the headquarters of the general staff. * * * The confusion will be beyond belief. But I shall long have had relations with the men who will form a new government—a government to suit me. We will find such men; we shall find them in every country; we shall not need to bribe them. They will come of their own accord. Ambition and delusion, party squabbles, and self-seeking arrogance will drive them. * * * Our strategy is to destroy the enemy from within, to conquer him through himself.

The program was outlined by the President last night in a fireside talk ominous with warning that we must deal vigorously with "spies, saboteurs, and traitors."

The "fifth column," the Trojan horse, is no idle dream, Mr. Roosevelt said.

New forces are being unleashed—

deliberately planned propaganda to divide and weaken us in the face of danger as other nations have been weakened before.

He repeated that "our own American Hemisphere is threatened by forces of destruction."

ENEMIES WITHIN COUNTRY GREATEST MENACE

The experiences in the different countries of the world have demonstrated that the enemies within a country constitute the country's greatest menace. Treason from within rather than invasion from without has been the cause of the collapse of many democratic governments in recent weeks by totalitarian assaults. No leaders on earth have ever demonstrated the ability to perfect Trojan-horse tactics as well as Stalin and Hitler.

It was impossible for Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Finland, and Holland to offer any serious resistance to foreign invasion because of the Trojan-horse minorities within the countries.

One million five hundred thousand citizens and noncitizens residing in Czechoslovakia were permitted by the Government to form a Nazi organization. This organization assisted in the downfall of Czechoslovakia just as much so or more so than from the invasion from without. The leader of this organization was Comrade Henlein, who was known to be a traitor to his own country and an agent of Adolf Hitler.

When this movement was first formed in Czechoslovakia a few of the wise and patriotic statesmen of that Republic warned the people that this movement was disloyal to Czechoslovakia and that Henlein was contemplating the betrayal of his country. These men had vision, and if the people and the Government of Czechoslovakia had acted upon this advice possibly the country would have been saved.

I doubt that the people here in the United States realize the important part played by this Nazi organization in the easy conquest of Czechoslovakia by the Nazi legions. The fact is that this treasonable organization delivered the Republic of Czechoslovakia into the hands of Hitler.

Poland is another sad example of what happens to a country that has so many enemies within its own ranks. After Poland surrendered Hitler admitted in a public statement that he knew the military plans of the Polish high command 6 weeks before he gave the order to invade Poland.

Holland is the most recent example of "fifth column" strategy. The Nazi organization had a membership of more than 60,000 citizens and noncitizens of Holland who cooperated with the German Government in the conquest of that great country.

HITLER CAME INTO POWER IN 1933

January 30, 1933, Hitler came into power in Germany. There was an immediate influx of more money, more literature, and more manpower into American propaganda channels. The Nazi zealots in America, who up to that time had been Fascists among themselves, were now given extensive instruction in the party's principle of leadership.

VIERECK, BYOIR, AND OTHER HITLER ASSOCIATES

George Sylvester Viereck had always been very sympathetic to Germany. He and Carl Byoir are the real brain trust of Nazi propaganda in America. It is Viereck who had always sent an indignant letter of protest to the editor whenever an American publication criticized Hitler or the Nazis. Viereck is the man who has censored all the Nazi publicity material in this country along with Carl Byoir of Carl Byoir and Associates, 10 East Fortieth Street, New York City.

Viereck and Carl Byoir and the partners of Carl Byoir have made frequent trips to Europe and to Germany since Hitler came into power January 30, 1933.

It has been the policy of the Nazis to ostensibly dissolve all links between Nazi groups here and the German Government if American public opinion seemed to be turning hostile.

Sworn testimony before a congressional committee discloses that soon after Hitler came into power in Germany, Carl Byoir and Associates became greatly interested in helping to sell Hitler and the Nazi Party to the people in America. I charge now, and do not think for a moment that it cannot be backed up with sufficient proof, that Carl Byoir and Associates commenced to represent Nazi Germany soon after Hitler came into power. The first payment was $4,000 in cash from the German consul of New York to Carl Byoir. After that he was paid $2,000 and $3,000 a month, and on October 1, 1933, he was given a contract signed by German interests which was approved by the Nazi Germany's Minister of Propaganda, which gave Carl Byoir $6,000 a month to assist in spreading German propaganda in America. This was the first contract of its kind ever entered into by any German interests for that purpose which was approved by the Minister of Propaganda in Germany.

George Sylvester Viereck was a partner in Carl Byoir and Associates' firm and received a part of the profits of Carl Byoir and Associates. Therefore the real name at that time should have been Viereck, Byoir, and other Hitler associates.

In June 1933 the German consul reported to American and German big-business interests that he had made such heavy expenditures in connection with propagandizing this country with Nazi ideas that it was necessary for big interests in America to make contributions to a fund to help him in this work.

Doubtless he realized the importance of having big-business connections to carry out his purpose. He probably had in mind at that time placing spies in different sections of the Nation to assist Hitler at the proper time.

During Byoir's activity at the beginning of the propaganda campaign for Hitler, the large steamship lines owned by Germany cooperated 100 percent with Byoir. There is testimony to show that through this shipping interest Hitler agents went back and forth from the United States to Germany at will without registering; that they were often brought into this country on ships and put off on the side of the vessel in New York ports and permitted to go about any place they pleased in this country without any kind of record of their entry being made.

During this time Byoir was to build sentiment in this country for Hitler. He sent out literature dealing with the church and state and every other kind of literature that was calculated to help build up Hitler. During the beginning of the propaganda campaign, soon after Hitler came into power on January 30, 1933, many different organizations sprang up in this country. One of the first was the Friends of New Germany. It was then discovered that many good, loyal Germans in this country were not enthusiastic about the new Germany, so in order to induce them to become affiliated with something that Hitler was sponsoring, the Friends of Germany was organized. In addition, the National Socialistic Labor Party, the Nazi Party, the National Socialistic German Party, the Steel Helmets, the bunds of the Friends of New Germany, the Storm Troops of Germany, the Teutonians, the German Flyers' League, the German War Veterans, and many other different organizations with appealing names were started throughout the country in the different cities.

There is testimony to disclose that the object of the meetings was to distribute literature, drill with rifles, wear Nazi uniforms, and practice the German salute, "Heil Hitler."

Party leaders of these groups in the United States had to have the approval of the party leaders in Germany. The uniforms used at many of these meetings were the same as the uniforms used by the storm troops in Germany. The German Flyers' League taught their members how to operate and fly an airplane.

Byoir established an office in Berlin and had bales of propaganda literature prepared and sent to this country to be distributed here. Some of it was seized in the ports at New York.

Every ship coming to this country that was owned by German interests had a Nazi leader on board.

Many of the members of these German groups were also members of the New York National Guard.

I do not believe there is any doubt about it that Carl Byoir was hired to establish here in the United States the greatest espionage and spy system ever organized on the face of the earth.

In other words, Carl Byoir rode into this country Hitler's Trojan horse.

This is very important and highly significant in view of Carl Byoir's connection with the biggest interests in this Nation. In a speech in Rye, N. Y., in 1938, Carl Byoir stated that he represented American industrial concerns with assets of fourteen and one-half billion dollars. That means that Carl Byoir occupies a strategic position in business and industrial organizations that employ from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 men and women in every State, county, city, and community in America.

Fourteen and one-half billion dollars is equal to 145 concerns the size of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. that is owned by the Hartford Brothers, has about 15,000 stores, and is represented by Carl Byoir. Anyone who has followed the trend of monopoly knows that the public-relations man of any concern practically dictates the employment policies of the concern he represents.

Think about what a wonderful opportunity Carl Byoir has had over these years to place into different positions all over our Nation German spies and sympathizers.

BYOIR, WHO PIONEERED HITLER PROPAGANDA, SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

I wonder to what extent he has used that power and to what extent it has been abused. I believe that since he pioneered the Hitler movement in this country, that an investigation should be made immediately to determine the interests he represents, the employment policies of these different interests, and whether or not he has used his position to place stooges, spies, and sympathizers of Nazi Germany in different sections of our country for the purpose of being used as a "fifth column" when Hitler believes the time is ripe.

Now is no time to trust aliens or alien influences in a national-defense program.

It will be a matter of great concern to the American people to know how many Nazi "fifth column" agents Byoir has caused to come into this country, and after spending a little training period in New York, have been sent into the interior of the United States to work for some concern whose employment policies were largely controlled by Carl Byoir.

Look at Norway, Denmark, Poland, and other countries where German troops were greatly aided by just such stooges as have been brought into this country since Carl Byoir commenced representing Hitler.

It has been thought for some time that many men with wealth in New York City have been in sympathy with Hitler and have been cooperating with him. I wonder how many of these men are represented by Carl Byoir.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PATMAN. I yield for a question.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Can the gentleman tell us what position Mr. Byoir now holds?

Mr. PATMAN. I will state to the gentleman, who is a member of the Dies committee, that Byoir holds the position of public-relations counsel for large industrial and business concerns with a capitalization of $14,500,000,000.

SAME ROOF OVER BYOIR OFFICES ALSO OVER NAZI GERMAN PROPAGANDA OFFICES

I call to your attention Walter Winchell's column of today's newspapers. He exposes a most significant fact:

[From New York Daily Mirror]

If you want a real burner-upper, then see pages 6113-6114 of the Tuesday, May 14, CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. Congressman DICKSTEIN, of New York, alleged that a front for Hitler's "fifth columnazis" over here is the board of trade for German-American Commerce, Inc. The president of this board, says the Congressman, is Dr. Robert Reiner, of Robert Reiner, Inc. The executive work is done by Albert Degener, ex-office boy with the outfit. Degener, who has resided in the United States for 15 years, has never thought it necessary to become an American citizen. * * * The address of the G-A Commerce, Inc., and Degener is 10 East Fortieth.

You notice the address for this alleged Hitler American "fifth column" organization is 10 East Fortieth Street, New York. That, I tell you, is the same address of the Carl Byoir & Associates offices.

Is that not significant? Do you think it is mere chance that this Hitler German commerce association "stooge" is in the same building as Carl Byoir & Associates?

That is the same method employed by Carl Byoir to secretly handle his other propaganda clients. The Chinese Relief Organization—which he handled—used the same address.

You will notice that many of the consumer organizations are headquartered at 10 East Fortieth Street; also the Business Organization, Inc., which occupy one whole floor.

The Emergency Consumer Taxpayer's Association, another one of Byoir's propaganda outfits gave a 10 East Fortieth Street, New York, address as official headquarters.

I am told that most of these dummy organizations have their mail delivered directly to Carl Byoir & Associates.

Yes—bit by bit—with the patriotic help of real Americans like Walter Winchell, the true story of Carl Byoir & Associates begins to unfold.

And I say to you, it is time that our Department of Justice and the Dies Un-American Activities Committee dig out the rest of the story. They will have my cooperation.

ORGANIZE HOME GUARDS

The time has arrived when we should have home guards for American defense for every county in the United States. We must remain on the alert. Every alien enemy should be deported at once, and if they cannot be deported, all aliens that are operating against the country's interests that are not subject to punishment should be placed in concentration camps and kept there until the emergency is over. Persons who have sold out to a foreign power and are working against our country's interest should be severely dealt with. Now is no time to use a velvet hammer on unpatriotic aliens and disloyal Americans. [Applause.]

INTERVENTION BY STATES IN CERTAIN CASES INVOLVING VALIDITY OF THE EXERCISE OF ANY POWER BY THE UNITED STATES

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I call up the conference report on the bill (H. R. 7737) to amend the Judicial Code by adding a new section thereto, designated as section 266a, to provide for intervention by States in certain cases involving the validity of the exercise of any power by the United States, or any agency thereof, or any officer or employee thereof, and for other purposes, and move its adoption.

The Clerk read the conference report.

The conference report and statement are as follows:

CONFERENCE REPORT

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 7737) to amend the Judicial Code by adding a new section thereto, designated as section 266a, to provide for intervention by States in certain cases involving the validity of the exercise of any power by the United States, or any agency thereof, or any officer or employee thereof, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its amendment numbered (2).

Amendment numbered 1: That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 1, and agree to the same with an amendment, as follows: Restore the language stricken out by the said amendment, and on page 1, lines 6 and 7, strike out the words "the exercise of any power" and insert in lieu thereof the words "any power or its exercise"; and the Senate agree to the same.

HATTON SUMNERS,
FRANCIS E. WALTER,
U. S. GUYER,
DAVE E. SATTERFIELD, JR.,
JOHN W. GWYNNE,
Managers on the part of the House.

JNO. E. MILLER,
JOHN A. DANAHY,
ALBERT B. CHANDLER,
Managers on the part of the Senate.

STATEMENT

The managers on the part of the House at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 7737) to amend the Judicial Code by adding a new section thereto, designated as section 266a, to provide for intervention by States in certain cases involving the validity of the exercise of any power by the United States, or any agency thereof, or any officer or employee thereof, and for other purposes, submit the following explanation of the effect of the action agreed upon in conference, and recommended in the accompanying conference report.

The Senate amendment No. 1 proposed to strike out the words "by any State", on page 2, lines 1 and 2, of the bill. The House recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate, No. 1, and agrees to the same with an amendment, as follows: Restore the language stricken out by the said amendment, and on page 1, lines 6 and 7, strike out the words "the exercise of any power" and insert in lieu thereof the words "any power or its exercise." This amendment is clarifying and improves the language of the bill; and the Senate agrees to the same.

The Senate amendment No. 2 proposed to strike out the words "such State", on page 2, line 2, and insert "the State in which the cause is being heard." This amendment would have limited the bill to where the validity of the power exercised by the United States, or any agency, officer, or employee is drawn in question and the determination of such question involves any conflict with the exercise of any governmental power of the State in which the cause is being heard, whereas the bill as it passed the House provided that such question involves any conflict with the exercise by any State of any governmental power of such State. The Senate recedes from this amendment.

HATTON SUMNERS,
U. S. GUYER,
JOHN W. GWYNNE,
FRANCIS E. WALTER,
DAVE E. SATTERFIELD, JR.,
Managers on the part of the House.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. Speaker, we have only a handful of Members present and I doubt the advisability of taking up any such legislation at this hour.

Mr. GWYNNE. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. WOLCOTT. I yield to the gentleman from Iowa.

Mr. GWYNNE. This is a conference report that was agreed to unanimously. The bill was reported by the Judiciary Committee unanimously and it is very desirable legislation. I see no reason why this conference report should not be agreed to at this time.

Mr. WOLCOTT. It passed on the Unanimous Consent Calendar.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on agreeing to the conference report.

The conference report was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to proceed for 2 minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California [Mr. VOORHIS]? There was no objection.

Mr. VOORHIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I want to acknowledge my debt to the gentleman from Texas for a very important and startling speech which he has just made, and to pledge to him and others my own earnest effort to follow up the material which he has given to us. If we are to keep ahead of any "fifth column" elements in this country, we have got to look into high places, as well as lowly ones, in the economic scale of the country.

I also want to say a word about the remarks made by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MASON] today. I may say, incidentally, that I have already spoken to him, and I have told him what I was going to say. I have a sincere regard for the gentleman from Illinois, and I believe he wants to be fair. He said something today, however, about an employee of the National Youth Administration, and in his speech mentioned certain charges against that employee. The man's name is Mandell.

I have in my hand the report of a committee which made a thorough investigation of this man, among others, in connection with the work of the National Youth Administration. This committee consisted of Monsignor Thomas J. O'Dwyer, general director of the Catholic Welfare Bureau of Los Angeles; Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president of Occidental College; and Mr. George C. Mann, and the findings of this committee, signed by the three members, are as follows:

It is our opinion that all charges of subversive activity and Communist connection are not supported by any evidence which has been before us. On the contrary, we are impressed with the sincere character and devotion to the work of the Youth Administration upon the part of those who have been before us for this hearing.

That it is important a statement should be made by the National Youth Administration to its employed group is very unwise for private materials to be intermingled with public materials in such a fashion that there can be the kind of charge which we have reviewed in reference to the use of public materials for nonprofit, private agencies.

We express to the National Youth Administration our sincere interest in every effort that may be made through this arm of the Government to aid the young people of our country in their development in personal usefulness and valuable citizenship.

It is our further observation, as we review the hearing and the matters before us, that this unpleasant situation has some connection with fractional disputes within the young democratic leadership in this State. We regret exceedingly that this condition has certainly, to some extent, added to the problems in personnel and other problems of the National Youth Administration.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me it is unfair and unjust where a man has been cleared in this manner by a committee, which no one can question, to bring up his name again and make charges against him, without any hearing whatsoever. I am as much in earnest as anyone about finding out the truth with regard to any subversive activities and I think I have proved my readiness to arrive at a conclusion on the basis of competent evidence. But here is a case where all the evidence I have seen is on the other side and

I do not want unfairness and injustice to be done. It seems to me under these circumstances that this finding should be in the RECORD, and that is the reason I have spoken as I have this afternoon.

[Here the gavel fell.]

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that on tomorrow, after the disposition of matters on the Speaker's table and at the conclusion of any orders heretofore entered, I may be permitted to address the House for 15 minutes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL]?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous special order, the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. GRIFFITH] is recognized for 5 minutes.

SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I want to go on record as opposing the resolution to continue in effect the Sugar Act of 1937, which will expire at the end of this year. The present law could be made acceptable to the Louisiana sugar producers, but it would have to be amended so as to give an adequate quota and to remove restrictions and controls which are considered unnecessary for the proper administration of the law. The proposed resolution merely extends the present law for 1 year without making any of the corrections needed, and therefore I am opposed to the resolution.

The population of one-third of my district is almost entirely dependent for a livelihood upon the cultivation of sugarcane and the production of sugar, and most of the lands of this area are not adaptable to the cultivation on a large scale of other crops.

My people who are directly interested in sugar are largely represented by membership in the American Sugar Cane League, and they are practically unanimous in their opposition to a continuance of the Sugar Act of 1937 because of the limits which have been placed upon acreage and upon the tonnage production of sugar. Unless the present law is amended to remove the objectionable features, my people are reconciled to the loss of benefit payments in order that they may be able to plant a larger acreage and produce more sugar. Under the present quota and acreage restrictions, the sugarcane producers of Louisiana were forced to plow up sugarcane last year, and they are again called upon in 1940 to plow up sugarcane which has already been planted and is now growing. The sugarcane planted last fall was planted when an emergency had been declared by the President and the Sugar Act had been suspended temporarily. If the quota for Louisiana would be improved reasonably to permit the production of as much sugar as was produced in 1938, and the increased quota made effective immediately, then the necessity for plowing up sugarcane would be removed and the extension of the Sugar Act with this more adequate quota would be less objectionable. But the proposed resolution seeks to continue the Sugar Act without change, and I am sure that I represent the wishes of the sugar producers of Louisiana when I state that it would be preferable to have the law expire at the end of this year so that the entire subject of the sugar program could be considered at the next session of Congress and a completely new sugar act adopted.

I believe, as do my people, that the present conflict in Europe will create such a demand for foreign sugar, especially Cuban sugar, that it may become more profitable for Cuba to sell her sugar to other countries, creating a situation such as confronted the United States after the last World War, when the price of sugar went above 25 cents a pound. As long as we depend upon Cuba for one-third of our sugar supply, we are subject to a sugar shortage which is bound to be created when Cuba sells more of her sugar on the world market, and this will necessarily increase greatly the price of sugar to the consumers. The best guaranty the consumers of the United States have against excessive prices is the encouragement and expansion of sugar production in the mainland areas.

Both the sugarcane and sugar-beet States of the continental United States want a larger acreage and if given this increase it will then be possible for the domestic industry, with the help of our insular possessions, to produce practically all of the sugar which is necessary for our consumption. At least we will be less dependent upon foreign countries, who always sell in the markets where they can get the most money.

It is well at this point to give some of the history and background of sugar production in the United States and our insular possessions, and especially will I mention Louisiana, with which I am more familiar.

In 1904, which is 36 years ago, Louisiana produced 398,000 tons of sugar. That same year the beet-sugar production for the entire United States was only 235,000 tons. Puerto Rico produced only 130,000 tons in 1904, Hawaii produced 368,000 tons the same year, the Philippine Islands exported only 30,785 tons to the United States in 1904.

In the act of 1937 the beet-sugar area was permitted to produce more than 1,550,000 tons of sugar and Florida and Louisiana together were permitted to market only 420,000 tons of sugar. In 1940 Louisiana has a quota of about 362,000 tons, which is 36,000 tons less than we produced in 1904.

In the period from 1909 to 1913 Louisiana produced an average of 2,212 pounds of sugar for each acre of cane harvested. At the peak of the mosaic-disease infection the acreage production dropped to 755 pounds per acre. The peak of this infection was reached in 1926.

With the introduction of improved varieties of cane and better methods of cultivation, the acreage production has greatly increased. In 1930 acreage production was 2,146 pounds of sugar per acre; in 1933 the acreage production was 2,125 pounds; in 1934 the acreage production was 2,149 pounds; in 1935 the acreage production was 2,856 pounds; in 1936 the acreage production was 3,403 pounds; in 1937 the acreage production was 3,188 pounds of sugar per acre; in 1938 the acreage production was 3,646 pounds; and in 1939 the acreage production was 3,681 pounds of sugar per acre. In other words, the acreage production since 1913 has increased about 70 percent.

According to data compiled by the agricultural extension division of the Louisiana State University, the first reported commercial production of sugar in Louisiana was in the year 1815, in which Louisiana produced 5,006 tons of sugar. However, sugarcane was brought to Louisiana in 1750 by the Jesuits, and the first granulation of sugar was in 1794.

At present, there are 82 sugar mills in Louisiana, although only 68 of these operated in 1939.

There are 7 refineries which melt raw sugar in Louisiana; however, there are 10 or 12 additional factories which are equipped to make direct-consumption sugar and are producing white sugars.

The moneys invested in factories and refineries in Louisiana amount to approximately seventy-five or eighty million dollars. The cost of replacing these mills would exceed $100,000,000.

There are well over 100,000 individuals employed directly or indirectly in cultivating, harvesting, manufacturing, handling, transporting, buying, and selling sugar in Louisiana.

The number of people directly and indirectly dependent on the sugar industry of Louisiana is, in round numbers, 800,000. This figure includes thousands of extra workers imported from Mississippi and northern Louisiana during the harvesting season. This figure also includes all persons employed in related trades.

Louisiana has been allowed for 1940 only 263,000 acres under the proportionate share determination of the Department of Agriculture, although it is estimated that approximately 310,000 acres have growing cane which could be harvested in 1940. In 1911, we harvested sugarcane from 312,000 acres and in 1938—the year of greatest production—we harvested 288,000 acres of sugarcane, including seed, under restrictions, and produced 492,000 short tons of sugar, raw value.

According to a survey made by the Louisiana State University, the farmers in the Louisiana sugar belt have indicated a willingness and desire to plant sugarcane on 404,789 acres which are presently available. This would mean an increase of 34 percent over the present acreage, and would also require a 34-percent increase in regular and extra workers, in workstock, in implements of agriculture for cultivating and harvesting, new housing accommodations, additional factory capacity, and increased general commercial trading.

The best argument the mainland cane area has in favor of increasing its quota is that the area produced 580,000 tons in 1938 and it would have produced 580,000 tons again in 1939 if the farmers would not have been forced to plow under growing sugarcane, and it will produce 580,000 tons in 1940 if we do not have to plow under growing sugarcane.

I wish to file at this point a table which gives consumption and production of sugar in the continental United States and the production of sugar in insular possessions of the United States for the years 1935 to 1939, inclusive.

Following are the figures on sugar consumption in the United States for the past 5 years, 1935 to 1939, inclusive:

Year	Short tons, raw value	Per capita consumption
1935	6,632,516	104.0
1936	6,705,218	104.0
1937	6,669,992	103.0
1938	6,666,694	102.0
1939	6,865,402	105.0
Average for the period	6,708,164	103.6

Production of sugar in continental United States for years 1935 to 1939, inclusive, in short tons, raw value

Year	Domestic beet area	Mainland cans area	Total continental United States
1935	1,261,459	383,000	1,644,459
1936	1,396,426	437,000	1,833,426
1937	1,374,990	462,000	1,836,990
1938	1,803,841	580,000	2,383,841
1939	1,756,383	507,000	2,263,383
Average	1,518,620	473,000	1,992,419

Production of sugar in insular possessions of the United States

Year	Hawaii	Puerto Rico	Virgin Islands	Continental United States
1935	1,073,000	926,344	3,760	1,644,459
1936	920,629	996,303	8,478	1,833,426
1937	969,776	1,077,149	3,923	1,836,990
1938	1,035,000	870,000	4,480	2,383,841
1939	996,000	963,000	4,000	2,263,383

Certainly there is need for expansion of a continental crop which today is restricted by law to the position of supplying less than three-tenths of our domestic consumption. Without question, there is room for expansion of any crop which will relieve other crops of the downward pressure on price that surplus acres bring about, and which will diminish the extent of this subsidized acreage idleness. An expansion of continental sugar, in short, offers employment to thousands of idle acres and idle men, increased income to American agriculture, increased markets for American industry and labor, and a new frontier for American ingenuity.

I believe that an allowance should be made for an expansion of the sugar industry in the United States and her possessions before Cuba receives an allotment. I certainly do think that Cuba has been given every advantage in her allotment of sugar to the detriment of the sugar interests in the United States and her insular possessions. I believe, from now on Cuba will be taken care of by the increased demand, caused by the European situation. Our imports from Cuba are many millions of dollars more than our exports to Cuba.

One convincing example may be cited to show the superiority of American purchasing power over any possible foreign market which might be developed for American products.

Purchases of American sugar-mill machinery by the 160 mills in Cuba during 1937 amounted to $521,000, and during 1938 to but $198,000. In contrast, the 74 sugar mills in Louisiana alone bought $4,079,000 and $2,981,000 of machinery during these 2 years or a total of $7,060,000, practically 10 times the sales to Cuba, although Louisiana produces only one-seventh as much sugar. In fact, Cuban purchases during the entire 7-year period, 1932-38, amounted to only $1,744,000. Louisiana mills are kept in first-class condition by the American initiative and efficiency that is engaged in the sugar business. Clearly, sugar-machinery manufacturers have a much larger stake in the welfare of the Louisiana sugar industry as a unit than they have in the Cuban sugar industry. It must be emphasized that figures given above represent purchases solely by the Louisiana operators. Adding purchases by sugar mills in the beet sections, which according to partial reports amounted to more than $17,800,000 for 1937 and 1938, the total for the continental industry becomes $24,860,000, as compared to $719,000 for Cuba during the same 1937-38 period.

This does not include the immense amount of agricultural machinery, motor trucks, livestock, and such other products as food and clothing which are used by the sugar planters of the United States and her possessions.

We further have these facts to consider. Minimum wages in Cuba are 10 cents per hour, but there is no proof that they are enforced. In the United States and its island possessions minimum wages are set at far higher rates by the Department of Agriculture, and they are enforced. Soil-conservation practice in American areas is prescribed by law and regulation; Cubans may drain their land of its wealth until their soil resources are gone, and then come asking our Government for still more favorable treatment to compensate for inferior soil. Every American community, individually or as a taxpaying part of the Nation, feels the obligation to provide an education for its children, help for its unfortunate, pensions for its aged, and so forth. Cuba has been unable or unwilling to do even these elementary things adequately. And all of these things add up not to high profits but to higher standards of living for the men employed, which means the mass consuming power which is needed to keep American industry operating.

From all of the above facts it seems to me that it is evident to all of us that it is to the best interest of the United States to permit the expansion and increase in the production of sugar in the United States. The comparison between the present quotas and the production in 1904, which I made in the beginning of this statement, shows the injustice under which Louisiana has suffered under the present act, whereby Louisiana, the oldest sugar-producing area for the American market, instead of being allowed to expand with the American market has been obliged to shrink. This is the condition which Louisiana is forced to fight.
