RULES OF THE SENATE

Mr. ANDERSON. Mr. President, jointly with Senators Ives, Lehman, Tobey, Green, Humphrey, Hendrickson, Neely, Duff, Pastore, Kilgore, Murray, Mansfield, Magnuson, Jackson, Douglas, Kennedy, Morse, and Hunt, and in accordance with article I, section 5, of the Constitution of the United States, which declares that "Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings," I now move that the Senate take up for immediate consideration the adoption of rules for the Senate of the Eighty-third Congress.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The Senator has read the motion, but if he will send it to the desk, it will be stated by the clerk.

Mr. ANDERSON. I send the motion to the desk.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

Mr. ANDERSON, jointly with Messrs. Ives, Lehman, Tobey, Green, Humphrey, Hendrickson, Neely, Duff, Pastore, Kilgore, Murray, Mansfield, Magnuson, Jackson, Douglas, Kennedy, Morse, and Hunt, makes the following motion:

"In accordance with article I, section 5 of the Constitution which declares that * * * Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings * * *, I now move that this body take up for immediate consideration the adoption of rules for the Senate of the Eighty-third Congress."

DEATH OF SENATOR McMAHON, OF CONNECTICUT

Mr. TAFT. Mr. President, there is involved a question as to whether the motion just submitted by the Senator from New Mexico is in order. I suggest that the Senate adjourn until Tuesday, and the senior Senator from Connecticut [Mr. Bush] is prepared to offer a motion to that effect.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The Senator from Ohio is not making such a motion now, is he?

Mr. TAFT. No. Is there any further business to be transacted before adjournment?

The VICE PRESIDENT. There is a resolution which will be offered in regard to the late Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. TAFT. The senior Senator from Connecticut will offer the resolution.

Mr. BUSH. Mr. President, I offer the resolution which I send to the desk, and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The resolution will be read.

The resolution (S. Res. 10) was read, and the Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to its consideration, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with profound sorrow and deep regret the announcement of the death of Hon. BRIEN McMAHON, late a Senator from the State of Connecticut.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate these resolutions to the House of Representatives and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

Mr. BUSH. Mr. President, Senator McMAHON was Connecticut's outstanding statesman of modern times. He was respected not only in his State, but elsewhere, by members of both parties. In fact, in 1950 it was the Republicans in Connecticut who sent Senator McMAHON back to the United States Senate for his second term.

No son of Connecticut has attained such recognition, both nationally and internationally, as did Senator McMAHON while he was a Member of the Senate. This was probably because certain measures which he sponsored in this body had tremendous appeal to the minds and hearts of millions of people, both at home and abroad.

For these reasons, I join with my colleagues, on my first day as a Member of the Senate, in paying tribute to the memory of my highly distinguished predecessor, the late Senator BRIEN McMAHON, of Connecticut.

Mr. PURTELL. Mr. President—
Mr. TAFT. Mr. President, I do not wish to raise the point of order that no debate is in order. A time will be set aside in the near future for memorials to the late Senator McMAHON. However, I certainly would not wish to interfere with the desire of the other Senator from Connecticut to make a brief statement, with unanimous consent of the Senate.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Without objection, the Senator from Connecticut is recognized.

Mr. PURTELL. Mr. President, it is with a feeling of deep personal loss that I join with my colleague from Connecticut in an expression of profound sorrow at the death of the late Senator BRIEN McMAHON, of Connecticut. It is most fitting that at the opening of this important session of Congress we recognize the great loss suffered by Connecticut, by our Nation, and by the world because of the death of Senator McMAHON.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The resolution was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. BUSH. Mr. President, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased Senator, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday next.

The motion was unanimously agreed to; and (at 1 o'clock and 9 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until Tuesday, January 6, 1953, at 12 o'clock meridian.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SATURDAY, JANUARY 3, 1953

This being the day fixed by the twentieth amendment of the Constitution for the annual meeting of the Congress of the United States, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Eighty-third Congress met in their Hall, and at 12 o'clock noon were called to order by the Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Ralph R. Roberts.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Bernard Braskamp, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Thou infinite and eternal God, in this first meeting of the Eighty-third Congress, we are humbly beseeching Thee that daily we may be guided and sustained by Thy divine spirit in our high vocation as the chosen representatives of our great Republic.

Grant that in all our deliberations and decisions we may bear clear and unmistakable testimony that we are seeking to do that which is well pleasing unto Thee and imperative and beneficent for the welfare of our beloved country and all mankind.

During this new year may it become increasingly evident to men and nations everywhere that the old world of self-interest and self-aggrandizement, of prejudice and hatred, of isolation and greed, is too small for the growing and magnanimous soul of democracy with its spirit of brotherhood and good will, of mutual understanding and service.

May it be the goal of all our aspirations and endeavors to cultivate and achieve a social order which incarnates and exemplifies those spiritual ideals and principles that were enunciated by our blessed Lord in His Sermon on the Mount.

Hear us as we bow in adoration and unite in offering unto Thee the prayer of the Prince of Peace, our Saviour:

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven; give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever.

Amen.

ANSWERED "PRESENT"—3

Martin, Mass. Rayburn Reams

NOT VOTING—9

Bentsen Fernandez Miller, Calif.
Blatnik Hollifield Rogers, Fla.
Colmer Lanham Zablocki

The CLERK. The tellers agree in their tally. The total number of votes cast is 424, of which Hon. JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR., has received 220 and the Honorable SAM RAYBURN 201; present 3. Therefore, Hon. JOSEPH W. MARTIN, JR., a Representative-elect from the State of Massachusetts, is duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Eighty-third Congress.

The Clerk appoints the following committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the chair: The gentleman from Texas, Mr. RAYBURN; the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. HALLECK; the gentleman from Illinois, Mr. ARENDS; the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. WIGGLESWORTH; and the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. McCORMACK.

(The Doorkeeper announced the Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives of the Eighty-third Congress, who was escorted to the chair by the committee of escort.)

Mr. RAYBURN. Members of the House of Representatives, the result of this ballot was not entirely disappointing to me; I had a slight suspicion it was going like it did.

In January 1947, it was my high privilege and my great pleasure to present to you a great man who made a great Speaker of the Eightieth Congress. Today I come back to present that same great legislator and great American to be Speaker of the House again, temporarily. But in turning over this gavel, I could not turn it over to a man for whom I have a greater respect or more admiration.

He is going to be fair. I have often remarked that it would be pretty hard for a Speaker not to be fair because there are 434 besides him, and it might be a little dangerous, especially politically, and it might develop it would be dangerous physically. So today it is a pleasurable privilege that I have in presenting my successor in this high and honorable position. The speakership of the House of Representatives should be and is the second office in power in the Government of the United States. One thing I have tried never to forget, and I know that my successor will never forget it, is the dignity of this high office in protecting, defending, and perpetuating the rights, the prerogatives, and the privileges of the House of Representatives.

This is a great body that comes each 2 years fresh from the people. We know their wishes. We try to carry them out when they are wise and in the interest of the country.

I am going to stand by this Speaker in procedure because I know he is going to make proper and fair rulings. I am glad to present him to you because for many, many years we have been close personal friends. He is a man of the type and character who will carry on the high traditions of this office. And, Joe, in the arduous and onerous task that you undertake I wish you well. I bid you Godspeed.

Mr. MARTIN of Massachusetts. I thank you, Sam, for your splendid introduction.

For the second time in my life it becomes my great honor to ascend the rostrum of this House as its Speaker. To you, my colleagues, may I express a deep-felt sense of gratitude and my realization that you have conferred more than an honor upon me; you have imposed an inspiring duty.

I love this House. I love it for the high character of the men and women who occupy its seats, for the glory of its tradition, and above all else, for its role as the voice of the American people. Therefore, I again accept the duties of the speakership in the knowledge that in this forum is worked the will of the people, a forum that we must ever strengthen, never weaken. Here lies the true citadel of the Republic.

And when I speak of love and affection for this House, I must say to you that none among us can pay it greater devotion than the man who has so generously presented me to the House, the Honorable SAM RAYBURN. Forty years of his life have been spent in serving his country unselfishly, faithfully, and honorably. He has served as Speaker longer than any other man in history. The gavel of this House has never passed from the hand of a nobler man than the gentleman from Texas.

This Eighty-third Congress convenes under a new order. For the first time in 20 years a Republican President is about to take office. The Republican Party is again the majority party in both the Senate and this House. To my Democrat colleagues I must say we assume the duties of the majority mindful that only a few months ago we ourselves were the minority party, yet you treated us with the respect and dignity that befits the great two-party system. We shall do as well. To you now falls the mantle of constructive criticism. At times, you will experience, as we all have, a choice between the welfare of your party and the welfare of your country. I entertain no doubt about your decisions, for we all seek the answer to the same question—what is best for America?

The power of decision is a wondrous but awful thing. We who have taken our oath of office here today have been privileged to do so because our Revolutionary fathers were determined that no one single individual, nor one single branch of government should be solely vested with the power of decision.

They went further than mere representative government; they devised the great instrumentality of tripartite government, with its checks and balances for the protection not only of the majority, but the minority as well. The world hailed these great accomplishments as a new way to political freedom, a milestone in man's eternal search for liberty. That was a short 177 years ago as time is counted in the history of mankind.

And where are we today?

For the past half century, the world has been caught up in a political tidal wave that already has drowned out the lamps of liberty in two-score countries and has dimmed them in every other nation on the face of the globe, including our own United States. We call this political malady Marxism, a doctrine which has spawned those twin evils, socialism and communism. By either name it has only one goal: To deliver the people once more into the hands of the state; to deliver the power of decision once more to the few instead of the many.

Were it not for the advent of Marxism, Europe today might be peaceful and happy. China might be free. Certainly our sons would not be fighting in Korea.

Here in the United States the drift toward socialism has been steady. Our English-speaking cousins in Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand actually established Socialist governments, only to reject them in the past 3 years. No nation has escaped; no nation has been untouched.

We in this Congress would make a tragic error if we did not fully comprehend that Marxism is the greatest enemy of representative government that the world has ever known.

In the Marxian state, there is no authority equal to the executive. It is the authority. It makes the decisions.

The legislative branch becomes a mere body servant, if, indeed, it exists at all. The courts are mere instruments for meting out punishment to those who fail to observe the edicts of the executive.

The pattern for the destruction of representative government has become increasingly apparent in recent years. The Congress is derided as an outmoded and archaic instrument. The Members are depicted as incompetent, easily corrupted, and without a grasp of the people's needs. Articles and books magically have appeared overnight unleashing vicious attacks on Congress under the guise of reforming it. Not a single aspect of the congressional function has escaped the abuse which these disciples of Marxism have heaped upon it.

Now, the Congress is never above criticism. It should always welcome change for the better, but let me say this to the House:

The fundamental machinery of the Congress is as sound today as it was at its inception. Tamper with this fundamental machinery and you are tampering with human liberty.

We can dedicate ourselves to no higher goal than to restore the Congress of the United States to its full share of participation in our tripartite form of government. Let us join hands in this task, knowing that the burden is on our shoulders.

But I would be less than candid if I did not say the burden is partially shared by another branch of this Government—the executive branch. Too often the executive department, in the press of world affairs, tends to forget that our constitutional process purposely reserves unto the Congress certain specific functions that are the backbone of our liberty.

I am proud to tell the House that in the new atmosphere of changing administrations, I think we will find not only a willingness but a will by the new Chief Executive to reestablish the proper working relationship between the executive and legislative branches. I base my conclusion on personal talks that I have had with the President-elect in the weeks since the November election. In this age of malignant political doctrines, police states, and assaults on liberty everywhere, America can thank God that the next President of the United States is going to be Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In performing our part in safeguarding and reaffirming the checks and balances of our great American form of government, all of us on both sides of the aisle must never forget that this wondrous mechanism has worked best under a strong two-party system. If it were in my power to bring about the destruction of the Democratic Party, I would not exercise that power.

You who have been in control for 20 years have basic differences among yourselves. That is as it should be in a society of free men. But I trust that those differences will never be so deep-seated as to lessen the stature of your party or to corrupt its principles. One-party government would destroy America.

Among us today are 81 new Members. May I extend to you the hand of welcome into this historic body. The trials and tribulations are many, but as your ability to render service grows and your knowledge of the great machinery of government becomes more profound, you will begin to know an enduring sense of satisfaction that can be found in no other endeavor.

We are all here to serve. The problems faced by the new administration are enormous and world-wide in scope, but they must be solved if we are to remain a free people and if liberty is once again to be the watchword in the world.

Every one of us, whether Democrat or Republican, shares with the new administration the task ahead. Let us join in a monumental effort to make this Eighty-third Congress the Congress which will go down in history as having best served America and the oppressed people of the world everywhere.

With God's help and His guidance, we can do it.

The Chair is ready to take the oath of office, and invites the gentleman from New York [Mr. REED] to administer the oath.

Mr. REED of New York then administered the oath of office to Mr. MARTIN of Massachusetts.

SWEARING IN OF MEMBERS

The SPEAKER. According to the custom, which was established a number of years ago, the Chair will now ask all Members to rise and take the oath of office.

The Members and Delegates-elect rose, and the Speaker administered to them the oath of office.

MAJORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. HOPE].

Mr. HOPE. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Republican conference, I am directed by that conference to officially notify the House that the gentleman from Indiana, Hon. CHARLES A. HALECK, has been selected as majority leader of the House.

MINORITY LEADER

Mr. MILLS. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Democratic caucus, I have been directed to report to the House that the Democratic Members have selected as minority leader the gentleman from Texas, Hon. SAM RAYBURN.

ELECTION OF CLERK, SERGEANT AT ARMS, DOORKEEPER, POSTMASTER, AND CHAPLAIN

Mr. HOPE. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 1), which I send to the desk, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That Lyle O. Snader, of the State of Illinois, be, and he is hereby, chosen Clerk of the House of Representatives;

That William F. Russell, of the State of Pennsylvania, be, and he is hereby, chosen Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives;

That Tom J. Kennamer, of the State of Missouri, be, and he is hereby, chosen Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives;

When any Member desires to speak or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and, on being recognized, may address the House from any place on the floor or from the Clerk's desk, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoiding personality.

2. When two or more Members rise at once, the Speaker shall name the Member who is first to speak; and no Member shall occupy more than 1 hour in debate on any question in the House or in committee, except as further provided in this rule.

3. The Member reporting the measure under consideration from a committee may open and close, where general debate has been had thereon; and if it shall extend beyond 1 day, he shall be entitled to 1 hour to close, notwithstanding he may have used an hour in opening.

4. If any Member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any Member may, call him to order; in which case he shall immediately sit down, unless permitted, on motion of another Member, to explain, and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case without debate; if the decision is in favor of the Member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed, but not otherwise; and, if the case require it, he shall be liable to censure or such punishment as the House may deem proper.

5. If a Member is called to order for words spoken in debate, the Member calling him to order shall indicate the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's desk and read aloud to the House; but he shall not be held to answer, nor be subject to the censure of the House therefor, if further debate or other business has intervened.

6. No Member shall speak more than once to the same question without leave of the House, unless he be the mover, proposer, or introducer of the matter pending, in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every Member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

7. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House no Member shall walk out of or across the hall, nor, when a Member is speaking, pass between him and the Chair; and during the session of the House no Member shall wear his hat, or remain by the Clerk's desk during the call of the roll or the counting of ballots, or smoke upon the floor of the House; and the Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeeper are charged with the strict enforcement of this clause. Neither shall any person be allowed to smoke upon the floor of the House at any time.

8. It shall not be in order for any Member to introduce to or to bring to the attention of the House during its sessions any occupant in the galleries of the House; nor may the Speaker entertain a request for the suspension of this rule by unanimous consent or otherwise.

ON CALLS OF THE ROLL AND HOUSE

1. Upon every roll call the names of the Members shall be called alphabetically by surname, except when two or more have the same surname, in which case the name of the State shall be added; and if there be two such Members from the same State, the whole name shall be called, and after the roll has been once called, the Clerk shall call in their alphabetical order the names of those not voting; and thereafter the Speaker shall not entertain a request to record a vote or announce a pair unless the Member's name has been noted under clause 3 of this rule.

2. In the absence of a quorum, 15 Members, including the Speaker, if there is one, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent Members, and in all calls of the House the doors shall be closed, the names of the Members shall be called by the Clerk, and the absentees noted; and those for whom no sufficient excuse is made may, by order of a majority of those present, be sent for and arrested, wherever they may be found, by officers to be appointed by the Sergeant-at-Arms for that purpose, and their attendance secured and retained; and the House shall determine upon what condition they shall be discharged. Members who voluntarily appear shall, unless the House otherwise direct, be immediately admitted to the Hall of the House, and they shall report their names to the Clerk to be entered upon the Journal as present.

3. On the demand of any Member, or at the suggestion of the Speaker, the names of Members sufficient to make a quorum in the Hall of the House who do not vote shall be noted by the Clerk and recorded in the Journal, and reported to the Speaker with the names of the Members voting, and be counted and announced in determining the presence of a quorum to do business.

4. Whenever a quorum fails to vote on any question, and a quorum is not present and objection is made for that cause, unless the House shall adjourn there shall be a call of the House, and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall forthwith proceed to bring in absent Members, and the yeas and nays on the pending question shall at the same time be considered as ordered. The Clerk shall call the roll, and each Member as he answers to his name may vote on the pending question, and, after the roll call is completed, each Member arrested shall be brought by the Sergeant-at-Arms before the House, whereupon he shall be noted as present, discharged from arrest, and given an opportunity to vote and his vote shall be recorded. If those voting on the question and those who are present and decline to vote shall together make a majority of the House, the Speaker shall declare that a quorum is constituted, and the pending question shall be decided as the majority of those voting shall appear. And thereupon further proceedings under the call shall be considered as dispensed with. At any time after the roll call has been completed, the Speaker may entertain a motion to adjourn if seconded by a majority of those present, to be ascertained by actual count by the Speaker; and if the House adjourns, all proceedings under this section shall be vacated.

RULE XVI

ON MOTIONS, THEIR PRECEDENCE, ETC.

1. Every motion made to the House and entertained by the Speaker shall be reduced to writing on the demand of any Member, and shall be entered on the Journal with the name of the Member making it, unless it is withdrawn the same day.

2. When a motion has been made, the Speaker shall state it or (if it be in writing) cause it to be read aloud by the Clerk before being debated, and it shall then be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

3. When any motion or proposition is made, the question, Will the House now consider it? shall not be put unless demanded by a Member.

4. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question (which motions shall be decided without debate), to postpone to a day certain, to refer, or to amend, or postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to refer, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day at the same stage of the question. After the previous question shall have been ordered on the passage of a bill or joint resolution one motion to recommit shall be in order, and the Speaker shall give preference in recognition for such purpose to a Member who is opposed to the bill or joint resolution.

5. The hour at which the House adjourns shall be entered on the Journal.

6. On the demand of any Member, before the question is put, a question shall be divided if it include propositions so distinct in substance that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain: Provided, That any motion or resolution to elect the members or any portion of the members of the standing committees of the House and the joint standing committees shall not be divisible, nor shall any resolution or order reported by the Committee on Rules, providing a special order of business be divisible.

7. A motion to strike out and insert is indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost shall neither preclude amendment nor motion to strike out and insert; and no motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

8. Pending a motion to suspend the rules, the Speaker may entertain one motion that the House adjourn; but after the result thereon is announced he shall not entertain any other motion till the vote is taken on suspension.

9. At any time after the reading of the Journal it shall be in order, by direction of the appropriate committees, to move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the purpose of considering bills raising revenue, or general appropriation bills.

1. There shall be a motion for the previous question, which, being ordered by a majority of Members voting, if a quorum be present, shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions on which it has been asked and ordered. The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions allowable under the rules, or an amendment or amendments, or may be made to embrace all authorized motions or amendments and include the bill to its passage or rejection. It shall be in order, pending the motion for, or after the previous question shall have been ordered on its passage, for the Speaker to entertain and submit a motion to commit, with or without instructions, to a standing or select committee.

2. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is ordered, unless it shall appear upon an actual count by the Speaker that a quorum is not present.

3. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

RULE XVIII

RECONSIDERATION

1. When a motion has been made and carried or lost, it shall be in order for any member of the majority, on the same or succeeding day, to move for the reconsideration thereof, and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions except the consideration of a conference report or a motion to adjourn, and shall not be withdrawn after the said succeeding day without the consent of the House, and thereafter any Member may call it up for reconsideration: Provided, That such motion, if made during the last 6 days of a session, shall be disposed of when made.

2. No bill, petition, memorial, or resolution referred to a committee, or reported therefrom for printing and recommitment, shall be brought back into the House on a motion to reconsider; and all bills, petitions, memorials, or resolutions reported from a committee shall be accompanied by reports in writing, which shall be printed.

Amendments to the title of a bill or resolution shall not be in order until after its passage, and shall be decided without debate.

RULE XX OF AMENDMENTS OF THE SENATE

1. Any amendment of the Senate to any House bill shall be subject to the point of order that it shall first be considered in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union if, originating in the House, it would be subject to that point.

2. No amendment of the Senate to a general appropriation bill which would be in violation of the provisions of clause 2 of rule XXI, if said amendment had originated in the House, nor any amendment of the Senate providing for an appropriation upon any bill other than a general appropriation bill, shall be agreed to by the managers on the part of the House unless specific authority to agree to such amendment shall be first given by the House by a separate vote on every such amendment.

RULE XXI ON BILLS

1. Bills and joint resolutions on their passage shall be read the first time by title and the second time in full, when, if the previous question is ordered, the Speaker shall state the question to be: Shall the bill be engrossed and read a third time? and, if decided in the affirmative, it shall be read the third time by title, unless the reading in full is demanded by a Member, and the question shall then be put upon its passage.

2. No appropriation shall be reported in any general appropriation bill, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law, unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress. Nor shall any provision in any such bill or amendment thereto changing existing law be in order, except such as being germane to the subject matter of the bill shall retrench expenditures by the reduction of the number and salary of the officers of the United States, by the reduction of the compensation of any person paid out of the Treasury of the United States, or by the reduction of amounts of money covered by the bill: Provided, That it shall be in order further to amend such bill upon the report of the committee or any joint commission authorized by law or the House Members of any such commission having jurisdiction of the subject matter of such amendment, which amendment being germane to the subject matter of the bill shall retrench expenditures.

3. No bill for the payment or adjudication of any private claim against the Government shall be referred, except by unanimous consent, to any other than the following committees, namely: To the Committee on Foreign Affairs or to the Committee on the Judiciary.

4. No bill or joint resolution carrying appropriations shall be reported by any committee not having jurisdiction to report appropriations, nor shall an amendment proposing an appropriation be in order during the consideration of a bill or joint resolution reported by a committee not having that jurisdiction. A question of order on an appropriation in any such bill, joint resolution, or amendment thereto may be raised at any time.

5. No general appropriation bill or amendment thereto shall be received or considered if it contains a provision reappropriating unexpended balances of appropriations; except that this provision shall not apply to appropriations in continuation of appropriations for public works on which work has commenced.

6. No general appropriation bill shall be considered in the House until printed committee hearings and a committee report thereon have been available for the Members of the House for at least three calendar days.

RULE XXII OF PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, BILLS, AND RESOLUTIONS

1. Members having petitions or memorials or bills of a private nature to present may deliver them to the Clerk, indorsing their names and the reference or disposition to be made thereof; and said petitions and memorials and bills of a private nature, except such as, in the judgment of the Speaker, are of an obscene or insulting character, shall be entered on the Journal, with the names of the Members presenting them, and the Clerk shall furnish a transcript of such entry to the official reporters of debates for publication in the Record.

2. No private bill or resolution (including so-called omnibus claims or pension bills), and no amendment to any bill or resolution, authorizing or directing (1) the payment of money for property damages, for personal injuries or death for which suit may be instituted under the tort claims procedure as provided in title 28, United States Code, or for a pension (other than to carry out a provision of law or treaty stipulation); (2) the construction of a bridge across a navigable stream; or (3) the correction of a military or naval record, shall be received or considered in the House.

3. Any petition or memorial or private bill excluded under this rule shall be returned to the Member from whom it was received; and petitions and private bills which have been inappropriately referred may, by the direction of the committee having possession of the same, be properly referred in the manner originally presented; and an erroneous reference of a petition or private bill under this clause shall not confer jurisdiction upon the committee to consider or report the same.

4. All other bills, memorials, and resolutions may, in like manner, be delivered, endorsed with the names of Members introducing them, to the Speaker, to be by him referred, and the titles and references thereof and of all bills, resolutions, and documents referred under the rules shall be entered on the Journal and printed in the Record of the next day, and correction in case of error of reference may be made by the House, without debate, in accordance with Rule XI, on any day immediately after the reading of the Journal, by unanimous consent, or on motion of a committee claiming jurisdiction, or on the report of the committee to which the bill has been erroneously referred.

5. All resolutions of inquiry addressed to the heads of executive departments shall be reported to the House within 1 week after presentation.

6. When a bill, resolution, or memorial is introduced "by request," these words shall be entered upon the Journal and printed in the Record.

RULE XXIII OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE HOUSE

1. In all cases, in forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair after appointing a Chairman to preside, who shall, in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, have power to cause the same to be cleared.

2. Whenever a Committee of the Whole House or of the Whole House on the State of the Union finds itself without a quorum, which shall consist of 100 Members, the Chairman shall cause the roll to be called, and thereupon the Committee shall rise, and the Chairman shall report the names of the absentees to the House, which shall be entered on the Journal; but if on such call a quorum shall appear, the Committee shall thereupon resume its sitting without further order of the House.

3. All motions or propositions involving a tax or charge upon the people, all proceedings touching appropriations of money, or bills making appropriations of money or property, or requiring such appropriation to be made, or authorizing payments out of appropriations already made, or releasing any liability to the United States for money or property, or referring any claim to the Court of Claims, shall be first considered in a Committee of the Whole, and a point of order under this rule shall be good at any time before the consideration of a bill has commenced.

4. In Committees of the Whole House business on their calendars may be taken up in regular order, or in such order as the Committee may determine, unless the bill to be considered was determined by the House at the time of going into Committee, but bills for raising revenue, general appropriation bills, and bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors shall have precedence.

5. When general debate is closed by order of the House, any Member shall be allowed 5 minutes to explain any amendment he may offer, after which the Member who shall first obtain the floor shall be allowed to speak 5 minutes in opposition to it, and there shall be no further debate thereon, but the same privilege of debate shall be allowed in favor of and against any amendment that may be offered to an amendment; and neither an amendment nor an amendment to an amendment shall be withdrawn by the mover thereof unless by the unanimous consent of the Committee.

6. The Committee may, by the vote of a majority of the members present, at any time after the 5 minutes' debate has begun upon proposed amendments to any section or paragraph of a bill, close all debate upon such section or paragraph or, at its election, upon the pending amendments only (which motion shall be decided without debate); but this shall not preclude further amendment, to be decided without debate.

7. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. Whenever a bill is reported from a Committee of the Whole with an adverse recommendation and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said Committee without further action by the House, but before the question of concurrence is submitted it is in order to entertain a motion to refer the bill to any committee, with or without instructions, and when the same is again reported to the House it shall be referred to the Committee of the Whole without debate.

8. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in Committees of the Whole House so far as they may be applicable.

RULE XXIV ORDER OF BUSINESS

1. The daily order of business shall be as follows:

Second. Reading and approval of the Journal.

Third. Correction of reference of public bills.

Fourth. Disposal of business on the Speaker's table.

Fifth. Unfinished business.

Sixth. The morning hour for the consideration of bills called up by committees.

Seventh. Motions to go into Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Eighth. Orders of the day.

2. Business on the Speaker's table shall be disposed of as follows:

Messages from the President shall be referred to the appropriate committees without debate. Reports and communications from heads of departments, and other communications addressed to the House, and bills, resolutions, and messages from the Senate may be referred to the appropriate committees in the same manner and with the same right of correction as public bills presented by Members; but House bills with Senate amendments which do not require consideration in a Committee of the Whole may be at once disposed of as the House may determine, as may also Senate bills substantially the same as House bills already favorably reported by a committee of the House, and not required to be considered in Committee of the Whole, be disposed of in the same manner on motion directed to be made by such committee.

3. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment, except business in the morning hour, shall be resumed as soon as the business on the Speaker's table is finished, and at the same time each day thereafter until disposed of, and the consideration of all other unfinished business shall be resumed whenever the class of business to which it belongs shall be in order under the rules.

4. After the unfinished business has been disposed of, the Speaker shall call each standing committee in regular order, and then select committees, and each committee when named may call up for consideration any bill reported by it on a previous day and on the House Calendar, and if the Speaker shall not complete the call of the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off, giving preference to the last bill under consideration: Provided, That whenever any committee shall have occupied the morning hour on 2 days, it shall not be in order to call up any other bill until the other committees have been called in their turn.

5. After 1 hour shall have been devoted to the consideration of bills called up by committees, it shall be in order, pending consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion to go into Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, or, when authorized by a committee, to go into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union to consider a particular bill, to which motion one amendment only, designating another bill, may be made; and if either motion be determined in the negative, it shall not be in order to make either motion again until the disposal of the matter under consideration or discussion.

6. On the first Tuesday of each month after disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only, the Speaker shall direct the Clerk to call the bills and resolutions on the Private Calendar. Should objection be made by two or more Members to the consideration of any bill or resolution so called, it shall be recommitted to the committee which reported the bill or resolution, and no reservation of objection shall be entertained by the Speaker. Such bills and resolutions, if considered, shall be considered in the House as in the Committee of the Whole. No other business shall be in order on this day unless the House, by two-thirds vote on motion to dispense therewith, shall otherwise determine. On such motion debate shall be limited to 5 minutes for and 5 minutes against said motion.

On the third Tuesday of each month after the disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only, the Speaker may direct the Clerk to call the bills and resolutions on the Private Calendar, preference to be given to omnibus bills containing bills or resolutions which have previously been objected to on a call of the Private Calendar. All bills and resolutions on the Private Calendar so called, if considered, shall be considered in the House as in the Committee of the Whole. Should objection be made by two or more Members to the consideration of any bill or resolution other than an omnibus bill, it shall be recommitted to the committee which reported the bill or resolution and no reservation of objection shall be entertained by the Speaker.

Omnibus bills shall be read for amendment by paragraph, and no amendment shall be in order except to strike out or to reduce amounts of money stated or to provide limitations. Any item or matter stricken from an omnibus bill shall not thereafter during the same session of Congress be included in any omnibus bill.

Upon passage of any such omnibus bill, said bill shall be resolved into the several bills and resolutions of which it is composed, and such original bills and resolutions, with any amendments adopted by the House, shall be engrossed, where necessary, and proceedings thereon had as if said bills and resolutions had been passed in the House severally.

In the consideration of any omnibus bill the proceedings as set forth above shall have the same force and effect as if each Senate and House bill or resolution therein contained or referred to were considered by the House as a separate and distinct bill or resolution.

7. On Wednesday of each week no business shall be in order except as provided by paragraph 4 of this rule unless the House by a two-thirds vote on motion to dispense therewith shall otherwise determine. On such a motion there may be debate not to exceed 5 minutes for and against. On a call of committees under this rule bills may be called up from either the House or the Union Calendar, excepting bills which are privileged under the rules; but bills called up from the Union Calendar shall be considered in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union. This rule shall not apply during the last 2 weeks of the session. It shall not be in order for the Speaker to entertain a motion for a recess on any Wednesday except during the last 2 weeks of the session: Provided, That not more than 2 hours of general debate shall be permitted on any measure called up on Calendar Wednesday, and all debate must be confined to the subject matter of the bill, the time to be equally divided between those for and against the bill: Provided further, That whenever any committee shall have occupied one Wednesday it shall not be in order, unless the House by a two-thirds vote shall otherwise determine, to consider any unfinished business previously called up by such committee, unless the previous question had been ordered thereon, upon any succeeding Wednesday until the other committees have been called in their turn under this rule: Provided, That when, during any one session of Congress, all of the committees of the House are not called under the Calendar Wednesday rule, at the next session of Congress the call shall commence where it left off at the end of the preceding session.

8. The second and fourth Mondays in each month, after the disposition of motions to discharge committees and after the disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only, shall, when claimed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, be set apart for the consideration of such business as may be presented by said committee.

RULE XXV

PRIORITY OF BUSINESS

All questions relating to the priority of business shall be decided by a majority without debate.

RULE XXVI

UNFINISHED BUSINESS OF THE SESSION

All business before committees of the House at the end of one session shall be resumed at the commencement of the next session of the same Congress in the same manner as if no adjournment had taken place.

RULE XXVII

CHANGE OR SUSPENSION OF RULES

1. No rule shall be suspended except by a vote of two-thirds of the Members voting, a quorum being present; nor shall the Speaker entertain a motion to suspend the rules except on the first and third Mondays of each month, preference being given on the first Monday to individuals and on the third Monday to committees, and during the last 6 days of a session.

2. All motions to suspend the rules shall, before being submitted to the House, be seconded by a majority by tellers, if demanded.

3. When a motion to suspend the rules has been seconded, it shall be in order, before the final vote is taken thereon, to debate the proposition to be voted upon for 40 minutes, one-half of such time to be given to debate in favor of, and one-half to debate in opposition to, such proposition; and the same right of debate shall be allowed whenever the previous question has been ordered on any proposition on which there has been no debate.

4. A Member may present to the Clerk a motion in writing to discharge a committee from the consideration of a public bill or resolution which has been referred to it 30 days prior thereto (but only one motion may be presented for each bill or resolution). Under this rule it shall also be in order for a Member to file a motion to discharge the Committee on Rules from further consideration of any resolution providing either a special order of business or a special rule for the consideration of any public bill or resolution favorably reported by a standing committee, or a special rule for the consideration of a public bill or resolution which has remained in a standing committee 30 or more days without action: Provided, That said resolution from which it is moved to discharge the Committee on Rules has been referred to that committee at least 7 days prior to the filing of the motion to discharge. The motion shall be placed in the custody of the Clerk, who shall arrange some convenient place for the signature of Members. A signature may be withdrawn by a Member in writing at any time before the motion is entered on the Journal. When a majority of the total membership of the House shall have signed the motion, it shall be entered on the Journal, printed with the signatures thereto in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, and referred to the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees.

On the second and fourth Mondays of each month, except during the last 6 days of any session of Congress, immediately after the approval of the Journal, any Member who has signed a motion to discharge which has been on the calendar at least 7 days prior thereto, and seeks recognition, shall be recognized for the purpose of calling up the motion, and the House shall proceed to its consideration in the manner herein provided without intervening motion except one motion to adjourn. Recognition for the motions shall be in the order in which they have been entered on the Journal.

When any motion under this rule shall be called up, the bill or resolution shall be read by title only. After 20 minutes' debate, one-half in favor of the proposition and one-half in opposition thereto, the House shall proceed to vote on the motion to discharge. If the motion prevails to discharge the Committee on Rules from any resolution pending before the committee, the House shall immediately vote on the adoption of said resolution, the Speaker not entertaining any dilatory or other intervening motion except one motion to adjourn, and, if said resolution is adopted, then the House shall immediately proceed to its execution. If the motion prevails to discharge one of the standing committees of the House from any public bill or resolution pending before the committee, it shall then be in order for any Member who signed the motion to move that the House proceed to the immediate consideration of such bill or resolution (such motion not being debatable), and such motion is hereby made of high privilege; and if it shall be decided in the affirmative, the bill shall be immediately considered under the general rules of the House, and if unfinished before adjournment of the day on which it is called up it shall remain the unfinished business until it is fully disposed of. Should the House by vote decide against the immediate consideration of such bill or resolution, it shall be referred to its proper calendar and be entitled to the same rights and privileges that it would have had had the committee to which it was referred duly reported same to the House for its consideration: Provided, That when any perfected motion to discharge a committee from the consideration of any public bill or resolution has once been acted upon by the House it shall not be in order to entertain during the same session of Congress any other motion for the discharge from that committee of said measure, or from any other committee of any other bill or resolution substantially the same, relating in substance to or dealing with the same subject matter, or from the Committee on Rules of a resolution providing a special order of business for the consideration of any other such bill or resolution, in order that such action by the House on a motion to discharge shall be res adjudicata for the remainder of that session: Provided further, That if before any one motion to discharge a committee has been acted upon by the House there are on the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees other motions to discharge committees from the consideration of bills or resolutions substantially the same, relating in substance to or dealing with the same subject matter, after the House shall have acted on one motion to discharge, the remaining said motions shall be stricken from the Calendar of Motions to Discharge Committees and not acted on during the remainder of that session of Congress.

RULE XXVIII CONFERENCE REPORTS

1. (a) The presentation of reports of committees of conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read, while the roll is being called, or the House is dividing on any proposition.

(b) After House conferees on any bill or resolution in conference between the House and Senate shall have been appointed for 20 calendar days and shall have failed to make a report, it is hereby declared to be a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said House conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said House conferees; and, further, during the last 6 days of any session of Congress, it shall be a privileged motion to move to discharge, appoint, or instruct, House conferees after House conferees shall have been appointed 36 hours without having made a report.

(c) And there shall accompany every such report a detailed statement sufficiently explicit to inform the House what effect such amendments or propositions will have upon the measures to which they relate.

2. It shall not be in order to consider the report of a committee of conference until such report and the accompanying statement shall have been printed in the RECORD, except on either of the 6 days preceding the end of a session.

3. Whenever a disagreement to an amendment in the nature of a substitute has been committed to a conference committee it shall be in order for the managers on the part of the House to propose a substitute which is a germane modification of the matter in disagreement, but their report shall not include matter not committed to the conference committee by either House.

RULE XXIX SECRET SESSION

Whenever confidential communications are received from the President of the United States, or whenever the Speaker or any Member shall inform the House that he has communications which he believes ought to be kept secret for the present, the House shall be cleared of all persons except the Members and officers thereof, and so continue during the reading of such communications, the debates and proceedings thereon, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

RULE XXX READING OF PAPERS

When the reading of a paper other than one upon which the House is called to give a final vote is demanded, and the same is objected to by any Member, it shall be determined without debate by a vote of the House.

RULE XXXI HALL OF THE HOUSE

The Hall of the House shall be used only for the legislative business of the House and for the caucus meetings of its Members, except upon occasions where the House by resolution agrees to take part in any ceremonies to be observed therein; and the Speaker shall not entertain a motion for the suspension of this rule.

RULE XXXII OF ADMISSION TO THE FLOOR

1. The persons hereinafter named, and none other, shall be admitted to the Hall of the House or rooms leading thereto, viz: The President and Vice President of the United States and their private secretaries, judges of the Supreme Court, Members of Congress and Members-elect, contestants in election cases during the pendency of their cases in the House, the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, heads of departments, foreign ministers, governors of States, the Architect of the Capitol, the Librarian of Congress and his assistant in charge of the Law Library, the Resident Commissioner to the United States from Puerto Rico, such persons as have, by name, received the thanks of Congress, ex-Members of the House of Representatives who are not interested in any claim or directly in any bill pending before Congress, and clerks of committees when business from their committee is under consideration; and it shall not be in order for the Speaker to entertain a request for the suspension of this rule or to present from the chair the request of any Member for unanimous consent.

2. There shall be excluded at all times from the Hall of the House of Representatives and the cloak rooms all persons not entitled to the privilege of the floor during the session, except that until 15 minutes of the hour of the meeting of the House persons employed in its service, accredited members of the press entitled to admission to the press gallery, and other persons on request of Members, by card or in writing, may be admitted.

RULE XXXIII OF ADMISSION TO THE GALLERIES

The Speaker shall set aside a portion of the west gallery for the use of the President of the United States, the members of his Cabinet, justices of the Supreme Court, foreign ministers and suites, and the members of their respective families, and shall also set aside another portion of the same gallery for the accommodation of persons to be admitted on the card of Members. The southern half of the east gallery shall be assigned exclusively for the use of the families of Members of Congress, in which the Speaker shall control one bench, and on request of a Member the Speaker shall issue a card of admission to his family, which shall include their visitors, and no other person shall be admitted to this section.

RULE XXXIV OFFICIAL AND OTHER REPORTERS

1. The appointment and removal, for cause, of the official reporters of the House, including stenographers of committees, and the manner of the execution of their duties shall be vested in the Speaker.

2. Such portion of the gallery over the Speaker's chair as may be necessary to accommodate representatives of the press wishing to report debates and proceedings shall be set aside for their use, and reputable reporters and correspondents shall be admitted thereto under such regulations as the Speaker may from time to time prescribe; and the supervision of such gallery, including the designation of its employees, shall be vested in the standing committee of correspondents, subject to the direction and control of the Speaker; and the Speaker may assign one seat on the floor to Associated Press reporters, one to the International News Service, and one to the United Press Associations, and regulate the occupation of the same. And the Speaker may admit to the floor, under such regulations as he may prescribe, one additional representative of each press association.

3. Such portion of the gallery of the House of Representatives as may be necessary to accommodate reporters of news to be disseminated by radio, wireless, and similar means of transmission, wishing to report debates and proceedings, shall be set aside for their use, and reputable reporters thus engaged shall be admitted thereto under such regulations as the Speaker may from time to time prescribe; and the supervision of such gallery, including the designation of its employees, shall be vested in the standing Committee of Radio Reporters, subject to the direction and control of the Speaker; and the Speaker may admit to the floor, under such regulations as he may prescribe, one representative of the National Broadcasting Co., one of the Columbia Broadcasting System, one of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and one of the Transradio Press Service.

RULE XXXV PAY OF WITNESSES

The rule for paying witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the House or either of its committees shall be as follows: For each day a witness shall attend, the sum of $6; for each mile he shall travel in coming to or going from the place of examination, the sum of 7 cents each way; but nothing shall be paid for traveling when the witness has been summoned at the place of trial.

RULE XXXVI PAPERS

1. The clerks of the several committees of the House shall, within 3 days after the final adjournment of a Congress, deliver to the Clerk of the House all bills, joint resolutions, petitions, and other papers referred to the committee, together with all evidence taken by such committee under the order of the House during the said Congress and not reported to the House; and in the event of the failure or neglect of any clerk of a committee to comply with this rule the Clerk of the House shall, within 3 days thereafter, take into his keeping all such papers and testimony.

2. At the close of each Congress the Clerk of the House shall obtain all noncurrent records of the House and each committee thereof and transfer them to the National Archives for preservation subject to the order of the House, and in so transferring he may act jointly with the Secretary of the Senate.

RULE XXXVII WITHDRAWAL OF PAPERS

No memorial or other paper presented to the House shall be withdrawn from its files without its leave, and if withdrawn therefrom certified copies thereof shall be left in the office of the Clerk; but when an act may pass for the settlement of a claim, the Clerk is authorized to transmit to the officer in charge with the settlement thereof the papers on file in his office relating to such claim, or may loan temporarily to an officer or bureau of the executive departments any papers on file in his office relating to any matter pending before such officer or bureau, taking proper receipt therefor.

RULE XXXVIII BALLOT

In all cases of ballot a majority of the votes given shall be necessary to an election, and where there shall not be such a majority on the first ballot the ballots shall be repeated until a majority be obtained; and in all balloting blanks shall be rejected and not taken into the count in enumeration of votes or reported by the tellers.

RULE XXXIX

MESSAGES

Messages received from the Senate and the President of the United States, giving notice of bills passed or approved, shall be entered in the Journal and published in the RECORD of that day's proceedings.

RULE XL

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS

Estimates of appropriations and all other communications from the executive departments, intended for the consideration of any committees of the House, shall be addressed to the Speaker, and by him referred as provided by clause 2 of rule XXIV.

RULE XLI

QUALIFICATIONS OF OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES

No person shall be an officer of the House, or continue in its employment, who shall be an agent for the prosecution of any claim against the Government, or be interested in such claim otherwise than as an original claimant; and it shall be the duty of the Committee on House Administration to inquire into and report to the House any violation of this rule.

RULE XLII

GENERAL PROVISIONS

The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual and the provisions of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, as amended, shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House and joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Mr. EBERHARTER (interrupting reading of resolution). Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Clerk to read in full paragraph 2 (c) of rule 11.

Mr. JAVITS. Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. JAVITS. Mr. Speaker, would an amendment to rule 11 be in order after the rule is read?

The SPEAKER. No amendments will be in order until the resolution is read in its entirety. Then I presume if the gentleman from Illinois moves the previous question none will be in order unless the previous question is voted down.

The Clerk continued the reading of the resolution.

Mr. ALLEN of Illinois (interrupting the reading of the resolution). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the further reading of the resolution be dispensed with and that it be printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. ALLEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The question is on ordering the previous question.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, before stating my point of order I wonder if the Chair would indulge me to inquire of the gentleman from Illinois whether or not he will yield for the purpose of offering an amendment.

Mr. ALLEN of Illinois. I will not yield for the purpose.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order then that it is not in order for the gentleman from Illinois to offer a resolution unless he explains the resolution or permits debate on it before moving the previous question. In other words, in presenting a resolution there must be debate on it before the previous question is put.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would invite the attention of the gentleman from Pennsylvania to the fact that what we are trying to establish is the rules of the House, and the question now is on the previous question offered by the gentleman from Illinois. The Chair overrules the point of order.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order then that this House not having adopted any rules governing the Eighty-third Congress, the gentleman has no right to offer the previous question, so that debate can be had on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Under the practice established over the years, the motion for the previous question is in order. The Chair so holds and overrules the point of order.

The question is on ordering the previous question.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, I submit a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, are we proceeding now under the rules we are going to adopt later, and which have not yet been adopted? Under what rules is the House proceeding, or is it proceeding under any rules?

The SPEAKER. The House is proceeding under the general parliamentary rules we have had for many years.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, a further parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, if the rules are not adopted today and the question goes over until next week, would we still proceed under some other rules that have not yet been adopted by the Eighty-third Congress?

The SPEAKER. If the rules were not adopted today, we would proceed as we are at this very moment, under general parliamentary law.

Mr. CELLER. Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CELLER. Mr. Speaker, do I correctly understand that the parliamentary situation is that if the motion for the previous question is not voted down, no opportunity will be given to offer an amendment by way of liberalizing the rules?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman states the situation accurately.

Mr. YATES. Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. YATES. Mr. Speaker, does the resolution offered by the gentleman from Illinois, the further reading of which was dispensed with, contain the rules as they were during the Eighty-second Congress or as they were during the Eighty-first Congress?

The SPEAKER. As they were during the Eighty-second Congress.

Mr. YATES. So that the rules which were in effect during the Eighty-first Congress are not contained in the gentleman's resolution? Is that correct?

The SPEAKER. These are the rules of the Eighty-second Congress.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, a further parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Of course, this matter is very, very important.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appreciates that.

Mr. EBERHARTER. I am not trying to delay the proceedings.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, I demand the regular order, and the regular order is the question on the motion for the previous question.

Mr. McCORMACK. The Chair can recognize the gentleman from Pennsylvania to submit a parliamentary inquiry, and the Chair is now doing that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. EBERHARTER. My parliamentary inquiry is whether or not the House as a body will have any opportunity again during the sessions of the Eighty-third Congress to amend these rules?

The SPEAKER. Of course, the Chair is neither a clairvoyant nor a prophet, but the rules of the House are always subject to change at the will of the House.

Mr. EBERHARTER. May I ask as a further parliamentary inquiry if a petition to discharge the Committee on Rules from the consideration of an amendment proposed to the rules would have the effect of bringing it to the floor of the House, provided enough signatures were obtained to the petition?

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot foresee that because we have not yet adopted any rules. If the gentleman will submit his inquiry after the rules have been adopted, the Chair will be very glad to answer it.

Mr. EBERHARTER. The Chair means that he will wait to make his ruling under the rules we are going to adopt?

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion for the previous question.

Mr. CELLER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were refused.

The motion for the previous question was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the resolution.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MINORITY EMPLOYEES

Mr. RAYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 6), and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That pursuant to the Legislative Pay Act of 1929, as amended, six minority employees authorized therein shall be the following-named persons, effective January 3, 1953, until otherwise ordered by the House, to wit: Ralph R. Roberts and Joseph H. Callahan, to receive compensation at the basic rate of $7,000 per annum, respectively; William M. Miller and Finis E. Scott, to receive compensation at the basic rate of $5,000 per annum, respectively; D. Thomas Iorio (minority pair clerk) to receive compensation at the basic rate of $4,500 per annum; and Landon Mitchell to receive compensation at the basic rate of $4,300 per annum.

The resolution was agreed to.

REPORT ON INCLUSION OF ESCAPE CLAUSES IN TRADE AGREEMENTS—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 42)

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

OFFICE OF THE CLERK,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, D. C., July 10, 1952.

The honorable the SPEAKER,
House of Representatives.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith envelope addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the President of the United States, received in the Office of the Clerk on July 10, 1952, said to contain a report on the inclusion of escape clauses in existing trade agreements.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH R. ROBERTS,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States, which was read and, together with accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and ordered printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Pursuant to the provisions of subsection (b) of section 6 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 (Public Law 50, 82d Cong.), I hereby submit to the Congress a report on the inclusion of escape clauses in existing trade agreements.

Since my last report on this matter, dated January 10, 1952 (H. Doc. 328, 82d Cong., 2d sess.), progress has been made with respect to the inclusion of escape clauses in trade agreements which do not include such clauses. In the case of a few trade agreements it has been determined that it would not be practicable to attempt to include escape clauses in the agreements at this time. Steps have been taken toward termination of another trade agreement.

There is attached a more detailed report on this subject prepared for me by the Interdepartmental Committee on Trade Agreements.

HARRY S. TRUMAN.

THE WHITE HOUSE, July 10, 1952.

(Enclosure: Report on trade agreement escape clauses.)

REPORT ON TRADE AGREEMENT ESCAPE CLAUSES (PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF SECTION 6 (B) OF THE TRADE AGREEMENTS EXTENSION ACT OF 1951)

Section 6 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 reads as follows:

"(a) No reduction in any rate of duty, or binding of any existing customs or excise treatment, or other concession hereafter proclaimed under section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, shall be permitted to continue in effect when the product on which the concession has been granted is, as a result, in whole or in part, of the duty or other customs treatment reflecting such concession, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, either actual or relative, as to cause or threaten serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products.

"(b) The President, as soon as practicable, shall take such action as may be necessary to bring trade agreements heretofore entered into under section 350 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, into conformity with the policy established in subsection (a) of this section.

"On or before January 10, 1952, and every 6 months thereafter, the President shall report to the Congress on the action taken by him under this subsection."

Since the report on escape clauses, dated January 10, 1952, no new trade agreements have been concluded. That report lists, in addition to the trade agreements therein found to be in conformity with the policy of section 6 (a) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, six other bilateral trade agreements which need further examination, namely, those with Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Turkey, and Venezuela.

The previous report stated that steps were being taken to terminate the existing bilateral trade agreement with Turkey following the accession of Turkey to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. An agreement was signed on July 5, 1952, terminating the bilateral trade agreement on August 4, 1952.

The negotiations for a supplementary trade agreement with Venezuela, referred to in the report of January 10, 1952, have been in progress for several months. The United States has requested inclusion in the supplementary agreement, in such a manner that it would become applicable to concessions remaining in the original agreement of November 6, 1939, as well as to concessions in the supplementary agreement, of an escape clause generally comparable to that made applicable to the trade agreement with Switzerland by the agreement of October 13, 1950 (H. Doc. 328, 82d Cong., 2d sess., pp. 10 and 11). The inclusion of such an escape clause in the Venezuelan agreement would bring it into conformity with section 6 (a) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951.

Discussions are presently underway between the Government of the United States and the Government of Ecuador with regard to the existing trade agreements with that country, including the possibility of inserting an escape clause in the agreement.

After detailed study of the problems involved in adding escape clauses to the agreements with El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras, the Trade Agreements Committee found for the reasons set forth below that it would not be practicable at this time to approach these countries for the purpose of bringing about the inclusion of escape clauses in the agreements with them.

This decision was taken on the basis of the following considerations. Many of the products on which the United States granted concessions in these agreements are on the free list, and none of them is likely to be produced in the United States in commercial quantities. The dutiable products on which concessions were granted by the United ¹The report of the Senate Committee on Finance, which proposed section 6 in its present form, explained that "the principle of including an escape clause in existing agreements is not mandatory unless such action would be practicable" (S. Rept. 299, April 27, 1951, 82d Cong., 1st sess., p. 5). In opening the debate on this provision in the Senate, Senator GEORGE, chairman of the committee, stated that, "In general, this amendment is designed to allow the greatest possible freedom in the operation of existing and future trade agreements without resultant serious injury to domestic producers" (CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, vol. 97, pt. 4, p. 5491). He continued: "Recognizing, however, the varying situations which exist in our trade relations with different countries at different times, the committee places no time limit upon the President, and makes the principle of including the escape clause in existing agreements mandatory only if such action would be practicable. This is to make sure that no important interest in this country will be jeopardized by action which might be unwise or precipitate under the circumstances" (ibid. 5490, 5491).

States are largely tropical products, imports of most of which result in no, or negligible, competition with United States producers, whereas a relatively high proportion of the concessions granted by the other countries are on products which compete with their domestic production. Furthermore, the Trade Agreements Committee was convinced that an attempt to secure the escape clause at this time would probably lead to the renegotiation of the agreements with these countries and result in a less satisfactory situation than now exists.

Finally, it should be pointed out that all of these three agreements are already subject to unilateral termination, by the United States, on 6 months' notice, pursuant to the requirements of the Trade Agreements Act.

MIDYEAR ECONOMIC REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The Clerk read as follows:

JULY 19, 1952.

The honorable the SPEAKER,

House of Representatives.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith envelope addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the President of the United States, received in the office of the Clerk on July 19, 1952, said to contain the midyear economic report of the President.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH R. ROBERTS,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

SUPPLEMENTARY TRADE AGREEMENT WITH VENEZUELA (H. DOC. NO. 43)

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

AUGUST 29, 1952.

The honorable the SPEAKER,

House of Representatives.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith envelope addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the President of the United States, received in the Office of the Clerk on August 29, 1952, said to contain a message to the Congress of the United States relating to a supplementary trade agreement with Venezuela.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH R. ROBERTS,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and together with accompanying papers referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

On August 28, 1952, the United States signed an agreement with Venezuela which amends and supplements the trade agreement of 1939 between the two countries. In view of a special situation which arose in connection with this agreement, I am submitting the following statement to the Congress:

Subsection (a) of section 3 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 provides that before entering into negotiations for a trade agreement the President shall submit to the Tariff Commission a list of the articles to be considered for specific concessions and that upon receipt of such list "the Commission shall make an investigation and report to the President the findings of the Commission with respect to each such article as to (1) the limit to which such modification, imposition, or continuance may be extended in order to carry out the purpose of such section 350 without causing or threatening serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles; and (2) if increases in duties or additional import restrictions are required to avoid serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive articles the minimum increases in duties or additional import restrictions required. Such report shall be made by the Commission to the President not later than 120 days after the receipt of such list by the Commission. No such foreign-trade agreement shall be entered into until the Commission has made its report to the President or until the expiration of the 120-day period." The findings of the Tariff Commission under this subsection are popularly known as the peril-point findings.

Under subsection (a) of section 4, in case the President enters into a trade agreement which exceeds the so-called peril-point findings of the Tariff Commission, he shall within the 30 days "transmit to Congress a copy of such agreement, together with a message accurately identifying the article with respect to which such limits or minimum requirements are not complied with, and stating his reasons for the action taken with respect to such article. If either the Senate or the House of Representatives, or both, are not in session at the time of such transmission, such agreement and message shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or the Clerk of the House of Representatives, or both, as the case may be."

Subsection (b) of section 4 requires the Tariff Commission promptly after the President has transmitted such foreign-trade agreement to Congress to "deposit with the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Finance of the Senate, a copy of the portions of its report to the President dealing with the articles with respect to which such limits or minimum requirements are not complied with."

In preparation for the negotiations with the Government of Venezuela looking toward an agreement supplementary to the existing reciprocal trade agreement with that country of November 6, 1939, I submitted to the Tariff Commission a list of articles to be considered for specific concessions by the United States. In accordance with section 3 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, hereinabove set forth, the Tariff Commission reported to me on December 27, 1951, its findings with respect to each such article as to the limit below which concessions could not be granted without causing or threatening serious injury to the domestic industry producing like or directly competitive products. For a certain group of petroleum products¹ three of the Commissioners found that the peril point was the existing tariff quota arrangement—10½ cents per barrel or one-fourth cent per gallon on a quantity equal to 5 percent of the total quantity of crude petroleum processed in refineries in continental United States during the preceding calendar year and 21 cents per barrel, or one-half cent per gallon, in excess of this quantity). The other three Commissioners found a rate of 10½ cents per barrel on all imports would constitute the peril point.

Although there are a number of legal issues involved on the question of whether there is or is not any peril point found within the requirements of section 3 of the statute by reason of the evenly divided Commission, I nevertheless desire to inform the Congress of the action I have taken with respect to these petroleum products in the agreement.

The text of the supplementary trade agreement which I have concluded with the Government of Venezuela is attached. This agreement contains the following concession on paragraph 1733 of the Tariff Act of 1930 and section 3422 of the Internal Revenue Code:

Tariff Act of 1930 paragraph	Description of article	Rate of duty
1733	Petroleum, crude, fuel, or refined and all distillates obtained from petroleum, including kerosene, benzine, naphtha, gasoline, paraffin, and paraffin oil, not specially provided for (except petroleum jelly or petrolatum, and except mineral oil of medicinal grade).	Free.

¹ Crude petroleum, topped crude petroleum, and fuel oil derived from petroleum (including fuel oil known as gas oil), par. 1733, Tariff Act of 1930, and sec. 3422, Internal Revenue Code.

Internal Revenue Code section	Description of article	Rate of import tax
3422	Crude petroleum, topped crude petroleum, and fuel oil derived from petroleum (including fuel oil known as gas oil): Testing under 25° API.....	¾ cent per gallon.
	Testing 25° API or more.....	¾ cent per gallon.

Thus, when the agreement enters into force, a rate of 5¼ cents per barrel will apply to imports into the United States of crude petroleum, topped crude petroleum and fuel oil derived from petroleum (including fuel oil known as gas oil) which is testing under 25° API (American Petroleum Institute Rating); the rate on these same products testing 25° API or more will be 10½ cents per barrel.

The supplementary agreement with Venezuela will provide for increased trade between the two countries. It will contribute to the security of both countries and will stimulate the development of proven oil reserves in the Western Hemisphere.

As compared to the 1939 agreement, Venezuela grants new or improved concessions on $154 million of imports from the United States in 1950; on $12 million of imports they are withdrawing the 1939 concessions; and on $6 million of imports the new agreement provides for higher Venezuelan rates than in the 1939 agreement. The trade coverage of the 1939 agreement as supplemented by the new agreement is $240 million or about 60 percent of total United States exports to Venezuela. Under the 1939 agreement, only 35 percent of our exports were covered. Among the important items receiving new or improved duty concessions are apples, pears, certain dried vegetables, rolled oats, wheat flour, barley malt, baby and dietetic foods, wrapping paper, laboratory and refractory glass products, galvanized iron sheets, enameled iron and steel manufactures, builders' hardware, table flatware, unassembled trucks and passenger cars, motorcycles, aircraft and parts, trailers, radio and television receivers including parts, phonographs including combinations and parts, phonograph records, automatic refrigerators, scientific apparatus, hand tools, photographic products, office machinery, electric motors, pumps, numerous types of industrial machinery and apparatus and parts, generators and transformers. Among the products on which new bindings of duty-free treatments were granted by Venezuela are road building, textile and printing machinery; stoves, heaters and ovens, and parts for agricultural machinery. The agreement, as revised, covers 179 Venezuelan tariff items as compared with 88 in the 1939 agreement. It includes products of interest to practically every important group of United States exporters. Concessions by Venezuela have particular significance since that country has no balance of payment difficulties in purchasing from the dollar area.

In 1950 United States imports from Venezuela of crude petroleum and residual fuel oil amounted to $288 million, or about 90 percent of our total imports from Venezuela. It is estimated that the 1950 value of trade on which the United States granted improved customs treatment is about $175 million, of which practically all was crude petroleum and residual fuel oil. New concessions of potential value to Venezuela consisted of the binding of existing duty-free entry for iron ore, deposits of which are now being developed.

The new agreement also amends and supplements some of the general provisions of the 1939 agreement. The principal changes are a substantial strengthening of the quota provision so as to safeguard more adequately the value of the reciprocal tariff concessions, an additional reciprocal undertaking with regard to customs formalities, and the inclusion of the standard escape clause in event serious injury should be caused or threatened to domestic industry as a result of the agreement.

With regard to the concession on crude petroleum, topped crude and fuel oil derived from petroleum, it would have been possible under the authority of the Trade Agreements Act to reduce the excise tax provided for in section 3422 of the Internal Revenue Code to 5¼ cents per barrel. The majority of the representatives of private business urged during the hearings held both by the Tariff Commission and by the Committee for Reciprocity Information that such a concession be made to Venezuela. I have agreed to a concession of 5¼ cents per barrel on imports of some of these kinds of petroleum products, namely, those which test under 25° API. A rate of 10½ cents per barrel, a treatment which was in effect from 1943 through 1950 under the Mexican Trade Agreement, is provided for under the new agreement for petroleum products testing 25° or more API, which constitute the greater part of United States imports of crude oil. Experience during 1943-50 indicates that imports at 10½ cents will undoubtedly prove no deterrent to drilling and development programs now under way in the United States.

Most of the crude oil produced in the United States has a specific gravity of 25° API or higher. The national average is about 35° API. For example, less than 1 percent of the crude oil produced in West Texas is below 25° API. Most of the heavier crude oils in the United States are produced in the Rocky Mountain area, in California, and in some of the Gulf coast area.

About one-third of the Venezuelan crude oil production has a gravity of less than 25° API. Nearly all of the low-gravity oil is shipped to the refineries on the islands of Aruba and Curacao.

Only the asphalt crudes, some of the topped crude, and the residual fuel oil will pay the lower excise tax. Generally, imports of these heavier crude oils sell in markets different from those in which domestic low-gravity oils sell. Furthermore, the lower gravity oils have a lower value in the market than the higher gravity petroleum products. It is believed appropriate, therefore, that these commodities of less worth should be dutiable at a lower specific rate and that the more valuable oils should pay a higher rate.

The imported oils which would pay the lower tax are among those which are in relatively short supply in the United States and generally throughout the world. It is not expected that the lower tax applicable to such oils will cause an undue increase in imports above the quantity which otherwise might be imported. It would appear, accordingly, that the lower tax on residual fuel oil would not serve to disturb the relationship which now exists in the United States between this fuel and other sources of heat and energy.

One major use of residual fuel oil is for ship bunkering; oil for this purpose traditionally has been imported free into the United States. The residual fuel oil subject to import tax is utilized mainly in gas and electric power plants, in smelters, mines, and manufacturing industries, and to a lesser degree, as heating oil in industrial plants. Most of these users are located along the east coast.

For the most part, these fuel-burning installations, particularly the power plants, are convertible, using either coal or residual fuel oil depending upon which is cheaper at a given time. In recent years coal has been cheaper. Coal is also more available, because residual fuel oil is in tight world supply, and because the percentage of residual fuel oil to total output of United States refineries is constantly decreasing as emphasis shifts to distilling larger amounts of the higher and more valuable fractions, such as gasoline. Therefore, the percentage of convertible plants using coal has increased steadily since 1949, until now most of the east coast power plants are using coal rather than residual fuel oil. The reduction in excise tax on residual fuel oil in the present agreement is not expected to be sufficient to change this long-term trend. In reviewing this situation in its peril point findings, the various Tariff Commission members, too, concluded that it offered no valid deterrent to a reduction in the import tax on petroleum.

The conclusion of the supplementary trade agreement is recognized by both the United States and Venezuela of a common interest in the expansion of trade. Venezuela is one of the largest markets for a wide range of United States export products. The United States provides an important and established market for Venezuelan oil, this representing, in turn, an essential supplement to domestic United States production. The United States will also provide a market for other Venezuelan natural resources, such as iron ore, which are needed in this country. The agreement, therefore, will be of economic benefit to both countries. It is, moreover, of vital security importance in view of the strategic nature of some of the products included within its terms.

MUTUAL SECURITY PROGRAM

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

NOVEMBER 18, 1952.

The honorable the SPEAKER,
House of Representatives.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith envelope addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the President of the United States, received in the office of the Clerk on November 18, 1952, said to contain a report to the Congress of the Mutual Security Program.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH R. ROBERTS,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States, which was read, and with the accompanying papers referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered printed with illustrations:

To the Congress of the United States:

I am transmitting herewith the Second Report on the Mutual Security Program, covering operations during the first 6 months of 1952 in furtherance of the purposes of the Mutual Security Act of 1951 (Public Law 165, 82d Cong.). The report reviews the steps that we have taken with other nations to work for peace and security.

The Mutual Security Program is a positive program for peace. It is absolutely essential to the security of the United States. At a time when one nation is bent upon world conquest—as the Soviet Union is today—other nations, large or small, have but two real choices: To pay the ransom of appeasement or to pay the price of building together sufficient strength—military, economic, political, and moral strength—to keep the peace. The United States and other free nations have chosen to build up their strength. That is what the Mutual Security Program is all about.

During the 6-month period reviewed in this report, real progress was made in strengthening the free world. Although much remains to be done, we are heading in the right direction. If we keep on, if each of the partners in this joint effort makes every effort to meet problems in a sensible manner, we shall eventually reach our goal of a secure, peaceful, and confident world.

HARRY S. TRUMAN.

INTRODUCTION AND REFERENCE OF BILLS INTRODUCED TODAY

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to make a statement concerning the introduction and reference of bills today.

As Members are aware, they have the privilege today of introducing bills. Heretofore on the opening day of a new Congress several hundred bills have been introduced. It will be readily apparent to all Members that it may be a physical impossibility for the Speaker to examine each bill for reference today. The Chair will do his best to refer as many bills as possible, but he will ask the indulgence of Members if he is unable to refer all of them that may be introduced. Those bills which are not referred and do not appear in the RECORD as of today will be included in the next day's RECORD and printed with a date as of today. The Chair feels that he should make this statement at this time so Members may be aware of the difficulties that immediately present themselves.

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING COMMISSION

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the provisions of title 40, sections 175 and 176, United States Code, the Chair appoints the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. AUCHINCLOSS] and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. RAYBURN] members of the House Office Building Commission to serve with himself.

PRIVILEGE OF INTRODUCING BILLS TODAY

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, the distinguished Delegate from Hawaii [Mr. FARRINGTON] is unavoidably absent today due to the death of his mother. I ask unanimous consent that, notwithstanding his absence, he may be permitted to introduce bills today.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana?

There was no objection.

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. REED of New York (at the request of Mr. HALLECK) was given permission to extend his remarks in the RECORD.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL TUESDAY NEXT

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today it adjourn to meet at noon on Tuesday next.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana?

Mr. RAYBURN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, and I shall not, may I ask the majority leader what will be the program for next week? Of course, the resolution carried providing for the counting of the electoral votes on Tuesday, but does the gentleman contemplate anything else happening on that day or during the remainder of the week?

Mr. HALLECK. I have not consulted with the Speaker as to whether or not he may recognize Members for extensions of remarks or other requests. That may be determined later. It is our understanding that a message will come up here from the President on Wednesday. I did hear some talk of another message for Friday. But beyond that there is no program.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Indiana?

There was no objection.

JOINT SESSION OF THE CONGRESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a statement.

After consultation with the majority and minority leaders, and remembering the terrific jams we have had upon the floor upon the occasion of joint sessions of the Congress, with the consent and approval of the floor leaders the Chair announces that on Tuesday next the doors immediately opposite the Speaker will be open and the doors on the Speaker's left and right, and none other.

No one will be allowed upon the floor of the House who does not have the privilege of the floor of the House.

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

Mr. CELLER. Mr. Speaker, is it in order to ask unanimous consent for extensions in the RECORD now?

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to state that it is his desire not to have requests for extensions of remarks made now. There are four resolutions relative to deceased Members that will be offered and the Chair feels that the introduction of those resolutions should not be delayed. Therefore the Chair will not receive unanimous-consent requests today.

SWEARING IN OF A MEMBER

Mr. O'HARA of Minnesota appeared at the bar of the House and took the oath of office.

THE LATE ADOLPH J. SABATH

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. O'BRIEN].

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep regret and a heavy burden on my heart that I announce to the Members of the House the passing of ADOLPH J. SABATH who died on November 6, 1952, at the Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md., just 2 days after he was elected for his twenty-fourth consecutive time to this body. Congressman SABATH was born in Czechoslovakia April 4, 1866, and came to the United States in 1881. He made his permanent home in Chicago, Ill., where he attended school. He was graduated from the Chicago College of Law in 1891, and was admitted to practice law the same year. He also received the degree of bachelor of laws from Lake Forest University.

Congressman SABATH, after being admitted to practice law, was selected for judge of the municipal court of Chicago, and served as judge until 1906 when he was elected a Member of Congress. He has served in this body ever since, establishing for himself a record for continuous service that has never been equaled by any Member of either body in the history of our country. He served under eight Presidents and nine Speakers, and on many of the important committees of this House. With the exception of the Eightieth Congress, he served continuously as chairman of the Rules Committee for the past 14 years.

Congressman SABATH was a Democrat—a good Democrat. He was a member of the county central committee of his party for nearly 50 years, 36 years as a member of the executive committee and 10 years as chairman. He also was a delegate to national conventions of his party for many years. He represented the people of his district all the years he was in Congress with great ability. He was an honest man and a devoted public servant. We have lost a loyal friend, the country a great legislator. His death is a loss not only to the people of Illinois, but to the people of America. To his good wife and friends, from the depth of my heart, I extend my deepest sympathy.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ALLEN].

Mr. ALLEN of Illinois. I want to join with my good friend from Illinois in paying honor to the late Congressman ADOLPH J. SABATH, who was a great American, a great patriot. I believe he had one of the most unusual lives I know of. He came over here as an immigrant boy, and in his life he personified the virtues of perseverance and integrity. He was honored not only by his own people of Chicago but those of the State of Illinois and the Nation.

It was my honor to serve for many years with Mr. SABATH on the Committee on Rules. He was impartial, he was fair, and he was a fighter—a strong fighter, I may say—for the things he thought to be right.

I know every Member of this body will long remember and cherish the close friendship each and every one of us had with our good friend, Judge SABATH.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. YATES].

Mr. YATES. Mr. Speaker, I want to join with my good friend the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. O'BRIEN] and with my other colleagues in paying well-deserved tribute to our dear departed friend, A. J. SABATH.

Congressman SABATH was a unique and wonderful person. He was one of the most conscientious and militant men I ever saw, fighting for the little people, not only of his district but of the Nation as a whole. He was outstanding for his long and distinguished record of service, unparalleled in the history of this House. He was outstanding, too, for the friendliness of his nature, for his good humor, and for his helpfulness to the many young men he saw come into the House. No one who asked Congressman SABATH for help was ever turned away.

In more than these qualities, however, Congressman SABATH was unique. He was a symbol, personifying the dream of those in foreign countries who see America as a land of hope and glory, of opportunity for even the humblest person—for Congressman SABATH started as a poor, immigrant boy and by his own efforts became one of the leaders of this country. He became, and will continue to be, a symbol of the universality of American citizenship, living proof to all the world that foreign-born Americans can and do enjoy the benefits and rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States to the same high degree and extent as those fortunate enough to be born in this country. His life proved that there is a oneness in American citizenship—that the Constitution draws no distinction between American citizens regardless of their race, religion, or place of national origin.

Congressman SABATH was a great friend to me. Since I first came here 4 years ago, his advice has been invaluable and his help tremendous. I will miss him very much.

To his bereaved family, I want to extend my deepest sympathy, with the hope that time will heal the grief they now feel.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. GORDON].

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, it is with profound sorrow that I announce the death of our beloved dean, the Honorable ADOLPH J. SABATH, of Illinois, which occurred at the United States Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md., November 6, 1952. The story of our departed colleague is the story of America. He was a champion of the people, a supporter of all progressive legislation, an ardent Democrat, and at 86 years was one of the really important men in the Congress and the United States.

As dean of Congress, he served longer continuously in Congress than any other man in history. He was serving his forty-sixth year or the last year of his twenty-third term in the House at the time of his death. His faith in progress was unruffled, his courage undismayed, and he remained an administration spokesman.

Mr. SABATH was born April 4, 1866, in a poverty-stricken village in Bohemia, now a part of Czechoslovakia. He was 1 of 11 children and his boyhood education was at a parochial school in the small town in which he lived. At the age of 13 he became an apprentice clerk in a dry-goods store and while there heard stories of opportunity and freedom in America which set his imagination afire. He saved his money and by the time he was 15, he had enough funds for his passage to America. He arrived in Baltimore in 1881 with $2.35 in his pocket and made his way to Chicago.

Our departed colleague studied at night at a business college and later established a real estate business. Continuing his studies, he graduated from the Chicago College of Law, was admitted to the bar, and in 1893 commenced active practice.

Mr. SABATH brought to America his mother, his father, and five sisters and five brothers. He became active in politics and helped organize, or joined, many social clubs. He was cofounder of the Czech Old Peoples and Orphans Home for which he contributed several building lots and cash. He also built an old peoples home in his birthplace, Zabori, Czechoslovakia.

He became a justice of the peace in Chicago in 1895. In 1897 he was elected police magistrate, where he served until 1907, and acquired his title of judge. He was a member of the central and executive committee of the Democratic Party and since 1902 was a delegate to all Democratic national conventions with the exception of 1948 and 1952. He was elected to the Congress in 1906 and served continuously to the time of his death.

He served for many years on the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization, on Foreign Affairs Committee and on the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and for 23 years as a member of the Committee on Rules, 12 years as its chairman.

Well do I recall his helpfulness in my early days of service in this body. Many of his colleagues and friends knew him as a man with a golden heart.

The intensity of his convictions and the spirit with which he gave his best to every cause that he championed will long be remembered in this body. He was respected by his neighbors and deeply loved by his many friends.

ADOLPH SABATH labored for the welfare of all races and in the Seventh District of Illinois which he represented, one could find inhabitants of many racial strains. He gave his services to humanity irrespective of race, and it did not make any difference to him what a man was as long as he was decent and devoted to our American institutions.

We have lost an able and conscientious legislator, and a fine gentleman. He shall, however, remain in our loving memory as one who enriched our association and experience in this House. We mourn his memory; we must strive to emulate his example.

In the years to come I shall remember his ability, his accomplishments, his constructiveness, his noble character, and all that he stood for, and in my memory I shall always cherish his friendship.

I extend my deepest sympathy to his wife upon her great loss. May he rest in eternal peace.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. PRICE].

Mr. PRICE. I join my distinguished colleagues from the State of Illinois and other Members of this body in paying tribute to the memory of our deceased friend and fellow legislator, the late Honorable ADOLPH J. SABATH. It was my privilege to follow Mr. SABATH's career closely in my years here as a secretary from 1933 to 1943; and later more closely as a fellow Member of the House.

He was an inspiration to me, as he was to all Members of the House. He was an able leader, a great legislator, a champion of the underprivileged, a champion of the workingman. He devoted his time and energy to many good causes. This House and the Nation will greatly miss him.

A short time before his death I visited Mr. SABATH in his office in the great city he loved so much, Chicago. Only a short time before my visit he had undergone a serious operation. While I had the feeling then he was failing rapidly, the Judge, as I always like to call him, showed his same aggressive spirit and talked enthusiastically of what the future held in store. He never looked back, except to profit by experience, and to point to errors which he hoped would not be repeated. He was not only the dean of the Congress who had accumulated vast wisdom as a legislator because of long service but in my opinion he was the most forward-looking Member of the Congress. At the age of 86, ADOLPH SABATH was still looking ahead in his desire to best serve his people.

I extend my most sincere sympathy to Mrs. Sabath.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. KLUCZYNSKI].

Mr. KLUCZYNSKI. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep feeling that I pay tribute to the memory of our beloved colleague and friend ADOLPH J. SABATH. His death occurred just 2 days after his election to serve his twenty-fourth successive term in this body, but he above beckoned and our friend has gone from us today. He was a man for whom I had the deepest affection.

As an immigrant boy of 15 he came to America from his native Bohemia, now Czechoslovakia, and settled in Chicago. Imbued with the freedom and opportunity of our great country, he diligently worked as a young man to gain a better education. This he accomplished by attending night school which enabled him to enter business and a further night course at the Chicago Law School led to a law degree. Admitted to the practice of law, he continued on a successful career which eventually brought about his entering the political field. Successively, he was elected police magistrate and judge, and then was elected to Congress in 1906 where he served continuously for nearly 46 years.

He served during the most crucial years in the history of our country and at all times had the best interest of our country and people at heart. He was a peace-loving man and frequently expressed the hope that notwithstanding the general world disturbances, universal peace will be forthcoming to the people of our country as well as to the people of the world.

Beginning with the Sixtieth Congress Judge SABATH has served his country and his congressional district faithfully under eight Presidents—Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Truman.

We knew him as a kindly man and especially so to me. During our friendship, we talked much together, and his wisdom derived from experience, made a deep impression with me. He was fatherly. In talking with ADOLPH SABATH, you knew that uppermost in his mind and heart was the welfare of the United States. Everything in his life was subordinate to his country.

Death has stilled ADOLPH SABATH's heart and voice in the service of his Nation. All of us who knew him have had our lives enriched by his friendship. His contribution to our country and mankind will live on forever.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. O'HARA].

Mr. O'HARA of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, to me this is a sad homecoming. The living vibrations of a close and warm friendship of half a century have been stilled. The voice radiating from a heart that loved all mankind has been silenced. One of the great Americans of our times has passed, and the Congress of the United States, in which he served continuously longer than any other Member, has lost a statesman of the highest caliber whose devotion to the cause of the poor and the misunderstood has never been surpassed. America will never forget this immigrant boy who rose in the brilliancy of his mind and the purity of his heart to dazzling heights of achievement untouched by affectation, untainted and unchanged, ending as he had started, the friend of all mankind.

With my distinguished colleagues from Illinois I join in expression of the deepest sympathy to that fine good woman whose care over him and solicitude for his welfare contributed so much to ADOLPH SABATH's ability to continue so long past the usual span of human existence and so virilely his service in this Chamber. My deep and sincere sympathy also is with his brother, Judge Joseph Sabath, no longer young and recently retired from the bench of Cook County with a record as a jurist which is the pride of Chicago and of Illinois. ADOLPH SABATH and Joseph Sabath were my friends, whom I loved, and around whom are entwined the memories of four or five decades, and when the news reached me of the passing of Adolph

I thought of that morning in the Eighty-first Congress which was Adolph's birthday. Twice he came to me on the floor and said, "Joe telephoned me; Joe, my brother." The heart of ADOLPH SABATH was as tender as his mind was vibrant. He has written a chapter in the book of Americana the like of which possibly never will be written again. That chapter in his own words, and covering the administration of eight Presidents of the United States, he has related in transcribed records, made in the radio room of the Old House Office Building, and which I hope may be made available to those of his colleagues who may wish to preserve as an inspiration and in fond companionship the voice of our beloved colleague and the dean of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Mr. ARENDS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield.

Mr. ARENDS. Mr. Speaker, all of us deeply mourn the passing of the beloved dean of the House, ADOLPH SABATH. Forty-six years of continuous service in itself bespeaks the high regard in which he was held by the people he represented. It also bespeaks the great contribution he has made over the years to his party and to the country.

ADOLPH SABATH has been the outstanding example of what we really mean when we refer to this being the land of freedom and opportunity. He came here as an immigrant from Czechoslovakia. He studied law and his legal talents were quickly recognized. He became a judge and did much for improving legal procedures to insure the preservation of individual rights.

In 1907 he came to the Congress. It would take more than time could possibly permit even to begin to recite a small part of his legislative contribution. While he was an ardent advocate of certain political policies with which I personally did not always agree, he was indeed a good friend of mine and certainly always just and fair in all his dealings with his fellow man.

With the passing of ADOLPH SABATH we have suffered a great loss. I extend my sincerest sympathy to his family.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MACK].

Mr. MACK of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, the death of ADOLPH SABATH is felt as keenly by me as by anyone in the House of Representatives. When I came here 4 years ago, ADOLPH SABATH was my guiding light. He assisted me when I was a new Member in this body. He was more than a half century older than I and had over half a century of experience—rich experience—behind him. I thank God for the privilege of serving with him and for his advice and counsel during the past 4 years. I think the life of ADOLPH SABATH will be another chapter in the history of this great democracy telling the story of an immigrant who came to this country to participate in the development of this great land. A man who was truly a representative of the people, fighting at all times for the betterment of our society. He was a champion of the rights of the individual and one of the greatest protectors of our liberties and our way of life. I will miss ADOLPH SABATH but I will always have a feeling of appreciation for the contribution he has made to our society and our Nation. Along with the entire membership of this distinguished body, I extend my sympathy to his relatives and loved ones. The loss of ADOLPH SABATH will be great, but history will always reveal what he has contributed to his country.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. JONAS].

Mr. JONAS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, the passing on of our colleague, the Honorable ADOLPH J. SABATH, brings to a close a unique and spectacular career of a man who, had he lived to fulfill his term in the Eighty-third Congress, would have served 48 years in the House.

I knew and was personally acquainted with Congressman SABATH for many years prior to my election to Congress. His political career always intrigued me because I was aware of his early struggles after he came to Chicago as a poor and unknown immigrant boy from Bohemia. His ultimate rise to prominence and political power in Chicago is an achievement that illustrates and emphasizes again that the United States is the land of opportunity. After his arrival in the United States, Congressman SABATH decided to make Chicago his home. It was in that city where he made the most of his opportunity, and where he demonstrated that a lowly and humble beginning in life was no handicap to a boy who possessed the courage, will power, and vision to seize the opportunities that his adopted country made available to him.

A summary of his outstanding political and Congressional performances reveal that he never lost sight of his humble origin. Throughout his public career he manifested a deep and sincere interest in the welfare of those who are frequently referred to as the poor people. I entertained more than a passive interest in his activities in Congress because of my close acquaintance and friendship with his brother, Judge Joseph Sabath, who served with distinction as a jurist in the courts of Chicago and Cook County for more than 40 years, and who recently retired as a judge of the Superior Court of Cook County.

Congressman SABATH had many honors conferred upon him during his lifetime—a number of the specific honors have already been mentioned by my distinguished colleagues while paying tribute to his memory on the floor of the House. Congressman SABATH is well remembered by the bench and bar of Chicago as the senior member of a prominent and active law firm with which he was affiliated for many years, and from which firm he severed his connections during the past 10 years.

I had occasion to frequently confer with him because of the position he occupied as chairman of the Rules Committee. In that capacity he served for many years. My experiences and personal contacts with him were of a most cordial and friendly nature. He was a devoted and militant member of his party, but regardless of his extreme partisan leanings, he proved himself on all occasions to be eminently fair and open-minded in matters pertaining to his official duties, and courteous and cooperative to anyone who sought his counsel in expediting legislative measures, regardless of party affiliation or policy.

Congressman SABATH was a man possessed of strong convictions, an aggressive, vigorous, and militant Member of the House, who long will be remembered for his strong determination and demonstrated leadership, and his diligent service to his constituency that he represented so faithfully in Congress for nearly 50 years.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DAWSON].

Mr. DAWSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I join with you in sending condolences to the family of our lost Member. He was my friend. I remember him as slightly different from most people. A catastrophe occurred in my district where many poor people were left homeless. I received a check from ADOLPH SABATH to use in any way I saw fit, to help them.

To my mind he exemplified what the poet meant when he said:

He giveth but little who gives but tears;
He does his best who aids and cheers;
But he does better and merits more
Who drives the wolf from the poor man's door.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield.

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, since 1906, when ADOLPH J. SABATH was elected to this body until his passing in the late days of the year 1952, many hundreds of eminent citizens have served as his colleagues. I think I am safe in saying that of all of this number there is not one still living today who does not have regret at his passing; but more than that, Mr. Speaker—all who have been fortunate enough to have had the privilege of being a colleague of his have, without doubt, received inspiration from him, because of his outstanding devotion to the public interest; his indefatigable energy in discharging his duties as a Member of this body; in his courage and patience in ever pressing for those ideas and principles in which he believed; and in his unfailing sympathy and friendship for, shall we say—those people—persons—whether as a group or individuals, who yearned for understanding and assistance in their aim of a better life; the aim that is inherent in every human soul. Upon ADOLPH J. SABATH, these could always rely; and those who knew him best were those who loved him most. I pride myself upon being numbered as one of his many thousands of friends.

To his widow and the loved ones he leaves behind, I extend my heartfelt sympathy; and pray the Almighty to comfort them in the knowledge that he has gone to that reward prepared for those who love their neighbor as themselves.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Texas [Mr. RAYBURN].

Mr. RAYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I think the life work of ADOLPH SABATH demonstrates, as well as anything, America and what it stands for, where everybody who deserves an opportunity gets it; where their reward is what they deserve.

Coming to this country as a small boy, an immigrant, ADOLPH SABATH went to work for himself, for his family, and for his country. The fact that he served in Congress longer than any other man in the history of the Congress of the United States, even adding together the services of men in the House and in the Senate, demonstrates that his people had great faith and confidence in him, and he was one in whom you could put faith and confidence. I was personally deeply devoted to ADOLPH SABATH.

I, along with his loved ones and dear ones, will miss him always.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. McCormack].

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the death of ADOLPH SABATH leaves in the hearts and minds of all who knew him a void that must be hard to fill. ADOLPH SABATH was a remarkable man of outstanding character, intense in his love of God and of his fellow man. His whole life was symbolic of progressive, constructive effort, and in particular trying to help those less fortunate than himself, as was so eloquently expressed by our friend from Illinois [Mr. Dawson].

Adolph and I were very close to one another not only in our official life but also in our social life. I find it difficult to express my thoughts because of the nobility of his character and the profound impression he made upon me through his simplicity. Every time I met him he was an inspiration to me and an example to follow in trying in my own way to be a better man and to lead a better life.

As our distinguished minority leader, Mr. RAYBURN, so well said, all who knew ADOLPH SABATH and served with him will miss him very much. I think I can truthfully say there was only one ADOLPH SABATH, that when Adolph was born the mold was broken. As long as any who knew Adolph lives, the light from the candle of his life will always be in existence and shine on, for his life was one of goodness, of kindness, of charity, and love: Love of God, in whom he had great faith, and love of his neighbor. All of us who knew ADOLPH SABATH are a little better because of the fact that we knew him.

The whole Nation is the poorer by the death of my most valued late friend ADOLPH J. SABATH.

This venerable Representative, whose tenure in the House spanned nearly half a century, devoted himself unstintingly over the years to the betterment of the lot of the average man, and toward the integration of the immigrant into the fabric of American life.

His record-breaking term of consecutive service of more than 46 years in the House of Representatives bespoke the esteem in which he was held by the people of his district in Chicago. But more than that, his career will always stand as an exemplary and shining symbol of the opportunities for all under our democratic system in this land of free men. ADOLPH SABATH, in fact, epitomized in the political and legislative fields the contribution which the foreign-born have made, and the descendants are making today, in the building of the greatness of the United States, and in its achievement of world leadership.

He was a fighter for the causes in which he deeply believed and vigorously espoused. Yet, I venture to say, that even among those with whom he differed strongly, there is none who does not mourn his passing. His friendships knew no party or factional limitations.

Mr. SABATH's wise counsel and stanch liberalism will be sadly missed in this Congress.

He was a man. Take him for all and all, we shall not look upon his like again.

Mrs. McCormack and I extend our deep sympathy to Mrs. Sabath.

Mr. MADDEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. I yield.

Mr. MADDEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to join with the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. O'Brien], Mr. RAYBURN, and Mr. McCORMACK, and with the Illinois delegation in paying tribute to our departed friend and colleague ADOLPH SABATH.

I was acquainted with ADOLPH SABATH before I came to Congress 10 years ago. When I became a Member of this House, Congressman SABATH was one of the first to extend advice and aid, and I will always remember our departed colleague for those offers of assistance that he extended to me. During his public life he has always fought for the rights of the common man and woman. He was a great liberal statesman and humanitarian.

As our minority leader stated, Congressman SABATH came to America as a poor immigrant boy back in the latter part of the last century and rose to the heights of business and political life in America. He has been a living example of what a free democracy can do for any person regardless of station in life, who wants to take advantage of the opportunities this country has to offer.

I shall never forget an incident of his life that he told me one day when we were having lunch. He stated that the first great impression he had of America was as a young man in the year 1896. During the Democratic national convention in Chicago that year he boarded a street car to go down Wabash Avenue to the Coliseum to attend the last day of the convention. The man sitting across from him in the street car was a young Congressman from Nebraska. He had heard a great deal about William Jennings Bryan but had never met him. So he moved over introduced himself and sat beside Mr. Bryan. Mr. SABATH said that as a young American he thought one of the greatest honors that could come to a young immigrant in America was to be able to sit beside and talk to a Member of Congress.

He asked the Congressman who he thought would be nominated that day at the convention. Congressman William Jennings Bryan stated that if he was able to get the floor at the convention on that day he thought he had an excellent opportunity of being nominated.

Of course, the rest of the story is history. That evening William Jennings Bryan got the floor and through the power of his oratory and his voice he made his famous Cross of Gold and Crown of Thorns Speech. Bryan became the nominee in 1896 after one of the greatest demonstrations following his great speech in convention history.

The young immigrant, ADOLPH SABATH, thought that was one of the greatest demonstrations of free democracy in action that could come to any nation in the world. At that time, he said, he decided to make public life his career. He came to Congress in 1907 during Theodore Roosevelt's administration and has served continuously until his death a few weeks ago. No Member of Congress in the history of the Nation has equaled his tenure in the House of Representatives.

I extend my sympathy to the wife and family of our departed colleague, Congressman ADOLPH SABATH.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. Lyle].

Mr. LYLE. Mr. Speaker, may I take this moment to express my very deep personal affection for the gentleman from Illinois, Mr. ADOLPH SABATH, who recently passed away. Death is a very complicated matter to speak about. During the last 2 months two chairmen of great committees on which I have served have passed away. Both were big men who contributed greatly to our way of life.

As the gentleman from Texas [Mr. RAYBURN] stated a moment ago, when a young man who could not speak English, born in a far away land, comes to America and has the opportunity, the privilege, the courage and faith to spend 46 continuous years in public life, that should be an inspiring thought to all of the people of the world, particularly to those who sometimes feel that they are members of minority groups in this great country of ours.

I knew Judge SABATH well and had the privilege of serving in the House of Representatives and on committees with him for some time. I shall never forget my pleasant experiences growing from this long friendship.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Brown].

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I had the honor and the privilege of serving nearly 10 years as a member of the great Committee on Rules with ADOLPH SABATH.

Last spring when he left Washington and the House here for the last time, I traveled on the same train with ADOLPH SABATH to Chicago. He was a very sick man at that time. He was unable to sleep. We sat and talked for a long time that night in his bedroom. I carried with me since that day a different impression of ADOLPH SABATH than I ever had before, because I believed that he had a premonition of death. He told me things that happened in his lifetime, the history of his life, that I had never heard before. Certainly we can all take encouragement from the story of ADOLPH SABATH and in the great progress he made in our America, because ADOLPH SABATH was a success in life. He proved again that to the boy who goes out on his own and works and strives, success will come. I did not always agree with our great chairman, ADOLPH SABATH, in all of the positions he took on legislative matters or upon political questions. We jostled with each other often on this floor of the House, as you all know, and yet it was a friendly jousting, but throughout the years we did have a very warm affection for each other. I had the pleasure of spending many delightful hours with our genial friend. As was said a moment ago by the gentleman from Massachusetts, the mold was broken when ADOLPH SABATH was given to the world. There will never be another like him. He will live in our memories for a long, long time. Some day, of course, we, all of us, will look forward to seeing ADOLPH SABATH again with that genial smile, that willingness to forget and to forgive and to do the million and one little friendly things that he did for all of us. We all miss him now, and I am sure that we all join in extending our sincerest sympathies to his family.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Oregon [Mr. ELLSWORTH].

Mr. ELLSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I count it a great honor and a privilege to have become, during the last term of Congress, rather closely acquainted with the late Honorable ADOLPH SABATH, of Illinois. I went on the committee of which he was chairman as a new minority member, and never at any time was I accorded anything but the finest courtesy and fairness which I felt so keenly, even though I had not known him intimately before as a Member of the House. I just want to take this brief time to say I admired and respected ADOLPH SABATH; that I shall miss him; that I count it as a personal loss to me, and I want to extend my very deep sympathy to the members of his family and to his loved ones.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. SADLAK].

Mr. SADLAK. Mr. Speaker, I was not as close to ADOLPH SABATH as were our names on the roll. However, during my time in Congress and prior to that time, while I served as a secretary, I had the opportunity on many occasions to talk with Judge SABATH. I found him to be a true gentleman, a real, genuine and genial character, who will remain a legend of the House of Representatives. I concur in the sentiments already expressed and join in the condolences to his loved ones.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members desiring to do so may extend their remarks on the life and character and services of our late colleague, ADOLPH J. SABATH, at this point in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, those of us who worked with ADOLPH J. SABATH for so many years can well understand why his constituents returned him to the Congress of the United States for 23 consecutive terms.

Knowing the ruggedness of his character we can appreciate his great ability to weather the sometimes heavy storms and complex vicissitudes of political life.

The history of ADOLPH SABATH's life is, in itself, an eloquent testimony to the great opportunities for service which America offers those who accord this Nation their faith and devotion.

The people of Illinois who put their continued trust and confidence in ADOLPH SABATH as their elected Representative in the Congress have lost a great public servant. My friends on the other side of the aisle have lost a pillar of strength in their party councils and we on this side mourn the passing of an admired and highly respected colleague.

But there must be a great measure of consolation to all of his friends in the realization that a divine providence gave to our late colleague a long and useful life rich in service to the Nation.

Mr. MACHROWICZ. Mr. Speaker, the death of the late Honorable ADOLPH J. SABATH was a tragic loss to the entire Nation and a great shock to his many loyal friends. ADOLPH SABATH won great honor and distinction for having served in Congress longer than any other American. But to me his right to a place in the hall of fame of America rests on his leadership and sponsorship of liberal causes and in his championing of the rights of the common man. "The rich and the strong can take care of themselves," he often told me, "it is the poor and helpless who rely on us and need our help. It is to them that we owe our loyalty."

I am proud to consider myself as one of his close friends. Though I was only a new Member of Congress, he always found time for words of fatherly advice and encouragement for me. I shall forever be deeply indebted to him for his kindness and sincere friendship.

Perhaps that was because there was another bond which held us together. He, just as I, was an immigrant to this country in his youth. He was not born in America, but America was born in him. He was not an American by birth, but by choice, and he was always proud of that fact and grateful to this country for the opportunities it gave him.

We shall miss him and his leadership in the Halls of Congress, but I am sure his friends will carry on the fight for the principles to which he was so devoted. I extend to his widow and family my deepest sympathy. May he rest in eternal peace.

Mr. SIKES. Mr. Speaker, ADOLPH SABATH was a kindly man who showed anew each day that he lived his great faith in and his appreciation for his country. America was good to ADOLPH SABATH and he sought constantly to repay her and to leave her richer by his service.

In his career every lad in every land may find inspiration. Few things that are finer than that can be said for any person.

He was able. He was a worker. He was a great American.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the passing of the old legislative warrior and champion of democracy, ADOLPH SABATH, was a sad day not only for his thousands of friends but for his district and country as well. As dean of the House of Representatives, chairman of the Rules Committee, successful businessman, and one of the great elder statesmen of our country, he was a constant exhibit of the opportunities this great country has to offer to even an immigrant boy who comes here without money, position, or friends.

Although born in a foreign country, he fitted well in the American scheme of democracy and, through honesty and rugged individualism, he carved a niche high on the walls of the hall of fame here. He became one of the most loyal Americans I have ever known.

ADOLPH SABATH was a loyal friend, an indefatigable worker, sympathetic and understanding of the problems of all who sought his advice and aid.

May the Great Comforter sustain his loved ones who are left behind. Peace and glory be to his ashes.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. Speaker, the life of ADOLPH J. SABATH holds a wealth of lessons for all those who would study America to discover what makes her great.

He symbolized the great idea of this Nation: that America is truly the world's land of opportunity for all those of courage and faith, whatever might be their origins.

He was a fighter on the side of progress for all of the 46 years he served so ably as a Member of this distinguished body. His great contributions to the well-being of the people of this Nation cannot, by any token, possibly be measured in mere material terms.

Never did I or any of my colleagues fail to be deeply impressed with his unfailing courtesy to those of us who appeared with legislation before the Rules Committee.

I extend my deep sympathies to the family of our sadly missed Member.

Mr. HELLER. Mr. Speaker, many of us in this House who have had the privilege of knowing our late colleague, the Honorable ADOLPH J. SABATH, will miss him during this new session. We shall miss his familiar face, his kind words, and most of all his sound advice. We shall miss his inspiring leadership and his wisdom, his experience and knowledge of men and affairs, his great devotion and ardent patriotism to the United States, which received him as an immigrant boy back in 1881 and afforded him the opportunity to rise to great heights of national distinction.

Few mortal men are privileged to reach the venerable age of four score and six, and fewer still attain such an incomparable record of achievement and service to our Nation as did our late colleague. He has given the American people long and distinguished service which is recorded in the annals of Congress. He was a man of deep convictions and a great believer in human rights and humanitarian principles. Throughout his long service in this House extending over a period of 46 years consecutively—more than any other man in the history of the United States Congress—he has constantly championed and fought hard for liberal and constructive legislation.

ADOLPH SABATH was almost an institution in himself. Deeply beloved by the people and revered by his colleagues in Congress, including those who disagreed with him violently, he deserves to be remembered more than by words. I should like to see this House take steps to memorialize his name in suitable fashion, either through a statue or monument in the vicinity of the Capitol, so that future generations may know of this outstanding American of immigrant stock and his achievements as a legislator.

I wish to extend my deepest sympathy to his bereaved family. May they be consoled by the thought that he leaves behind a great and honorable name that will long be remembered by the American people.

Mr. O'BRIEN of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 8) and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That the House has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. ADOLPH J. SABATH, a Representative from the State of Illinois.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

The resolution was agreed to.

THE LATE EDWARD EUGENE COX

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. VINSON].

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, it is with a heavy heart and profound sorrow that I announce to the House the passing of our distinguished colleague, the Honorable EUGENE COX, of the Second District of Georgia. He passed away on Christmas Eve at the Naval Medical Center in Bethesda. He succumbed to a heart attack, and has been laid to rest among his friends and neighbors in the warm and friendly soil at his old home, Camilla, in his beloved State, to which he gave his fullest devotion.

For 28 years he served with distinction in the House and had been elected for his fifteenth consecutive term. During the time he had been a Member of this body, he witnessed a whole breath-taking chain of events in the history of our country and of the world.

For many, many years he was ranking Democrat on the Rules Committee, and no Member of this House for the past 20 years exerted more influence in what measures came to the floor of the House than did the gentleman from Georgia, Mr. Cox.

At the time of his death he was chairman of a special committee investigating subversive influence in American foundations. He was among the very first in the House to warn the Nation of the danger of the communistic infiltration in Government.

He was independent in thought and acts, and always had the courage of his convictions. A brilliant debater, a gifted speaker, his sentences were always logical and gems of thought, and whenever he addressed the House he meant every word he said. He spoke from the heart, and if perchance the words uttered in the heat of debate offended, he was most apologetic, for he was indeed gentle and kind.

He had a heart of gold. He could not bear malice against anyone. He possessed a most lovable character and a charming personality. He was endowed with a keen and analytical mind.

I know of no greater compliment that I can pay his memory than to say that the respect and affection of this House for GENE COX grew greater and greater as the years rolled by.

In him was reflected the unusual attributes of selflessness. His dominant thought was always the welfare of the country.

I know that every member of this body admired and respected him. All of you have lost a friend, an able colleague. But I have lost more than that—I have lost a friend of 50 years, and a classmate. His passing saddens me more than I can say. I shall miss him for his genuine affection, his wise counsel, and his sincerity. But beyond that, the Nation will miss him, for GENE COX loved America as few men ever have. His whole life was devoted to his country and the records of this great body will bear witness to the fact that he never failed to wholeheartedly support what he thought best for the Nation.

Every piece of legislation dealing with our national security for the past 28 years bore the stamp of his approval.

His opinions on domestic and foreign affairs were firm and given without reservation. When he espoused a cause he did so deliberately, after long, careful, and searching thought.

He considered only what was best for his country. He never chose a course because it was easy or might be popular.

When he had reached a decision he brought to his task all of his skill and all of his talents, all the energy and the resources with which he was so generously endowed. Whatever he did, he did with conviction, with zest, with enthusiasm, and without wavering.

He was the sort of man who became more beloved as time went on. He was the sort of man who wore well. No one will replace him, for he was one of those rare men who is made from a secret mold.

Nor will he be forgotten—because men like him are not forgotten in the hearts of those who loved and respected them.

Georgia will always count him as one of her most illustrious sons, and the Nation is greater because GENE COX lived.

We in the Georgia delegation and the Members who were so intimately associated with him in his years in Congress will miss his wise counsel. We will miss his sturdy and unwavering support of the causes in which he came to believe.

Right was his only criterion. Compromise was not in his nature. His was the stout heart of the worthy adversary.

Now the stillness of the dark night is upon us. Another of our colleagues joins the long line of silent figures whose voices echoed through these halls. The rugged warrior has laid down his armor and sleeps in the earned peace of a task well done—of a life well spent in service.

To his widow and children, to his constituents, to his State, and to his Nation, I extend my heartfelt sympathy.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. VINSON. I yield.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, words are inadequate for me to pay just and deserving tribute to GENE COX. He fearlessly fought for what he thought was right. No one had more courage or exemplified a greater fighting spirit than he. His long service in public life rendered throughout the years was to make the Nation, his State, his community, and the home a better place in which to live.

He was a champion of States rights, and stood for the sound constitutional principles that have made this country great. He believed in democratic processes. He believed that the people should rule and that they had the capacity to rule.

He was known in every State of the Union for his sound thinking on foreign relations and policies. He respected the views of others, whether he agreed with them or not.

His effective work against communism in this country and abroad will be remembered by all.

He loved people and always extended sympathy to the little fellow and those in trouble. As a lawyer he was true to his clients, never taking advantage of opposing counsel, and was held in high esteem by the jury. As a judge he was just and fair. As a Member of this House he was diligent and energetic, loved and respected by Members on both sides of the aisle. He was a kind and devoted husband and father.

I extend to the family my deepest personal sympathy in his passing.

Mr. DAVIS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. VINSON. I yield.

Mr. DAVIS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, when the time comes to speak of a dear friend who has gone from us to the Great Beyond, so many precious memories come to recollection that it is hard to talk at all.

I think at this moment of countless times when my life has been richer and fuller because I was blessed with the friendship of Judge Cox.

His personality was an extraordinary personality. It was a joy always to come into his presence. His cheery greeting never failed to kindle anew that warm, responsive feeling of friendship which had lived in my heart throughout the years in which I knew him.

As we think and talk of Judge Cox today, it is fitting to recall that he was a lawyer of recognized ability; that as a member of the bar he added distinction and luster to our great legal profession of which lawyers are justly proud.

As a judge of the superior courts of Georgia, he demonstrated that he possessed that quality so necessary and essential to all judges, namely, judicial temperament. He enforced the laws with firmness and a determination to protect the law-abiding citizens of his circuit from the lawless element. It was not possible in his court for the strong to oppress the weak, or for the rich to impose upon the poor. His presence upon the bench was a guaranty that every party to a case in his court would receive that to which the law entitled him.

Judge Cox first established his reputation as a lawyer, a jurist, and a statesman in his native State and in his home surroundings. When he came upon the national arena, those same qualities of intellect, fearlessness, and zeal in fighting for the causes he supported established for him on a Nation-wide basis the same reputation which he enjoyed at home.

He loved America and American institutions. He believed they were worth fighting for, and he devoted his finest talents and his utmost energy to their preservation. He did not dodge issues. He did not hesitate to take an open, frank, and unequivocal position on any question where he felt it was his duty to take a stand. He would not stoop to hypocrisy or deception. On most questions one who knew Judge Cox would generally know without asking him where he stood on current issues, because he was forthright and consistent in his philosophy and his personal code.

He was a power to be reckoned with in all the great battles which came to the floor of the House. He was not always victorious, but he was always courageous. He possessed those qualities which made him generous in victory and magnificent in defeat.

It happened to be my privilege to last see Judge Cox on the afternoon in November when he went to the hospital before his death. I had come to Washington for a visit of only one day. When my business had been transacted, I dropped into his office for a visit, and we discussed the coming session of Congress. I was looking forward with anticipation to serving again with him as a member of the Georgia delegation. The news which I received on Christmas Eve day of his passing saddened me beyond the power of words to describe. I extend sincere sympathy to the members of his family. His passing is not only a great loss to them. It is a great loss to his friends and colleagues and to our Nation. Our Nation is richer because of his life, poorer because of his death.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to my colleague [Mr. CAMP].

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, the great State of Georgia has lost one of her most distinguished sons in the passing of our beloved and lamented EUGENE COX.

Possessed of a golden heart, a brilliant mind, and the courage of his convictions, he was respected and loved by all who knew him. One never failed to know where Mr. Cox stood on any question of the day. His brilliant mind was quick to understand and to see the dangers to our American way of life and to our Republic. One of the first who gave battle to communism, one of the quickest to see its danger, he made a record here which we respect and honor him for.

I will miss him, and I know that all of our colleagues who served with him will miss the cheerful voice, the golden heart, and friendship of lovable EUGENE COX.

I extend to Mrs. Cox and the family my deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to my colleague [Mr. WHEELER].

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, the strong and silent hand of sadness gripped my heart when first I heard that my good and great friend, GENE COX, had succumbed to the Grim Reaper. Finite mind cannot forge the words with which human tongue can tell of the tremendous sense of personal loss that has been mine since news came to me of his untimely death. Those of you who knew GENE need no reminder of the tragic loss his passing brings to his district, State, and Nation. You know that he had few, if any, equals in this legislative forum. As a personal friend and wise counselor to the young and inexperienced such as I, there was no man who was kinder, more understanding and loyal than he.

When I first came to this body I only knew GENE COX by reputation although he represented a district that adjoins mine. I, along with the other people of Georgia and the Nation, knew GENE COX to be a fighter for that which honest conviction led him to believe was right. We knew him to be the toughest of foes to those with whom he disagreed and knew him to be unrelenting in his fight against those who would, by subversion or otherwise, seek to do harm to this country he so dearly loved.

Within a very short time after I came to this body, I found GENE COX to be as kind and generous to his friends as he was critical of his foes. In fact, I came soon to be persuaded to believe that GENE COX had no personal foes. The composition of his fine spirit would not tolerate the harboring of personal malice within a heart that was as big as the human body can encompass. It is true that in the flaming and consuming fire of his incomparable spirit, there were times when his tongue, directed by one of the keenest minds I have known, would become devastatingly sharp and bitter as only those who have felt its keen lash can know. But those who have felt its keenest lash for a fleeting moment can also best testify to the speed with which he would always hasten to make amends for any personal harm that might have come to them.

There are those here who have known my great departed friend longer than I, but there cannot be one who feels more deeply the sense of personal loss that his passing has brought to me. Time will not permit detailed accounting of the number of times that GENE COX has befriended me in ways that only his kindly nature could devise. No man can assume the special place he has within my heart and memory, just as his district cannot replace him for his State and Nation.

No man could know GENE COX without loving and respecting him as an incomparable champion of the America he loved so dearly and as a personal friend who was always willing to give of himself to others. There are those of us who feel that his willingness to give of himself to his friends and to the performance of his duty as he saw it so unstintingly hastened his death. If he had been a little more selfish of his time and service, he would probably be here with us today.

Those who knew GENE best loved him most and it is to those that I offer my inadequate words of consolation and regret in their hours of deepest sorrow. The man called GENE COX is gone, but his great spirit will haunt these halls for countless years to come. He was a great Georgian, a great American in the very finest tradition of this Republic. In short, he was a great man.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. PRESTON].

Mr. PRESTON. Mr. Speaker, as a friend and colleague, and as a member of the Georgia delegation in the House of Representatives, I attended the funeral of our departed brother at his home town of Camilla. It was there that I came to fully appreciate how his people loved him. We have, of course, ample opportunity here in the House to know each other and to learn and evaluate the virtue of others, but really to find out how great a person is, one must go among the people with whom he was raised.

On that Sunday morning when I arrived at Camilla there was every evidence of the sorrow that those people felt. There was a hushed reverence everywhere and people in all walks of life were streaming through his magnificent home out of respect and love for him. I was impressed by the large number of his colored friends who came to pay their respect to him, many of whom the Judge had defended in court, many of whom he had befriended. On every turn there the people were telling of some of the fine things that the Judge had done during his lifetime.

The first place I stopped down there was at a service station operated by a paralytic. This man was broken in grief. He stated that only a few weeks ago the Judge had come down from Washington and, as he always did, he came by to see this man and to inquire of his feelings. He told me that as he shook hands and left he placed a sizable bill in the palm of his hand.

That was typical of his many acts of kindness. Everywhere he went he touched people with kindness and with optimism and joy. I think GENE COX could properly be called a great public defender. Anyone in difficulty found him at their side. I have seen him many times rise on the floor of this House in defense of some brother who might have been in momentary difficulty. He was of excellent counsel to all of us. We all respected his views and judgment.

Georgia has produced a great many individualists, men like Alex Stephens and Bob Toombs. Georgia will place GENE COX in memory and reverence beside those two great patriots. He was one of the few remaining of the old school of statesmanship, men who did not rely upon things political and diplomacy in dealing with issues but who approached issues with the view of what is best for my land.

That was GENE COX's approach to every question. He was brilliant in debate and never yielded to an adversary in discussion. For courtesy's sake he would sometimes compromise a conviction. I did not always agree with him in the positions he took in the Congress, but I never questioned his motive or his sincerity. He did not make decisions for expediency's sake but out of a heart full of sincerity and great love of his country.

Yes; during his life he touched the lives of many people. He set a pattern for many to follow. He influenced the lives of a great many individuals. He had the courage of personal convictions that was an inspiration to me. I stated at one time about him that if someone challenged GENE COX to a duel with rapier, although he never had one in his hand before, he would quickly seize one and accept the challenge. That great trait, coupled with his intellectual courage, goes to make a strong, brave man. That is what he was. They need only put in his epitaph on the headstone of his grave: This is GENE COX, a truly great statesman.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. FORRESTER].

Mr. FORRESTER. Mr. Speaker, Sunday afternoon at Camilla, Ga., I, with thousands of other sorrowing friends, saw the mortal remains of the distinguished gentleman from Georgia, Hon. EUGENE COX, return to the soil from whence it came. I wish every Member of this body could have been there to see the genuine love and devotion the people of his district, State, and Nation held for him as a servant, neighbor, and friend. And, it was only as it could be for no real American had reason not to love him and every loyal and informed American did love him.

I saw the American flag draped over his casket-enclosed body. It belonged there. I saw gentle hands tenderly remove that flag, fold it, and present it to his widow as a testimony of his fidelity evermore. Through my soul surged the thought, if there was ever a time etiquette would permit our flag to remain with a body, that was the time for only death could separate the two. I thought of his friendship to me over the years, his outstanding and unsurpassed service in this great body and that no longer would that outstanding American be physically present in the Hall of the House. Then, I realized that his spirit would always be present and that we all would be better Americans because of that spirit.

I have seen many lovers of this country, and God bless them all, but I have never seen one greater than Judge COX. Never have I seen such devotion and zeal for the American way of life at all times and under all conditions, and sometimes under misunderstanding. It pained that gentle soul to be misunderstood, but never did he swerve in his courageous stand for his country and his principles. No man will ever enter this Congress with more genuine love for his country than Judge COX, or who would more gladly defend it.

Years ago Judge COX saw the great dangers of communism and he declared war on those dangers. The going was rough and many times he was almost alone. Thank God this Christian soldier lived long enough to see his critics eat their words. The people are awakening to this terrible menace. I am confident, supremely so, that as future history unfolds every event will be proof of the foresight, courage, loyalty, and love unsurpassed and that history's proudest pages will do justice to this great American.

As certain as we are to triumph over godless communism is the fact that his name will grow brighter through history.

The Second District of Georgia and our State of Georgia were immensely proud of him. They and we will continue to have his spirit as the days go by and Americans will take his name forever in their hearts. To his widow and children we extend our abiding love and affection.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished majority leader, the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HALLECK].

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, the bright joys of the holiday season were dimmed for me, as I am certain they were dimmed for so many others in this Chamber, by the shocking news that we had lost one of our most beloved colleagues, EDWARD EUGENE COX, of Georgia.

GENE COX was one of my great friends in the House of Representatives. I shall miss him more than I can tell.

His was an outstanding career of service to the people of his district and to the people of the Nation.

Some men are clever; others we characterize as brilliant; many are diligent and resourceful. Yet so often they lack that divine spark of warmth and sincerity which distinguishes the truly noble personality.

GENE COX was a wise man. But beyond that he was blessed with a great spirit of warmth coupled with complete sincerity of purpose. He was a man of principle, a hard-fighting and vigorous champion of what he fervently believed to be the right.

It is perhaps only human that I shall remember GENE COX primarily as a generous-hearted friend.

But I will never forget his staunch Americanism, his able talents as a legislator, and his stalwart sense of obligation to serve the Nation he loved with complete loyalty and devotion.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio [Mr. BROWN].

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, when GENE COX passed on on Christmas Eve he left his heart in this House, because he loved the House of Representatives, which he had served 28 years.

I went to the hospital 2 days before GENE's death to visit with him. He looked much better than when I had last seen him before he became ill. He was cheerful, but his whole thought and mind was upon the organization of this new House which took place here today and of the 2 years ahead and of the work that was to be done.

I served with GENE COX on the Rules Committee. I never knew any individual that had a better or a greater grasp of legislation or who had a more sincere desire to do only that which was best for his country. He placed his country and its welfare beyond all other considerations. I have seen him time after time do that which might not be popular for him at the moment, but which his own conscience and his judgment told him was in the best interest of the America that he loved so deeply and served so well.

We shall all miss GENE COX here. It will not be the same House of Representatives as we have known it for so many years with GENE away; yet I believe that somehow or other the very fact that he served here will inspire all of us to carry on in the tradition that he established of service to country, of willingness and readiness to do that which he believed right regardless of the cost.

To Mrs. COX and to his children I join in extending sincere sympathy and the hope that divine providence will give them the strength to bear up under the great bereavement which has been theirs.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH].

Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I shall not consume much time in a eulogy of GENE COX except to express my concurrence in everything that has been said here today, particularly by his colleagues from Georgia, who knew him so well. GENE COX was a man of many parts. I think probably the outstanding features of his life were his great courage, politically and physically, his generosity to a degree greater than most any man I ever knew, and above all his unfailing loyalty to those who could claim his friendship. I served with him for 20 years on the Committee on Rules of the House of Representatives, and during that time I followed his leadership. I would do so again. I have never regretted it. I think GENE COX is one of the great men of our generation, and those many qualities which he possessed are going to live long in the hearts of the Members who knew him. While he has gone, his influence in this body, I think, will live on for years to come. He was a man who was quick of temper at times, and yet I do not think GENE COX ever had enmity toward any man. I have seen him in the warmest of debates when immediately afterward he was ready to shake the hand of his adversary and seek his friendship and forgiveness. That is not true of many people.

I happen to know something about his home life. I know of his deep and most generous and unselfish devotion to his fine wife, children, and his grandchildren. I know of their very deep affection for him. No person who is not a fine, great man would ever inspire the affection which was felt for him by his family and by those of his friends in the House of Representatives who were the closest to him and knew him best.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. RAYBURN].

Mr. RAYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think I can do better than to adopt the wonderful words and marvelous tribute just paid to GENE COX by our colleague the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH], who was so long associated with Mr. COX on the important Committee on Rules. During all the years that GENE COX was a Member of the House of Representatives, he gave me a confidence and he gave me a love and a loyalty unsurpassed by any friendship that anyone could know. My affection for him is deep and abiding. I never associated death with GENE COX somehow. I did not know he was ill, when the word came to me down on the farm that GENE COX had passed away. I knew of his love and loyalty to friends, and of his devotion to his wife and his children. He gave friendships and love without alloy. He was capable. He was just built that way. He was a strong man in every sense of the word; strong in his convictions as he was in his love and his loyalty. Hot of temper, but when he lost his temper, he always came back and made everything all right with the man that he had lost his temper with. His was a noble soul. He had a grand and useful life. I do not think I will ever see such a life as his again exactly for he was built in a mold which was not at all common. He was a gentleman. He was an aristocrat of character and devotion. With his darling wife, who is my great and good friend, and his children, I shall miss him as long as I can remember friendship and good people.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from New York [Mr. TABER].

Mr. TABER. Mr. Speaker, when EUGENE COX first came to the House he picked out an office right next to mine in the Old House Office Building. I got to know him very well. That acquaintanceship has continued right down to the end. I have always found him true and straight, having in his heart and in his words the best interests of the United States.

At this time we are sorry that he has gone. We are glad that such a fine character lived with us.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Oregon [Mr. ELLSWORTH].

Mr. ELLSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, when I first came here as a new Member 8 years ago, I very shortly became aware of the presence and the force in this House of Representatives of our late colleague, EUGENE COX. I knew him for the first several years only as a forceful, dynamic speaker. I classified him, as we all do, as a great American. But it was not until I had the pleasure and the honor of serving with him on the Rules Committee that I realized that this legislator, this powerful debater, this man of force, character, and strength was also a human being, a likable man, a man who thoroughly enjoyed doing things for people, doing favors for folks. I, too, have a great friendship and liking for our late colleague, EUGENE COX. I shall miss him greatly, just as we all will. I feel that in his passing this country has lost one of its greatest Americans.

I extend my sympathy to the members of his family and his loved ones and the people of his State who have lost a great representative.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Iowa [Mr. JENSEN].

Mr. JENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to endorse everything that has been stated on this floor today about our deceased friend and colleague, EUGENE COX. When I heard of the passing of this great friend of mine I was deeply grieved. It is rather difficult to know that EUGENE COX will not walk with us again in this Chamber. I had such a high regard for him that I can hardly visualize that he has gone to the Great Beyond.

EUGENE COX and I met when I first came to this House 14 years ago, and from that very moment my admiration and respect for him has grown up to this time. I saw that great, strong, patriotic American stand on the floor of this House and defend with every ounce of strength he had the things which he believed to be fine and big and best for this great America which he loved so dearly.

GENE COX to me was a symbol of everything that is fine in man. I have not the words to express my true feeling of this great patriot who has gone to his reward. I shall miss him as will every Member of this House who knew him, and as will everyone in his State and in this Nation who knew GENE COX as we did. But GENE is gone, and we must carry on as GENE COX would want us to. To fill his shoes and to take his place in this House is possibly beyond the ability of any of us, but we shall attempt to carry on where GENE COX left off.

My heart goes out to his good wife and family whom he loved so much.

God rest his soul.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio [Mr. VORYS].

Mr. VORYS. Mr. Speaker, others have spoken ably of the fiery eloquence of GENE COX, of his unswerving courage, of his great ability as a fighter for the causes in which he believed. In my tribute I merely want to give one instance that will reveal a part of GENE COX that has been referred to but that many perhaps on this floor have not witnessed.

I looked today at the picture of GENE COX, our departed friend, and his photograph showed that stern, fiery courage and proud, indomitable will; I feel it did not show the great heart of the man, his infinite capacity for friendship, and his utterly winsome generosity.

It was my honor and privilege to serve with GENE COX on a subcommittee that traveled in Europe in the fall of 1947. Our train got to Essen, Germany, and the sleepers laid over there for us to board again. After we had been through the devastated city, we went back to the train to change our clothes and rest ourselves, and we found a lot of German children had assembled around the train. We had all supplied ourselves with chocolate and soap for an extended stay in that devastated country, and many of us had taken a supply of cigarettes. GENE COX went to his suitcase and soon emptied it of those things. He gave the children the chocolate that we had brought along for our own use, and he gave away all the soap that we had been supposed to take with us. Then, although it was possibly forbidden, he gave out the cigarettes to those children because he knew they could trade them for food in that community. Finally—and this was in the fall and it was beginning to get cool—he was outside the train with a sweater on and saw one little kid standing there who was particularly threadbare. GENE COX stripped off his sweater and handed it to that child. We finally coaxed him to come back into the car, to stop his generosity before he stripped himself further. He traveled contentedly the rest of the month in cold weather in Germany and Austria without the sweater that he really needed. That was GENE COX pouring out with his great heart things that he could have used himself.

That is the spirit of the man that does not show in his pictures but that should live in the hearts of all of us. That is the spirit of the man that will be of great comfort in memory to his beloved family and to his friends who now mourn him.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. LYLE].

Mr. LYLE. Mr. Speaker, the fine things that have been said about GENE COX and his friendship came to me almost every day. He did me the very high honor and courtesy of patting me on the back and saying: "God bless you, young man."

Of course, GENE COX was a great American, a fine statesman, and I am sure he will be remembered for those great qualities. But I can remember him because he was a good, warm-hearted man who appreciated the miracle of humanity, a man who loved beautiful things, a man who enjoyed the things he might do for others.

I am very pleased, Mr. Speaker, very pleased, that GENE COX did me the honor of giving me his friendship and I shall always cherish the memory of this splendid, lovely American.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAYS].

Mr. HAYS of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, during the last few weeks of Mr. COX's life we were associated together in a special assignment in the House of Representatives in connection with a study of American foundations. In that investigation and in my intimate association with him there were accentuated many of these virtues and fine qualities that have been brought out so eloquently by his colleagues from Georgia and by others who knew him longer than I.

I am not surprised that two things stand out that were also in my mind, first, the warm, human sympathy that was so characteristic of him, and, second, his innate patriotism, his intense patriotism. Those are the two things I will remember longest about him.

Supplementing what the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. VORYS] said about his generosity, I think it may have been on that same trip or conceivably another, that one of our colleagues reported that in the presence of hunger and suffering he saw tears of sympathy in the eyes of GENE COX. It was not a display, because the gentleman from Georgia was not capable of that. Compassion is a larger word than friendship. The gentleman from Georgia had an incredible capacity for friendship, and those of us who were privileged to be in that circle appreciated it and shall always cherish it. But his was a wide circle. It took in the suffering of the world. This is something that I think belongs in the record.

The gentleman from Georgia [Mr. PRESTON] made reference to two other Georgians—Alexander Stephens and Robert Toombs. I am interested in Georgia's history, though not a close student of it. But because I spent time among its people before I was elected to Congress, Georgia has a special place in my affections. It is appropriately referred to as the Empire State of the South, truly one of the greatest States in the Union. But there was another Georgian who contributed to its finest traditions, the unforgettable Benjamin Hill. He died just about the time that GENE COX was born. He said something that exemplifies the love of our united country which flowered so beautifully in the heart of GENE COX:

Who lets his country die lets all things die and all things dying curse him; who lets his country live lets all things live and all things living bless him.

In the powerful tradition of Robert Toombs and Alexander Stephens and Benjamin Hill, and other great Georgians who preceded him in these Halls our colleague did his work worthily. The Nation will always be in debt to the State of Georgia for that contribution.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. EBERHARTER].

Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, in the passing of our colleague, E. EUGENE COX, this body loses one of its outstanding figures of the past three decades. GENE, as we who knew him well addressed him, possessed all the fine instincts of a true gentleman. His was one of the keenest intellects I have ever met. His general all-around capacity made him one of the most powerful advocates in any cause in which his interest could be aroused. His influence was a powerful factor in helping to shape the destiny of this body and, therefore, the history of these United States.

I have always been deeply thankful that he was at all times foursquare and vigorously a supporter of the foreign policies of his country, and, I believe this: that this course on his part was the result of his fierce and intense patriotism.

I was the last Member of this body to speak to him personally, when I visited him in the Naval Medical Hospital at Bethesda on the Eve of Christmas. I received the same genial and friendly greeting with which most of us have many times been greeted by him, and this in spite of the fact that just a few minutes before I arrived he began to suffer an attack. GENE, Mrs. Cox, and I chatted just a few minutes, but his attack became more severe and he requested another pill and the summoning of his nurse. While the nurse was ministering to him, I slipped from the room and with Mrs. Cox waited in the hall.

The last words I heard from the lips of my friend—spoken to his doctor and indicative of his genial and friendly character—were: "Ask Mr. EBERHARTER to come in." We decided it would probably be better for him if he did not attempt further conversation. I left, and within the hour our colleague passed on to his reward.

He was a gentle soul, and I shall always treasure the many pleasant hours spent with him.

To his widow and all the loved ones he leaves, I extend my deep and lasting sympathy.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. MADDEN].

Mr. MADDEN. Mr. Speaker, the House Rules Committee has been struck twice by the grim reaper since the election 2 months ago. The death of our colleague

GENE COX, of Georgia, who was ranking Democratic member of our committee, followed the death of our chairman, ADOLPH SABATH, by only a few weeks.

I served two terms as a member of the Rules Committee with GENE COX. I have observed his abilities as an outstanding statesman during my 10 years service in this House.

Though I did not agree with him on all legislation, I found him very human and considerate for those who held opposite views. He possessed a sympathetic heart and was always considerate of the feelings of his fellow man. He will be greatly missed by me as well as all the Members of this House. His wife and family have my sincerest sympathy.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. McCORMACK].

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it was with a very heavy heart that Mrs. McCormack and I heard over the radio of the death of our dear and beloved friend, GENE COX. It is with a very heavy heart that I today join my colleagues and participate in these tributes to his memory.

Each and every one of us are elected by the people of our districts, located in different sections of the country. We come as new Members to this body at some time or another. As Speaker MARTIN said today, 81 new Members were sworn in today.

When I came here as a new Member, one of the first men I met was the man to whose memory we pay our tribute today. I came from Boston. He came from Georgia. When we first come here we are products of our environment, each and every one of us, and we come with certain impressions, those of us of the West about the East and the South, of the South about the West and the East, and of the East about the South and the West. Then we come here and mix and meet our colleagues from different sections of the country, and we revise our views considerably. We find that human nature is pretty much the same everywhere. There are men and women of fine character everywhere, trying to make their contributions to those things which are nice and noble and uplifting; and in the case of those of us who are serving in this body, we try to make our contributions to the best interest of our country.

When I came here a little over 24 years ago, as I have said, one of the first Members I met as a new Member was my dear and valued friend, GENE COX. From that time to the time of his death there developed between us a friendship that to me will always be a most treasured memory of my service in this body and my personal contact with my colleagues.

We differed considerably, as those who served with both of us know, but there was a deep respect for the intellectual honesty of each other's views, and there was a deep respect on the part of GENE for my views and on my part for the sincerity of his views. There was an abiding friendship between us.

I can remember in 1940 when I was a candidate for majority leader in the Democratic caucus, the man who led my fight was GENE COX, of Georgia. I did not know at that time what effort would be made by other candidates to be elected. As a matter of fact, an effort was made to postpone the election from September 1940 until January 1941, until after the general election. Without saying anything in regard to the motives of those who wanted to postpone that election, I knew that was not for my best interests. I could not plan my fight because I did not know what was going to come, so to speak. I had to wait until we got into the caucus. I could not even designate anyone to lead my fight, it was so uncertain as to what I would encounter in the caucus. When the motion was made to postpone the election, I did not have to ask anyone, for GENE COX jumped up to lead the fight for me. I shall never forget that. I never forgot it during his life, and as long as I live I will never forget it.

GENE COX was very close to me. I numbered him among my most valued friends. As he was close to me in life, so will his memory always remain close to me as long as I live. And to Mrs. Cox, whom Mrs. McCormack and I deeply respect, and his loved ones, I extend the profound sympathy of Mrs. McCormack and myself in her bereavement.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have permission to extend their remarks at this point on the life, character, and services of the late Honorable EUGENE COX, a Representative from the State of Georgia.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

Mr. MARTIN of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, the death of EUGENE COX, of Georgia came to all of us as a severe shock. That was true especially of the older Members of the House.

EUGENE COX and I came to the House together. We both were Members of the Sixty-ninth Congress. From that time until the hour of his death he was a true and treasured friend.

During these years I have come to admire his great talents and his rugged Americanism. He was a man of strong convictions, and he was steadfast in support of those convictions.

Where he gave his friendship he never wavered in his loyalty to that friend. He was ever ready to demonstrate that friendship even when it was against his own interests.

He loved the House. He loved his country, and with great fervor he ever battled to keep the country strong and true to personal freedom.

He was an orator of great skill and a frequent participant in the historic debates of the last 25 years. He made a powerful impress upon Government policies.

We shall miss EUGENE COX as a great friend and a great American. To his fine wife and family I extend my deepest sympathy in their hour of sorrow.

Mr. SMITH of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I desire to join in the many tributes being paid to the memory of our late distinguished colleague, Judge Cox, of Georgia. I can speak with special reference to the unfailing kindness which he exhibited to new Members of the House, for I was a beneficiary.

Judge Cox was one of the elder statesmen of the House of Representatives, and one of its most influential Members, but he always had time for a considerate thought or word with any Member. As a Member who served only briefly with him, I want to express my deep appreciation for his courtesy and kindness to me. We have lost an able legislator and leader, but also a kind personal friend.

Mr. HORAN. Mr. Speaker, in the passing of the Honorable EUGENE COX, one of the true pillars of this House is gone.

He ably represented his State and fought for those principles which have made this Nation great. He hated subterfuge and hypocrisy. He opposed them with a fierceness that was awesome and inspiring. We will miss him greatly.

I visited Judge Cox while he was in the hospital. As always he was cheerful and courteous. It was a pleasure just to chat with him and to wish him a speedy recovery.

However, the Almighty had decreed otherwise, and GENE COX lives now only in the memories of those who knew and loved him and to those countless millions whom his life has benefited.

No finer memorial could be.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to pay a tribute to our great, departed friend, colleague, and comrade, EDWARD EUGENE COX.

When I received the sad news of Gene's death, it was a great blow to me and very hard to realize that he was gone. It is true I knew that his health was none too good in recent months and that the years and hard work had exacted their toll, but it simply had not occurred to me that GENE COX would ever pass away. He was one of those strong, virile types that we only associate with life and living—never whining, never complaining, never seeming to realize that there is a limit to human energies.

EUGENE COX was a great statesman, patriot and debater, an ardent lover of his country and defender of the faith of his native State and the South. Eager for the fray where issues of principle in which he believed were involved, sometimes fierce and impulsive in battle when it came, but always willing to meet any foe more than halfway in effort to heal the scars of what he may have said or done.

It has been said of our departed friend on this floor that the Omnipotent Potter, who shapes molds of human clay, broke the one that encased the body and soul of GENE COX. That may be a rash statement to make about things we know not of, but certainly few who knew, admired and loved him will deny that he was a unique character on and off the floor of Congress, whose like has not been seen here and probably never will.

GENE COX was able, courageous, loyal, and a foeman worthy of any man's steel, but withal as gentle and forgiving as an infant in his inner soul. His friends and admirers are legion. I am proud that we were warm personal friends. He has proved it on more than one occasion.

May the all-wise and omnipotent Ruler of the Universe place the hand of comfort upon his loved ones left behind and dry away their tears.

Mr. SIKES. Mr. Speaker, a great Georgian and a great American has left us. In GENE COX we were privileged to know a truly big man. His long and impressive record of service was marked alike with distinguished achievements and simple kindnesses. Therefore, as we mourn his passing we share a grief that bears on many shoulders throughout the Nation.

I knew a common bond with GENE COX for he represented the district in which I was born and where I grew to manhood. His friends were my friends. They saw in GENE COX a man of sturdy stock, a man who placed Americanism first, a man devoted to his ideals, and a man unafraid to fight for the things in which he believed. Wisely they turned to him for leadership and he gave them a leadership which never faltered.

I have lost a valued friend and a wise counselor. Congress and the Nation have lost a great statesman whose strong voice still is sorely needed.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to join with my colleagues in the well-earned tributes being paid to the late E. EUGENE COX.

We remember Judge Cox as a man possessed of the greatest kindness and sincerity. His profound ability in the field of government led him to become one of the most valued servants of this Nation he loved so dearly. With wisdom, he foresaw that these United States are not able to live alone, but rather that they must assert their leadership among the free nations of the world if we are to attain universal peace.

He will be greatly missed by all of us. My sincerest and most heartfelt sympathies are extended to Mrs. Cox and to his children.

Mr. ROGERS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, as we return from our respective districts to take up the duties of the Eighty-third Congress we find that there is a vacancy because of the death of E. EUGENE COX, of Georgia, who was one of the outstanding and capable leaders of the Congress.

I feel a distinct personal loss in the passing of Gene. I knew of him when he was judge of the superior court in Georgia, prior to the time he entered the halls of Congress, and he was known over the State of Georgia as a distinguished and able jurist. His district joined the county in which I resided and practiced law until 1925, at which time I went to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

When I came to the Congress in 1945, I found GENE COX in the Congress as one of its leaders. Being native fellow Georgians we formed a friendship that grew through our association. His family and my family, for the past 6 years, lived at the Wardman Park Hotel, and we spent many happy evenings together.

Gene was a man of many virtues; he was especially loyal to his friends and devoted to his wife, Grace; he was a beloved father and regarded his children as his "jewels"; he was a St. Peter with his impulsive and impetuous nature, yet a St. John with belovedness, calmness, kindness, and compassion toward his fellow man. He possessed a noble soul that was filled with the milk of human kindness.

GENE COX was a man of courage and conviction and stood by his courage and conviction. He was generous, considerate, and tolerant.

We will all miss the excellent courage and leadership of GENE COX in the Eighty-third Congress. Not only the State of Georgia but the entire Nation can ill afford the loss of this man. To have known him is enrichment. To have lost him is desolation. To have memory of him is sturdy equipment.

To his beloved wife and family our expressions of sympathy are the deeper as we measure knowingly the incalculable loss they endure.

May God bless and sustain them in this, their sad hour of sorrow.

Mr. VINSON. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 9).

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the House has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. EDWARD EUGENE COX, a Representative from the State of Georgia.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

The resolution was agreed to.

THE LATE HONORABLE WILLIAM G. STIGLER, A REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ALBERT].

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that I may revise and extend my remarks, and that I may insert with my remarks a tribute to our late colleague, Hon. WILLIAM G. STIGLER, a eulogy by our former colleague, Hon. Toby Morris.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have five legislative days within which to extend their remarks on the life, character, and services of our late colleague, the Honorable WILLIAM G. STIGLER.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I advise the House of the death during the recent congressional adjournment of one of the finest friends I have ever had, the late Honorable WILLIAM G. STIGLER, of the Second Congressional District of Oklahoma.

Mr. STIGLER was elected to this House in a special election held March 7, 1944. He served continually until his death.

BILL STIGLER was born July 7, 1891, at Stigler, Okla., a little city in the eastern part of our State, named in honor of his father. He died in the same community on August 21, 1952.

He was born, lived, and died among the hills of eastern Oklahoma, which were dearer to him than all the places of the earth. Mrs. Stigler and their two lovely daughters survive him.

WILLIAM G. STIGLER was truly one of Oklahoma's finest citizens and public servants. He has left behind him a long and noble record of service to his State and Nation.

Of Choctaw Indian descent, he was once attorney for the Choctaw Tribe. He knew more about Indian problems and accomplished more in this body in the field of Indian legislation, affecting the Five Civilized Tribes, than any other Member of Congress in the history of our State.

BILL STIGLER was a soldier and a leader among the veterans of Oklahoma. He was a combat veteran of World War I. In 1934 he was department commander of the American Legion. He was the best informed man on veterans' affairs that I have ever known.

Congressman STIGLER came to this House with broad experience as a lawyer and legislator. He served in our State senate and was president pro tempore of that body.

Bill loved his friends, who indeed were legion. He was loyal. He was generous. He possessed the noblest traits of generosity so characteristic of his race.

BILL STIGLER was a great patriot. A proud first American, he always put America first. He gave every ounce of energy he had to the service of his country and to the performance of the duties of the high office to which his people entrusted him.

I have never had a finer friend. As long as I live, BILL STIGLER will live in my memory. I have lost a friend. Our country has lost a statesman. I extend to Mrs. Stigler and their lovely daughters my deepest sympathy.

Mr. Speaker, under leave heretofore granted, I now include as a part of my remarks a eulogy prepared by our friend and former colleague, the Honorable Toby Morris, of Lawton, Okla.:

EULOGY OF HON. WILLIAM G. STIGLER BY TOBY MORRIS

It was my honor and pleasure to serve, as his colleague, in the United States House of Representatives, for about 5½ of the 8 years that the late Honorable WILLIAM G. STIGLER served. During that time I came to know him as a true and valued friend. I had known him for many years before my service began in Congress, in January 1947, but only slightly. It was by association as Members of Congress that I was honored by his warm friendship. This I shall remember as long as my life shall last.

I have never known a man more devoted to the highest ideals of public service than BILL STIGLER. His constant thought was that of the welfare of the good people whom he had the honor to represent, in the Second District in Oklahoma, and also of his beloved State and Nation.

And, not only did he sincerely have the welfare of the people in mind, at all times, but he labored continuously to promote such welfare. Whether in his office answering mail of constituents and attending to other official details, or in committee, carefully examining witnesses and documents, and studying proposed legislation, or engaging in debates on the floor of the House, he exhibited always a keen interest in and a profound knowledge of what was transpiring. In other words, he worked extremely hard concentrating on the work at hand and knew it all as an expert. His service was invaluable to his district, State, and Nation. We, his Oklahoma colleagues, often affectionately referred to him as a good Indian. He was one, in fact and in truth. No nobler epitaph could, in my judgment, be used. He was one-fourth Choctaw Indian in blood. He was devoted indeed to his Indian constituents and was recognized as one of the outstanding authorities in the United States on Indian legislation and problems generally. But what we meant by this expression was that he was a good man, good husband and father, good legislator and citizen. He was truly one of the best in each category.

For some time before his death, BILL STIGLER was the dean of the Oklahoma congressional delegation in the House. We sought and relied upon his advice concerning many matters. He was always ready, willing, and able to unselfishly assist us in any way possible.

BILL STIGLER, who was a distinguished Oklahoma lawyer, served in many prominent stations in life, among which were Oklahoma State senator; member of the State soldiers' relief commission; departmental commander of the American Legion for the State of Oklahoma; executive vice president of the Choctaw Area Council of the Boy Scouts of Oklahoma, and national attorney for the Choctaw Indian Nation for 7 years.

These accomplishments are proof enough of his outstanding ability. However, in conclusion, I wish to say that he had not only a big mind, but also a big heart. He loved his friends, his State, his Nation. He loved justice and right. He loved humanity. He knew that—

"The night has a thousand eyes and the day but one,

Yet the light of a whole world dies with the setting sun—

The mind has a thousand eyes and the heart but one,

Yet the light of a whole life dies when its love is done."

May God bless his good wife and family who mourn the passing of this noble man.

The great Second District of Oklahoma, which Congressman STIGLER represented at the time of his death, is now represented by a new Member who took his oath of office today, a distinguished young Oklahoman. It is my pleasure at this time to recognize Congressman STIGLER's successor, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. EDMONDSON].

Mr. EDMONDSON. Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to address this House on one's first day as a Member, but that honor is multiplied many times by the fact that the occasion is an opportunity to say a few words in behalf of a man who was not only a dear friend but also a great Oklahoman and a great American, a man who held the office of Congressman from the Second District of Oklahoma for many years, and a man who, had he chosen to run again in the primaries last spring, would still be holding that office by virtue of the fact that no one in the district would have elected to run against him.

BILL STIGLER was a man, as Congressman ALBERT has said, who was a great leader, and representative of the Choctaw Indian people. He was a man of vision, a man of complete, absolute, and unquestioned integrity; a man of the very highest principles; a man whose watchword and daily byword at all times was service—service and complete unselfishness. He was a man of unquestioned courage; a man who had the strength of his convictions, and a man who did not hesitate to act in accordance with those convictions.

The example which he has set for all of us in the Oklahoma delegation, through his service in Congress, is a fine one. Certainly the State and the Nation as well have lost a fine leader in the halls of Congress.

Of all the men that I knew in my brief period in public life, BILL STIGLER was one about whom I never heard the breath of scandal or a single suggestion or insinuation regarding his complete integrity. His honesty was beyond any question. Whatever criticism may have been directed against him by the very few who did question his votes on occasion, his sincerity of purpose and his honesty and his integrity were never questioned by any man within my hearing.

When the final summary is made of a man's achievements in life, if that man has set a model for his fellow man in his personal conduct and by the example of his integrity, he has left a monument greater than anything carved in granite or marble or stone for his fellow man.

It is with humility and with a sense of my own shortcomings that I undertake the task of following in W. G. STIGLER's footsteps as Representative from the Second District of Oklahoma.

I have had so many people of the district tell me in the past few months that if I make half the Congressman Bill was they would be well satisfied, that I have no question of the fact that he won an untiring place in the hearts of the people of my district. The farmer, the veteran, the school teacher, the businessman, the working people, the men and women of the Second District in Oklahoma have all lost a true friend. To Mrs. Stigler and to Bill's lovely daughters I am proud on this occasion to join in a message of sympathy, and I now wish that BILL STIGLER's memory may live on in the hearts of all his fellow citizens, as it will in mine.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. WICKERSHAM].

Mr. WICKERSHAM. Mr. Speaker, I came to Congress nearly 12 years ago. At that time, and ever since, there has been no one in Oklahoma who was esteemed more highly than our late friend, the Honorable BILL STIGLER. He could have been easily elected governor, or to any high position to which he might have aspired in our great State of Oklahoma; he was head of our legislature for several years. He has piloted through Congress many most worthwhile measures pertaining to benefits to Indians.

BILL STIGLER was capable, honest, efficient, courteous, and cooperative; I would say he was a "good Indian." He was a "good soldier" and was a "good scout." Bill was very active as American Legion department commander of our great State for many years. Bill worked diligently on the Committee on Appropriations. BILL STIGLER died with his boots on.

I am sure he would want us to remember Tennyson's great words:

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea.

BILL STIGLER will be remembered many, many years.

Let me say to the Members here that all of us are working too hard. I think BILL STIGLER worked too hard. He was so conscientious. During the 10 years I have served in Congress 16 members of the Oklahoma delegation or former Members of the House or Senate from Oklahoma have passed away. Let us slow down a little and be able to render a greater service for a longer period.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. STEED].

Mr. STEED. Mr. Speaker, in the few brief years I have had the honor and privilege of serving in this House I have been impressed many times by the frequency with which our colleagues are stricken down by death in the performance of their daily duties. Each time as we pause in our labors to pay our respects to these hard-working colleagues it has been impressed even more deeply on me how heavy and arduous has been the task these men have been called upon to perform, and how literally it can be said that they have given their lives in the service of their country. I know of no case in which it could be more truly stated that overwork had hastened the day of death of any of our colleagues than in the case of the late WILLIAM STIGLER, of Oklahoma.

In the last few years that Mr. STIGLER served here he was not in good health and for many months he had to make the decision whether or not to shirk his duty here or to risk his life. For too long a time he made the decision in favor of the job he came here to do although he finally heeded the advice of his doctor and decided to retire from these halls. Unfortunately he waited too long, and the days of rest and pleasure he had envisioned back at his home in Stigler, Okla., were to be denied him because he had stayed too long in performance of his work and had drained his vitality to the point where he could not survive.

Whatever else may be said of him, I think the most impressive thing in his life was that his supreme devotion to duty and his great love for public service carried him to the point where he literally did give his life in the service of his country. He had offered himself in the service of his country as a soldier, then as a public servant.

He occupied a unique position in this House during the time he served here because he was a member of that great race known as the American Indians. In our lifetime no man who traced his racial heritage to these great people gave a better example of the many contributions in service and tradition that the American Indians have given to this country than did Mr. STIGLER.

He was of a gentle character. When I first came here, one of the impressions made upon me, and which I shall always remember, was that in making the acquaintance of other Members of the House I found no man who had anything but the finest and warmest feeling for Mr. STIGLER. If it can honestly be said that a Member served over a period of years in this House and made no man his enemy, that can be said of BILL STIGLER. It seemed that everyone who knew him applauded his fine character and his generosity and fairness and loved him for those qualities.

Mr. Speaker, I join with my colleagues in extending my deep sympathy to the family and friends of this great Oklahoman, this great American, BILL STIGLER.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. JARMAN].

Mr. JARMAN. Mr. Speaker, I join with my colleagues from Oklahoma and other Members of the House of Representatives in paying a sincere tribute and eulogy to a great Oklahoman and a great American, WILLIAM G. STIGLER. Our State and our Nation have profited by his life and by his service and will be poorer because of his loss.

Mr. STIGLER was an outstanding lawyer in Oklahoma. He served in the State senate before coming to the House of Representatives. When I served in the State senate I was very conscious of the record and the work that Senator STIGLER had left behind him before he came to this Congress.

When I came here I found a man who, though very busy on the Committee on Appropriations, busy in representing his own district and State and Nation, still had time to help a freshman Congressman get started to begin service in this House, a man of heart, a man of character, a man who believed sincerely in the finest ideals of this Nation. He worked to that end both in the State of Oklahoma and in his service here in this House of Representatives. I join in the fine tribute paid to him today by the members of our delegation, and I join in the sincere sympathy that we extend to Mrs. Stigler and to his two daughters.

Mr. RAYBURN. Mr. Speaker, BILL STIGLER, as I knew him, was one of the finest men I have ever known. He was good and great. He was a good legislator, a real statesman.

His type of man we can ill afford to lose. My deepest sympathy goes out to all of his loved ones.

Mr. BELCHER. Mr. Speaker, it came as a distinct shock to me when I received a telegram advising me of the death of my good friend and colleague the late Honorable WILLIAM G. STIGLER of the Second Congressional District of Oklahoma. I had known that Bill was not in good health, but I had no idea that he was so seriously ill.

BILL STIGLER and I had been personal friends for many, many years. I first met him through his activities in the Oklahoma Department of the American Legion. I was active in helping him be elected as department commander for the State of Oklahoma. I had worked with, and associated with, him in Legion activities from that time to the time of his death.

Bill was a man who had many friends because he was a friendly man. He was a great humanitarian, and spent many years of his life helping the disabled veterans, widows, and orphans. Bill was a hard, aggressive worker, a man who took his duties seriously. Perhaps that characteristic hastened his death. Regardless of his physical condition, Bill so loved his friends and his buddies that he was willing to make any personal sacrifice for them.

I have lost a great friend and the country has lost a great statesman. I extend to Mrs. Stigler and his lovely daughters and the rest of his family my deepest sympathy.

Mr. HORAN. Mr. Speaker, it was my pleasure to know and to love BILL STIGLER. For several years we worked together on the Subcommittee on Appropriations for the Department of Agriculture. That association was always harmonious and constructive.

Bill believed in himself because he believed, with all his heart, in what was sound, fair, and which added to the sum total of our progress.

With such faith is a great Nation builded. Such faith is the very raw materials of a great body such as ours.

Such men as BILL STIGLER leave their mark upon the hearts and memories of other men. In a way they never leave us for their good works live on and color our conduct forever.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. Speaker, we have lost a good friend and a capable legislator with the departure of WILLIAM STIGLER. His record of service to the Nation and to his native State of Oklahoma was a highly distinguished one.

I wish to join with my many colleagues who extend their deep and sincere sympathy to Mrs. Stigler and his two daughters.

Mr. HAYS of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, the passing of WILLIAM G. STIGLER was a grievous loss to the public service. Like Carroll of Carrollton, he honored the city and State with which his family was historically identified. BILL STIGLER of Stigler was known for his devotion to the highest standards of legislative service first in the Oklahoma General Assembly and in later years in the Congress of the United States.

It was a privilege to work with him in these Halls and to have the inspiration of his friendship. "Being faithful unto death he has received his crown of life."

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 10) and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That the House has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. WILLIAM G. STIGLER, a Representative from the State of Oklahoma.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

The resolution was agreed to.

THE LATE BRIEN McMAHON

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. DODD].

Mr. DODD. Mr. Speaker, this is my first day as a Member of the House of Representatives. It should be, of course, as you Members who have served here before will well understand, a completely happy occasion for me, one that I shall remember all the days of my life. However, it is not completely happy because I rise to pay tribute to a dear friend who passed away last July while in the prime of life, the great senior Senator from the State of Connecticut, BRIEN McMAHON. I was privileged to know him intimately and well. I served at his side in the Department of Justice when he was Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division. In earlier days I had known him in young manhood. He was at all times a devoted and warm friend of mine. It occurred to me today as I entered this chamber that on two or three occasions in my lifetime he had suggested to me that I seek public office. I was never able to do so until this past year. But it seems a strange, hard fate that he could not be living to share with me the joy of having won election to this distinguished body, the House of Representatives. BRIEN McMAHON was a very great man; he was a great American; he served his State and he served his Nation well, and I think it is not an exaggeration to say that he served as well the peoples of this world. He was born and raised in Connecticut. He was a product of our public schools. He was a graduate of Fordham University in 1924 and of the Yale Law School in 1927. From his earliest days he was marked for great things. He was an industrious and a brilliant student. After he left law school he entered the practice of law and he became judge of the city court of Norwalk, and then the great Attorney General of the United States, Homer Cummings, called him to Washington as his assistant, and in a little while he was raised to be Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Justice. Those who served with him say, and the record of time will bear them out, that he was one of the best Assistant Attorneys General that the Nation has ever had. After he had concluded a brilliant service in the Department of Justice and with an interlude of only a little while in the general practice of law, he sought a Senate seat from the State of Connecticut and won it in 1944. He was reelected in 1950. I suppose he is best known and will be long remembered by many people because of his great work as chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

Those who have served in the Congress know of his wonderful work with that committee, and what great leadership he gave to it.

I am one of those who earnestly believe that one of the real reasons we have been able to preserve some semblance of peace in the world is the fact that we possess the power of atomic energy. BRIEN McMAHON and those who served with him preserved and developed that power for this Nation. But he was more than a great legislator, he was more than a great lawyer, he was, believe me, a good man. He was industrious; I never knew a man who worked harder at any task he ever undertook, and he had great ability. When you put those talents together you get great results.

He was stricken down in the prime of his life, only in his forty-ninth year, and in the early days of his second term in the United States Senate. It is a great pity and a great tragedy that the Congress has lost him, and it is a greater pity and a greater tragedy that his State and his Nation have lost him, because he had so much to give in the difficult years that lie ahead.

Just a year ago, I remember very well, I visited with him in his home. He was planning and looking ahead to his term in the Senate, not knowing that already, hidden away in his body, was a dread cancer which was to take his life in a few short months.

I sat in the great Democratic National Convention in Chicago and heard his name offered to that great convention as a possibility for the highest office in this land. His name did not go in nomination because we knew then that he was on his deathbed. His family tell us that he heard and saw the generous tribute paid to him by the men and women who attended that convention. In a few days he went beyond to his Maker.

Mr. Speaker, as one who knew him well for many years, I want the Record to show that I am paying this tribute as an old friend. I extend my very deep sympathy to his lovely wife, his daughter, his mother, and his brothers and sisters.

I yield to the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. PATTERSON].

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, it is always an occasion of sadness when a great and good man dies, and this is especially true when he had reached such a high goal in life and American achievements as Senator BRIEN McMAHON had.

Brien will always be remembered by the people of Connecticut as a great statesman, Senator, and outstanding American.

To Mrs. McMahon and their young and lovely daughter Patricia I extend my most sincere condolences.

As time passes all Americans will realize that a great Senator has passed on and taken his rightful place in the choir of angels.

Mr. DODD. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. SADLAK].

Mr. SADLAK. Mr. Speaker, I wish to associate myself with the remarks that have been made by our two colleagues, TOM DODD and JIM PATTERSON, in regard to BRIEN McMAHON. I had known him for a long time, and had the privilege of serving in the same Congresses with him for three terms. We had differed politically but we had great respect and affection for each other.

As has been mentioned, he was under 50 years of age when he was called to his Maker in the prime of life, when his star was in the ascendancy, because he made his mark early in the Senate soon after he commenced his first term in 1945.

I think and am convinced that the great love and esteem and affection that the people of Connecticut had for BRIEN McMAHON was truly manifested in the overwhelming majority which was tendered to him when he was reelected to his second term, and it was also indicated at the very largely attended funeral, which I also had the honor to attend and to pay my respects to his memory.

BRIEN McMAHON was taken in early manhood. He prided himself, and rightly so, on being the father and author of the McMahon Act on Atomic Energy. As has been mentioned, only time can record the great contributions that BRIEN McMAHON has made to this country and to his State by his initiative in bringing forth that great bill.

Mr. Speaker, I join my colleagues in extending my condolences to his family.

Mr. DODD. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. McCORMACK].

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I am well aware of the close relationship and friendship that existed between our late friend, BRIEN McMAHON, and the gentleman from Connecticut [Mr. DODD]. I know that Brien in the Great Beyond is happy as he looks down on us today in the knowledge that his close and valued friend, TOM DODD, as a Member of this body on the first day of the session when he was sworn in, is the one who announced officially to the membership of the House of Representatives of his death.

I first met BRIEN McMAHON some years ago when he was Assistant Attorney General, serving under another great American, an outstanding son of Connecticut, and in my opinion a man who is one of the greatest of our Attorneys General of all times, the Honorable Homer S. Cummings. From the time I first met BRIEN McMAHON a close friendship developed between us which continued throughout the years until his death. I was proud of him as Assistant Attorney General because of the outstanding services he rendered to our country in that position. I was proud of him as a Senator of the United States, and particularly proud of the great contributions that he made toward peace and the determined efforts that he constantly made to bring about and achieve that goal which constitutes the hopes and aspirations and desires not only of millions of Americans but of countless of millions of persons living in all lands throughout the world.

BRIEN McMAHON died at a young age, but he crowded into his life many things that few persons have been able to crowd into a much longer life. He was not only outstanding in his ability but he was an indefatigable worker, a man of charming personality and of fixed determination in accomplishing those things which he considered to be for the best interests of our country. He was chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. Two of the members of that committee representing the House are on the floor today. We all know of his leadership on that important joint committee, and of the contributions of that joint committee under his leadership. Dying at a comparatively young age, BRIEN McMAHON has left his imprint on the pages of our history.

To Mrs. McMahon, to his daughter, and to his loved ones, to the Connecticut delegation in both branches of the Congress, and to the people of Connecticut, I extend my profound sympathy in their great loss and sorrow. I have lost a personal friend.

Mr. DURHAM. Mr. Speaker, it is with great sadness that I take the floor this afternoon to participate in the eulogies in behalf of one of the great Americans of this time and this age.

Just about 1 year ago at this time Senator BRIEN McMAHON, acting as chairman of the joint committee, and I as vice chairman, began reviewing the budget and the requests by the Commission for the work for 1953. I so well remember one item when we came to it. The request was for $5,000,000 for research on cancer. He raised the question immediately, being a well man at that time, if that was enough. Was that enough? There was some question, and we finally arrived at a figure of around $6,000,000, which the Appropriations Committee so kindly gave the American people to fight this dreadful disease. With those funds there have been established in this country at the present time over 100 research projects in medical institutions. That, in itself, is worth a man's lifetime for humanity, in my opinion.

I could point out many, many things that have not been said about BRIEN McMAHON's work in this particular project. It has been so broad, it has been so big that this body has so kindly and graciously permitted the joint committee to a large extent to run what we believe is a sound program. There is no man in American history, to my mind, who has contributed as much up to the present as BRIEN McMAHON on this one project alone. You can go through what was said about him in the medical journals and the scientific journals. I know what we have to handle. When we took over this project in 1945 there was nothing that held it together except just loose appropriations, and it went to pieces. There was no man who did more to bring that together than BRIEN McMAHON. It was no easy job, because the scientists at that time were not entirely satisfied. You can read the scientific journals, where they each pay tribute to this great American for what he has done for science.

When he died last summer, he was only 48. Great as his contributions to his State and his country were, the best was yet to come. Distinguished leaders of both parties saw him as a future Secretary of State. Countless wise Americans considered him worthy presidential timber. Indeed, BRIEN McMAHON was actively supported for the presidency before the Democratic convention.

BRIEN McMAHON seemed destined for greatness from the very outset. His rise in public office was meteoric, and his record was one of holding progressively more important jobs with progressively greater distinction.

At the age of 31, he was made an Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Justice—the youngest person ever to hold such a high post. Under his direction, the Criminal Division established a unique record of protecting the innocent and punishing the guilty.

In 1944, when he had scarcely turned 40, Connecticut sent him to the Senate, and 6 years later returned him once more. Following his death, the New York Times said that he had helped make the word "politician" a term of honor. I think that was very well put. With BRIEN McMAHON it was a deep article of faith that there is no calling higher than the vocation of politics—and he acted in accordance with this belief.

I know that he loved the lusty give-and-take of hard-hitting and honorable political debate; and he loved his colleagues. While he fought with all his heart for what he considered right, he fought fairly and cleanly. He respected honestly held differences of opinion, and his friendships were never formed along the lines of political parties.

America knew BRIEN McMAHON as "Mr. Atom"—and for very good reason. Immediately after Hiroshima, he grasped the tremendous dilemma of the atomic age. He saw that we had entered into a new era of history. He anticipated the enormous potentialities of the atom for good and for evil—and he resolved to do his best to help make sure that the atom would be used for the enrichment, and not the destruction, of mankind.

While still a freshman Senator, he assisted in writing the law governing our atomic program. He fought harder and more effectively than any other American to establish the principle of civilian control. He served with wisdom and distinction as the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. America's atomic enterprise stands as a monument to his work.

BRIEN McMAHON hated the atomic weapons which our Nation has been forced to build—he longed for the day when these dreadful instruments of destruction could be abolished from the earth. But so long as self-defense left us no alternative, he resolved that we must maintain and increase our atomic lead.

Yet he never supposed that armaments, standing by themselves, could furnish us real and lasting security. He saw that peace was not simply a matter of building more guns and bombs—he saw that real peace was at bottom a matter of the spirit, a matter of creating the kind of world in which men would live in decency and brotherhood. And so he never ceased working for such a world. Three years ago, when he took the floor of the Senate to argue on behalf of the hydrogen-bomb program, he proposed also that this Nation dedicate itself to a great moral crusade with peace with justice. He summoned us to wage peace and launch a mighty effort to take the everyday peoples of the Communist world away from their tyrannical rulers and win them over to the side of freedom.

No man in public life had greater respect for the realities of statecraft than BRIEN McMAHON—and no man had a deeper, or more unquenchable sense of idealism.

This blend of practicality and vision was reflected in his work as a high-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He was able to look beyond this present grim era of international strife—beyond to a world in which the wondrous power of the atom would be used to heal the sick, and to bring new dignity to the wretched and hungry of the earth.

The hearts of Connecticut, of this Chamber, and of this Nation are filled with sympathy for Senator McMAHON's beloved wife and daughter.

He will be remembered.

EXCERPT FROM BROADCAST OF ELMER DAVIS, JULY 28, 1952

We have lost one of the ablest of our younger statesmen—Senator BRIEN McMAHON, of Connecticut, who died this morning at the age of 48. He had been an effective and energetic Assistant Attorney General; but his outstanding achievements were as a Senator, and particularly in handling the matter of atomic energy. Though he was a new Senator at the time of the Hiroshima bomb, he was one of the first who realized the tremendous potential importance of atomic energy in both war and peace. He knew that for the time being its military application was of great significance, but he was convinced that it should be kept under civilian control.

He learned all he could about atomic energy; he wrote a bill to provide for its control, headed a committee that held hearings on his bill and others, and finally got his own measure through the Senate. It was chopped to pieces in the House of Representatives, where many men used patriotism and talk of the need for military control as a cloak for what was really an attempt to give private monopoly a hold on the atomic program. But the two versions of the bill went to conference; and there McMAHON's firmness combined with political adroitness succeeded in bringing out a bill which preserved the essential principle of civilian government control, with contractual relations with private industry and a satisfactory liaison with the military forces.

He then became chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and held that post ever since, except for the 2 years of the Eightieth Congress. But he didn't confine himself to overseeing atomic development; he was an active and very useful member of the Foreign Relations Committee; and while he got considerable publicity for some fruitless proposals for disarmament—proposals springing from his realization of the frightful character of atomic war, and a conviction that he ought to make every effort to avert it—his real value was in the day-to-day work of the committee, as an upholder of the principle of collective security and the military and economic measures needed to fortify it. Last week, the Connecticut delegation to the Democratic National Convention gave him a complimentary vote for the Presidency, though he had sent word that he was not well enough to be considered. That was a mere gesture of courtesy and affection; but if he had lived a dozen years longer he might well have become the first Catholic President of the United States. For his character and his record of public service were such as to commend him to honest men, whatever their religious views.

[From Federation of American Scientists Newsletter, Washington, D. C., of September 16, 1952]

BRIEN McMAHON

The untimely death of Senator BRIEN McMAHON on July 28 was a grievous blow to the Nation as a whole, and a particularly tragic loss to American science. As early as the first atomic bomb explosions in 1945, Senator McMAHON grasped with prescience the political significance of atomic energy both nationally and internationally. Applying his great gifts to the study of atomic science and its social implications, he successfully championed the struggle for civilian control of atomic energy, a struggle which culminated in the 1946 Atomic Energy Act bearing his name. In his capacity as chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, he did much to stimulate the enlightenment of the American public in atomic matters, as well as to shepherd the Atomic Energy Commission through its initial trying years.

He early established a cordial relationship with the Nation's scientists, acting as friend and adviser, giving and taking with earnestness, simplicity, and charm. His unique genius lay in a happy blend of an almost romantic idealism with a shrewd sense of practical realities. He was concerned and made proposals to deal with the international problems of human want and misery.

At the same time, he was acutely aware of the needs for national defense, down to the last step of securing adequate congressional appropriations for his projects.

Of particular interest to Federation of American Scientists is a proposal made in his last address delivered by wire from a Washington hospital on June 14 to the Democratic State Convention in Hartford. He said, "We need, I think, a little group of dedicated men * * * to take a fresh look at the control problem * * * [of atomic energy on an international scale]." A similar proposal, initiated by Federation of American Scientists last fall was transmitted to the White House on behalf of Federation of American Scientists by Senator McMAHON. At the end, as at the beginning, he stood shoulder to shoulder with American scientists.

Within the short perspective of 6 years since the Atomic Energy Act became law, this monument to BRIEN McMAHON's efforts has gained general acceptance as part of our way of life. BRIEN McMAHON, it has been said, wrote atomic history, the first chapter of which is atomic organization on a national scale. In that chapter and in the traditions of American citizen-scientists, his name will remain enshrined.

I wish I had time to tell this House about many more projects. It so happened that BRIEN McMAHON had no idea a year ago that he had this disease, and I had no idea that I had it in my family. My wife is just alive today.

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DODD. I yield.

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, no one could be more deserving of the fine tribute paid to his memory than the late distinguished Senator from Connecticut, the Honorable BRIEN McMAHON.

I concur fully in the statement which has been made by the present chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, Hon. CARL DURHAM, of North Carolina, to the effect that no one in the country has contributed more to our Nation's atomic energy program than the late Senator McMAHON.

I have been a member of the joint committee since its creation under law in 1946, when the first chairmanship went to the great Senator from Connecticut. I am thoroughly acquainted with the work he did in this field. I know how he put the force of his personality behind the recent expansion program in the field of atomic energy, how he put force into the hydrogen program; I know how he carried on his great work to keep America ahead in this field.

I am of the opinion that there was no one in the United States, aside from the great scientists themselves, who was more versed in this field than BRIEN McMAHON. He obtained his knowledge of it in a comparatively short time by his devotion to his work and by the great effort he put into his assignment as a member of the joint committee.

I join my colleagues from the State of Connecticut and from all the other States of the country in expressing profound sympathy to the family of Senator BRIEN McMAHON.

Mr. DODD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have five legislative days in which to extend their remarks on the life and character of Senator McMAHON.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Connecticut?

There was no objection.

Mr. DODD. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 11).

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the House has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Hon. BRIEN McMAHON, a Senator of the United States from the State of Connecticut.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate and transmit a copy thereof to the family of the deceased.

The resolution was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, I move that as a further mark of respect to our deceased colleagues the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 4 o'clock and 47 minutes p. m.), pursuant to its previous order, the House adjourned until Tuesday, January 6, 1953, at 12 o'clock noon.

REPORT

PURSUANT TO FEDERAL REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

P	QUARTER
	1st	2d	3d	4th

(Mark one square only)

NOTE ON ITEM "A".—(a) In General: This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual as follows:

(1) "Employee".—To file as an "employee," state in Item "B" the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee.")

(2) "Employer".—To file as an "employer," write "None" in answer to Item "B."

(b) Separate Reports.—An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report.

(1) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.

(2) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING.—(1) State name, address, and nature of business; (2) if this Report is for an Employer, list names of agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

NOTE ON ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers; except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) if the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER.—State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE ON ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—Section 302 (e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports.

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed, in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) description, (b) quantity distributed, (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

(Answer items 1, 2, and 3 in the space below. Attach additional pages if more space is needed.)

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C 4" and fill out Items "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration), with a "Quarterly" Report.

AFFIDAVIT

[Omitted in printing]

PAGE 1

NOTE ON ITEM "D".—(a) In General. The term "contribution" includes anything of value. When an organization or individual uses printed or duplicated matter in a campaign attempting to influence legislation, money received by such organization or individual—for such printed or duplicated matter—is a "contribution." "The term 'contribution' includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money, or anything of value and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution"—Section 302 (a) of the Lobbying Act.

(b) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN EMPLOYER.—(i) In General. Item "D" is designed for the reporting of all receipts from which expenditures are made, or will be made, in accordance with legislative interests.

(ii) Receipts of Business Firms and Individuals.—A business firm (or individual) which is subject to the Lobbying Act by reason of expenditures which it makes in attempting to influence legislation—but which has no funds to expend except those which are available in the ordinary course of operating a business not connected in any way with the influencing of legislation—will have no receipts to report, even though it does have expenditures to report.

(iii) Receipts of Multipurpose Organizations.—Some organizations do not receive any funds which are to be expended solely for the purpose of attempting to influence legislation. Such organizations make such expenditures out of a general fund raised by dues, assessments or other contributions. The percentage of the general fund which is used for such expenditures indicates the percentage of dues, assessments, or other contributions which may be considered to have been paid for that purpose. Therefore, in reporting receipts, such organizations may specify what that percentage is, and report their dues, assessments, and other contributions on that basis. However, each contributor of $500 or more is to be listed, regardless of whether the contribution was made solely for legislative purposes.

(c) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN AGENT OR EMPLOYEE.—(i) In General. In the case of many employees, all receipts will come under items "D 5" (received for services) and "D 12" (expense money and reimbursements). In the absence of a clear statement to the contrary, it will be presumed that your employer is to reimburse you for all expenditures which you make in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Employer as Contributor of $500 or More.—When your contribution from your employer (in the form of salary, fee, etc.) amounts to $500 or more, it is not necessary to report such contribution, under "D 13" and "D 14," since the amount has already been reported under "D 5," and the name of the "employer" has been given under item "B" on page 1 of this report.

NOTE ON ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

(i) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)

(ii) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B."

(b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:

(i) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.

(ii) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.

2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names of agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

NOTE ON ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers; except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) if the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER.—State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE ON ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302 (e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports.

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1953

The Chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father God, here at this noon-tide altar of devotion which our fathers builded and on which, with their founding faith, they cut deep the devout confession, "In God we trust," we humbly bow with the deathless assurance that turns tragedy to triumph: "The eternal God is our refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." We pray Thy blessing on these servants of the people's will, whose judgments must weigh vast issues and whose minds must face tangled problems. In Thy light may they see light and in Thy straight path may they not stumble. In all the deliberations begun this day, we pray that their motives may be kept clean, their vision clear, their patriotism undefiled, their speech guarded, their appraisals fair, and their integrity unbetrayed. We ask it in the dear Redeemer's name. Amen.
