

REPORT OF THE NOTIFICATION COMMITTEE

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, it is the intention of the leadership to move that the Senate stand in recess until 12 o'clock noon tomorrow; to have a brief, pro forma meeting of the Senate tomorrow; and then to have the Senate recess until 12 o'clock noon on Monday next.

At this time, Mr. President, on behalf of the committee appointed to notify the President of the United States that a quorum of the two Houses has assembled and is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make, I desire to report that it has performed that duty, and that the President replied that on Monday, January 14, at 12:30 p.m., he would deliver to Congress his message on the state of the Union. It is anticipated that, after convening on Monday, the Senate will proceed as a body to the Hall of the House of Representatives, starting at approximately 12:15 p.m.

RECESS

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased Senators, I move that the Senate stand in recess until 12 o'clock noon tomorrow.

The motion was unanimously agreed to; and (at 12 o'clock and 57 minutes p.m.) the Senate took a recess until tomorrow, January 10, 1963, at 12 o'clock meridian.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1963

This being the day fixed by the provisions of Public Law 864, 87th Congress, 2d session, approved October 23, 1962, for the annual meeting of the Congress of the United States, the Members-elect of the House of Representatives of the 88th Congress met in the Hall, and at 12 o'clock noon were called to order by Hon. Ralph R. Roberts, Clerk of the 87th Congress.

PRAYER

Rev. Bernard Braskamp, D.D., Chaplain of the 87th Congress, offered the following prayer:

The motto above the Speaker's chair reminds us of this Old Testament Beatitude: Psalm 2: 12: Blessed are all they who put their trust in God.

Most merciful and gracious God, in whom we find our help and our hope for each new year, we have entered this Chamber, hallowed by Thy divine presence, as the chosen Representatives and officers of the 88th Congress.

Going up and down the courts of memory, we are reminded of that great day in history when the God-trusting and God-loving Pilgrim Fathers set sail in a little ship at whose prow there stood the Invisible Pilot whom they trusted would guide them safely to the shores of the golden west.

What a solemn and sacred moment that was when that small company of patriots gathered in its cabin and stepped forward and signed that memorable document called the Mayflower compact and exclaimed, "In the name of God, amen."

Likewise on this day of high and holy significance we are here to stand with uplifted right hand, to take the oath of our lofty vocation, humbly saying within our hearts, "So help me God."

Hear us as we reverently unite in offering unto Thee the prayer of our blessed Lord:

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever.

Amen.

CALL OF THE ROLL

The CLERK. Representatives-elect of the 88th Congress, this is the day fixed by law for the meeting of the 88th Congress; and, as the law directs, the Clerk of the House has prepared the official roll of Representatives-elect.

The names of those persons whose credentials show they were regularly elected in accordance with the laws of the several States of the United States will be called.

As the roll is called, following the alphabetical order of the States beginning with the State of Alabama, Representatives-elect will answer to their names to determine whether a quorum is present.

The reading clerk will call the roll by States.

The reading clerk called the roll by States, and the following Representatives-elect answered to their names:

ANSWERED "PRESENT"—2

Halleck McCormack

The CLERK. The tellers agree in their tally. The total number of votes cast is 433, of which the gentleman from Massachusetts, the Honorable JOHN W. McCORMACK, received 256, and the gentleman from Indiana, the Honorable CHARLES A. HALLECK, received 175, present 2.

Therefore, the gentleman from Massachusetts, the Honorable JOHN W. McCORMACK, is duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 88th Congress, having received a majority of the votes cast.

The Clerk appoints the following committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the chair: The gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ALBERT] and the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HALLECK].

The Doorkeeper announced the Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives of the 88th Congress, who was escorted to the chair by the committee of escort.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker and my colleagues of the 88th Congress, the result of this election comes as no surprise to me. I was told I was ahead in the early returns.

Mr. Speaker, I am getting a little tired of losing these elections to you Democrats, but I have not given up.

And as long as I lost, I am happy to have lost to one of the ablest, fairest, and most friendly men I have ever known in my life. He has proved himself all of these things as Speaker of the past Congress, as I am sure he shall prove them as the Speaker of this Congress. He is one of my longtime friends.

Will you permit just a personal reminiscence? I came here first in 1935, and I was the lone Republican Member from Indiana. That was a rather sorry situation, and we were outnumbered then more than we are now.

To say I was nervous when I made my first speech is putting it mildly. It involved an item in an appropriation bill of real importance to me and of even greater importance to one of my constituents.

I was trying as best I could to solicit a little help on the majority side among some of the freshman Members with whom I had become acquainted. After my presentation, surprised was I to have a man on the Democratic side of the aisle get up. I did not even know him, and I am sure he did not know me. He came to my assistance, and everything turned out all right. That man was the gentleman from Massachusetts, JOHN McCORMACK.

To the newcomers on both sides of the aisle may I say that in my opinion you are entering upon one of the most interesting, exciting, and rewarding experiences of your life. You will feel here as I felt back in 1935 the warmth of personal friendship and the strength of a helping hand.

Now, beyond that may I say again, Mr. Speaker, we, on my side of the aisle, like the people on your side of the aisle, will devote our energies to the best interests of our country. There will be differences among us, but they shall be differences that do not involve malice, do not involve ill will, but are simply honest differences of opinion among people of good will. So, we shall do the best we can, responsible, as I hope all of us shall be, for the well-being of this great land of ours.

So, Members of the House, it is my great privilege to present to you the Speaker of all of us for this, the 88th Congress of the United States.

The SPEAKER. My distinguished colleagues and dear friends, I am deeply touched by the generous remarks made by my friend, the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HALLECK] in again presenting me to my colleagues to occupy the high and responsible office of Speaker of this great body. I was deeply touched by the action of my Democratic colleagues yesterday in caucus in again selecting me as their choice for Speaker of the National House of Representatives. By that action they conveyed to me a message of friendship and respect which I shall always cherish.

I am also deeply appreciative of the action of the House today, despite the fact as Mr. HALLECK previously stated, that in the early returns I was behind, the Democratic stronghold came in and I was elected by the Members of the House as the Speaker of this great body.

The office of Speaker is a great trust. It has two main responsibilities: one political, as leader of his party in the House; the other parliamentary, as Speaker of the House.

Those who served with me in the past know that as majority leader I have always tried to be fair in debate or otherwise although I was always vigorous in advancing the cause of the Democratic Party. As Speaker I hope that during the past year I exercised that judgment that carries out the trust that is imposed upon any man who is Speaker of this great body.

As Speaker of the House I shall always protect the dignity and the prerogatives of this great body. I shall always protect the rights of all Members under the rules of the House. Further than that, not only as Speaker but as JOHN McCORMACK, as an individual—because it is a part of my basic code of life—I shall always be fair to all of my colleagues. My office will be open and I shall be always glad for a visit.

We have our party differences, but if on the personal level there is anything I can do for any of my colleagues, my office doors are always open and I shall always be glad to cooperate in every way that I possibly can.

This is no occasion for extended remarks on my part. The gentleman from Indiana, CHARLIE HALLECK, of course, has raised the question in a humorous way, and in a humorous way I respond, referring to the fact that he has been presenting Speakers of the House of Representatives who are Democrats, and that he is looking forward to the day when, I suppose, a Democrat will be presenting him.

Of course, the judgment of the people last fall was sound. I am satisfied and I am confident that with the policies that the Democratic Party enunciates and which we hope our Republican friends will support the people in their wisdom will pursue the same course for many, many years to come, not only as they did last fall, reelecting a Democratic Congress and in this case a Democratic House of Representatives, and they will continue to do so for many years to come.

So, CHARLIE, with all my respect for you and my friendship for you, I hope your ambitions will be long delayed.

I love the House of Representatives. I have served in this body for 35 years, the greater part of my public life. The atmosphere of this room permeates my mind every minute of the day I am sitting here. Every day is a new day to me, as if I were a new Member. This is the greatest legislative body in the world. I am proud of the record of this body, and particularly in the field of national defense and a firm foreign policy. We have a strong Congress, and in the world of today the fact that we have a strong Congress that stands for strength is of paramount importance in connection with the clash that exists in the world today and imposed upon free peoples and free nations by international communism, an evil, sinister movement, determined upon world domination.

We have had bipartisan support particularly in the fields of foreign affairs and national defense throughout the years without regard to whether the Chief Executive of our country was a Democrat or Republican. The national interest of our country is transcendent and is superior and over and above the arena of politics. I hope that the bipartisan policy will continue during this Congress and I am confident that it will. For not only involved, as I see it, is the way of life and the form of government in which we believe, but the form of government and the way of life that children and your children's children of all Americans are going to possess, because as I see it this is being decided today for the world of tomorrow for many years to come. That depends upon the sound judgment of those in responsible positions, the penetrating minds looking into the future as far as the human mind can look, their courage in forming and carrying out policy not only at the executive level but on the congressional level. Each cooperating with the other, is going to bring about assured success.

That will mean that we are going to live in a world in which we believe and under the form of government that we possess today. It will mean that our children and our children's children will live under the same form of government and in the same kind of world. As I see it, that is a matter of vital importance not only to us of this generation but to the generations that are to come. Their fate, their future outlook are being decided now. That enters into every consideration. Politics has no relationship to it when we pass upon those great questions of national defense and of sound foreign policy that will assure success for ourselves and for future generations of Americans.

I am proud of this House. I am proud of its record. I am proud of the bipartisan policy that has existed throughout the years. I am confident that during the next 2 years, with the shift that has taken place in our favor in the last several months, we will be able to capitalize on that shift and roll back the forces of atheistic, international communism and ultimately bring about the world of peace that we all seek.

When any great crisis arose in our country, as we look through history, whoever occupied the White House rose to meet the challenges of his day. Certainly today we have in the White House, in President Kennedy, a man of great ability, a man of keen and penetrating mind, a man who evaluates soundly, and a man of unlimited courage.

With such a leader and with a strong Congress acting in cooperation I have no doubt as to the result; the cause of freedom and liberty will prevail.

Again I thank you, my colleagues, for the courtesies you have extended me and particularly again I should like to thank my Democratic colleagues for selecting me yesterday as their nominee for Speaker.

I now ask my distinguished friend, the dean of the House of Representatives, one of the greatest Americans of all time, the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. VINSON], to administer the oath.

Mr. VINSON then administered the oath of office to the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MCCORMACK].

SWEARING IN OF MEMBERS

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 5) and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the Rules of the House of Representatives of the Eighty-seventh Congress, together with all applicable provisions of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, as amended, be, and they are hereby, adopted as the Rules of the House of Representatives of the Eighty-eighth Congress, with the following amendment therein as a part thereof, to wit:

Strike out subsection (p) of rule X and insert in lieu thereof the following:
“(p) Committee on Rules, to consist of fifteen members.”

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ALBERT] is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 4 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks, and I ask unanimous consent that all Members may revise and extend their remarks on the subject under discussion at this time.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Oklahoma is recognized.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this resolution is to increase the size of the Committee on Rules from 12 to 15 members.

This resolution will do no more nor less than make permanent the rule under which we operated during the 87th Congress.

The experience of the last 2 years has allayed every fear which was expressed at the time the temporary rule was adopted.

Opponents of this resolution contended that if it was passed it would lead to packing and purging of all the committees of the House, to floods of closed rules being reported, and to other consequences too dire to contemplate.

The experience of the 87th Congress under two Speakers has proved that these fears were unfounded. Now our Republican friends want to purge and to pack: they want to purge a Democrat and pack on a Republican.

This change in the Committee on Rules did not dismantle the Committee on Rules or undermine its authority.

It had no adverse effect on any other committee of the House.

It did not alter the prerogatives of the chairman or any other member of the Committee on Rules.

All it did was to establish the principal of majority rule and responsible government in the Committee on Rules and make the Committee on Rules the servant and not the master of the House.

There is nothing sacrosanct about a 12-man committee.

Historically the Rules Committee has consisted of an odd number of members during many Congresses.

Under the permanent rules of the House every committee of the House has an odd number of members except the Committee on Rules where a tie vote thwarts the entire legislative process.

Opponents of this resolution argue that it is not needed—that under other procedures the majority may always express its will.

Any Member who has served in this House as much as one term knows that as a practical matter this is not true.

They talk about suspension of the rules.

This is an extraordinary procedure requiring a two-thirds vote under which debate is limited and the opportunity to offer amendments is denied.

This procedure is one under which historically, except on very rare occasions, major legislation is not considered.

They talk about the discharge petition.

This is only a safety valve, which may be used to circumvent not only the Committee on Rules but all legislative committees of the House.

If we were to start reporting a large number of major bills of a controversial character under discharge petitions, we might as well abolish the committee system.

We would be denying ourselves the use of those procedures which have been developed through the years for the orderly consideration of legislation.

This extraordinary procedure is certainly no substitute for the general rules of the House.

They talk about Calendar Wednesday.

Every time a matter is brought out under the Calendar Wednesday procedure, the same Members who oppose this resolution resort to every kind of dilatory tactic, every kind of delay, every kind of filibuster which the rules of the House make possible.

Calendar Wednesday is limited in scope.

This is not a procedure designed to protect majority rule: This rule is available only to committees.

We believe that the majority of the Members of this House should have a reasonable opportunity to have major legislation considered under the regular rules of the House.

This is the issue here.

I hope the resolution is agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman from Oklahoma has expired.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HALLECK].

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to the adoption of this resolution. It is unwise, it is unnecessary, it is inadvisable, and I think it is highly improper that we adopt it at this time. It is no secret that I was against this sort of move 2 years ago. My view did not prevail at that time. The Committee on Rules membership was increased from 12 to 15.

If I understand the majority leader correctly—and I do not have to elaborate here on the high respect and regard I have for him—he said that many things we prophesied did not come to pass.

Let me comment on that by saying from what I could observe it did not make much difference that the membership of the Rules Committee was increased from 12 to 15. An education bill came before the committee of 15 in 1961 and it was defeated decisively in committee. I recall that subsequently an omnibus educational facilities bill was called up on Calendar Wednesday, bypassing the Rules Committee. What happened? The House of Representatives correctly refused to consider it, by a vote of 242 to 170.

I say the pending proposal is unwise. You will observe that this is a permanent increase in the committee membership. In the resolution, reference is made to the 1946 Reorganization Act that established the size of the committees. This is the first time that an attempt has been made to change the basic act with respect to numbers. Certainly, temporarily we have increased numbers, but never have we attempted to make the change permanent before today.

May I say the arguments for this proposition are based on erroneous and invalid assumptions. Even the Chief Executive—for whom I have the highest regard, and for whom I have come down here in the well of the House and fought for things he said were important, some of them not very popular back home in my area—has stated, “I hope that the Rules Committee is kept to its present number, because we can’t function if it isn’t. We are through if we lose. Our whole program, in my opinion, would be emasculated.”

I say the record disproves that.

If I may be permitted to add, with all humility, that the President’s statement is something of an affront, not only to the Republican members of the Rules Committee, on which I served at one time, but to all members of the Rules Committee—and I am not so sure the affront does not apply to the whole Congress, because, after all, it is our business, our responsibility, to legislate for the good of this country.

I say that the record disproves the validity of the President’s contention because the Republican members of the Rules Committee for years, including the last 2 years, have helped to vote out rules on highly controversial measures, many of them they did not believe in. Who can stand up here and say that the Members on my side, and I say generally on both sides of the aisle, did not support measures that needed to be enacted?

There are times when the Rules Committee should not report measures. I have been majority leader twice. I am proud we had a Rules Committee that had courage enough and stamina enough to stand up against reporting measures to the floor, many of which would have bankrupted the Treasury of the United States.

So I say again, Mr. Speaker, whatever is reported by any legislative committee, whether the Rules Committee is 15 or 12, has its fair chance of being considered on the floor.

I trust the resolution will be voted down, and that then we can proceed to the adoption of rules of the House as they existed before the past Congress.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. Boggs] 5 minutes.

Mr. BOGGS. Mr. Speaker, I would venture that at the time that we debated this issue at the beginning of the 87th Congress the vast majority of the Members of this body did not even know that the resolution which we adopted with respect to the Committee on Rules was limited to the 87th Congress. I am convinced of the fact that most of them thought at that time that we were permanently changing the ratio on the Committee on Rules to 15 to 10. So, this is not a new issue confronting us today. What we are trying to do is maintain the committee at 15.

Now, I had hoped that this issue would not come up. I can say, and I think with all sincerity, that the leadership cooperated with the chairman and the other members of the Committee on Rules throughout the 87th Congress. I know of no effort at any time on the part of the Speaker or anyone else associated with the scheduling of legislation to run roughshod over the Committee on Rules or any other committee. Early this winter some of our Members, upon returning here, began talking about the 21-day rule and of curbing the jurisdiction of the Committee on Rules. I was opposed to this and it was my feeling that the matter would be resolved without any difficulty and that the chairman of the committee would not join issue in light of existing full cooperation between him and the Speaker. That did not happen. So, here today we are debating the matter all over again.

Now, let us reduce this thing to its fundamentals. We are told that this is a packing device. That is a word that so many people use. I have heard this committee compared to a court. It has no relationship to a court, as everybody knows. It is an agency of the Congress of the United States, created to carry out the will of the majority of the Congress of the United States and to carry on the business of legislating. For 80 years the Committee on Rules was not even a standing committee of the House. In five Congresses the Speaker did not even appoint a Committee on Rules. The membership has been 5, 11, 12, 14, and 15 at various times. The notion that there is something sacrosanct about the number is not so.

Now, let us talk about "packing." I read in the press—and I do not know whether this is so or not, but I read—and if I am wrong, I want someone to correct me—that at the Republican conference on yesterday the conference voted unanimously 145 to nothing, as I read it, to vote down the previous question here today so that an amendment could be offered which would provide for a Committee on Rules of 9 to 6 rather than 10 to 5. Now, if I am wrong about that, I hope that the minority leader will correct me. Am I wrong about that news report?

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BOGGS. Surely.

Mr. HALLECK. I was down at the White House, and the gentleman was present at the meeting.

Mr. BOGGS. Yes.

Mr. HALLECK. And I was not here at the conclusion of the caucus. But I think his understanding of what happened is correct, and shortly the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. LAIRD] will explain that in some detail.

Mr. BOGGS. I thank the gentleman from the bottom of my heart.

What this means is that this so-called packing issue has gone out the window. The Republican opposition wants to pack the committee by adding a Republican and purge it by removing a Democrat.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Louisiana yield to me?

Mr. BOGGS. Surely.

Mr. HALLECK. It is true that the gentleman from Louisiana is a member of the great Committee on Ways and Means?

Mr. BOGGS. Correct.

Mr. HALLECK. It is composed of a membership of 15 to 10, is it not?

Mr. BOGGS. Yes, sir.

Mr. HALLECK. And has been that way since we have been here?

Mr. BOGGS. Right.

Mr. HALLECK. If the gentleman will yield further, would the gentleman think of us putting two or three more Democrats on that committee just because the gentleman wanted to get something out of that committee that the gentleman could not otherwise get out?

Mr. BOGGS. The Ways and Means Committee is a legislative committee. The Rules Committee is procedural, but the gentleman has not replied to my statement, because I said to the gentleman if there be a principle involved—and I think there is—I think the principle is whether or not democracy works, and not one of packing.

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. Boggs] has expired.

Mr. BOGGS. Would the gentleman from Oklahoma yield me additional time? May I have 3 additional minutes?

Mr. ALBERT. I yield the gentleman 3 additional minutes.

Mr. BOGGS. Back in the 87th Congress, some people proposed that my good friend, the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. COLMER], be purged from the committee. I was one of those who went to Speaker Rayburn—God bless his soul—and said "Mr. Speaker, this cannot happen." I was opposed to it. Now I am opposed to a proposition today which will purge from this committee Congressman SISK if the Republican proposition is adopted, because that is exactly what it means.

Members of the House know that the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. CURTIS] who is my good friend, made a speech here in 1961 and here is what he said. I quote from him directly:

I remember in the 83d Congress when we won by a majority of 6, at which time we packed the Rules Committee, if one wants to use that term, 2 to 1 or 8 to 4, the Ways and Means Committee 15 to 10, the Appropriations Committee 30 to 20. The principle is a sound principle and I think in this instance we make a mistake as the Republican Party to oppose this basic proposal.

In other words, what the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. CURTIS] was saying was that had the Republicans elected a majority of the House of Representatives, the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HALLECK] would have had his way. The Committee on Ways and Means would be 15 to 10 Republicans rather than 15 to 10 Democrats. The Committee on Rules would be 15 to 10 Republicans rather than 15 to 10 Democrats. Yet no one would call this purging or packing these two committees.

But bear in mind that the Rules Committee is not a legislative committee. It is a policy committee and designed to respond to the majority whether it be Republican or Democratic.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield to me?

Mr. BOGGS. I would be happy to yield to the distinguished majority leader.

Mr. ALBERT. On the question raised by the distinguished minority leader in changing the membership of the Committee on Ways and Means, the Committee on Ways and Means is a legislative committee and the matter of a 2-to-1 ratio on legislative committees has never been the practice of the House of Representatives. The Committee on Rules is a committee which has more to do with the procedures of the House of Representatives than any other body in the Congress.

Mr. BOGGS. Exactly. Let me make this one final point, and I do not say this in any partisan way. I address this to my dear friends, my colleagues who come from the South. I like to use the expression that the great former Speaker used: "I am a Democrat without prefix or suffix." I am proud to be a Democrat. I am proud to be a southerner and a native of Mississippi. I am proud to be a citizen of the greatest country on earth—the United States of America.

There were many people who predicted that those of us who said democracy ought to work, that the majority ought to be able to assert its will, that 435 Members ought to be able to vote rather than just 6 Members on an issue, that we were going to be defeated. What really happened? I look over here and I see my great friend, the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LONG] sitting in Congress. He defeated a very dear friend of mine, the gentleman from Louisiana, Mr. Harold McSween, who voted the other way.

Then I look about and I see a young man from Georgia sitting back here. He looks like a very fine man. I was devoted to Judge Davis. He was very close to my dear friend, the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH]. He took the well of this House, if I remember correctly, and predicted all of these dire things. Well, there sits this young man. I am sorry that Judge Davis is not here.

I could go on and call this roll. Over here on your side I saw today the distinguished new Governor of Pennsylvania, Governor Scranton, and God bless him. I think he is going to make a great Governor. But I remember how he voted on this issue, and I look back and I do not believe there is a single Member who sits on the Republican side who voted to let democracy work who was defeated.

I say to the Members of the House from the South who are afraid, "Do not be afraid. The Democratic Party is being built stronger than ever in the South." I am glad the Republicans are making strides in the South. I think it is a good thing for our country. It is good to have a strong two-party system.

But these are the issues. I trust that the motion of the gentleman from Oklahoma will prevail.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. LAIRD].

FAIRPLAY AMENDMENTS

Mr. LAIRD. Mr. Speaker, I think it is well for us first to review where we are in the House proceedings. The gentleman from Oklahoma, I understand, will move the previous question after his hour has expired. We will have a vote on whether to put the previous question at that time. If the previous question motion carries, debate will be ended and there will be no opportunity to consider amendments to the Rules of the House of Representatives for the 88th Congress.

I believe it is most important that today we be given an opportunity to discuss fully and fairly the Rules of the House of Representatives. There have been many times during my 10-year period of service here in the House when I have heard Members on both sides of the aisle criticize various House rules. This is the proper time to give real consideration to the Rules of the House of Representatives. It is my hope that the motion on the previous question will fail. If this motion fails it is my intent to see that the amendments approved by the Republican conference yesterday are offered.

The fairplay amendments are as follows:

Amend the resolution by striking out line 6, page 1, and inserting in lieu thereof the following amendments therein as a part thereof, to wit: Strike out subsection (p) of rule X and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"(p) Committee on Rules, to consist of 15 members (9 majority and 6 minority)."

That rule XI is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof:

"(r) All House standing and investigative committee staffs shall be composed 40 per centum of members selected by, responsible to, and serving at the pleasure of a majority of minority committee members."

That rule XXVIII, clause 2, is hereby amended by striking out the period and inserting a colon, and adding the following: "Provided, That time for discussion on conference reports shall be divided, with 50 per centum of the time to be controlled by the majority party and 50 per centum by the minority party."

I do not see why the majority party should fear these amendments. They should be willing to debate them individually, and then vote them up or down. By moving the previous question adequate debate on these amendments cannot be had and it would not give the minority party an opportunity to present its case fully and thoroughly.

In this last election 48 percent of the American people voted for Republican congressional candidates. It is true that as far as the membership is concerned we have only 40 percent of the Members. But we feel that as a minority party we should be given recognition for that 40 percent membership here in the House of Representatives if representative government is truly to work. We are not asking for 48 percent; we are asking for 40 percent which represents our membership.

It should be understood that if I should ever be fortunate enough to be a member of the majority party in some future Congress, I would support these very same amendments for the minority. These fairplay amendments are absolutely necessary and vital so that the House of Representatives may have true two-party interplay.

Mr. Speaker, what are these amendments. The first proposed amendment to the rules providing for fairplay would establish that the Rules Committee be made up of 15 members. We will not argue with the majority if they insist on that particular number. I do not want to get into a numbers game as far as the total membership is concerned, but this amendment would provide that the minority would have the same representation on this committee as we have Members in the House of Representatives; the same ratio that prevails in the Committee on Ways and Means, the same ratio that prevails in the Committee on Appropriations. That is 40 percent, which is our representation in the House.

The second amendment would provide that 40 percent of the committee staffs would have to have the approval of a majority of the minority.

The majority party has access to a tremendous amount of help from the executive branch of our Government.

The minority party is in a position where it has responsibilities to a vast segment of the people of the United States, but we do not have adequate staffing of many of the committees. This would provide that 40 percent of those staffs would have the approval of a majority of the minority.

The third amendment which we would like to propose with the approval of the Republican conference would provide that the minority party would have equal time of conference reports. Legislation today is being written more and more in conference. It is most important that the minority party, in order to present adequately its position on the floor of the House and to the American people, be given the assurance that when a conference report comes to the floor of the House of Representatives the minority party under the rules of the House of Representatives be recognized for one-half of the time.

These are the three amendments we propose. But if the previous question is voted down, it gives an opportunity for other amendments that may have been discussed by other Members to be considered as well. It is my hope that the previous question will be voted down. Certainly the minority party cannot be placed in a position where it supports the adoption of the rules as set forth in the Albert resolution, because they do not give proper protection to the minority. We in the minority are simply asking for fairplay.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. HEBERT].

Mr. HEBERT. Mr. Speaker, I was born a Democrat, I have lived as a Democrat, and I will die as a Democrat. I learned the philosophy of the Democratic Party at the knee of my father, who echoed the philosophy he heard at the knee of his father about the principles of the Democratic Party. I believe in that philosophy today as I believed in it then. Principles do not change with the times. I still live in the shadow of that which I learned in my youth, in full cognizance of the fact that, while being a member of the Democratic Party, I have the right to disagree and not be disagreeable.

I am not a party hack and I am not a party pawn. Let us get the record straight. I am opposed to the packing, fixing, stacking, or whatever other synonym you may use, whether it comes from my own side of the aisle or from the other side of the aisle. The principle of packing is wrong, no matter who advances it, whether it be from the Democratic or Republican side, and it is on principle that I speak and address you today.

As dean of the Louisiana delegation, I declined to call a caucus on this subject. I held this was a matter of decision and determination for each individual to make with himself, his constituency and his conscience. I accept that rule myself and feel confident that I echo the wishes and the will of my constituency, which has sent me here for 22 years, longer than any man in the history of my district. So I think I represent their wishes. My conscience dictates that I stand up to the principles in which I believe. If I failed to rise here today and take this opportunity to state my position I would not be worthy of the seat which I occupy in this House.

Walk with me in spirit down to the Jefferson Memorial. Lift your eyes and read what is written in that circle above the statue of Thomas Jefferson:

I have pledged upon the altar of God eternal hostility to any form of tyranny over the mind of man.

That is the principle involved here today. This may not be the most sophisticated group of individuals in the world, but it is certainly not the most naive. We all know that this proposition is a device for control. This is changing the rules to suit the purpose of the moment. This is a device, not even subtle, to use the tyranny of control by numbers over the Rules Committee.

It was 50 years ago, almost to the day, that the then called liberals in the House changed the rules of this body and wrested the power of tyranny and control over the minds of individuals from the then Republican Speaker Joe Cannon. The fight was led by that great Missourian Champ Clark who became one of our great Speakers of the House of Representatives and almost the Democratic nominee for the office of President of the United States. He was backed up by that great Alabamian Oscar Underwood from the South—yes. And, incidentally, I might say I have no objection to being called a southern Democrat. I am proud of it and I hope I always hold my head high and say, "Yes, classify me as a southern Democrat, if you will; you pay me tribute and homage, and do me honor."

What did these liberals do 50 years ago? They formed a Rules Committee to wrest the power of tyranny from the then Speaker of the House. My distinguished colleague from New Orleans has told you this is a permanent piece of legislation. He is correct, and therein is the danger. There is the real danger.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, will my colleague and dear friend yield?

Mr. HEBERT. Certainly, I yield to my colleague.

Mr. ALBERT. Does not the gentleman think it is just as important to wrest undue power from six Members as the House wrested such undue power from one Member in the past?

Mr. HEBERT. I think it is most important that the will of the majority of this House be worked. I think the majority here should prevail and I do not think anybody in this House should have the power and control over what the majority of the House wants. I do not care whether it is 1 man, 6 men, or 20 men. The gentleman has put his finger on the real issue. Any time 218 Members of this body want a bill considered on the floor of this House, they just have to walk a few steps and sign a discharge petition and the fact that the majority does not sign such a petition means that they do not want it.

It is the principle of majority rule that I fight for today, be it on a committee or in the House itself. Packing is not majority rule; packing is the exercise of tyranny over the minds of men which Jefferson cried out against and to which I subscribe. Packing a committee or a court is repugnant to the democratic processes and I denounce it.

Anybody who believes in majority rule cannot support this insidious device to thwart the will of the duly constituted Committee on Rules as provided in the Reorganization Act.

It should be of more than passing interest to the membership of this House and particularly to my southern colleagues to review the names of the organizations and individuals who have joined together to send letters to Members of Congress urging them to pack the Rules Committee.

This list speaks more eloquently than anything I may say here today. Read the list and ask yourselves if you accept the philosophy of how many of these organizations from the NAACP down to the very end.

It is most interesting to see some of my colleagues from the South and some of my conservative Republican friends standing shoulder to shoulder phalanx-like with such organizations.

Here is the list:

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California [Mr. ROOSEVELT].

Mr. ROOSEVELT. Mr. Speaker, there are a number of us from both sides of the aisle who had hoped today to offer an amendment to the rules that would deal with the transfer of the jurisdiction of the House Un-American Activities Committee to the Committee on the Judiciary. However, it becomes very obvious today that the only way to do this would be to help the Republican minority defeat the proposition of the previous question and thus to attack the leadership from this side of the aisle; therefore, there are a number of us who have introduced and will introduce a House resolution to accomplish our purpose. This resolution will be referred to the Committee on Rules and I am happy to tell my colleagues that the distinguished chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. WALTER], has agreed with me that he would join in a request that it be heard by the committee. I am satisfied therefore this House will at a later date be able to work its will on this question. Those of us who want this action to be taken will have our day in court. We have no right to ask for more. I hope therefore that the leadership on this side of the aisle will be supported and a large majority cast for the motion of the gentleman from Oklahoma. The basic issue involved in my resolution will be fully discussed soon.

The SPEAKER. The time of the gentleman from California has expired.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 7 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. BROWN].

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, almost an hour ago I listened with very rapt attention to one of the most eloquent speeches I have heard in a long, long time, when our beloved Speaker, and my good personal friend, the gentleman from Massachusetts, JOHN McCORMACK, assumed the speakership of this House for the 88th Congress.

In his great address, it is true, he indicated his rather firm conviction and belief that perhaps all of the virtues which have come to mankind throughout the centuries now rest within the confines of his own political party, while all of the vices to which men have fallen victim throughout the centuries belonged to those of us who may be members of the opposite party. There may be some disagreement about that.

But I do not believe any of us can disagree with that which the Speaker said when he called upon the membership of this House to cast aside partisanship in the consideration of the great issues that come before us. So, despite some peculiar statements which have been made here, I shall not make a political speech or attempt to make a political issue out of the problem that now confronts us.

Let me fix in your minds clearly, if I may, my position. I have the very firm conviction that it is just as ethically and morally wrong for a President of the United States to attempt to pack a committee of the Congress of the United States for purely political purposes and to gain his way, whether he be a Democrat or Republican, as for a President of the United States to attempt to pack the Supreme Court in order to get a judicial decision that will please him and go the way he wants it to go; or just as wrong morally and ethically as for a great labor leader to attempt to pack a jury in order to get an acquittal of a criminal charge against himself.

I say to you that such is wrong, that it is evil, that regardless of whether we are Democrats or Republicans we should have the manhood and the moral fiber to stand up and denounce that which is evil and is wrong, and to vote against it, because there can be nothing gained permanently by doing that which we know in our own hearts and souls is wrong. As the ranking minority member of the Rules Committee I am just a bit provoked, discouraged and disheartened by statements to the effect that legislation will be emasculated in our committee unless the committee is packed by the addition of three new members which, of course, in turn would reduce the effectiveness of the minority Members of the House, and of the committee itself.

Let us look at the record, as the late Al Smith—by the way, a great member of the Democratic Party—often said in the past. There are about 20,000 bills and resolutions introduced in each Congress. Out of that number relatively few ever come before the Rules Committee of the House for 90 percent are stopped in the legislative committees of the House. Do we hear nothing about their being obstructionists? No. Many of them are stopped in the Ways and Means Committee of this House, the great Ways and Means Committee, or in the Judiciary Committee, and some other great committee where we have very able and honest men. That is where such bills are stopped.

Let us look further at the record for a moment as to what happened when we had only 12 members of the Rules Committee, 8 from the majority and 4 from the minority party, and I refer to the 86th Congress. Requests for hearings were made for 146 bills. Hearings were held on 124, and rules were granted to send to the floor for consideration 111 of those bills. Only five rules were denied. One of the bills that was before the Rules Committee, and not heard, was passed on the Consent Calendar, eight under suspension, and some were superseded by other bills when mistakes were found in them.

Nineteen Senate bills came before the House committee in the 86th Congress. There were requests for hearings on that number, and hearings were held on 15. Fourteen rules, out of the 15 requested, were granted.

Does that look as if there was any blocking of the House's right to vote on this legislation?

Let us look at the record for another moment. Reference was made a while ago as to the right of the Congress to get a vote on any bill any time it pleases by signing a discharge petition. In the last 24 or 25 years there have been only 2 discharge petitions signed by a majority of the Members of this House, out of some 212 discharge petitions filed. Does that look as if the great, bad ogre, the Rules Committee, whether it be made up of Democrats or Republicans, has been blocking the House of Representatives from working its will? Only one bill was passed on a Calendar Wednesday. Dozens were turned down.

I say to you, this whole proposal, this whole suggested resolution, is simply to cover up, and to control the actions, politically if you please, of a committee of this Congress, something that is morally and ethically wrong, and you and I know it.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH].

Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks and include extraneous matter.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. SMITH of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, we are talking today about a question that has been debated in this House ever since most of us were born, as to what to do about the Rules Committee. It will be debated when we are gone. Everything has been said about it, I think, that can be said. Certainly I have debated it on numerous occasions. I do not want to go into an extended debate because I have not the allotted time.

As you were told by the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. HEBERT], the Rules Committee was set up in order to take away the power of one man to determine what should come before this House. This is an effort to put it back where it came from.

The previous Speaker, our beloved friend, Mr. Rayburn, did not want it as a permanent proposition, and he wrote the resolution, or had it written, that fixed it as a one-term proposition.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few plain words to some folks who come from my part of the country.

I have been a Democrat all my life. I have never voted anything but the Democratic ticket. I have some prefixes and suffixes which the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. Boggs], my distinguished friend, said he did not have. I am a conservative Democrat, I am a southern Democrat, and I believe my country's welfare is more important than any political party and I further believe that this matter of packing the Rules Committee affects more closely our area of the country than anywhere else.

If this resolution passes, you all know what it means, and it will happen again, and that is to say whenever the President wants a bill passed or the Speaker wants a bill submitted to the floor, he gets it. Now, I think that there ought to be some discretion about this matter so that the Committee on Rules could do now like they have done in the past, at least give the matter some looking over, give it some consideration and a little time, so that the country might know what some of these measures are about. I hope none of my southern friends are going to be complaining around here when certain measures come up that are going to come up, and come up quite promptly, if the Committee on Rules is packed again. And, I hope that when they go to vote on this resolution that they will remember that there are some things involved in this that will greatly and adversely affect their States; not just how many people should be on the Committee on Rules or who shall govern the Committee on Rules. But, it is known that there are many important things to our part of the country that are involved in this packing of the Committee on Rules as it was 2 years ago. And, I hope that at least those Members who voted against the packing before will see fit to do the same thing again, because I believe it is vital to the interests of their States, and I know there are some things that will be coming up that I know you will be against. Do you want it to come out of the committee like the Committee on Ways and Means or some other committee one day, get a rule the next day, bring it up the next day before you have a chance to study it and know what it is about and providing your people an opportunity back home to express their views to you? Now, I am not talking about civil rights. We got licked on that. It should have taught us a lesson, but I am afraid it did not.

Let me say for the benefit of some of the new Members who will soon learn this procedure, we are here in a very difficult fiscal situation. We have run deficit budgets for years and years and years on top of years. We have increased our debt until the interest on it is twice what the whole budget was when I came to the Congress. And, we are over $300 billion in debt now. And, there will not be but 2 or 3 months from now when you will be called upon to again increase the debt limit, and you are going to have to do it if you pass the kind of a budget that the papers say will be presented to us, which will be the largest budget presented to this or any other country at any time in the history of the world, while along with that you are going to be asked to vote a tax cut while you increase expenses. Now, are you going to put yourself in a position like that? Are you going to yield up every little leverage or every little weapon you may have to defeat measures so unsound? Are you going to yield some of your prerogatives and privileges here today that are going to adversely affect your people for the next 20 years? If you do, that is your business and none of mine. I hope that the Members will vote on the roll-call like they would vote if this was a secret ballot, and I would have no fear of its consequences.

I conclude my remarks by including the following editorial from yesterday's Evening Star of Washington, D.C., which expresses my views completely, succinctly, and accurately:

RULES FIGHT

As all brave men must, Speaker McCormack talks confidently of leading his forces to victory in tomorrow's battle over the size of the House Rules Committee. And perhaps the vote will vindicate him on this score.

But we do not think the Speaker is justified in his gloomy forecast of party failure if the size of the committee is restored to 12 instead of 15. Mr. McCormack did not go as far as the President, who said last month that his program would be emasculated unless the committee is again enlarged. But the Speaker did suggest that the Democrats, as the majority party, could not discharge their responsibilities with a 12-member Rules Committee.

The facts, in our judgment, do not support this despairing view. Someone has to decide which bills will be brought before the House for action and which will not. Otherwise chaos would result. For years, until severe pressure by the newly elected President brought about the packing of the Rules Committee in the 87th Congress, that group did the job. And on the whole it did well. If the Rules Committee should be packed again with complaisant members so that it becomes nothing more than a rubberstamp, then the Speaker, presumably acting by direction of the President, will decide which bills will be voted on and which will not. If such a situation appeals to the House, all well and good.

The fact is, however, that it is not necessary to pack the Rules Committee in order to get a vote on any bill which a majority of the Members wants to vote on. There are several ways in which a bill that is bottled up in the committee can be brought to the floor. The simplest, perhaps, is through a petition signed by a bare majority of the House membership. This is more difficult, of course, than cracking the whip over a packed committee. But it is not unduly difficult if the desire is there.

The real difficulty arises in the case of administration-backed bills to which House Members are opposed, but for which they would have to vote for political reasons if the measures should be brought to the floor. In these situations, the reluctant Members are happy to see the bills buried in the Rules Committee and, of course, will not sign discharge petitions. But it does not follow from this that the Rules Committee is thwarting the will of the majority, and every House Member knows it.

Mr. STRATTON. Mr. Speaker, I intend to support the resolution offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. ALBERT] to fix the membership of the Committee on Rules at 15 members.

The issue here, as I see it, is a very simple one. It is not a matter of whether the various bills reported by the Committee on Rules are or are not good and sound bills. It is simply a matter of whether the decision as to the merits of legislation reported favorably from the various standing committees of the House should be made by the House itself or by a single committee of the House.

I cannot subscribe to the theory that it is well or proper for any committee or group of Members to hold a veto over the action of the House as a whole. I cannot support the theory that the right to determine whether a particular bill reported by a standing committee should or should not be passed can properly be delegated to any small group of Members of the House. I believe these decisions can only be made by the House as a whole. If the day ever comes when Members of the House have to be protected from themselves by having the Committee on Rules make decisions for them, then we have no business continuing to serve.

The enlargement of the committee is intended to facilitate its proper function which is simply to determine the circumstances under which legislation will be considered by the House, and to prevent the committee from improperly exercising the function of passing finally and ultimately on the merits of this legislation.

Mr. DORN. Mr. Speaker, this is an open attempt by the executive branch of the Government to control directly one of the most powerful committees of Congress. Executive control of the House Rules Committee means another step toward a Hitler-type rubberstamp Congress. Already the Supreme Court has dangerously usurped the legislative power of Congress. This cold, blatant bid to further dominate Congress—this time by the executive branch—is a stark, naked attempt to deprive the people of a direct voice in national affairs and national legislation.

In 1961 the rule-packing forces were led by the House Speaker, an officer of our own choosing in the legislative branch. This time the rule-packing campaign is commanded by the executive branch openly, which is an unconstitutional, unwarranted, and unnecessary effort to usurp the power of Congress as guaranteed by the Constitution.

Executive packing of the Rules Committee will be the first step to launch the Nation on another Federal wild-spending spree. It is the first step of the Washington planners to nationalize education, to control and nationalize medicine and hospitalization, and to legalize and establish a domestic peace corps. It will lead to expanded welfare and so-called depressed area giveaways, also needless additional foreign aid. It will be a grandiose freedom ride on a national scale and further regimentation of the States, local communities, and the individual.

Those of us who oppose packing of the Rules Committee are for constitutional government. We are for States rights, rights of communities, and individual freedom. We are for a sound dollar which will benefit all of the American people, but most of all the workingman. We are for a balanced budget. We are for eliminating deficit financing. We are for fiscal responsibility.

If this Nation is to be preserved and kept fiscally sound and the value of our dollar protected and gold protected, we must defeat this nefarious attempt to pack and make a rubberstamp of the Rules Committee.

Mr. RYAN of New York. Mr. Speaker, I support the resolution offered by the distinguished majority leader which will increase the size of the Committee on Rules from 12 to 15 members. I believe that this is a minimum change which is needed to deal with the power of the Committee on Rules to block legislation. I do not believe that the Committee on Rules, consisting of 12 or 15 or any other number of members, should be able to determine the substantive merit of particular legislation. Yet, this is exactly the role the Committee on Rules has assumed. And the gentleman from Virginia, Judge SMITH, has said candidly and unequivocally that a 12-member committee is in the interest of the conservative bloc. I will vote for the 15 members, but I believe more basic reforms are necessary to overcome the obstructionism of the Committee on Rules.

Mr. Speaker, it is most regrettable that the House will not have the opportunity to consider adoption of the 21-day rule and the 7-day rule on conference reports.

The 21-day rule would provide that, if the Committee on Rules shall adversely report, or fail to report within 21 calendar days after reference, any resolution pending before the committee providing for an order of business for the consideration by the House of any public bill or joint resolution favorably reported by a committee of the House, on days when it shall be in order to call up motions to discharge committees it shall be in order for the chairman or any member of the committee which reported such bill or joint resolution to call up for consideration by the House the resolution which the Committee on Rules has adversely reported or failed to report. Therefore, the House could make its own decisions on recommendations made to it by its legislative committees.

The 7-day rule on conference reports would permit the House to send bills passed by both it and the Senate to a House-Senate conference, after 7 legislative days of inaction by the Committee on Rules. Thus, the entire House, not merely two or three members of the Committee on Rules, could decide whether or not to send the bill to conference.

It should be noted that the 21-day rule was adopted by the 81st Congress, and it worked very well in 1949-50 in bringing important measures to the House floor for a vote. For example, it brought an anti-poll-tax bill and a rivers and harbors bill to the floor for a successful vote, and it forced action on housing and minimum wage bills. In fact, seven of the eight measures brought to the floor by use of the 21-day rule passed the House.

The mere expansion of the Committee on Rules to 15 will not necessarily enable the House to deal effectively and constructively with the multitude of crucial and pressing domestic and international problems this Nation faces. In fact, even with an enlarged committee, vital legislation was blocked in the 87th Congress. The administration was blocked on 2 major bills, aid to education and a Department of Urban Affairs, and was also stopped cold on 22 other bills. Among the bills drafted and voted out by legislative committees and bottled up by the Committee on Rules were: The mass transit bill, the Youth Conservation Corps bill, bills to provide grants for medical and dental school construction and loans for medical and dental students, three migratory labor bills passed by the Senate and reported by the House committee, a bill to establish a Federal Equal Employment Opportunities Committee, and a bill to prohibit Federal aid to impacted school districts which are segregated.

Mr. Speaker, the great unfinished business facing America is civil rights. It is very doubtful that the 15-member committee will clear civil rights measures. Therefore, the 21-day rule is essential to prevent the Committee on Rules from blocking effective civil rights legislation.

To regain its constitutional and necessary role as the major policymaking and problem-solving branch of Government, Congress must revise its organization and operations.

For example, the House must have the power to send bills to a House-Senate conference to work out differences in House and Senate versions, when a conference has been blocked by inaction of the Committee on Rules.

The House must also overcome its inability to consider home-rule legislation for the District of Columbia. The House Committee on the District of Columbia has never permitted a home-rule bill to reach the floor for a vote, notwithstanding the fact that five times since 1948 the other body has passed home-rule legislation, both major party platforms have advocated it since 1948, and Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, and Kennedy have all supported home rule.

I have introduced today a concurrent resolution to establish a Joint Committee on the Organization of the Congress. This resolution is identical to House Concurrent Resolution 577 which I introduced in the 87th Congress. The proposed committee composed of seven Representatives and seven Senators would make a full study of the organization and operation of the Congress and recommend improvements to strengthen it, simplify and expedite its work, improve its relations with other branches of Government, and enable it to meet its constitutional responsibilities.

The committee's studies would include the organization and operation of each House of Congress and the relation between them, their relations with other branches of Government, and the employment and remuneration of officers and employees of the two Houses, their committees, and Members.

The committee would also study the structure of, and relation between, the various committees, the rules, parliamentary procedure, practices, and precedents of either House, and the matter of consolidation and reorganization of committees and their jurisdictions.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the establishment of this committee with the hope that it will make recommendations which, if adopted, will enable the Congress to function as a truly representative and democratic body, able and willing to effectively enact legislation on all the major problems of today.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, despite the admonitions of some that a freshman Congressman should be seen and not heard, I am compelled to speak out on this vitally important matter. We are not debating a temporary change of the numerical composition of the Rules Committee as was done during the last Congress, but what is done today will result in a permanent change in the organization of this important committee.

As the distinguished gentlemen from Louisiana [Mr. HEBERT] has so eloquently said, this proposed change in the rules is not designed to give a broader representation on the committee so that bills might be more carefully considered, but the move appears to be prompted to suit the purpose of the moment. Very well a movement so motivated to serve the hour could rise up to haunt this august body in the years ahead as we strive to save our country from bankruptcy and prevent further usurpation of our individual freedoms.

It is passing strange that the sage advice of Judge SMITH, the wise and experienced chairman of the Rules Committee, could be so blindly ignored in reaching a decision on the issue. I wholeheartedly concur in his remarks, and if in taking this position I am labeled as a southern Democrat or a conservative, I shall accept the label and be proud of the name.

In conclusion, may I say that in my humble opinion the effort being made today to pack the Rules Committee will ultimately destroy the effectiveness of this committee in determining the orderly consideration of legislation by this body. As I have said before, rather than attempt to pass a measure by manipulating the membership of a committee, may I respectfully suggest that the authors of this resolution attempt to have their legislation conform to the majority wishes of the Rules Committee and the House of Representatives.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the distinguished Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Honorable JOHN McCORMACK.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, to listen to the arguments of some of our friends, one would think that there is something sacred in the number 12 for the Rules Committee. As the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. BOGGS] pointed out, the Rules Committee at one time was five, an odd number. Another time it was 11, an odd number. The odd number enables the majority vote. A 6-to-6 vote means that a rule is not reported out. If my friend, the distinguished gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH], took the floor and said that a 6-to-6 vote would be an affirmative vote, the gentleman would be on sounder ground. But a 6-to-6 vote is a negative vote.

I have always felt throughout the years that the Rules Committee should be a majority. Two years ago we did not make it 13 because we wanted to keep the ratio of 2 to 1. If we went to 13 there would be 9 Democrats and 4 Republicans, and we did not want to disturb the ratio. That is an agreement which has existed between the parties and the leadership for years, that on the Committee on Rules there would be a ratio of 2 to 1. Also that the Committee on Ways and Means would be 15 to 10. We are not going to try and disturb the Committee on Ways and Means now, although you give us the precedent for doing so in the action of your conference yesterday when you wanted a Rules Committee of 15, with 6 on the minority side. We could construe that as a violation of the understanding over the years, but as far as I am concerned I see no intention of doing so now.

The Republican conference yesterday agreed to the proposition of 15. There is no principle involved in connection with the size of a committee. It is purely a procedural matter. In what position will my Republican friends be when now they admit the committee should be composed of 15 members when they vote against the 15-man committee when that vote comes up in the House, as I expect it will a little later in the afternoon?

The great majority of my Republican friends—you note I say the "great majority"—have opposed the 15-man committee in the past. Now they say a 15-man committee is desirable by a division of 9 of the majority and 6 of the minority.

If one studies the Rules of the House of Representatives, one will find that there is not one committee which divides among the majority and the minority. The Committee on Banking and Currency is to consist of 27 members, the Committee on the District of Columbia is to consist of 25 members, the Committee on Education and Labor is to consist of 25 members, and so on down the line.

This is the first time that I know of when an attempt has been made to write into the Rules of the House of Representatives the number that shall be on the majority side and the number that shall be on the minority side. That has always been a matter of discussion from Congress to Congress between the leadership of both parties. Then when there is a little embarrassing situation in one party or another, we recognize that and we sort of get together and take care of it. For example, we have increased any number of committees. The Committee on Agriculture under the rules is 27. It is now 35. We will have to keep that increase a little later by resolution of this Congress. The Committee on Appropriations under the rules is 43. It is now 50.

The Committee on Banking and Currency under the rules is 27, and it is now 30. The Committee on Education under the rules is 25, and it was 31 in the last Congress and it will be 31 in this Congress. So on down the line. I can name any number of other committees where under the rules there is prescribed a certain membership, but actually in the last Congress and in the past Congresses their membership is greater than the rules provide. In each Congress we had to provide for that and we will have to do it in this Congress.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McCORMACK. I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree with me in the statement that I made when I talked on this matter that in no instance where we have increased the number of members on a committee has it been for the sort of purpose that is here involved?

Mr. McCORMACK. Will the gentleman please repeat that statement?

Mr. HALLECK. Will the gentleman agree with the statement that I made heretofore—and he realizes that he and I have sat together as majority and minority members to work out the division on the committees—will he agree with me that in no instance when we have increased the number on a committee for a particular Congress has it ever been done for the purpose that is perfectly obvious here in connection with this increase from 12 to 15?

Mr. McCORMACK. Of course, what is perfectly obvious is the fact, as I hope, that a majority of the House will want to make the Committee on Rules more representative of the will of the House, and enable the Members of the House to have a reasonable opportunity to pass upon major measures. Now, to answer specifically the gentleman's question, I will say this. I cannot answer for every Congress in the past, but we have sat down and ironed these things out, and the committees, practically all of them, are greater in number than is provided by the rules. So there is nothing sacred about the number of members on the committees. That is what I am emphasizing.

As Sam Rayburn said 2 years ago—and I quote:

I think the House should be allowed on great measures to work its will and it cannot work its will if the Committee on Rules is so constituted as not to allow the House to pass on those things.

That is a sound proposition. With an even number of members on the Committee on Rules, it constitutes as to many measures a means of denying the House the opportunity to pass upon important legislation. The step we took 2 years ago was a wise one. The step we took 2 years ago was a proper one. The step we are now about to take, to make this number permanent, if the resolution is adopted, is a sound one because, if my Republican friends by any chance should win 2 years from now, they will not be faced with this situation that faces us today.

This is a procedural matter and from every angle that anyone can look at it, the number of 15 members on this committee should be maintained.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to adopt the resolution.

Mr. ALBERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 1 minute.

Mr. Speaker, I take this time to state the parliamentary situation. As I understand from the remarks of the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. LAIRD], a separate vote will probably be demanded on the previous question, which I shall move at the conclusion of my remarks. The position of the majority is that the vote should be "yea" on the previous question and "yea" on the resolution.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ALBERT. I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. HALLECK. Mr. Speaker, it has been my understanding that if the resolution offered by the gentleman from Oklahoma be defeated, immediately thereupon the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SMITH] as chairman of the Committee on Rules, will be recognized to offer the rules of the 87th Congress as the rules of the 88th Congress.

Mr. ALBERT. The majority leader is not in a position to know whom the Speaker will recognize on the disposition of this matter.

Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The question is on ordering the previous question.

Mr. LAIRD. Mr. Speaker, on that I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered. The question was taken; and there were—yeas 249, nays 183, not voting 1, as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Murray White

So the resolution was agreed to.
The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

DOMESTIC PEACE CORPS

The SPEAKER. Under previous order of the House, the gentleman from New York [Mr. HALPERN] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HALPERN. Mr. Speaker, today, simultaneously with the opening of the 88th Congress, I introduced a bill to establish a domestic Peace Corps, which I trust will win solid bipartisan approval.

The legislation is similar to the proposal I offered in the 87th Congress which won so much public support. Again, I emphasize the need for such legislation, and trust that it will be given priority during the current session.

Do we really need a domestic Peace Corps? Is not this type of volunteer social service only needed by underdeveloped nations? What situations at home could possibly warrant our airlifting volunteers from one city to another, or transporting people from one section of their home city or county to another one?

The answer is this: The evils and side effects of an industrial and urban society and economy. Such phenomena as the dismal hovels of the underprivileged in our large cities, the depressed areas left behind by change in some industrialized States or the superfluity of talent and manpower laying fallow in rural America, because of the shrinking agricultural sector of our economy.

But the need does not arise solely from the economic facts, but rather from the effect these facts have had upon so many American lives. The bold fact, in fact, that many of our youth, many of our first generation immigrants, many members of minorities or backward areas cannot adjust to our complex way of life, to modern America without new awareness, without more education and training, without help.

Who can give them that help? A domestic Peace Corps of volunteers who know the basics of adjustment, have the education to communicate them, and who could afford the time and expense, if there were only Federal backing.

More specifically, I should like for one thing to see the volunteers of such a corps respond to the words of David Hackett, Executive Director of the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime, when he said:

We must admit in all honesty that we are losing the fight against delinquency. Our control and treatment services have not been able to stem the tide.

The high rates of recidivism offer abundant evidence that correctional services cannot do the job alone. Nor is it just a matter of the quality or the quantity of these services.

We have been dealing with the end results, and overall we have not been dealing with them successfully. Clearly, we cannot relax our efforts to increase the effectiveness of our corrective services.

But to win this fight, we must prevent delinquency, not just correct it.

Too, in addition to Hackett's warning on delinquency, there are the following figures on youth in general: 26 million young persons will enter the labor market in 1963; 7½ million of them will do so before having finished high school, and 2½ million will be grammar school dropouts. Moreover, all of this is coming about in the context of an economy depending more and more on automation and demanding even for an apprenticeship that a youth have a high school diploma.

Thus, as far as a corps of volunteers is concerned, all these youths—the delinquent, the idle, or the struggling and rejected minority group member—are in need of the training, counseling, and liaison between themselves and the constructive world that the volunteers' presence among them would give.

Also, I want you to consider some other figures in conjunction with the youth statistics. These are the various estimates available on the shortage of social workers in the 1960's. In a publication of the American Public Welfare Association recently, various leaders in their fields emphasized:

That only token service is currently given toward protecting children and strengthening family life, and this by overworked staff members.

For example, one-third of the urban counties and one-half of the rural counties in the Nation have no public child-welfare workers.

A broader view of the facts is that of the dean of the school of social work at the University of Chicago. He has been quoted as saying that America has less than half of the recreational workers she needs and less than 25 percent of the social workers in general.

Add to this, the sometimes too low level of education of many social workers—only 7 out of 10 have their B.A., and among probation officers, three-fourths of the workers lack their bachelor's degree.

This combination of many groping youths with too few counselors to guide them brings only too quickly to mind James Bryant Conant's appellation of "social dynamite." Moreover, it will, indeed, be detonated unless America brings her other kind of social dynamite in to work on the problem—her recently graduated and capable young people, and also, her recently retired, and trained older population.

Too, would not such an enlistment of volunteer talent not only fit into the present American framework, but also into the American heritage? Three things make me say, unqualifiedly "yes." The first is the American tradition of volunteer help and assistance.

Americans from teen age to old age have worked all through our history and development as volunteers in hospitals, supplemented community educational efforts, supervised play and recreation, aided skilled social workers, and assisted with correctional and vocational rehabilitation.

My second reason, of course, is the success of the foreign corps. My third and last the existing American framework and awareness—the countless programs, urban and rural, begun in the last few years under the auspices of a private foundation like the Ford Foundation, or under the auspices of the more recent Federal legislation—the Juvenile Delinquency Act of 1961.

In fact, a perfect example of exactly how a domestic corps might cooperate with these fund allocating programs is the recent two-pronged project in central Harlem, New York City.

One of the two prongs or organizations involved will be associated community teams, and its manpowers will be three groups of volunteers who will work as teaching, nursery school, child guidance personnel, hospital, orphanage and temporary custody institution aids. The three groups will consist of privileged youth from the central Harlem area, 18 years old and older; youths from other areas; and adults, again from central Harlem.

To me, this small New York project is just a microcosm of my ideas for a larger corps.

The great potential of this legislation is limitless. I urgently appeal for its early consideration, for like its predecessor, I believe it is one idea worthy of dauntless enthusiasm and unanimous bipartisan support.

REPORT

PURSUANT TO FEDERAL REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

P	QUARTER
	1st	2d	3d	4th

(Mark one square only)

NOTE ON ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

- (i) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)
  - (ii) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B".
- (b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:
- (i) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.
  - (ii) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.
2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names or agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

NOTE ON ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers, except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) If the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER.—State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE ON ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302(e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports.
2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.
3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) Description, (b) quantity distributed; (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

(Answer items 1, 2, and 3 in the space below. Attach additional pages if more space is needed)

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C4" and fill out item "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) with a "Quarterly" Report.

AFFIDAVIT

[Omitted in printing]

PAGE 1

NOTE ON ITEM "D."—(a) In General. The term "contribution" includes anything of value. When an organization or individual uses printed or duplicated matter in a campaign attempting to influence legislation, money received by such organization or individual—for such printed or duplicated matter—is a "contribution." "The term 'contribution' includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money, or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution"—Section 302(a) of the Lobbying Act.

(b) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN EMPLOYER.—(i) In General. Item "D" is designed for the reporting of all receipts from which expenditures are made, or will be made, in accordance with legislative interests.

(ii) Receipts of Business Firms and Individuals.—A business firm (or individual) which is subject to the Lobbying Act by reason of expenditures which it makes in attempting to influence legislation—but which has no funds to expend except those which are available in the ordinary course of operating a business not connected in any way with the influencing of legislation—will have no receipts to report, even though it does have expenditures to report.

(iii) Receipts of Multipurpose Organizations.—Some organizations do not receive any funds which are to be expended solely for the purpose of attempting to influence legislation. Such organizations make such expenditures out of a general fund raised by dues, assessments, or other contributions. The percentage of the general fund which is used for such expenditures indicates the percentage of dues, assessments, or other contributions which may be considered to have been paid for that purpose. Therefore, in reporting receipts, such organizations may specify what that percentage is, and report their dues, assessments, and other contributions on that basis. However, each contributor of $500 or more is to be listed, regardless of whether the contribution was made solely for legislative purposes.

(c) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN AGENT OR EMPLOYEE.—(i) In General. In the case of many employees, all receipts will come under Items "D 5" (received for services) and "D 12" (expense money and reimbursements). In the absence of a clear statement to the contrary, it will be presumed that your employer is to reimburse you for all expenditures which you make in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Employer as Contributor of $500 or More.—When your contribution from your employer (in the form of salary, fee, etc.) amounts to $500 or more, it is not necessary to report such contribution under "D 13" and "D 14," since the amount has already been reported under "D 5," and the name of the "employer" has been given under Item "B" on page 1 of this report.

REPORT

Year: 19_____

PURSUANT TO FEDERAL REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

P	QUARTER
	1st	2d	3d	4th

(Mark one square only)

NOTE ON ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

- (1) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)
- (2) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B".
- (b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:
  - (1) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.
  - (2) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.

2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names or agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

NOTE ON ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers, except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) If the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER.—State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE ON ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302(e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports.

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) Description, (b) quantity distributed; (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

(Answer items 1, 2, and 3 in the space below. Attach additional pages if more space is needed)

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C4" and fill out item "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) with a "Quarterly" Report.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1963

The House met at 12 o'clock noon.

The Chaplain, Rev. Bernard Braskamp, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Colossians 3: 15: Let the peace of God rule in your hearts.

Almighty God, constrained by divine love, we are approaching Thy throne of grace and mercy where none has ever been repelled or sent away empty hearted.

Inspire us, during this year, with the rapture of the upward look and the joy of seeing our highest aspirations brought to fulfillment and fruition.

May we feel the thrill and throb of lofty promises and purposes as we daily confront unknown events and unforeseen experiences.

Show us how to cultivate our faculties of confidence and courage, of effort and enthusiasm and at the close of each day may we merit and receive the blessings of Thy praise and peace.

Hear us in Christ's name. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

JANUARY 9, 1963.

The Honorable the SPEAKER, House of Representatives.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith a sealed envelope addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the President of the United States, received in the Clerk's office at 4:21 p.m. on January 9, 1963, and said to contain a message from the President accompanied by copies of trade agreements negotiated with the United Kingdom and Japan.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH R. ROBERTS,
Clerk, U.S. House of Representatives.

TRADE AGREEMENTS—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 34)

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States, which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

I transmit herewith to the Congress copies of a trade agreement negotiated with the United Kingdom to compensate for the increased import duties placed on certain carpets and glass in an escape clause action which affected concessions previously granted by the United States on these products. I am also transmitting an agreement negotiated with Japan to correct the inadvertent omission of part of one concession previously negotiated. The agreement with the United Kingdom was signed on behalf of the United States on December 10, 1962, and that with Japan on December 18, 1962.

The agreements are submitted in accordance with section 4(a) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951 which requires that the President report to the Congress his reason for breaching any peril point findings of the Tariff Commission. Annex A, attached to this message, lists those instances in which I decided to accord tariff concessions at levels below those found by the Tariff Commission, together with reasons for my decision.

In the agreement with the United Kingdom, the United States granted tariff concessions to compensate for the increases in United States tariffs on certain carpets and glass. The action to increase the carpets and glass tariffs was taken under section 7 (the escape clause) of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951. Under the commitments in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade the United States is obligated to consult with contracting parties adversely affected by the escape clause action and to accord compensation for impairment of such country's trade as a result of the action.

The consultations with the United Kingdom began shortly after the United States had completed large-scale, multilateral negotiations in the 1960-61 tariff conference, in which it had nearly exhausted the authority for reducing tariffs contained in the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1958 on the products on which public notice had been issued, except for a number of products on which the Tariff Commission had found that rates could not be reduced without in its judgment causing or threatening serious injury to the domestic industry concerned. These consultations began against the background of unsatisfactory consultations concerning the carpets and glass action with the European Economic Community which decided to make compensatory withdrawal of concessions against imports from the United States rather than to continue negotiations to obtain new compensatory concessions from the United States.

An agreement with the United Kingdom is clearly desirable not only to sustain our record as a country recognizing its obligations but also to avoid a possible "snowballing" of withdrawal actions.
