HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—Thursday, January 3, 1991

This being the day fixed by the 20th amendment to the Constitution for the annual meeting of the Congress of the United States, the Members-elect of the 102d Congress met in their Hall, and at 12 noon, were called to order by the Clerk of the House of Representatives, Hon. Donnald K. Anderson.

The Chaplain, Rev. James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

May Your blessing, O gracious God, be with each person who has been given the honor and responsibility of serving in this place. Conscious of the trust given by the people of our Nation, we pray that these Representatives will be good stewards of the resources of the land and faithfully seek to do the works of justice for all the people.

May our petitions for peace, O God, be translated into the works and the reality of peace. We remember this day citizens of our Nation who serve in distant places and all others who labor for peace so that conflict will be put aside and nations will enjoy the security they earnestly seek and deserve.

We thank You, O God, for the gift of life with all its possibilities and all its joy. On this special day at the beginning of this new Congress, we dedicate ourselves to preserve and protect Your gifts to us and to all people so that justice will roll down as waters and righteousness like an everflowing stream. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The CLERK. Will the Members-elect and their guests please rise and join with us in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

The Clerk led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The CLERK. Representatives-elect, this is the day fixed by the 20th amendment to the Constitution for the meeting of the 102d Congress and, as the law directs, the Clerk of the House has prepared the official roll of the Representatives-elect.

Certificates of election covering 435 seats in the 102d Congress have been received by the Clerk of the House, and the names of those persons whose credentials show that they were regularly elected as Representatives in accordance with the laws of their respective States or of the United States will be called.

Without objection, the Representatives-elect will record their presence by electronic device and their names will be reported in alphabetical order by States, beginning with the State of Alabama to determine whether a quorum is present.

There was no objection.

The CLERK. Representatives-elect who have not obtained their voting ID cards may do so now in the Speaker's lobby.

The call was taken by electronic device, and the following Representatives-elect responded to their names:

The CLERK. On this quorum call by electronic device, 427 Representatives-elect have recorded their presence. A quorum is present.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CLERK

The CLERK. The Clerk will state that credentials, regular in form, have been received showing the election of the Honorable JAIME B. FUSTER, as Resident Commissioner from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico for a term of 4 years beginning January 3, 1989; the election of the Honorable ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON as Delegate from the District of Columbia; and the election of the Honorable RON DE LUGO as Delegate from the Virgin Islands.

The Clerk has received copies of credentials showing the election of the Honorable BEN BLAZ, as Delegate from Guam; and the election of the Honorable ENI F.H. FALEOMAVAEGA as Delegate from American Samoa.

Without objection these two Delegates will be permitted to take the oath of office today.

There was no objection.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

The CLERK. The next order of business is the election of the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 102d Congress.

Nominations are now in order.

The Clerk recognizes the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER].

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Clerk, as chairman of the Democratic Caucus, I am directed by the unanimous vote of that caucus to present for election to the office of the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the 102d Congress the name of the Honorable THOMAS S. FOLEY, a Representative-elect from the State of Washington.

The CLERK. The Clerk now recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. LEWIS].

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Clerk, as chairman of the Republican Conference, I am directed by the unanimous vote of that conference to present for election to the Office of the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the 102d Congress, the name of the Honorable ROBERT H. MICHEL, a Representative-elect from the land of Lincoln, the State of Illinois.

The CLERK. The Honorable THOMAS S. FOLEY, a Representative-elect from the State of Washington, and the Honorable ROBERT H. MICHEL, a Representative-elect from the State of Illinois, have been placed in nomination.

Are there any further nominations?

There being no further nominations, the Clerk will appoint tellers.

The Clerk appoints the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. ROSE]; the gentleman from California [Mr. THOMAS]; the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER]; and the gentlewoman from Maine [Ms. SNOWE].

The tellers will come forward and take their seats at the desk in front of the Speaker's rostrum.

The roll will now be called, and those responding to their names will indicate by surname the nominee of their choice.

The reading clerk will now call the roll.

The tellers having taken their places, the House proceeded to vote for the Speaker.

The following is the result of the vote:

ANSWERED "PRESENT"—2

Foley Michel

NOT VOTING—1

Murphy

□ 1325

The CLERK. The tellers agree in their tallies that the total number of votes cast is 429, of which the Honorable THOMAS S. FOLEY of Washington has received 262 and the Honorable ROBERT H. MICHEL of Illinois has received 165, with 2 voting "present."

Therefore, the Honorable THOMAS S. FOLEY of Washington is duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 102d Congress, having received a majority of the votes cast.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, because of airline delays, I was inadvertantly absent for votes No. 1 and 2 earlier today. I ask that it be recorded that, had I been present, I would proudly have voted for THOMAS FOLEY as Speaker.

The CLERK. The Clerk appoints the following committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the chair: The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MICHEL], the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. GEPHARDT], the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. GINGRICH], the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GRAY], the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER], the gentleman from California [Mr. LEWIS], the gentleman from Washington [Mr. DICKS], and the gentleman from Washington [Mr. MORRISON].

The committee will retire from the Chamber to escort the Speaker-elect to the chair.

The Doorkeeper announced the Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives of the 102d Congress, who was escorted to the chair by the committee of escort.

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker and my colleagues, and ladies and gentlemen, and sleepy grandchildren too. First, I want to thank my Republican colleagues for according me the high honor to be your leader again in this 102d Congress. Second, a formal warm welcome to the 43 new Members, 18 on our side and 25 on the Democrat side. Collectively you give us a 10-percent infusion of new blood into the House of Representatives, and we are grateful for your presence.

Third, to my colleagues on the Democrat side of the aisle, let me say that during this Congress you Democrats and we Republicans will be carrying out our responsibilities as defenders of our respective political philosophies, and that is as it should be. This is neither the proper time nor the place to develop that particular theme. However, I thought you would want to know that you will be hearing from me about these great differences, maybe as early as later on this afternoon, and yes, for some time to come.

There is a saying attributed to Thomas Jefferson that applies to the task that we will undertake. "He does best in God's great world who does best in his own little world." And this House is a little world in which we have been called upon to do our best.

We come to this House with differing points of view and all shades of political thinking. This is where those clashes of ideas are to be argued and debated openly in an atmosphere of orderliness, decorum, civility, comity and mutual respect for one another. To preside over this body we have a very able and capable man who subscribes to all of these tenets, and who has already proved to be a very fair and impartial speaker.

I would wish that every Member of this House could say as I do, I am personally proud to call TOM FOLEY my good and trusted friend. And I am highly honored, extremely honored, to present him to you as the Speaker of the House of the 102d Congress.

Mr. FOLEY. My colleagues, I am deeply grateful for the opportunity to serve again as Speaker of this House.

My particular gratitude goes in the forefront to BOB MICHEL for his generous remarks. I consider it a great honor and opportunity to serve with the distinguished Republican leader. I have served in my time with distinguished Members of Congress of every political philosophy and position. But in my judgment, no one has brought greater talent, judgment, decency, loyalty, or respect for this House and its traditions than has BOB MICHEL. And if I may, I salute the wisdom of my Republican colleagues in choosing him as their leader.

I look forward to serving with you, BOB, in the coming 2 years. And as a symbol of our friendship and of my respect for you, I am going to return this gavel to you, as long as you promise to keep it off this desk.

I wish, of course, to express my gratitude to many others: to my constituents who have done me the honor of allowing me to serve in the Congress; to my staff; to my friends; and most particularly to my wife of 22 years, Heather, who has been my constant support and my selfless friend.

I have said many times, and I know my colleagues will understand this, that serving as the Speaker of the House of Representatives is the second greatest honor of my political life. The first for each one of us in this House must be the honor of serving the constituents that do us the great honor of allowing us to serve them. And to my constituents of the Fifth District of the State of Washington I express again my gratitude and thanks for their support and their confidence.

I am mindful as well of my responsibility in this House to undertake to discharge my responsibilities as Speaker with fairness and dignity. I pledge to you to wield this gavel firmly but fairly, in accordance with our established principles, procedures, and precedents.

I also pledge to expedite the business of the House, which is after all the business of the Nation. We convene the 102d Congress in trying times, confronted by difficult—perhaps critical—choices in both domestic and foreign affairs.

In addressing these important questions of economic strength and international stability, I intend to work in every way that I can with all of you; with the President; and with the leadership of the other body. I will pursue cooperation, not conflict; reconciliation not recrimination.

There will be of course, differences. As BOB MICHEL has said so well, this is the place where we must debate those differences, where we must display them and resolve them. But I hope to resolve them with respect, not resentment and retribution.

In all that we undertake, I hope we are guided by Jefferson's dictum that our Government is founded not on the fears and follies of man, but in his reason.

We are fond of calling this the people's body. We reflect in our diversity the great values and variety of our Nation. And it is here that the American people retain their most direct share in their Government.

I believe there is no higher calling than public service and no greater career than to serve in the House of Representatives. No other office offers so many challenges and opportunities. No other profession attracts so many people of talent, skill, and dedication. No other calling offers as many opportunities to improve the circumstances and promote the dignity of our fellow citizens.

In just a few moments I will administer the oath of office to the Members of the 102d Congress. Forty-three Members will take their oath for the first time.

For those of us who have taken it before, it is always a great thrill, a great sense of accomplishment to take the oath of office. But I think we have a sense of how important it is for you, the new Members, as you, perhaps more than the rest of us, are surrounded by your family and your friends as you begin your careers here in the House of Representatives.

I know that we will all undertake this oath with a sense of pride, with the resolve to improve our Nation and protect its institutions, and to fulfill our obligations as Members of the Congress in a way that brings credit to us individually, to our constituencies and to this House; so that, in Daniel Webster's words ascribed above this desk, "We also in our own day and generation may perform something worthy to be remembered."

I am now ready to take the oath of office. I ask the dean of the House of Representatives, the Honorable JAMIE L. WHITTEN, of Mississippi, to administer the oath of office.

Mr. WHITTEN then administered the oath of office to Mr. FOLEY, as follows:

Do you solemnly swear that you will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that you will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that you take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that you will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which you are about to enter. So help you God.

(Applause, the Members rising.)

SWEARING IN OF MEMBERS

The SPEAKER. According to the precedent, the Chair will swear in all Members of the House at this time.

If the Members will rise, the Chair will now administer the oath of office.

The Members-elect and Delegates-elect and Resident Commissioner-elect rose, and the Speaker administered the oath of office to them, as follows:

Do you solemnly swear that you will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that you will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that you take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that you will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which you are about to enter. So help you God.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman and gentlewomen are now Members of the 102d Congress. Congratulations.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER].

MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Democratic Caucus, I have been directed to report to the House that the Democratic Members have elected as majority leader of the House the gentleman from Missouri, the Honorable RICHARD A. GEPHARDT.

The SPEAKER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. LEWIS].

MINORITY LEADER

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Republican Conference, I am directed by that conference to officially notify the House that the gentleman from Illinois, the Honorable ROBERT H. MICHEL, has been selected as minority leader of the House.

MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Democratic Caucus, I have been directed to report to the House that the Democratic Members have selected the gentleman from Pennsylvania, the Honorable WILLIAM H. GRAY III, to act as majority whip.

MINORITY WHIP

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Republican Conference, I am directed by that conference to notify the House officially that the Republican Members have elected as our minority whip the gentleman from Georgia, the Honorable NEWT GINGRICH.

ELECTION OF CLERK OF THE HOUSE, SERGEANT AT ARMS, DOORKEEPER, POSTMASTER, AND CHAPLAIN

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 1) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 1

Resolved, That Donnald K. Anderson, of the State of California, be, and he is hereby, chosen Clerk of the House of Representatives;

That Jack Russ, of the State of Maryland, be, and he is hereby, chosen Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives;

That James T. Molloy, of the State of New York, be, and he is hereby, chosen Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives;

That Robert V. Rota, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, be, and he is hereby, chosen Postmaster of the House of Representatives;

That Reverend James David Ford, of the Commonwealth of Virginia, be, and he is hereby, chosen Chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I have an amendment to the resolution, but before offering the amendment, I request that there be a division of the question on the resolution so that we may have a separate vote on the Chaplain.

The SPEAKER, The question will be divided.

The question is on agreeing to that portion of the resolution providing for the election of the Chaplain of the House of Representatives, the Reverend James Ford.

That portion of the resolution was agreed to.

AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE OFFERED BY MR. LEWIS OF CALIFORNIA

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the remainder of the resolution offered by the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER].

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by Mr. LEWIS of California for the remainder of House Resolution 1: Strike out all after the resolving clause, and insert:

That William R. Pitts, Jr., of the Commonwealth of Virginia, be, and he is hereby, chosen Clerk of the House of Representatives;

The Walter P. Kennedy, of the State of New Jersey, be, and he is hereby, chosen Sergeant at Arms of the House of Representatives;

That Ronald W. Lasch, of the Commonwealth of Virginia, be, and he is hereby, chosen Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives;

That Jay Pierson, of the State of Maryland, be, and he is hereby, chosen Postmaster of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. LEWIS].

The amendment in the nature of a substitute for the remainder of the resolution was rejected.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the remainder of the resolution offered by the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER].

The remainder of the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair will now swear in the officer of the House.

The officers-elect presented themselves at the bar of the House and took the oath of office.

The SPEAKER. Congratulations. You are now elected officers of the House of Representatives of the 102d Congress.

NOTIFICATION TO SENATE OF ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 2) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 2

Resolved, That the Senate be informed that a quorum of the House of Representatives has assembled; that Thomas S. Foley, a Representative from the State of Washington, has been elected Speaker; and Donnald K. Anderson, a citizen of the State of California, has been elected Clerk of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF THE ASSEMBLY OF THE CONGRESS

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 3) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 3

Resolved, That a committee of two Members be appointed by the Speaker on the part of the House of Representatives to join with a committee on the part of the Senate to notify the President of the United States that a quorum of each House has assembled and Congress is ready to receive any communication that he may be pleased to make.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as members of the committee on the part of the House to join a committee on the part of the Senate to notify the President of the United States that a quorum of each House has been assembled, and that Congress is ready to receive any communication that he may be pleased to make, the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. GEPHARDT] and the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MICHEL].

AUTHORIZING THE CLERK TO INFORM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF THE ELECTION OF THE SPEAKER AND THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. WHITTEN. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 4) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 4

Resolved, That the Clerk be instructed to inform the President of the United States that the House of Representatives has elected Thomas S. Foley, a Representative from the State of Washington, Speaker; and Donnald K. Anderson, a citizen of the State of California, Clerk of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Mr. Hallen, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed resolutions of the following titles, in which the concurrence of the House is requested:

S. RES. 1

Resolved, That a committee consisting of two Senators be appointed to join such committee as may be appointed by the House of Representatives to wait upon the President of the United States and inform him that a quorum of each House is assembled and that the Congress is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

S. RES. 2

Resolved, That the Secretary inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate is assembled and that the Senate is ready to proceed to business.

S. RES. 6

Resolved, That the House of Representatives be notified of the election of the Honorable Martha S. Pope, of Connecticut, as Sergeant at Arms and Doorkeeper of the Senate.

RULES OF THE HOUSE

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 5) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 5

Resolved, That the Rules of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred First Congress, including all applicable provisions of law and concurrent resolutions adopted pursuant thereto which constituted the Rules of the House at the end of the One Hundred First Congress, be, and they are hereby, adopted as the Rules of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress, with the following amendments included therein as part thereof, to wit:

(1) In rule I, amend clause 9(a) by adding at the end the following: "Any such telecommunications function shall be subject to rules and regulations issued by the Speaker.".

(2) In rule X, amend clause 1(e)(1) by striking "One Hundred First Congress" in both instances and inserting "One Hundred Second Congress".

(3) In rule X, amend clause 1(q) by repealing paragraph (2) and redesignating paragraphs (3) and (4) as paragraphs (2) and (3), respectively.

(4) In rule X, amend clause 1(t) by striking "title I of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978" and inserting "titles I and V of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 and sections 7342, 7351, and 7353 of title 5, United States Code".

(5) In rule XI, amend clause 2(a) by striking "the Congress convenes" and inserting "the committee is elected".

(6) In rule XI, amend clause 2(d) to read as follows:

"Vice chairman or ranking majority Member to preside in absence of chairman

"(d) The member of the majority party on any standing committee or subcommittee thereof ranking immediately after the chairman shall be vice chairman of the committee or subcommittee, as the case may be, and shall preside at any meeting during the temporary absence of the chairman. If the chairman and vice chairman of the committee or subcommittee are not present at any meeting of the committee or subcommittee, the ranking member of the majority party who is present shall preside at that meeting.".

(7) In rule XI, amend clause 2(e)(6) by—

(A) striking the second parenthetical; and

(B) striking out the period at the end of the first sentence and everything in the second sentence preceding the colon and inserting the following: ", or as provided by section 305(a)(1) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 in the case of a concurrent resolution on the budget".

(8) In rule XII, amend the title to read as follows:

"Resident Commissioner and Delegates"

(9) In rule XVI, amend clause 4 by striking the last two sentences and inserting the following: "It shall be in order at any time during a day for the Speaker, in his discretion, to entertain motions that (1) the Speaker be authorized to declare a recess; and (2) when the House adjourns it stand adjourned to a day and time certain. Either motion shall be of equal privilege with the motion to adjourn provided for in this clause and shall be determined without debate.".

(10) In rule XXI, add at the end the following new clause:

"8. It shall not be in order to consider a bill, joint resolution, or conference report providing, increasing, or decreasing receipts or direct spending (as defined in section 250(c) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985), unless the conference report or bill or joint resolution as reported contains the following statement of law: "The applicable cost estimate of this Act for all purposes of sections 252 and 253 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 shall be as follows: .". The blank shall be filled with a cost estimate provided by the Congressional Budget Office (prepared in consultation with the Joint Committee on Taxation where appropriate pursuant to section 201(g) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974). The cost estimate shall be in writing and shall be signed, and shall contain an estimate of the amount of the change in outlays or receipts, as the case may be, in each fiscal year through fiscal year 1995, resulting from the conference report or bill or joint resolution as reported.".

(11) In rule XXIII, amend clause 2 by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(c) In the Committee of the Whole, the Chairman may, in his discretion, reduce to not less than five minutes the period of time within which a rollcall vote by electronic device may be taken without any intervening business or debate on any or all pending amendments after the vote has been taken on the first pending amendment.".

(12) In rule XXIV, amend the third proviso of the fifth sentence of clause 7 by—

(A) striking out "during any one session of Congress" and inserting "during any one session of a Congress"; and

(B) striking out "at the next session of Congress" and inserting "at the next session of that Congress".

(13) In rule XXVII, amend the following by—

(A) deleting clause 2;

(B) striking "or has been seconded pursuant to clause 2 of this rule" in clause 3;

(C) striking the third sentence in the third undesignated paragraph of clause 4 and inserting: "If the motion prevails to discharge the Committee on Rules from any resolution pending before the committee, the House shall immediately consider such resolution, the Speaker not entertaining any dilatory motion except one motion to adjourn, and, if such resolution is adopted, the House shall immediately proceed to its execution."; and

(D) renumbering clause 3 as clause 2 and clause 4 as clause 3.

(14) In rule XLV, amend the following by—

(A) striking "On or after January 3, 1978, no" in clause 1 and inserting "No";

(B) redesignating clause 3 as clause 4; and

(C) inserting after clause 2 the following new clause:

"3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this rule, if an amount from the Official Expenses Allowance of a Member is paid into the House Recording Studio revolving fund for telecommunications satellite services, the Member may accept reimbursement from non-political entities in that amount for transmission to the Clerk of the House of Representatives for credit to the Official Expenses Allowance.".

(15) In rule XLVI, amend the following by—

(A) deleting clause 2 and by redesignating clauses 3 and 4 as clauses 2 and 3, respectively;

(B) amending clause 2 (as redesignated) to read as follows:

"2. A Member shall, before making any mass mailing, submit a sample or description of the mail matter involved to the House Commission on Congressional Mailing Standards for an advisory opinion as to whether such proposed mailing is in compliance with applicable provisions of law, rule, or regulation.";

(C) adding a new clause 4 to read as follows:

"4. A Member may not send any mass mailing outside the congressional district of the Member, except that—

"(a) a Member may send mass mailings to any area in a county, if any part of the county adjoins or is inside the congressional district of the Member; and

"(b) in the case of redistricting, on and after the date referred to in section 3210(d)(1)(B) of title 39, United States Code, a Member may send mass mailings to the additional area described in that section.";

(D) striking "mailed" in clause 6 and inserting "postmarked" and inserting after the period the following: "If mail matter is of a type which is not customarily postmarked, the date on which such matter would have been postmarked if it were of a type customarily postmarked shall apply."; and

(E) amending clause 7 to read as follows:

"7. For purposes of this rule—

"(a) the term 'mass mailing' means, with respect to a session in Congress, any mailing of newsletter or other pieces of mail with substantially identical content (whether such mail is deposited singly or in bulk, or at the same time or different times), totaling more than 500 pieces in that session, except that such term does not include any mailing—

"(1) of matter in direct response to a communication from a person to whom the matter is mailed;

"(2) from a Member to other Members of Congress, or to Federal, State, or local government officials; or

"(3) of a news release to the communications media."

"(b) The term 'Member' means any Member of the House of Representatives, a Delegate to the House of Representative, or the Resident Commissioner in the House of Representatives.

"(c) The term 'Members of Congress' means Senators and Representatives in, and Delegates and Resident Commissioners to, the Congress.".

(16) In rule XLVII, amend clause 2 as follows:

(A) by striking "affilate with or be employed" in paragraph (1) and inserting "receive compensation for affiliating with or being employed";

(B) by striking "to provide professional services which involves" in paragraph (1) and inserting "which provides professional services involving";

(C) by striking "for compensation" in paragraph (1);

(D) by striking "practice" in paragraph (3) and inserting "receive compensation for practicing"; and

(E) by striking "for compensation" in paragraph (3).

(17) In rule XLVII, amended clause 3(e) as follows:

(A) by inserting after "Member," the first place it appears the following: "officer or employee,";

(B) by amending paragraph (1) to read as follows: "(1) the salary of such individual as a Member, officer or employee;"

(C) by striking "Member" the first place it appears in paragraph (2) and inserting "individual" and by inserting after "Member," the second place it appears the following: "officer or employee,";

(D) by striking "Member" the first place it appears in paragraph (3) and inserting the following: "Member, officer or employee", and by striking "Member" the second place it appears and inserting "such individual"; and

(E) by striking "Member" the first place it appears in paragraph (4) and inserting the following: "Member" in the three subsequent places it appears and inserting "individual".

(18) In rule XLVIII, amended the following by—

(A) striking ", exclusive of service by any Member during the Ninety-fifth Congress" in clause 1(c);

(B) striking "the Ninety-seventh Congress and each Congress thereafter" in clause 1(c) and inserting "each Congress"; and

(C) striking "beginning after September 30, 1978" in clause 9.

(21) Add a new rule LI to read as follows:

"RULE LI.

"EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES.

"1. The provisions of the Fair Employment Practice Resolution, House Resolution 558 of the 100th Congress, are applicable to Members, officers, employees and employment positions of the House.

"2. The Committee on House Administration shall have authority to issue rules and regulations applying the rights and protections of the Fair Labor Standards Act in the House, including, but not limited to, determination of exemption categories, premitting the use of compensatory time as compensation under the maximum work week provisions of the Act, describing the record keeping requirements and providing that such record keeping provisions do not apply with respect to employees exempted pursuant to the Committee's Rules and Regulations.".

Mr. GEPHARDT (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Missouri [Mr. GEPHARDT] is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 minutes to the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON], for the purposes of debate only, pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GEPHARDT. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. SOLOMON. I ask the majority leader, and I cleared this with the minority leader, due to the vast number of speakers on this side of the aisle, and due to the importance of these rule changes, I ask unanimous consent that the debate time be extended from 1 hour to 1½ hours. We would like more than the limit of the unanimous-consent request, and we would appreciate the indulgence of the majority leader in granting that unanimous-consent request.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I object to the unanimous-consent request.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's objection is heard.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield 11 minutes to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST].

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 5 contains changes to the rules of the House of Representatives recommended for inclusion in the rules of the House for the 102d Congress. For the most part, the package contains amendments to the rules of the 101st Congress which are technical, clarifying, and confronting in nature or which eliminate obsolete provisions. Two of the recommended amendments, however, substantially affect the operations of the House. Those amendments will be explained in some detail in my statement and at this time I would like to take a few minutes to briefly summarize the recommended changes to the rules of the House.

Mr. Speaker, currently, clause 9(a) of rule I grants the Speaker the authority to direct and control closed circuit telecommunications systems within the House. The first amendment simply clarifies that the Speaker is empowered to issue rules and regulations affecting any telecommunications within the House.

The second amendment provides a waiver of the service limitation restrictions for service on the Committee on the Budget for those minority Members elected to the committee as the ranking minority member. This waiver was included in rule X in the 101st Congress and was, when first adopted, only applicable to the 101st Congress. This amendment extends the waiver through the 102d Congress.

The third amendment deletes an obsolete grant of authority to the Committee on Rules found in clause 1(q) of rule X. Prior to the adoption of the 1985 Gramm-Rudman-Hollings amendments to the Congressional Budget Act, authorizing legislation was required to be reported by May 15 of the year preceding the start of the fiscal year in which such authorizing legislation becomes effective. Rule X granted the Committee on Rules the authority to waive that provision of the Budget Act in those cases in which committees did not meet the May 15 deadline. However, the 1985 amendments deleted this provision and this amendment strikes this obsolete grant of authority.

The Ethics in Government Act, enacted during the 101st Congress, granted additional authority to the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct in order that it might carry out its responsibility to issue regulations and implement certain Government ethics laws as they apply to Members, officers, and employees of the House of Representatives. The fourth amendment merely expands the jurisdictional grant of authority in the rules of the House to reflect the committee's additional responsibilities under the act.

Mr. Speaker, the fifth amendment alters clause 2(a) of rule XI to give the standing committees of the House adequate time to organize the beginning of a Congress. The current rule requires committees of the House print their rules in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD within 30 days after the Congress convenes. The amendment provides that the rules shall be printed within 30 days after the committee has been elected by the House.

The sixth amendment is a straightforward amendment which specifically provides that the ranking majority Member of each committee and subcommittee shall be designated as the vice-chairman of that committee or subcommittee.

The seventh amendment amends clause 2(l)(6) of rule XI in two respects. In the first instance, the amendment deletes duplicative and conflicting provisions contained in that clause to clarify that legislation is not eligible for consideration until after it has been available for 3 days. In the second instance, the amendment provides that the layover requirements for a budget resolution shall conform with the requirements of section 305(a)(1) of the Budget Act.

The eighth amendment is a technical change to the title of rule XII to reflect the current membership in the House of the Resident Commissioner of Puerto Rico and all Delegates.

The ninth amendment would allow the Speaker, in his discretion to recognize Members for a privileged motion which, if agreed to, would authorize the Speaker to declare a recess, either to a time certain or subject to the call of the Chair. Under the current rules, in order for the House to recess, it is necessary to obtain unanimous consent or the House must agree to a rule reported from the Committee on Rules providing for such a recess.

The 10th amendment is a matter of some substance. Mr. Speaker, this amendment would enhance informed and deliberate fiscal decisions by the Congress by incorporating a statutory statement of cost, provided by the Congressional Budget Office, into spending our revenue bills. Under the budget reform measures enacted at the end of the 101st Congress as part of the reconciliation package, it is imperative that Congress know the cost of legislation because, under the new pay-as-you-go procedure, a sequestration on all nonexempt entitlement programs is required to offset deficit increases caused by new entitlement and revenue legislation.

This amendment to rule XXI would require reported bills and conference reports to contain a statement of law codifying the CBO cost estimate for such bills and conference reports, through fiscal year 1995, for the purposes of pay-as-you-go sequestration. This statement of law will also ensure that the same CBO estimate is used for calculating the cost of legislation for purposes of any end-of-the-session sequestration applying to direct spending. A point of order would lie against a bill or conference report in violation of this requirement.

It is the opinion of the Democratic caucus that CBO cost estimates most accurately reflect the will of Congress and ensures that the scoring of these measures will be performed by an agency without any policy interests in the legislation which it is evaluating. The rule also ensures that Members will know when they vote on entitlement and revenue legislation whether enactment of such legislation may result in a sequester of all nonexempt direct spending programs, including Medicare.

In order to facilitate the business of the House, the 11th amendment would permit the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole to cluster votes in those instances in which a series of votes may take place in the Committee. In other words, the Chair would be permitted, in his discretion, to reduce the time on all votes subsequent to a 15-minute vote to 5 minutes so long as no other business intervenes between votes.

The 12th amendment is a technical amendment which clarifies that the alphabetical call of the committees under Calendar Wednesday shall begin anew with each session of a Congress as well as at the beginning of a Congress.

The 13th amendment amends rule XXVII in two respects. In the first instance, the amendments strikes the provisions in current House rules which requires a vote on ordering seconds on motions to suspend the rules. In the second instance, the amendment amends the discharge rule to clarify that resolutions discharged from the Committee on Rules are to be considered in the House in a manner similar to the consideration of bills discharged from other committees of the House.

Mr. Speaker, at the present time, all expenses associated with the use of the House Recording Studio and the electronic transmission of recording sessions are charged against the official expenses allowance of a Member. However, in some instances, the transmission costs are more properly attributed to the nonpolitical organization receiving the transmission. The 14th amendment would allow a Member, in those instances, to receive reimbursement and to restore his expense allowance in the exact amount of the transmission cost charged against the official expense allowance. Absent this amendment to rule XLV, it is possible that the receipt by a Member for reimbursement for expenses associated with an official communication is susceptible to characterization of the gift rule.

The 15th amendment conforms the limitations on the use of the frank in the current House rules with the additional restrictions on franking and mass mailings included in the legislative branch appropriations for fiscal years 1990 and 1991. The amendment strikes the annual limitation in the House Rule on postal patron mailings, requires that any mass mailing be submitted for prior approval to the Franking Commission, provides restrictions on mass mailings outside a Member's congressional district, requires that mass mailings must be postmarked no later than 60 days prior to an election, and adds the new statutory definition of mass mailing to the rule.

The 16th and 17th amendments in House Resolution 5 are technical and clarifying amendments which bring the Rules of the House into conformity with the Ethics Reform Act of 1989, as amended. Amendment No. 16 makes several grammatical changes to clarify that the ban on affiliation with a firm applies only if compensation is received and only to affiliation or employment with a professional services firm. Amendment No. 17 conforms the definition of the applicability of outside earned income in the Rules of the House to include appropriate references to officers and employees of the House.

Amendment No. 18 strikes several obsolete transition provisions in the House Rules relating to unofficial office accounts and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence.

The final amendment contained in House Resolution 5, Mr. Speaker, relates to a matter of great importance to the operation of the House of Representatives. Amendment No. 19 creates a new House rule LI which codifies the provisions of the Fair Employment Practices resolution first passed by the House in the 100th Congress and also authorizes the Committee on House Administration to issue rules and regulations to clarify and reconcile the application of the rights and protections of the Fair Labor Standards Act with other House policies and disbursing practices.

Paragraph 1 of the amendment, which makes permanent the Fair Employment Practices resolution, prohibits discrimination in employment actions and provides that the Office of Fair Employment Practices can adjudicate any complaints brought under the rule.

Paragraph 2 of the new rule grants the Committee on House Administration the authority to issue rules and regulations relating to the application of the minimum wage law in the House of Representatives. The rule specifically provides the committee with the authority to issue rules and regulations which would classify House employees as exempt and nonexempt for purposes of the Fair Labor Standards Act; to provide a means for compensatory time off in lieu of cash payments for work in excess of 40 hours a week for nonexempt employees; and to issue rules which will eliminate unnecessary recordkeeping for exempt employees.

Mr. Speaker, that concludes my explanation of the recommended amendments to the Rules of the House for the 102d Congress embodied in House Resolution 5.

Mr. SOLOMON. I thank the gentleman for yielding the time.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I might consume.

Mr. Speaker, the distinguished historian George Galloway, in his "History of the U.S. House of Representatives," tells us, and I quote:

> The customary practice in post bellum days, when a new House met, was to proceed under general parliamentary law, often for several days, with unlimited debate, until a satisfactory revision of former rules had been effected.

Mr. Speaker, in recent times, this practice of open debate and amendment of the proposed set of House rules has been abandoned in favor of this abbreviated, 1-hour of debate with virtually no opportunity for amendment from either side of the aisle.

That tells us a lot, Mr. Speaker, of what has been happening to this House. The important rules of procedure which will guide our committees and subcommittees and this House in their crucial legislative deliberations over the next 2 years have been really relegated to a pro forma exercise.

But today, there is no longer an opportunity for Members to fully participate in offering amendments to reform this House as it should be reformed. If ever there has been a time when we should undergo a thorough debate and revision of our rules, this is it, now, today.

Victorious candidates usually come away from elections claiming a mandate. Well, if there is one mandate the American people handed us last November 6, it was this: "Clean up your act, Congress, clean up your act. House of Representatives: no more business as usual."

Some of my friends on the other side of the aisle like to crow that the President's approval rating has slipped to 52 percent, even though that is greater that at any time since John F. Kennedy was President. But do not crow too loudly, my colleagues. The approval rating of this Congress has fallen to a measley 23 percent, according to an ABC News election day survey. Remember that? Let me repeat: Only 23 percent of the American people approve of the way this Congress conducts its business. Is that anything to be proud of? I should hope not.

And yet, Mr. Speaker, just look at what the Democrat caucus serves up on opening day in the way of House rules changes. Take a hard look at your Democrat caucus resolution of House rule changes. Instead of toughening up the budget enforcement, they are already going back on last year's budget summit agreements.

Pay-as-you-go enforcement provisions, remember that? Remember all the talk about that on that side of the aisle? By substituting the Congressional Budget Office cost estimates in bills for session-end Office of Management and budget scorekeeping, you are opening the way for all kinds of games and abuses. The American people do not want that. Instead of the highly touted system of pay-as-you-go, you have turned this whole budget process back to play-as-you-go, or something else, the same old system that got us into the irresponsible fiscal mess we are in today. And to the American people, that is called pay-through-the-nose, and they are sick of it, gentlemen. The truth is, the Democrat caucus broke faith with the American people before the ink was even dry on the so-called deficit reduction budget agreement. You ought to listen to this upstairs in the Press Gallery: A plan that cemented into law a $165 billion tax increase on the American people conveniently left the door open for the Democrat caucus to weasel out of any meaningful spending cuts.

Mr. Speaker, I am embarrassed. I am embarrassed for your Democratic Party. I am embarrassed for the American people.

What other goodies have you Democrats slipped into this package? Well, for one you want to give the House Administration Committee authority to completely exempt the House, listen to this, from the Fair Labor Standards Act. How is that for fairness to American workers?

And speaking of fairness and openness, your Democratic rules would also make it possible for Members to reimburse their official accounts from undisclosed sources for TV satellite transmission. And you have changed the discharge rule so that you can completely alter the procedures for considering discharged bills and thereby thwart the original intent of the signers of the discharge petition.

Score another one for Democrat fairness.

Mr. Speaker, what we Republicans are proposing as an alternative to your House deform package is a 36-point program for genuine and thorough House reform. We call our package a Republican reform manifesto for a new House revolution.

First of all, and listen to this, tell me if you disagree with any of this: We would mandate reporting of a campaign reform bill, forcing a vote on this issue that the House has ignored for too many years. We would strengthen our committee system by requiring the realignment of committee jurisdictions along more functional and rational lines, reducing the number of subcommittees—we have way too many—abolishing proxy voting and one-third quorums, which lead to all kinds of abuses. We would require committees to adopt and implement oversight agendas and we would abolish the joint bill referrals that are tying this House in knots.

We would also bring about real budget reform, including, and listen to this, rescission authority for the President of the United States over unauthorized appropriations, making it harder to waive the Budget Act, something you did, you Democrats, 56 percent of the time last year on bills brought before this House. You waived the Budget Act and you waived Gramm-Rudman.

In addition, we would place strict limits on the use of omnibus continuing resolutions. We prohibit extraneous matters in reconciliation bills, something else that gets us in trouble all the time, and we mandate a study and recommendations on a biennial budget appropriations process.

Is this not what you want as well as us?

Finally, Mr. Speaker, our reform package gets at some of the gross procedural abuses which have been inflicted on members of both parties in recent years.

Today's gag rule is but a taste of what we are in for in the coming year. In the last Congress, 55 percent of all bills brought under rules were considered under a restrictive amendment process, 55 percent; compared to 14 years ago when it was only 15 percent. The press ought to take notice of that. Mr. Speaker, that is an insult to Members on both sides of this aisle. But more tragically, by prohibiting Members on both sides of the aisle from offering amendments you are disenfranchising the millions of Americans that we represent.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, the American people want and they expect better of us. Your package of rules gives them worse; our package would give them a House that works, for each of you and each of the American people that we represent.

Mr. Speaker and my colleagues, as I mentioned at the outset, it is outrageously arrogant to bring a resolution containing sweeping rules changes to this floor and be limited to only 1 hour of debate, particularly when the new rules completely unravel the Deficit Reduction Act that took months and months and months to accomplish.

But the time has come for you to be counted. Will this House vote yes to change the rules, thereby reaffirming the $165 billion tax increase on the American people last year? But at the same time, today, you are removing the one major enforcement procedure that controls spending in the Deficit Reduction Act. Or will you vote "no" with us to higher taxes? "No" to more taxes that are not tied to spending reductions and controls? That is what we are voting on here today. To all of you Democrats who were gagged and disenfranchised by closed rules, to all of you Democrats who were forced time and again to waive the Budget Act, thereby causing this disastrous fiscal mess we are in today, I say to you, gagged and disenfranchised Democrats, now is your chance to stand up and be counted, to show what you are made of, to have the guts to say on the floor of this House what your constituents are saying back home, "Enough is enough is enough. The American people want those deficits stopped. We want them stopped today, now."

Members of this House, with just a little spunk, with just a little backbone, we can do what is right for America by voting down the previous question. I urge a "no" vote and reserve the balance of my time.

H. RES. 5

(Providing for the Adoption of the Rules of the House)

An amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by Mr. MICHEL of Illinois.

Strike all after the resolving clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"That the Rules of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred First Congress, including all applicable provisions of law and concurrent resolutions adopted pursuant thereto which constituted the rules of the House at the end of the One Hundred First Congress, be, and they are hereby, adopted as the Rules of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress, with the following amendments included as part thereof:

"CAMPAIGN REFORM"

"(1)(a) The Committee on House Administration is directed to report to the House no later than June 30, 1991, legislation to reform Federal election law and campaign practices.

"(b) Not later than July 31, 1991, all other committees to which such bill may have been referred shall report such bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. Any committee which has not reported as directed by such date shall be deemed to be discharged from the further consideration of such bill.

"(c) Not later than ten legislative days after the July 31, 1991, reporting deadline, the Committee on Rules shall report a resolution providing for the consideration of such campaign reform bill under an open amendment process. If such a resolution is not reported by such date, it shall be in order on any day thereafter for any Member to move that the House resolve into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill, said bill shall be debatable for not to exceed four hours to be equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on House Administration, and shall then be considered for amendment under the five-mninute rule.".

"REALIGNMENT OF COMMITTEE JURISDICTIONS

"(2) The Committee on Rules is directed to conduct a thorough and complete study with respect to the operation of House Rule X, 'Establishment and Jurisdiction of Standing Committees,' with a view to realigning the jurisdictions of House committees along more functional and rational lines in order to eliminate the duplication, overlap, and inefficiencies associated with the present committee system. The Committee shall report its findings and recommendations for change to the House no later than December 31, 1991.".

"VETO MESSAGES

"(3) In rule I, clause 5 is amended by adding the following new paragraph:

"(c) He shall, immediately after the reading of a veto message from the President, and without intervening motion or business, state the question on reconsideration of the vetoed measure, and no motion shall have precedence over a demand for the previous question on such question except one motion to postpone the vote on reconsideration to a date certain which shall not be later than the tenth legislative day thereafter.".

"BROADCAST COVERAGE

"(4) In rule I, clause 9(b)(1) is amended by inserting after the first sentence the following new sentence: 'He shall provide for the visual coverage of the proceedings of the House on a uniform basis throughout each day's session, and any such coverage may include periodic views of the entire Chamber provided that it is uniform throughout the day and does not detract from the visual coverage of any person who is speaking.'".

"HOUSE SCHEDULING REFORM

"(5) In rule I, add the following new clause:

"11. (a) At the beginning of each session of the Congress the Speaker shall, after consultation with the minority leader and the chairmen of the committees of the House, announce a legislative program for the session which shall include: (1) target dates for the consideration of specified major budgetary, authorization and appropriations bills; (2) an indication of those weeks during which the House will be in session (which, unless otherwise indicated, shall be assumed to be full, five-day work weeks for the conduct of committee and House floor business); (3) those weeks set aside for district work periods (which shall be scheduled at periodic intervals), holidays, and other recesses; and (4) the target date for the adjournment of that session.

"(b) The Speaker shall ensure that the minority leader is fully consulted in developing the legislative program for the House each week.".

"OVERSIGHT REFORM

"(6)(a) In rule X, clause 2 is amended by adding the following new paragraphs:

"(b)(1) Not later than March 1 in the first session of a Congress each standing committee of the House shall, in a meeting which is open to the public and with a quorum present, adopt and submit to the Committee on House Administration its oversight plans for that Congress. In developing such plans each committee shall, to the maximum extent feasible—

"(A) consult with other committees of the House which have jurisdiction over the same or related laws, programs, or agencies within its jurisdiction with the objective of assuring that such laws, programs, or agencies are reviewed in the same Congress and that there is maximum coordination between such committees in the conduct of such reviews; and such plans shall include an explanation of what steps have been and will be taken to assure such coordination and cooperation;

"(B) give priority consideration to including in its plans the review of those laws, programs, or agencies operating under permanent budget authority or permanent statutory authority; and

"(C) have a view toward insuring that all significant laws, programs, or agencies within its jurisdiction are subject to review at least once every ten years.

"(2) It shall not be in order to consider any committee expense resolution, or any amendment thereto, pursuant to clause 5 of Rule XI for any committee which has not submitted its oversight plans as required by this paragraph.

"(3) Not later than March 15 in the first session of a Congress, after consultation with the Speaker, the majority leader, and the minority leader, the Committee on House Administration shall report to the House the oversight plans submitted by each committee together with any recommendations which it, or the House leadership group referred to above, may make to assure the most effective coordination of such plans and otherwise achieve the objectives of this clause.

"(e) The Speaker, with the approval of the House, may appoint special ad hoc oversight committees for the purpose of reviewing specific matters within the jurisdiction of two or more standing committees.".

"(b) In rule XI, clause 1(d) is amended to read as follows:

"(d)(1) Each committee shall submit to the House not later than January 2 of each odd-numbered year, a report on the activities of that committee under this rule and Rule X during the Congress ending on January 3 of such year.

"(2) Such report shall include separate sections summarizing the legislative and oversight activities of that committee during that Congress.

"(3) The oversight section of such report shall include a summary of the oversight plans submitted by the committee pursuant to clause 2(c) of Rule X, a summary of the actions taken and recommendations made with respect to each such plan, and a summary of any additional oversight activities undertaken by that committee, and any recommendations made or actions taken thereon.".

"MULTIPLE REFERRAL OF LEGISLATION

"(7) In rule X, clause 5(c) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) In carrying out paragraphs (a) and (b) with respect to any matter, the Speaker shall initially refer the matter to one committee which he shall designate as the committee of principal jurisdiction; but, he may also refer the matter to one or more additional committees, for consideration in sequence (subject to appropriate time limitations), either on its initial referral or after the matter has been reported by the committee of principal jurisdiction; or refer portions of the matter to one or more additional committees (reflecting different subjects and jurisdictions) for the exclusive consideration of such portion or portions; or refer the matter to a special ad hoc committee appointed by the Speaker, with the approval of the House, from the members of the committees having legislative jurisdiction, for the specific purpose of considering that matter and reporting to the House thereon; or make such other privisions as may be considered appropriate.".

"COMMITTEE ELECTIONS AND ORGANIZATION

"(8) In rule X, clause 6(a)(1), the first sentence is amended to read as follows: "The standing committees specified in clause 1 shall be elected by the House within seven legislative days after the commencement of each Congress, from nominations submitted by the respective party caucuses, and said committees shall hold their organizational meetings not later than three legislative days after their election.".

"COMMITTEE RATIOS

"(9)(a) In rule X, clause 6(a) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subparagraph:

"(3) The membership of each committee (and each subcommittee, task force, or other subunit thereof), shall reflect the ratio of majority to minority party Members of the House at the beginning of the Congress. This ~~subparagraph shall not apply to the Committee~~ on Standards of Official Conduct which shall be constituted as provided for in subparagraph (2). For the purposes of this clause, the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico and the Delegates to the House shall not be counted in determining the party ratio of the House.".

"(b) In rule X, clause 6(f) is amended by inserting after the first sentence the following: "The membership of each such select committee (and of any subcommittee, task force or subunit thereof), and of each such conference committee, shall reflect the ratio of the majority to minority party Members of the House at the time of its appointment.".

"SUBCOMMITTEE LIMITS

"(10) In rule X, clause 6(d) is amended to read as follows:

"(d)(1) Each standing committee of the House (except the Committee on the Budget) that has more than twenty members, shall establish at least four subcommittees; but, in no event shall any standing committee (except the Committee on Appropriations) establish more than six subcommittees.

"(2) No Member may serve at any one time as a member of more than four subcommittees of committees of the House.

"(3) For the purposes of this paragraph, the term 'subcommittee' includes any panel, task force, special subcommittee, or any subunit of a standing committee, or any select committee, which is established for a period of longer than six months in any Congress.".

"PROXY VOTING BAN

"(11) In rule XI, clause 2(f) is amended to read as follows:

"(f) No vote by any member of any committee or subcommittee with respect to any measure or matter may be cast by proxy.".

"OPEN MEETINGS

"(12) In rule XI, clause 2(g)(1) is amended by striking the colon in the first sentence and all that follows in paragraph one and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "because disclosure of matters to be considered would endanger national security, would tend to defame, degrade or incriminate any person or otherwise would violate any law or rule of the House, or involves committee personnel matters.".

"MAJORITY QUORUMS

"(13) In rule XI, clause 2(h)(2) is amended to read as follow:

"(2) A majority of the members of each committee or subcommittee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business, including the markup of legislation.".

"REPORT ACCOUNTABILITY

"(14) In rule XI, clause 2(l)(2)(B) is amended to read as follows:

"(B) With respect to each rollcall vote on a motion to report any bill or resolution of a public character, the total number of votes cast for and against reporting, and the names of those members voting for and against, shall be included in the committee report on the measure.". "In Rule XI, clause 2(l)(2) is further amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"(C) With respect to each nonrecord vote on a motion to report any bill or resolution of a public character, the names of those members of the committee actually present at the time bill or resolution is ordered reported shall be included in the committee report.".

"COMMITTEE DOCUMENTS

"(15) In rule XI, clause 2(l) is amended by inserting after subparagraph (5) the following new subparagraph, and by redesignating existing subparagraphs accordingly:

"(6)(A) Any committee or subcommittee print, document, or other material, other than reports subject to the preceding provisions of this clause, prepared for public distribution, shall either be approved by the committee or subcommittee prior to such public distribution, and opportunity shall be afforded for the inclusion of supplemental, minority, or additional views in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (5), of such print, document, or other material shall contain on its cover the following disclaimer in bold face type:

'This material has not been officially approved by the committee [or subcommittee, as the case may be] on [name of committee or subcommittee] and may not therefore necessarily reflect the views of its members.'

and any such print, document, or other material not approved by the committee or subcommittee may not include the names of its members, other than the name of the committee or subcommittee chairman releasing the document, but shall be made available to all of the members of the committee not less than three calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays) prior to its being made public.

"(B) The provisions of this subparagraph do not apply to prints of bills or resolutions, summaries thereof, or prints containing the names of committee or subcommittee members, staff, or other factual information regarding the committee or its subcommittees, their jurisdictions or rules, or any matters pending before such committee or its subcommittees, provided that such documents do not also contain opinions, views, findings or recommendations.

"(C) Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to authorize any subcommittee or chairman thereof to issue any print, document or other material not otherwise authorized by the rules of the committee.".

"OFFICIAL FOREIGN TRAVEL REPORTING

"(16) In rule XI, clause 2(n)(1)(B) is amended by inserting after the first sentence the following new sentence: 'All such individual reports shall also include a summary of all official meetings, interviews, inspection tours or other functions in which the individual participated, by country and date.'".

"SAME DAY CONSIDERATION OF RULES COMMITTEE REPORTS

"(17) In rule XI, the first sentence of clause 4(b) is amended by substituting the following for the matter in parentheses: '(except that it shall not be called up for consideration on the same calendar day, nor on the subsequent calendar day of the same legislative day, that it is presented to the House, unless so determined by a vote of not less than two-thirds of the members voting, but this provision shall not apply during the last three days of the session)'".

"PERMITTING INSTRUCTIONS IN MOTIONS TO RECOMMIT

"(18) In rule XI, the second sentence in clause 4(b) is amended by substituting the following for the final clause: 'nor shall it report any rule or order which would prevent the motion to recommit from being made as provided in clause 4 of Rule XVI, including a motion with amendatory instructions (except in the case of a Senate measure for which the language of a House-passed measure has been substituted).'".

"RESTRICTIVE RULE LIMITATION

"(19) In rule XI, clause 4 is amended by adding the following new paragraph:

"(e) It shall not be in order to consider any resolution reported from the Committee on Rules providing for the consideration of any bill or resolution otherwise subject to amendment under House rules if that resolution limits the right of Members to offer germane amendments to such bill or resolution unless the chairman of the Committee on Rules has orally announced in the House, at least four legislative days prior to the scheduled consideration of such matter by the Committee on Rules, that less than an open amendment process might be recommended by the Committee for the consideration of such bill or resolution.".

"LIMITATION ON SELF-EXECUTING RULES

"(20) In rule XI, clause 4 is amended by adding the following new paragraph:

"(f) It shall not be in order to consider any order of business resolution reported from the Committee on Rules which provides that, upon the adoption of such resolution, the House shall be considered to have automatically adopted a motion, amendment, or resolution, or to have passed a bill, joint resolution, or conference report thereon, unless the consideration of such order of business resolution is agreed to by not less than two-thirds of the members voting, and the yeas and nays shall be considered as ordered when the Speaker puts the question on consideration.".

"BUDGET WAIVER LIMITATION

"(21) In rule XI, clause 4 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(g)(1) It shall not be in order to consider any resolution reported from the Committee on Rules for the consideration of any measure which waives any specified provisions of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended, unless the report accompanying such resolution includes an explanation of, and justification for, any such waiver, an estimated cost of the provisions to which the waiver applies, and a summary or text of any written comments on the waiver received by the committee from the Committee on the Budget.

"(2) It shall be in order after the previous question has been ordered on any such resolution, to offer motions proposing to strike one or more such waivers from the resolution, and each such motion shall be decided without debate and shall require for adoption the requisite number of affirmative votes as required by the Budget Act or the rules of the House. After disposition of any and all such motions, the House shall proceed to an immediate vote on adoption of the resolutions.

"(3) It shall not be in order to consider a resolution which waives all House rules except by a vote of two-thirds of those Members voting.".

"COMMITTEE STAFFING

"(22) In rule XI, clause 5 is amended by inserting the following new paragraph (a), and by redesignating existing paragraphs accordingly:

"(a)(1) It shall not be in order to consider any primary expense resolution until the Committee on House Administration has reported, and the House has adopted, a resolution establishing an overall ceiling for House committee staff personnel for that year, and any such resolution shall be privileged.

"(2) In developing any primary expense resolution, the Committee on House Administration shall specify in the resolution the number of staff positions authorized by the resolution. The committee shall verify in the report accompanying any such primary expense resolution that the number of staff positions authorized by such resolution is in conformity with the overall ceiling on such positions established by the House.

"(3) In no event shall the total number of additional staff positions authorized by all such primary expense resolutions, taken together with the number of staff positions authorized by clause 6 of this rule (providing for professional and clerical staff), exceed the ceiling established by the House for that year.

"(4) In allocating staff positions pursuant to the overall ceiling established by the House, the committee shall take into account the past and anticipated legislative and oversight activities of each committee.

"(5) In any supplemental expense resolution, and in any amendment thereto, the committee shall specify the number of additional staff positions, if any, authorized by such resolution, and shall indicate in the report accompanying any such resolution whether the additional staff positions are in conformity with or exceed the overall ceiling established by the House.

"(6) It shall not be in order to consider any supplemental expense resolution, or any amendment thereto, authorizing additional staff positions in excess of the overall ceiling established by the House except by a vote of two-thirds of the Members voting, a quorum being present.

"(7) It shall not be in order to consider any primary or supplemental expense resolution for one or more committees unless the report on such resolution includes a statement verifying that each such committee has adopted and compiled with a committee rule entitling the minority party on such committee, upon the request of a majority of such minority, to not less than one-third of the funds provided for committee staff pursuant to each primary or supplemental expense resolution.

"(8) For the purposes of the One Hundred Second Congress, the overall ceiling for committee staff in a resolution reported by the committee pursuant to subparagraph (1), or contained in any amendment thereto, shall not exceed 90 percentum of the total committee staff personnel employed at the end of the One Hundred First Congress.".

"COMMEMORATIVE CALENDAR

"(23) In rule XIII, insert the following new clause 6 and redesignate succeeding clauses accordingly:

"6. There shall also be a Commemorative Calendar to be comprised of unreported bills and resolutions respecting commemorative holidays and celebrations referred to the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service and requested by the chairman and ranking minority member of such committee, in writing, to be placed thereon. On the first and third Tuesdays of each month, after the disposal of such business on the Speaker's table as requires reference only and resolutions called on the Private Calendar, the Speaker shall direct the Clerk to call the bills and resolutions on the Commemorative Calendar. Should objection be made by two or more Members to the consideration of any bill or resolution so called, it shall be removed from such Calendar. Such bills and resolutions, if considered, shall be considered in the House.".

"AUTOMATIC ROLL CALL VOTES

"(24) In rule XV, add the following new clause:

"(7). The yeas and nays shall be considered as ordered when the Speaker puts the question upon final passage of any bill, joint resolution, or conference report thereon, making general appropriations, providing revenue, or adjusting the statutory rate of pay of Members of Congress, or on final adoption of any concurrent resolution on the budget or conference report thereon which provides an increase in the statutory debt limit.".

"APPROPRIATION REFORMS

"(25)(a) In Rule XXI, clause 2 is amended by striking the second sentence of paragraph (c) and paragraph (d) in its entirety, and by inserting the following new paragraph (d):

"(d)(1) For the purposes of House Rules, a 'general appropriation bill' shall include any bill or joint resolution making continuing appropriations in a fiscal year for a period in excess of thirty days, and any such measure shall include the full text of the language proposed to be enacted (as opposed to mere references to measures, or amendments thereto, which have been reported or passed by either House, or agreed to by a committee of conference).

"(2) The provision of clause 2(1)(3)(B) of Rule XI shall apply to any 'general appropriation bill' as defined in subparagraphs (1).

"(3) For the purpose of this clause, all points of order shall be considered as having been reserved against any general appropriation bill at the time it was reported.".

"(b) In Rule XXI, clause 2 is amended by inserting the after subparagraph (d) the following new paragraph:

"(e) It shall not be in order to consider any bill or joint resolution making continuing appropriations for a period of thirty days or less unless such measure only provides appropriations in the lesser amount and under the more restrictive authority of each pertinent appropriation measure: as passed by the House; as passed by the Senate; as agreed to by a committee of conference; or enacted for the preceding fiscal year.".

"(c) In rule XXI, clause 3 is amended by striking the period at the end thereof, inserting in lieu thereof a comma, and adding the following: "and shall contain a list of all appropriations contained in the bill for any expenditure not previously authorized by law.".

"(d) In rule XI, clause 2(1)(3)(B) is amended by striking "(other than continuing appropriations)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(other than continuing appropriations, except as provided by clause 2(d) of Rule XXI)".

"(e) In rule XI, clause 4 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(h) It shall not be in order, except by a vote of not less than three-fifths of the Members of the House duly chosen and sworn, to consider any rule or order from the Committee on Rules which waives the provisions of clause 2(e) of Rule XXI against the consideration of any short-term, continuing appropriations measures as defined therein; or which waives the provisions of clause 2 of Rule XXI against, or denies amendment to, any provision in a long-term, continuing appropriation measure as defined therein if said provision has not been previously considered and agreed to by the House.".

"RECONCILIATION LIMITATION

"(26) In rule XXI, add the following new clause:

"8.(a) No provision shall be reported in the House in any reconciliation bill pursuant to the most recent agreed to concurrent resolution on the budget, or be in order as an amendment thereto in the House or Committee of the Whole, which is not related to achieving the purposes of the directives to House committees contained in such concurrent resolution.

"(b) Nothing in this clause shall be construed to prevent the consideration of any provision in a reconciliation bill, or any amendment thereto, which achieves savings greater than those directed of a committee and which conforms to paragraph (c) of this clause, or to prevent the consideration of motions to strike made in order by the Committee on Rules to achieve the purposes of the directives.

"(c) For the purposes of this clause, a provision shall be considered related to achieving the purposes of directives contained in the most recently agreed to concurrent resolution on the budget if it is estimated by the House Committee on the Budget, in consultation with the Congressional Budget Office, to effectuate or implement a reduction in budget authority or in new spending authority described in section 401(c)(2)(C) of the Congressional Budget Act, or to raise revenues, or both, and, in the case of an amendment, if it is within (in whole or in part) the jurisdiction of any committee instructed in the concurrent resolution.

"(d) The point of order provided for by this clause shall not apply to Senate amendments or to conference reports.

"(e) For the purposes of this clause, all points of order shall be considered as having been reserved against a reconciliation bill at the time it was reported.".

"AUTHORIZATION REPORTING DEADLINE"

"(27) Rule XXI is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new clause:

"9. It shall not be in order to consider in the House any bill or joint resolution which directly or indirectly authorizes the enactment of new budget authority for a fiscal year unless that bill or joint resolution is reported in the House on or before May 15 preceding the beginning of such fiscal year.".

"PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE"

"(28) In rule XXIV, clause 1 is amended by inserting after the second order of business the following new order of business, and by redesignating succeeding orders accordingly: "third. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.".

"SUSPENSION OF THE RULES"

"(29) In rule XXVII, clause 1 is amended by inserting after "1." the designation "(a)", and by inserting after paragraph (a) the following new paragraphs:

"(b) It shall not be in order to entertain a motion to suspend the rules and pass or agree to any measure or matter unless by direction of the committee or committees of jurisdiction over the measure or matter, or unless a written request is filed with the Speaker by the chairman and ranking minority member of the committee or committees having jurisdiction over the measure or matter, asking for its consideration under suspension of the rules.

"(c) A motion to suspend the rules and pass or agree to any measure or matter shall not be in order if the measure or matter would enact or authorize the enactment of new budget authority or new spending authority in excess of $50,000,000 for any fiscal year; nor shall it be in order to entertain a motion to suspend the rules to pass any joint resolution which proposes to amend the Constitution.

"(d) It shall not be in order to entertain a motion to suspend the rules and pass or agree to any measure or matter unless written notice is placed in the Congressional Record of its scheduled consideration at least one calendar day prior to its consideration, and such notification shall include the numerical designation of the measure or matter, its short title, and the text of any amendments to be offered thereto, and the date on which the measure or matter is scheduled to be considered.".

"DISCHARGE MOTIONS"

"(30) In rule XXVII, clause 4 is amended by inserting after the fourth sentence the following new sentence: "When one-hundred Members have signed the motion, the Clerk shall cause to be printed in the Congressional Record the name of each Member who has signed or withdrawn a signature to the motion, and shall thereafter publish an updated list in the Congressional Record at the end of each succeeding week the House is in session.".

"INCLUSION OF VIEWS WITH CONFERENCE REPORTS"

"(31) In rule XXVIII, clause 1 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(e) If, on the day a report of any committee of conference has received the requisite number of signatures for approval by House conferees, any House conferee gives notice of intention to file supplemental, minority, or additional views, that member shall be entitled to not less than three calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays) in which to file such views with the principal manager on the part of the House, such views shall be in writing and signed by that member. All such views so filed by one or more members of the committee shall be published in the same volume as the report of the committee of conference and the joint explanatory statement filed in the House, and the volume shall bear on its cover a recital that any such supplemental, minority, or additional views are included as part of that volume. This paragraph shall not preclude the immediate filing or printing of a conference report if a timely request to file such views was not made as provided by this paragraph.".

"INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEE OATH"

"(32)(a) In rule XLVIII, clause 1 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"(d) At the time a Member is appointed to serve on the select committee, or within thirty days after the adoption by the House of this provision, whichever is later, the Member shall take the following oath:

'I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will not directly or indirectly disclose to any unauthorized person any classified information received in the course of my duties on the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, except with the formal approval of the committee or of the House.'

The oath shall be administered by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Clerk of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress and each succeeding Congress shall cause this oath to be printed, furnishing two copies to each Member appointed to the select committee who has taken this oath, which shall be subscribed to by the Member who shall deliver them to the Clerk, one to be filed in the records of the House of Representatives, and the other to be recorded in the Journal of the House and the Congressional Record.".

"(b) In rule XLVIII, at the end of clause 5, add the following new sentences: "Each employee of the select committee and any person engaged by contract or otherwise to perform services for or at the request of the select committee who is required to subscribe to the agreement in writing referred to in the first sentence of this clause shall, at the time of the signing or within thirty days after the adoption of this provision, whichever is later, also take the oath set out in clause 1(d) of this rule. The oath shall be administered by the chairman or by any member of the committee or of the committee staff designated by the chairman. The Clerk of the House of Representatives of the One Hundred Second Congress and each succeeding Congress shall cause this oath to be printed, furnishing two copies to each such person taking this oath, which shall be subscribed to by such person, who shall deliver them to the Clerk, one to be filed in the records of the House of Representatives, and the other to be recorded in the Journal of the House and in the Congressional Record.".

"(c) In rule XLVIII, clause 7(d), insert immediately after the words "paragraph (c)" the words "or the oath required by clause 1(d) of by clause 5," and by adding immediately after the last sentence of clause 7(d) the following new sentences: "The select committee may refer cases of unauthorized disclosure and violations of the required oaths to the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct for investigation. While a member of the committee is the subject of such a pending investigation, the select committee may determine by majority vote that the member shall not be given access to classified information.".

"ACCURACY OF THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD"

"(33) At the end of the Rules of the House, add the following new rule:

"RULE LI."

"THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD."

"1. The Congressional Record shall be a substantially verbatim account of remarks made during the proceedings of the House, subject only to technical, grammatical and typographical corrections authorized by the Member making the remarks involved.

"2. Unparliamentary remarks may be deleted only by unanimous consent or by order of the House.

"3. The provisions of clause 4(e)(1) of rule X shall apply to violations of this rule.".

"ENHANCED RESCISSION AUTHORITY"

"(34)(a) The Committee on Rules and the Committee on Government Operations shall, not later than May 31, 1991, report legislation granting the President enhanced rescission authority with respect to any budget authority not authorized by law. Such legislation shall provide that any such budget authority shall be considered to be permanently canceled unless a joint resolution disapproving such rescission is enacted within 45-calendar days of continuous session of Congress (as defined by section 1011 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) after the date on which the President's special rescission messsage is received.

"(b) If such legislation is not reported by the committees named above by the date specified, the committees not reporting shall be considered as having been discharged from the further consideration of the first such bill introduced and it shall be in order on any day after June 3, 1991, for any Member of the House (after consultation with the Speaker as to the most appropriate time for consideration), as a matter of highest privilege, to move to resolve into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for its consideration, and the bill shall be subject to two hours of general debate to be equally divided and controlled by the majority and minority leaders, or their designees, followed by consideration of the measure for amendment under the five-minute rule.".

"BIENNIAL BUDGET-APPROPRIATIONS PROCESS"

"(35) The Committee on Rules is directed to conduct a complete a through study of the advisability and feasibility of converting to a biennial budget and appropriations process and corresponding multi-year authorizations, and to report its findings and recommendations to the House not later than December 31, 1991.".

"APPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN LAWS TO THE HOUSE"

"(36)(a) It is the policy of the House that the laws of the United States set forth in subparagraph (b) should be amended to apply to the House of Representatives in the same or similar manner as such laws apply to the Executive Branch.

"(b) Not later than June 30, 1991, the standing committees of the House with subject matter jurisdiction over the following laws of the United States shall report to the House legislation to implement subparagraph (a):

"(1) The National Labor Relations Act;

"(2) The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970;

"(3) The Equal Pay Act of 1963;

"(4) The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967;

"(5) Section 552 of title 5, United States Code (popularly known as the Freedom of Information Act);

"(6) Section 552a of title 5, United States Code (popularly known as the Privacy Act of 1974);

"(7) Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (relating to equal employment opportunity);

"(8) Chapter 39 of title 28, United States Code (relating to an independent counsel).

"(c) The Committee on Rules shall, not later than ten legislative days after any such legislation has been reported, report a resolution providing for the consideration of such measure in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union under an open amendment process.

"(d) If such legislation is not reported by all the committees named above by the date specified, the first bill introduced which implements the policy referred to in subparagraph (a) and which encompasses all the laws referred to in subparagraph (a) and which encompasses all the laws referred to in subparagraph (b) shall be considered as having been discharged from all the committees to which it was referred. It shall be in order on any day after July 15, 1991, for any Member of the House (after consultation with the Speaker as to the most appropriate time for consideration), as a matter of highest privilege, to move to resolve into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for its consideration, and the bill shall be subject to four hours of general debate to be equally divided and controlled by the majority and minority leaders, or their designees, followed by consideration of the measure for amendment under the five-minute rule.".

A REPUBLICAN REFORM MANIFESTO FOR NEW HOUSE REVOLUTION: HIGHLIGHTS OF RECOMMENDATIONS

(Republican House Rules Substitute, 102d Congress)

Campaign Reform: The House Administration Committee would be directed to report a campaign reform bill no later than June 30, 1991, other committees no later than July 31st, and the Rules Committee would be required to report an open rule on the package not later than three legislative days after the latter deadline. If a rule is not reported, the package would be privileged for consideration on any day thereafter.

Committee Reforms:

The Rules Committee would be required to report recommendations no later than Dec. 31, 1991, to realign House committee jurisdictions along more rational and functional lines.

The joint referral of bills to more than one committee would be abolished (while retaining sequential and split referrals).

Committees (other than Appropriations) would be limited to no more than six subcommittees, and Members to no more than four subcommittee assignments.

Proxy voting and one-third quorums would be abolished;

Party ratios on committees must reflect the party ratio of the House.

Committee staff ceilings would be established and committee staff would be reduced by 10% from previous Congress.

Committees would be required to adopt oversight agendas at the beginning of a Congress and report on implementation of the agenda at the end of each Congress.

Roll call votes on reporting bills would be required in committee reports.

Foreign travel reports by Members and staff must include listing of official functions by country and date in addition to expense reporting, and made available for public inspection.

House Organization, Scheduling & Action:

Committees must be elected within seven legislative days of a new Congress and hold organizational meetings not later than three legislative days after their election.

The Speaker would be required to announce a legislative schedule at the beginning of each session including target dates for major legislation and move to more five-day work weeks.

Authorization bills must be reported by May 15th prior to the beginning of the fiscal year in which they are to take effect.

New limits would be placed on the consideration of bills under suspension of the rules and on the consideration of commemorative legislation.

Strict new limits would be placed on special rules from the Rules Committee relating to amendment restrictions, budget and blanket waivers, and self-executing rules, and the right to recommit bills with instructions would be guaranteed.

The names of Members signing discharge petitions would be made public after 100 signatures had been secured.

Budgetary Reforms:

The Committees on Rules and Government Operations would be required to report legislation by May 31, 1991, giving the President special recission authority (subject to congressional disapproval) over appropriated items for which authorizing legislation has not been enacted.

The Rules Committee would be required to report by Dec. 31, 1991, its recommendations on the feasibility and advisability of converting to a biennial budget-appropriations process, with multi-year authorizations.

Automatic rollcall votes would be required in the House on the final passage of all appropriations, tax and pay raise bills and conference reports, and on the final adoption of budget resolutions and conference reports containing debt limit increases.

Limitation amendments would be permitted on appropriations bills.

Short-term continuing appropriations bills would be subject to the lesser of the House or Senate passed bills or the previous year's appropriations.

Any long-term continuing appropriations would be required to contain the full text of all matters being enacted and would be subject to the same points of order as regular appropriations bills regarding unauthorized and legislative provisions, subject to waiver only by a three-fifths vote.

Extraneous matters in reconciliation bills would be subject to deletion by points of order.

"A house divided against itself cannot stand."—A. LINCOLN.

INTRODUCTION

Nothing was more clear to the American people in the final chaotic weeks of the 101st Congress than that their system of government had broken down and was in need of a complete overhaul.

While some attribute this governmental breakdown to the divided party control of the Presidency and Congress, the main sources of paralysis can be found within the Congress itself. The Democrats' control of the House for 56 of the last 60 years has produced a bloated and muscle-bound bureaucracy characterized by a multiplicity of 158 semi-autonomous subcommittees with overlapping and tangled jurisdictions, competing interests and fierce turf fights.

Democratic leadership attempts to cut-through or circumvent this muddled maze by resort to ad hoc task forces and restrictive amendment procedures often compound the problem by moving the legislative process to smoke-filled back rooms—far from the public eye and even majority membership participation.

A direct result of this decline in the committee system is the bankruptcy of the congerssional budget, authorization, and appropriation process. Missed budget deadlines and deficit targets, the failure to consider authorization bills in a timely manner (if at all), and the increased use of appropriations and reconciliation measures for authorization purposes all contribute to this confused blur of authority, accountability and openness.

The disintegration of a deliberative legislative, budgetary and ovesight process exacerbates internal divisions within the leadership and committees. This spectacle of disarray, the turn, accelerates the erosion of public confidence in Congress.

With public policy-making beyond the influence of most Members it's little wonder they are consumed instead by constituent concerns and reelection efforts. If the House has been successful at anything, it is getting its Members reelected—well over a 95% return rate in recent years. At one time it was asserted that the first job of a congressman was to get reelected. Now it seems to be the exclusive occupation of many Members.

All this has not been lost on the American people, 73% of whom express disapproval for the job Congress is doing. This mood of discontent is a growing tide that will not recede until Congress gets serious about reforming itself and its campaign practices.

This House divided against itself cannot stand unless it immediately undertakes a radical rennovation effort. To this end the House Republican Conference pledges itself in this "Republican Reform Manifesto for a New House Revolution."

THE COMMITTEE SYSTEM

Congressional committees have existed from the First Congress as agents of the House in fashioning legislation and conducting investigations. Woodrow Wilson, in his 1885 treatise, Congressional Government, wrote that, "Congress in session is Congress on public exhibition, whilst Congress in its committee rooms is Congress at work." Congressional committees truly are the workshops of the national legislature in which the details of legislation are hammered-out on the anvil of compromise.

And yet, in recent years, the House committee system has deteriorated, and the quality of legislation and oversight has suffered accordingly. The reasons for this decline of the committee system are fairly evident. While the reforms of the seventies to make committee chairmen more accountable to their party caucuses have been laudable in intent, their effect has been to foster a proliferation of semi-autonomous subcommittees.

With this explosion of subcommittees and staff, Members have been saddled with more subcommittee assignments, making it nearly impossible to conscientiously perform any assignment. Committees and subcommittees have attempted to counter poor attendance with rules that permit business to be conducted with only one-third of the Members present and the liberal use of proxy votes. This phantom legislating has produced legislation that is less representative as well conceived than if more Members had actually been present.

Compounding the problem of legislative accountability is the practice of referring legislation to more than one committee. The House approved this procedure in 1974 but rejected an attempt to rationalize committee jurisdictions. The result has been a maze of tangled lines of responsibility among 22 committees and 158 subcommittees that is trangling the legislative process.

The authorizing committees are also falling prey to budgetary squeeze-out—sandwiched in time as they are between the adoption of a budget resolution and the beginning of the appropriations process. With less and less time in which to enact authorizations, fewer authorizations are being properly considered if at all. In fiscal year 1990, for instance, $55.5 billion was appropriated for 49 programs which had not been reauthorized.

In an attempt to bring some order out of this committee chaos, the majority leadership has resorted to a variety of devices that have rendered authorizing committees nearly obsolete. These include devising special rules making in order authorizing language not considered at the committee level and even appointing ad hoc leadership task forces to draft bills in secret, away from public committee hearings and meetings. Unreported authorizations are also loaded onto such omnibus bills as reconciliation, appropriations measures and even debt limit measures. It is not unusual for Members to have no report or information on such entire bills which have been developed outside the regular committee process. In summary, committees are becoming less and less relevant to the legislative process.

THE FLOOR SITUATION

Given the shambles in which the House committee system finds itself today, it perhaps should not seem surprising that autocratic procedures are increasingly being used in an attempt to restore a measure of "efficiency" to the House. Unfortunately, "efficiency" has become a euphemism for political expediency and advantage, and has again come at the expense of deliberation and representation.

Whereas only 15% of the bills coming through the Rules Committee 12 years ago were brought to the floor under "restrictive rules" which limit the amendments Members may offer, this percentage has increased with each succeeding Congress until it stands at 55% today. Just as the American people have been disenfranchised at the committee level with phantom legislative devices, they are being silenced on the House floor as well by such "gag" rules.

To further limit the amendment process, the majority leadership has increasingly been restricting the minority party's right since 1909 to recommit a bill with instructions in the form of a final amendment. Whereas a decade ago this right was limited less than 4% of the time, in the 101st Congress it was circumscribed on 20% of the bills brought through the Rules Committee.

Another way to avoid proper deliberation, amendments, and votes is the "suspension of the rules" procedure. Under this device bills can be brought-up without being reported from committee, are subject to only 40-minutes of debate, cannot be amended, and must receive a two-thirds vote to pass. Votes on suspension bills can be "clustered" on the day after the bills were actually debated. Whereas just a decade ago only around 37% of the measures passed by the House were considered under the suspension of rules procedure, today the number of suspension bills passed comprises nearly 50% of all bill passed.

If the American people watching the House in action from the visitors' galleries or on TV are confused by all these goings on, they aren't too-far removed from their own Representatives who must often scramble to find out what it is they are voting on.

If, as Wilson observed, the "Congress in session is Congress on public exhibition," then today it is a poor exhibition of the representative and deliberative democracy the Founders intended. Much of this is traceable to the breakdown in the committee workshops. But the floor devices used to compensate for this breakdown have only made things worse both in terms of representation and the quality of legislation.

CONCLUSION

The paradox of the modern House is that while its Members are, by all measures, smarter, more dedicated and harder working than their predecessors, the House as a whole does not begin to equal the sum of its parts. The reason is easy to discern in the way the House is organized, or, more accurately, disorganized to promote the interests of its individual components—Members and subcommittees, over institutional and national interests. It is therefore little wonder that while 57% of the American people may approve of their own congressman, only 23% approve of the job the Congress is doing.

(A Summary of the Republican House Rules Substitute for H. Res. 5, 102nd Congress, January 3, 1991)

The rules of the House of the 101st Congress would be adopted as the rules of the 102nd Congress with the following amendments:

(1) Campaign Reform.—The House Administration Committee would be directed to report a campaign reform bill no later than June 30, 1991, other committees no later than July 31, 1991, and the Rules Committee would be directed to bring the bill to the floor under an open amendment process not later than three legislative days thereafter.

(2) Committee Jurisdiction Realignment.—The Rules Committee would be directed to study and report not later than Dec. 31, 1991, recommendations for realigning committee jurisdictions along more rational and functional lines to eliminate duplication, overlap and inefficiences in the present system.

(3) Veto Messages.—Immediately after the reading of a veto message, the Speaker would be required to state the question on the reconsideration of the vetoed bill, without intervening motion, thereby giving the House a chance to vote immediately on overriding the veto.

(4) Broadcast Coverage.—The Speaker would be required to provide uniform visual broadcast coverage of the House throughout the day which could include periodic views of the entire Chamber if they do not detract from the person speaking.

(5) House Scheduling Reform.—The Speaker would be required at the beginning of each session to announce a legislative program for the session that would include target dates for the consideration of major legislation, weeks in which the House would be in session (with full, five-day work weeks assumed unless otherwise indicated), district work periods, and the target date for adjournment. The Speaker would also be required to consult with the minority leader in developing each week's legislative program.

(6) Oversight Reform.—Committees would be required to formally adopt and submit to the House Administration Committee by March 1st of the first session their oversight plans for that Congress. It would not be in order to consider the funding resolution for any committee which does not submit its oversight plans as required. The House Administration Committee, after consultation with the majority and minority leaders, would report the plans to the House by March 15th together with its recommendations, and those of the joint leadership group to assure coordination between committees. The Speaker would be authorized to appoint ad hoc oversight committees for specific tasks from the membership of committees with shared jurisdiction. Committees would be required to include an oversight section in their final activity report at the end of a Congress.

(7) Multiple Referral of Legislation.—The joint referral of bills to two or more committees would be abolished, while split and sequential referrals would be retained, subject to time limits and designation by the Speaker of a committee of principal jurisdiction.

(8) Early Committee Organization.—Committees must be elected within seven legislative days of the convening of a new Congress and must hold their organization meeting not later than three legislative days after their election.

(9) Committee Ratios.—The party ratios on committees would be required to reflect that of the full House (except for the Standards Committee which is bipartisan). The requirement would extend to select and conference committees as well.

(10) Subcommittee Limits.—No committee (except Appropriations) could have more than six subcommittees, and no Member could have more than four subcommittee assignments.

(11) Proxy Voting Ban.—All proxy voting on committees would be prohibited.

(12) Open Committee Meetings.—Committee Meetings, which can now be closed for any reason, could only be closed for national security, personal privacy or personnel reasons.

(13) Majority Quorums.—A majority of the membership of a committee would be required for the transactions of any business.

(14) Report Accountability.—Committee reports on bills would be required to include the names of those members voting for and against reporting a bill or, in the case of a nonrecord vote, the names of those members actually present when the bill is ordered reported.

(15) Committee Documents.—Any committee prints or documents to be made available to the public which have not been approved by the committee must contain a disclaimer to that effect on their cover, may not contain the names of committee members other than the chairman authorizing the printing, and may not be made public until at least three days after they have been circulated to committee members.

(16) Foreign Travel Reports.—All Members and staff taking part in foreign travel at House expense would be required to disclose their official itinerary (including meetings, interviews, functions, inspections) by country and date in addition to currently required expense disclosure, and such reports would be available for public inspection in the offices of each committee not later than 60-days after the completion of travel.

(17) Same Day Consideration of Rules Committee Reports.—An order of business resolution from the Committee on Rules could not be considered on the same calendar day as reported, or the subsequent calendar day of the same legislative day, except by a two-thirds vote of the House.

(18) Permitting Instructions in Motion to Recommit.—The Rules Committee could not report an order of business resolution which prevented a motion to recommit, including one with amendatory instructions.

(19) Restrictive Rule Limitation.—It would not be in order to consider any order of business resolution from the Rules Committee restricting the right of Members to offer germane amendments unless the chairman of the Committee orally announces to the House, at least four legislative days before the Rules Committee meeting on the matter, that less than an open rule might be recommended by the committee.

(20) Limitation on Self-Executing Rules.—It would not be in order to consider any order of business resolution from the Rules Committee that provides for the automatic passage of any bill, joint resolution or conference report, or adoption of any motion, amendment, or resolution, except by a two-thirds House vote on agreeing to such consideration.

(21) Budget Waivers.—Any report from the Committee on Rules on a resolution waiving any provisions of the Budget Act against any bill would be required to include an explanation and justification of the waiver together with a summary or text of any comments received from the Budget Committee regarding the waiver. A separate vote could be demanded on any such waiver in a rule, subject to the requisite votes required by the Budget Act for such a waiver. Blanket waiver rules would require a two-thirds vote for consideration.

(22) Committee Staffing.—Committee funding resolutions could not be considered until the House has first adopted a resolution from the House Administration Committee setting an overall limit on committee staffing for the session. The minority would be entitled to up to one-third of the investigative staff funds, on request. The overall committee staff limit for the 102nd Congress could not be more than 90% of the total at the end of the 101st Congress.

(23) Commemorative Calendar.—A Commemorative Calendar would be created on which unreported commemoratives would be placed at the written request of the chairman and ranking minority member of the Post Office Committee. The Calendar would be called twice a month and any two objections would cause a commemorative to be removed from the Calendar.

(24) Automatic Roll Call Votes.—Automatic roll call votes would be required on final passage of appropriations, tax and Member pay raise bills and conference reports, and on final adoption of budget resolutions and conference reports containing debt limit increases.

(25) Appropriation Reforms.—The present restrictions on offering limitation amendments to appropriations bills would be abolished. Short-term continuing appropriations (30-days or less) could only provide for the lesser spending amounts and more restrictive authority as provided in either the House or Senate passed bills, the conference agreement, or the previous year's Act, and a three-fifths House vote would be required to waive this requirement. Long-term continuing appropriations measures (more than 30-days) would be required to contain the full text of the provisions to be enacted; the present prohibition on legislative language and unauthorized matters in appropriations measures would be extended to long-term CRs. Points of order and amendments to provisions in long-term CRs not previously agreed to by the House could only be denied by a three-fifths vote. Cost estimates would be required in reports on long-term CRs. Reports on all general appropriations bills, including long-term CRs would be required to include not only a listing of legislative provisions contained in the measures (as presently required), but of all unauthorized activities being funded by the measure.

(26) Reconciliation Limitation.—It would not be in order to report in a reconciliation bill, or consider as an amendment thereto, a provision which is not related to a committee's reconciliation instructions to either reduce spending or raise revenues. Determination would be made by the Budget Committee.

(27) Authorization Reporting Deadline.—It would not be in order to consider any bill authorizing budget authority for a fiscal year if reported after May 15 preceding the beginning of the fiscal year (former Budget Act requirement).

(28) Pledge of Allegiance.—The Pledge of Allegiance would be required as the third order of business each day.

(29) Suspension of the Rules.—Measures could not be considered under the suspension of the rules procedure except by direction of the committee(s) of jurisdiction or on the request of the chairman and ranking minority member of such committee(s). No measure could be considered under suspension which authorizes or appropriates more than $50 million for any fiscal year. Notice of any suspension must be placed in the Congressional Record at least one day in advance of its consideration together with the text of any amendment to be offered to it. No constitutional amendment could be considered under suspension.

(30) Discharge Motions.—The Clerk of the House would be required to publish in the Congressional Record the names of those Members signing a discharge petition once a threshold of 100 signatures has been reached, and to publish an updated list of names at the end of each succeeding week.

(31) Inclusion of Views with Conference Reports.—Members of conference committees would be permitted three calendar days in which to file supplemental, minority, or additional views to be published with conference reports.

(32) Intelligence Committee Oath.—Members and staff of the Select Committee on Intelligence would be required to take an oath that they will not directly or indirectly disclose to any unauthorized person any classified information received in the course of their duties except by the approval of the committee or of the House.

(33) Accuracy of Congressional Record.—A new rule would be added to include the recommendations of the bipartisan Task Force on the Congressional Record of the House Administration Committee in the 101st Congress. The rule would require that the Record be a verbatim account of proceedings subject only to technical, grammatical or typographical corrections by the Member speaking. Unparliamentary remarks could only be deleted from the Record by unanimous consent or order of the House. Violations of the rule would be subject to the authority of the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

(34) Special Rescission Authority.—The Committees on Rules and Government Operations would be directed to report by May 30, 1991, legislation giving the President authority to rescind budget authority for which an authorization has not been enacted, unless Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the rescission within 45-days. If the committees do not report, automatic discharge of the first such bill introduced is provided.

(35) Biennial Budget-Appropriations Process.—The Rules Committee would be required to study and report its recommendations no later than Dec. 31, 1991, on the advisability and feasibility of converting to a biennial budget/appropriations process, together with multi-year authorizations.

(36) Applicability of Certain Laws to Congress.—The appropriate committees of Congress would be required to report, not later than June 30, 1991, legislation applying certain Federal health, safety, labor and civil rights laws to Congress. Automatic discharge is provided for the first such comprehensive bill if they do not all report.

SUMMARY OF COMPARATIVE DATA ON THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

(1) Time in Session.—The House in the 101st Congress was in session 281 days, 69 days less than the 91st Congress and 25 days less than the 96th. At the same time, the 101st Congress averaged six hours a day, compared with 4.6 hours a day for the 91st Congress, and 5.8 hours per day for the 96th [Table 1].

(2) Legislative Output.—The 101st Congress House reported 635 public measures—635 measures (44%) less than the 91st and 243 measures (28%) less than the 96th. It passed 968 measures, 162 (14%) fewer than the 91st and 39 bills (4%) more than the 96th [Table 1].

Whereas the 101st Congress did not act on 66 reported measures (10%); 61 reported measures (5%) were not acted on by the 91st, and 131 (15%) were not acted on in the 96th Congress.

(3) Commemoratives v. Substantive Enactments.—The 101st Congress enacted 232 commemoratives or 36% of all public laws—164 more commemoratives than enacted by the 91st Congress and 136 more than the 96th Congress. That left 418 substantive enactments in the 101st Congress—209 substantive laws (33%) less than the 91st Congress and 99 (19%) less than the 96th Congress [Table 1].

(4) Committees, Subcommittees, Staff and Costs.—The number of standing committees has remained relatively constant over the 20 years—21 in the 91st, 22 in the 96th, and 22 in the 101st. But, the number of subcommittees has risen from 136 to 158, a 40% increase. The number of committee staff over that two decade period has risen from 738 to 2,109—a 186% increase. The cost of operating the House in a two-year Congress has risen from $203 million in 1969–70 to $1.13 billion in 1989–90—a 457% increase—an average increase of 23% a year. [Table 1].

(5) Proxy Voting.—Of the 22 standing and 5 select committees in the House in the 101st Congress, 22 permitted proxy voting and only 5 prohibited it [Table 2].

(6) One-Third Quorums.—Of the House standing and select committees in the 101st Congress, 18 had rules permitting one-third of the membership to transact all business except reporting a measure, while only 9 did not [Table 2].

(7) Member & Staff Party Ratios on Committees.—Whereas Democrats comprised 60% of the House membership in the 101st Congress, they held an average of 61% of the committee and select committee seats (excluding Standards which is 50–50). And majority staff average 76% of all staff on the standing and select committees. Finally, the average committee ratio of staff to Members was 1.9 to 1, with one committee weighing-in with a staff to Member ratio of 3.6:1 (Budget), one at 3.4:1 (Post Office) and two at 3.3:1 (Appropriations and Energy and Commerce [Table 3].

(8) Open v. Restrictive Rules.—Whereas in the 95th Congress, of the 211 order of business resolutions or "rules" reported from the Rules Committee, 179 (85%) were open and only 32 (11%) restricted the amendment process, by the 101st Congress only 47 (45%) of the 104 rules granted were open while 57 (55%) were restrictive [Table 4].

(9) Restricting Instructions in Motions to Recommit.—Whereas the Rules Committee restricted the minority its right to offer amendatory instructions prior to final passage of a bill only three times (1.4% of total rules) in the 95th Congress, eight times (3.7%) in the 96th, three times (2.5%) in the 97th, and only once (0.6%) in the 98th, it restricted this right 14 times (12.2%) in the 99th Congress, 24 times (19.5%) in the 100th Congress, and 21 times (20%) in the 101st Congress [Table 5].

(10) Self-Executing Rules.—The practice of providing that, upon the adoption of an order of business resolution, an amendment or measure would automatically be agreed to, is called a "self-executing rule." Such a rule was used only once in the 95th Congress, never in the 96th, twice in the 97th, five times in the 98th, 20 times (16% of all rules) in the 99th, and 26 times (16%) in the 100th. In the 101st Congress the trend was down somewhat with only 13 self-executing rules (8% of the total) [Table 6].

(11) Unauthorized Appropriations.—More and more programs are being appropriated for without the required enactment of authorization measures. In fiscal 1989, some 31 laws totalling $23 billion in appropriations were not reauthorized; and in fiscal 1990, 49 such laws totalling $55.5 billion were unauthorized [Table 7].

(12) Budget Act Waivers.—Instances in which order of business resolutions or "rules" were reported from the Rules Committee waiving specific sections of the Budget Act or waiving all points of order, have grown since the enactment of the Budget Act in 1974. Whereas such waivers comprised only 19% of all rules granted in the 96th Congress, by the 99th Congress such waivers reached a record 65% of all rules. In the 100th Congress waivers dropped to 51% of all rules. But the trend was back up in the 101st Congress with 90 waivers in all, including 27 specific waivers and 63 blanket waivers, comprising 56% of all rules granted [Table 8].

(13) Suspension of the Rules.—Measures considered under the suspension of the rules procedure are debatable for only 40-minutes, are not subject to amendment (unless an amendment is presented with the bill when called-up), and require a two-thirds vote for passage. Whereas suspensions constituted on average 36% of all public bills and joint resolutions passed by the House in the 95th–99th Congress, that percentage increased to 48% in the 100th Congress, and 52% in the 101st Congress [Table 9].

[1] Total rules counted are all order of business resolutions reported from the Rules Committee which provide for the initial consideration of legislation, except rules on appropriations bills which only waive points of order. Original jurisdiction measures reported as privileged are also not counted.

[2] Open rules are those which permit any Member to offer any germane amendment to a measure so long as it is otherwise in compliance with the rules of the House. The parenthetical percentages are open rules as a percent of total rules granted.

[3] Restrictive rules are those which limit the number of amendments which can be offered, and include so-called modified open and modified closed rules, as well as completely closed rules, and rules providing for consideration in the House as opposed to the Committee of the Whole. The parenthetical percentages are restrictive rules as a percent of total rules granted.

[1] Sec. 302(a) requires that the joint explanatory statement on a budget resolution conference report include an allocation by committee of outlays, and new budget-, entitlement-, and credit authority.

[2] Sec. 302(c) prohibits the consideration of any legislation reported from a committee which has not filed its section 302(b) suballocations.

[3] Sec. 302(f) prohibits the consideration of legislation which exceeds a committee's sec. 302(b) suballocation for discretionary new budget authority, new entitlement authority, or new credit authority.

[4] Sec. 303(a) prohibits the consideration of legislation providing new budget authority, new entitlement authority, new credit authority, or a change in revenues or public debt before the budget resolution for that year is adopted. [Note: This provision was modified with the enactment of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings I, to exempt from the point of order any appropriation bill considered in the House after May 15th, even though a final budget resolution is not in place (P.L. 99–177, effective Dec. 15, 1985).]

[5] Sec. 305(a) prohibits consideration of a budget resolution prior to the sixth day after it is reported.

[6] Sec. 311 prohibits consideration of any legislation which would exceed the outlay ceiling or revenue floor contained in the most recent budget resolution.

[7] Sec. 401(a) prohibits consideration of legislation providing new contract or borrowing authority not provided for in appropriations acts.

[8] Sec. 401(b) prohibits the consideration of legislation providing new entitlement authority which becomes effective during the fiscal year which ends in the calendar year in which the bill is reported.

[9] Sec. 402(a) prohibits the consideration of any bill authorizing new budget authority for a fiscal year if not reported on or before May 15th preceding the beginning of such fiscal year. [Note: This provision was repealed with the enactment of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings I on Dec. 15, 1985.]

[10] Blanket waivers counted here are those provisions in a rule which waive all points of order against a bill or committee amendment in the nature of a substitute made in order as original text for amendment purposes. Not only do blanket waivers set aside all standing House rules, but all provisions of the Budget Act as well.

[11] To provide a constant for comparison purposes, sec. 402(a) waivers have been subtracted from total waivers here because the section was repealed on Dec. 15, 1985 (see ff. 9 above).

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL], chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, as my colleagues know, I had planned to offer during the Democratic caucus, with the support of chairmen from other legislative committees, an amendment to rule X, clause 4 of the House rules. The amendment that I circulated to the caucus on November 30, 1990, would have clarified the jurisdiction of the legislative committees to consider and report bills and resolutions and to make recommendations to the Budget Committee establishing fees, charges, or assessments without running afoul of rule XXI, clause 5(b), which allows a point of order against tax and tariff measures originating in committees other than Ways and Means.

At the suggestion of the Speaker, however, our committee, the Committee on Ways and Means, the Parliamentarian, and the Speaker's staff entered into discussions about the matter. As a result, I understand that the Speaker plans today to issue a guidance statement regarding rule XXI after the House adopts rules for the 102d Congress. It will clarify the difference between a fee and a tax so that standing legislative committees can comply with rule XXI, clause 5(b). I will not at this time presume to state the Speaker's guidance, as that is his prerogative. I merely want to explain, by way of background, the history of this matter from the standpoint of the legislative committees.

Historically, legislative committees have reported fee, charge, and assessment provisions that have been enacted into law. Many have been adopted pursuant to the reconciliation process, but many others were adopted before reconciliation became a factor in 1980. They have been characterized as user fees, regulatory fees, and other types of assessments, including civil penalties. When paid, they have covered all or part of the direct and indirect costs of programs or activities of an agency that provides services or regulates those who pay. Such costs are not limited to, but can include administrative, enforcement, research, and monitoring expenses.

Some examples of such fees are: Land and water conservation fund fees imposed on park users; Federal Energy Regulatory Commission fees; fees for registration of commodity dealers; grazing fees; nuclear waste fees; fees for testing of iron, steel, and other materials; Clean Air Act fees; application fees for uninsured mortgages; export license fees; migratory bird hunting fees; and Nuclear Regulatory Commission fees, rail and pipeline safety fees, and fees to cover the activities of the U.S. Travel and Tourism Administration.

In 1983, the House amended the House rules to include rule XXI, clause 5(b). Points of order under the rule, as amended, have generally related to the application of the Internal Revenue Code and customs laws. However, in a series of rulings on October 4–5, 1989, the Speaker applied that clause to several fee provisions included in a reconciliation bill, generally holding that fees within the meaning of rule XXI, clause 5(b), in order not to constitute a "tax or tariff," must be collected merely to compensate the assessing governmental entity for providing a service or for the expenses incurred in regulating an activity.

At that time, the Speaker recognized that the rule "does not preclude the inclusion of 'revenue' measures in bills reported by committees not having jurisdiction over revenues" and that it "is clear that certain assessment, fees, and charges, while constituting revenue measures, are not necessarily taxes or tariffs as those terms are properly understood in law and in accepted budget concepts." The Speaker observed that, "Taxes are collected for the purposes of raising revenue to offset the general costs of Government as well as to offset the costs of services provided to a more generalized group of beneficiaries."

Despite these very general comments, the rulings gave many of us a concern about the future of such provisions in bills from the legislative committees and in the budget process. It was a matter of controversy during House consideration of the clean air bill in the last Congress, as well as during reconciliation. Thus, together with other committee chairmen, I sought a rule change so that the legislative standing committees could continue to consider and report fees, charges, and assessments of various sorts in bills and other measures. The guidance issued today is intended to clarify the matter to allow that result.

I believe the guidance will be very helpful and should be tried in the next Congress in lieu of the rule change. The Speaker has expressed an interest in accommodating the legislative committees' historical prerogative of reporting and enacting fee provisions while simultaneously protecting the tax jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee and the constitutional prerogatives of the House. If the guidance proves unavailing, which I hope will not be the case, we can revisit the rule change for the 103d Congress.

I understand that the guidance will continue to sustain fee provisions like those enacted in the Clean Air Act and the land and water conservation fund law and those established to run regulatory agencies like the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. I believe it will be important in the health and securities areas, which are of immediate interest to the Committee on Energy and Commerce. It will clarify the rulings made during the reconciliation process in October 1989 that I earlier described.

I want to express my appreciation to the Speaker for his interest and participation in trying to resolve this important matter. I also want to express my appreciation to the other committee chairmen who wanted to resolve this issue and were willing to support a change in the House rules. I want to thank the Parliamentarians for their invaluable help. I believe the process was useful to them in learning more of the concerns of the committees and the nuances of the myriad fee programs, as well as the need for preserving this jurisdiction in the legislative committees in a manner that does not impinge on the tax jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means and does not affect the prerogatives of the House.

Most importantly, I commend the distinguished and able chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, DANNY ROSTENKOWSKI, for his cooperation and strong desire to work out this difficult and important issue. He and his staff have been very helpful and courteous in this endeavor, and I appreciate it. I feel all committees will benefit from the effort.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 5 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to respond briefly to the assertion that there is a breaking of the budget agreement through the imposition of the language of these rules. I would like to, in particular, express some thoughts about the controversy over OMB and CBO scoring, and what exactly was said in the summit, and how it was resolved.

Congressional participants in the summit repeatedly expressed concern to administration officials about the possibility of abusing the scorekeeping process as a way to achieve the administration's policy goals. As a result of these concerns, participants explored ways to minimize the possibility for manipulation.

Two basic approaches were considered. First, participants considered providing an estimating cushion for the pay-as-you-go sequester. This approach was strenuously opposed by several Republican congressional participants. When this approach proved unacceptable, OMB officials offered an alternative under which the OMB would provide a cost estimate at each stage of the legislative process which would then be binding on the agency. Although this alternative was only discussed in general terms, the estimate for a conference report would presumably be required to be available prior to the consideration of the conference report in each House, and OMB would be required to use that estimate for purposes of sequester calculations. Congressional participants strongly opposed this approach because it would necessitate, and indeed institutionalize, formal involvement by OMB and its staff in every aspect of legislative deliberation. This approach, in fact, could have given OMB more leverage over the legislative process than the approach contained in the new law, under which OMB's estimates of legislation are due after enactment.

In the end, it was not possible to reach a compromise on the issue of scorekeeping differences in direct spending and receipts legislation. When it became clear that we could not resolve this issue, we told administration officials that there was a real possibility that CBO scoring would be included in legislation presented to the President during the 102d Congress.

As we all know, this issue was raised in the final meeting on the budget, on October 26, 1990, hours before the reconciliation conference report was filed. The fact that it was not resolved to the satisfaction of congressional participants and that concerns remained about possible abuse of scorekeeping by OMB, and supported by the very fact of the agreement reached in the final meeting to require OMB and CBO to study differences in scorekeeping and provide a report to the Congress on this issue.

I would say that, if this rule is adopted, there are obvious alternatives that are available to the minority and to the administration.

First, it is critical to recognize that the new rule applies only to a subset of legislation considered by the House. It does not apply to appropriations or authorizations, but only to measures involving direct spending and receipts.

Second, if minority Members or others believe that the CBO estimate contained in the measure as reported is erroneous or inappropriate, they may seek to amend or strike the cost estimate.

In addition, a chairman who opposes the inclusion of the CBO estimate or believes it is unnecessary for a continuing measure may seek a waiver of the rule.

Third, since this is a House rule only, the issue as to whether to include the CBO estimate will be an issue for conference, and those who oppose inclusion can seek support for this position in the Senate.

Finally, of course, as the President's letter illustrates, the President can veto a bill which includes the CBO estimate, and he can also of course use the threat of veto to reach an accommodation on the scoring of a particular bill.

Finally, I think it is important to note that on the final meeting on October 26, again we did agree to require OMB and CBO to review their scorekeeping differences and report back to the Congress in May of 1991.

It well may be that the concerns that are felt on both sides can be bridged if some of the differences on scoring can indeed be bridged.

So, I really believe that this is an appropriate solution to this problem, and I am hopeful that in May of 1991 the problem can be put aside forever.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to our distinguished Republican leader, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MICHEL].

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the proposed package of rules offered by the Democrats and urge a vote against the previous question, so that we might adopt our substitute package. The rules package offered at the beginning of the Congress is very similar to a genetic code. It does not determine our fate entirely, but it is the structure in which much of the fate of this Congress will be determined.

Mr. Speaker, the majority's rules package offers us an inheritance of misery. Think of it: 22 committees, 158 subcommittees, with hopelessly tangled and knotted lines of responsibility; funds appropriated for unauthorized programs; restrictive rules limiting amendments; nearly 50 percent of our bills passed under suspension of the rules. And a unilateral change in the budget agreement against all precedent and against our tradition of keeping our word.

Now I understand the situation a little bit differently than the distinguished majority leader, the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. GEPHARDT]. The Democratic rules package, in my judgment, reneges on that bipartisan budget agreement, just enacted less than 2 months ago. Quite frankly the discussion centered on enforcement and that was why we agreed as we did. Now to say, "Well, we've got a different view of it, and we're going to avoid subscribing to an agreement that we so judiciously agreed to just a short time ago." It is one thing to say there was always that opportunity for us to change the agreement by law, and that is true. To change the law by joint resolution, however, requires the President's signature.

But the Democrats are not doing that. They are attempting to bypass that whole procedure by incorporating the change in a rule. They create a point of order that can be raised against spending and receipts legislation unless a provision is inserted in that particular piece of legislation with CBO's scorekeeping.

Now that just flies directly in the face of the controversial issue of enforcement that we discussed at length in the budget agreement. One of the reasons I supported the budget agreement was, notwithstanding the tax increases that we had, we thought we had bona fide spending cuts that were bound by law and could not be changed. If we were to have any increases, we would also have offsets, otherwise a minisequester would occur. Now what the Democrats are attempting to do by the rules, not by a law, is to subjugate all those deliberations we had over that protracted period of time and duck the strong enforcement provisions agreed to by the participants.

Mr. Speaker, that is why we are offended. An agreement is an agreement. I talked about in my introduction of the Speaker about dealing fairly and squarely with people and honoring one's word. That has always been my method of operation around here, to have my word as good as my bond, as good as gold. It is disappointing when we break that word between agreeing parties, particularly in regard to the one piece of legislation that was so profound in this last session as to be maligned, and criticized and talked about for months. My view had always been, "You wait until next year and we'll show you how we have brought about some good by these spending caps written into law, and so hard to get around and avoid."

And what you are attempting to do here is circumvent the strong enforcement by this change in the rules. It is really in my judgment unconscionable. So obviously, I have to take exception to the rules you are proposing and urge my colleagues to vote down the previous question so that we may substitute our package of rules so well portrayed by the distinguished gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON].

If that fails, then I urge the Members to support a motion that the gentleman from New York or I will make, a motion to commit, that would negate this provision of the Democratic rules that undermines our budget agreement. It also calls for the Judiciary Committee to report out a balanced budget amendment for the consideration of the House no later than June 30, 1991.

So, Mr. Speaker, I would urge my colleagues to vote down the previous question. Hopefully, we can get our own substitute rules package adopted, and barring that, I urge the Members to support my motion to commit.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield control of the balance of our time on this side to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST].

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HOYER). The gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] will be recognized to control the balance of the time on his side. The gentleman from Texas has 14 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has 16 minutes remaining.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI].

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the proposed changes to the House rules. Some are alleging that the House rule requiring Congressional Budget Office and Joint Committee on Taxation outlay and revenue estimates to be included in revenue and entitlement bills undermines the credibility of the 1990 budget agreement. This is simply not the case. Instead, the proposed rule sends a strong message that we intend to live up to the agreement.

The budget agreement specified that any legislation which increased outlays for an entitlement program or reduced revenues must be paid for in each and every year for the next 5 years. To enforce that requirement, it was agreed that there would be an across-the-board, automatic cut in nonexempt direct spending programs if a bill were passed that was not budget neutral. The practical effect of this pay-as-you-go financing requirement will be that the Medicare Program will automatically be reduced or sequestered, and will compensate for about 80 percent of any enacted legislation which is not budget neutral. Members have a right to know when they cast their vote on the House floor whether or not Medicare and other direct spending entitlement laws are being changed. The proposed change to the House rule ensures that each Member will have this information.

The Committee on Ways and Means has lived up to the pay-as-you-go requirement for the past decade. For example, the Tax Reform Act of 1986 was revenue neutral over a 5-year period; the Family Support Act of 1988 was budget neutral; the catastrophic health insurance bill was budget neutral; and the child care bill approved by the committee last year was fully budget neutral.

To ensure that Medicare and other direct spending programs are not inadvertently sequestered requires that bills reported from a committee be budget neutral. This requires that cost estimates be prepared on each and every amendment that is offered in committee. OMB does not have the capacity or the staff to perform such a function. Furthermore, the Congressional Budget Office and the Joint Committee on Taxation already ably prepare cost estimates which are both independent and objective.

In addition, it is my view that last year's budget negotiators did not intend for OMB of this or any other administration to have the right to be involved in the day-to-day legislative activities of the Congress and its committees. Our system of government requires that the legislative branch be an equal and separate entity. That implies that Congress should work with congressional branch agencies in developing our legislative products. CBO and the Joint Committee on Taxation are independent of any member here. They are not political entities and their estimates reflect nonpartisan, objective analysis. By its very nature, OMB cannot make the same claim. Without this rule, the Director of OMB would have to review and prepare a cost analysis of any "chairman's mark" whether in the Ways and Means Committee or in any other committee of the Congress as well as all amendments that members wished to propose. This would be offensive to me as chairman and should be offensive to all Members of Congress on both sides of the aisle.

If the President believes that a bill is not budget neutral and that the CBO and JCT estimates that are included in a bill are substantially off the mark, the President can exercise his constitutional right to veto such a bill. I would hope that would not be necessary.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, this proposed rules change is important to ensure that the congressional budget process enforces the pay-as-you-go concept in the 1990 budget agreement. I fully intend to support and enforce the pay-as-you-go discipline in my committee since it is a discipline that I have imposed on the Ways and Means Committee for the last decade. I urge all Members to support the rules change.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. CONTE], who was just sworn in for the 17th time.

Mr. CONTE. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend, the gentleman from New York, for yielding this time to me, and I rise in opposition to the rule.

Mr. Speaker, today, amidst the pomp and circumstance of a new Congress, we set the rules of the road by which this Chamber will operate for the next 2 years.

Now, as one of our first acts, we are invited to undo one of the major achievements of the last Congress.

For the first time, the President and the Congress agreed to try to control the fastest growing costs of government—the entitlement programs that spend automatically, without control. We said, if Congress wants new automatic spending programs, it has got to pay for them—pay-as-you-go.

Fiscal responsibility. The law gave the Office of Management and Budget the job of assuring the new spending was fully paid for. That was a conservative provision, no doubt about it. OMB is more concerned about the paying than the going.

Now, less than 3 months later, before this provision has even been tested, the majority wants to change that agreement. Unilaterally, they have decided they don't like that conservative restraint on new automatic spending. And that is what is most distressing.

Here we go. The most fundamental question facing the Congress today is whether we can get the deficit under control. We made a fragile, 5-year agreement with the administration to move toward controlling the deficit. And now, we are invited to start unraveling it.

The message is clear. If this rules change passes, Congress shows there is one thing it wants more than pay-as-you-go—it's play-as-you-go.

Support the effort to commit the majority rules change proposal. Strike the deal-breaking erosion of fiscal restraint.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MURPHY].

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak briefly on the proposed change regarding the bringing of congressional employees under the Fair Labor Standards Act, which was, I understand, addressed by the gentleman from New York.

We include our congressional employees now under the Fair Labor Standards Act, particularly the minimum wage law, by law. This rule change will not change that law. The majority members of the Committee on Education and Labor are satisfied that the leadership and the House Administration Committee are going to properly and legally address the categories for our employees to be in, whether they are covered or not covered. We trust that those who are covered will then suggest to us for legislative change that we allow compensatory time for service for time taken off.

So what we hope to do is this: We direct the leadership and we advise the House Administration Committee to abide by the law, and if there is a necessary change to the law concerning the overtime provision, they would refer them back to our committee. I certainly favor, and I think the majority of our Members favor, bringing all congressional employees under the comp time provision, much the same as those in municipal government and State government are included.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MURPHY. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding and for his clarification. I hope the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MURPHY] is correct that it would be the intent to bring back any change in either the exemption categories or in compensatory time, any change in law, to bring it back to the House for a vote, a separate vote, and to make it a change in law, not a change in the rules.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I assure the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTLETT] that that is my position as a subcommittee chairman under the Committee on Education and Labor, that there be no deviation. That the Committee on House Administration may set categories and may make recommendations, but if it is a matter of a legislative change, something that deviates from the act, I certainly will join the gentleman in saying the matter should be brought before the floor.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would point out to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTLETT] that under this rule that is pending today, the Committee on House Administration would have the authority to implement regulations on this subject and that is the intention of the Committee on House Administration to do so.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. FROST. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. Speaker, I would just note that as I heard what the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTLETT] said, a member of the Committee on Rules, and the gentleman from Pennsylvania said, I hear them saying two different things.

I hear the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MURPHY] say that any change in the exemption categories, which are set by law, would require a change in the law and could not be changed under this resolution. I would note this resolution does appear to change that.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, as a member of the Committee on Rules and a member of the Committee on House Administration, I would respond to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTLETT], it is the intention of this resolution that regulations be issued and that they be issued by the Committee on House Administration.

If the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. MURPHY] seeks to bring this matter up for a vote through his committee, he has the right to do that, but it is the intention that this matter be dealt with from this point forward by regulation.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. GINGRICH], the distinguished whip.

Mr. GINGRICH. Mr. Speaker, let me say first of all that this vote will be a case study in why the American people are increasingly angry at Congress. Just a few months ago the taxpayers were told they have to pay more taxes in a budget deal, but that political spending in Washington will be controlled for 5 years.

Now, on the very first day we are back in session, the Democratic leadership is breaking its agreement with the President. The Democratic leadership says they are not breaking their word. President Bush, on the other hand, says this new rule breaks the deal, and he will veto any bill which includes this new bigger spending provision.

Every House Republican who was part of the budget negotiations agree the Democratic leadership has broken the deal. For the working taxpayer, what is at stake is very clear. The Democratic new rule provides for higher spending. It will have Democrat-controlled staffs estimate new spending, and the result will be higher spending. That higher spending will lead to calls for higher taxes. Already there are a number of leading Democrats talking about a variety of tax increases.

Ironicaly, the budget deal was supposed to last for 5 years. It is being broken on the very first day the House is sworn in.

The Republican amendment is quite clear. Not only does it reestablish the deal that was made last fall, not only does it reestablish the control on spending, but it provides for a very clear date certain to bring up a balanced budget amendment. It is in fact a clear choice.

Now, every Member in this House went home and campaigned against more taxes, against spending in Washington, in favor of a balanced budget. In the next few minutes we are going to have a clear choice. Every Member is going to get to walk back in this room and vote, and vote one way or another. They are going to vote to break their word with the President, they are going to vote to break their word with the taxpayer, they are going to vote to have higher spending and ultimately higher taxes, or they are going to vote to send the signal to bring up a balanced budget amendment. They are going to vote to send the signal to keep their word with the President and the American people, and they are going to vote that they want to control spending.

It is a very clear choice, and I think everyone back home ought to look at those campaign speeches from last fall and they ought to look at this vote, because this vote is real. It is the vote that has real impact on the real pocketbook of every American.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the Speaker as to the time remaining?

Mr. SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. HOYER). The Chair would advise the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] that he has 7 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has 11½ minutes remaining.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. WALKER].

Mr. WALKER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, what we have here is a rules package that says if you cannot live with it, change the rules and ignore whatever needs exist in this body for real reform.

Take, for example, the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. Last year we had a commission that told us that we needed more accuracy in the CONGRES-SIONAL RECORD. We were assured that we would not make the change then, but when we got to the new rules package, that this is one of the things that would be considered.

Well, maybe it was considered, but it was not included. So once again we are going to have a distorted CONGRESSIONAL RECORD because the Democratic majority will not live up to their obligation to make certain that the records of the House are an accurate reflection of what takes place in this body.

Take the Fair Labor Standards Act. We just had a discussion on the floor about that.

It turns out that the chairman of the subcommittee in the Committee on Education and Labor and the gentleman who has drafted the rules package are in complete difference as to the nature of what is happening here.

What it turns out is that the House has simply decided to throw out the law of the land with regard to the minimum wage and has decided to find a way that the House can work its way around it. So we really do not have to comply, like everybody else in the country does.

Take the budget deal. The budget deal last year was predicated on the fact that yes, we would raise taxes on the American people, but at the same time we were going to control spending in Washington.

What do we find out on the very first day of the new Congress? We find out that we are not going to control spending, that we are going to break the deal with the President of the United States, that we are going to figure out a way to use House rules as a mechanism for having brand new spending and much higher spending in the future.

It is very, very interesting how they plan to do this. It is very interesting that they are going to use the Committee on Rules as a vehicle for it, where they stack the ratios in the committee in a way that the minority cannot hope to get a fair ruling.

One of the things that was said by the majority leader that protects the minority is the fact one can go to the Committee on Rules for a waiver.

Big chance. Let us not kid ourselves. Let us not have a joke here. I mean, this is real stuff. That is what taxes are all about.

Now the American people are faced with massive tax increases and no control of spending, and the vote that we cast here in a few minutes will be on that issue.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. PENNY].

Mr. PENNY. Mr. Speaker, I worked as hard as any Member in this Congress to control spending. I was delighted last fall when the budget agreement included tough spending limitations and enforcement mechanisms. If I felt that the rule being proposed by the Democratic Caucus today would unravel the effect of that budget agreement, I would vote against it. But on the contrary, I think it will help us to adhere to and enforce that budget agreement.

We will still have the spending limitations for various categories of spending. We will still have a pay-as-you-go requirement. All of those important budget reforms will still apply.

The only question before us today is whether OMB or CBO will be the scorekeeper.

We have to ask ourselves several questions: does OMB have a better track record in terms of making budget estimates? I think the answer is no.

Does OMB use a more conservative set of economic assumptions? I think if you look at the record over the years, the answer to that question is also no.

Does OMB have a tradition of nonpartisanship in the development of its budget number? I think again the answer is no.

If you are looking for objectivity in setting budget numbers, if you are looking for a timely response so that the work of Congress can proceed, I think the only reliable agency that we have been able to turn to over the years is the Congressional Budget Office. For that reason I feel that this rules change is an appropriate change. It will help us identify accurate numbers, objective numbers by which to measure our work. I think in so doing it will help us to enforce and implement, rather than undermine, the budget agreement reached last fall.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. GRADISON].

Mr. GRADISON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the rules proposed by the Democrats, but especially the provision that instructs the House to disregard the agreement just entered into with the administration by requiring the President to use congressional scorekeeping on all fiscal legislative measures.

The devious proposal is not only a violation of an agreement, it is a direct affront to the rule of law, in particular to a law of the land whose ink is barely dry.

Had the White House instructed the executive departments to disregard a key element of the budget agreement, the Democratic leadership in the Congress would have gone ballistic. They would have urged editorial writers all over the country to object to the executive branch putting itself above the law. But what we see here today is the Democratic Party putting itself above the law.

Furthermore, the Democrats can hardly plead ignorance; it was, predominately, their votes that enacted this provision into law as part of the Omnibus Reconciliation Budget Act of 1990; it was their leaders who negotiated this provision which the majority leader now wants to change. The chairman of the Ways and Means Committee properly argues that the House should have CBO and Joint Tax Committee estimates before taking action on entitlement and tax changes. But he goes too far in arguing that OMB must be bound to follow these estimates in carrying out their sequestration responsibilities.

Mr. Speaker, this is not the way to begin a new Congress. This shameless, unilateral action by House Democrats will poison the waters and make it all but impossible for the House to work in a bipartisan manner to craft vital legislation that the American people need.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTLETT].

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise on behalf of the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GOODLING], the ranking Republican on the Education and Labor Committee, and myself and others in strong opposition to amendment 19, rule LI of this package. It is clear that what this rule does is to reexempt Congress from the Fair Labor Standards Act which we were finally covered by in the last session of Congress.

I say shame on this House, shame on the leadership for bringing this rule to us. For some 50 years Congress has been exempt from every single employee protection law that we have passed for the rest of the country. We are exempt from OSHA, we are exempt from civil rights, we are exempt from the Americans With Disabilities Act, we are exempt from AIDS discrimination, we are exempt from the National Labor Relations Act. We have been exempt from the Fair Labor Standards Act, and in what some say was the only good action taken by the 101st session of Congress, the only positive step was Congress did cover itself under the Fair Labor Standards Act to include Congress, congressional employees under those protections. But now rule LI provides for a reexemption.

Read it for yourself. The rule says that it will leave up to the House Administration Committee the determination of exemption categories and determination of permitting the use of compensatory time as compensation. Both exemption categories and compensatory time are spelled out specifically in the Fair Labor Standards Act by statute, and implemented by regulation of the Department of Labor.

Let us walk through what this means. It means, No. 1, a whole new set of exemptions. The law says exemptions for everyone else are professional, administrative and management, and yet this would provide for new categories thought to be called "legislative, essential, and representational," words and exemptions that are nowhere to be found in the law or either statute or regulation.

In 1989 the House of Representatives for the first time covered its own employees under a major labor law, the Fair Labor Standards Act. Today, with Item 19 of House Resolution 5, the House will attempt to reexempt its employees and set different rules for itself.

DETERMINATION OF EXEMPTION CATEGORIES

House Resolution 5 gives the House Administration Committee authority to determine exemption categories.

The FLSA includes three categories of exemptions which would apply to the House: professional, executive, and administrative.

Last fall, the House Administration Committee came up with three categories of employees who would be exempt from the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act: legislative, essential, and representational.

"Representational" employees could be caseworkers, receptionists, or legislative correspondents—all of whom are acting on behalf of their employers but most of whom do not meet the guidelines defining professional, executive, or administrative employees.

"Essential" employees could be just about anyone. When the House is in session late, staff is needed to keep the doors open, work the lights, make copies, answer phones, and so forth. These employees are essential, but again, not necessarily professional, executive, or administrative.

PERMITTING THE USE OF COMPENSATORY TIME

The FLSA is very specific about compensation for overtime. Overtime hours worked by covered employees must be compensated with wages at one and one-half times the regular rate.

Employees of a State or an interstate governmental agency may receive compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay. Employees of Congress are nowhere given this option, and it would require an amendment to the law to change this.

AUTHORITY TO ISSUE RULES AND REGULATIONS

House Resolution 5 grants unlimited authority to the House Administration Committee to issue rules and regulations applying the FLSA to Congress. Apparently there would be no opportunity for review or comment by Members. The House Administration Committee should bring to the floor a resolution that offers guidance to Members on which employees are exempt—using FLSA guidelines—how to calculate overtime pay, how to treat holidays, mealtimes, and weekends, and other aspects of the law. But this House Resolution gives House Administration authority to unilaterally change the law and re-exempt Congress.

Congressional employees deserve the same rights and protections as private sector employees. Vote to defeat the previous question and to keep FLSA coverage for congressional employees.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GEKAS].

Mr. GEKAS. Mr. Speaker, there is another reason we should be voting down the proposed rules changes by the Democratic majority.

During the budget battle of recent vintage, the Government of the United States was shut down or threatened to be shut down several times. We can never, never undergo that kind of possibility again.

What the Republican substitute, if allowed to be offered, would do is it would take a giant step toward preventing that very same poisonous shutdown of Government which we all seek to avoid. It would allow a continuing resolution, sadly which is needed from time to time, to go into automatic effect if we should fail to meet our responsibilities of a budget reconciliation, and thus prevent the shutdown of Government. We ought to give it a chance to work.

What infamous kind of thing it is to have the Government of the United States shut down while the Armed Forces of the United States are deployed in Saudi Arabia. That actually happened to us last time. Never again.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York [Mr. HOUGHTON], who voted for the Deficit Reduction Act because of the enforcement procedure that the Democrats are doing away with today.

Mr. HOUGHTON. Mr. Speaker, I speak against the rule changes, and specifically the change in the scoring system. I think it is wrong. I think it is inappropriate and I think the timing is bad.

My only hope is that this will not be a party line up or down vote, because I do not think it is a party issue. I just want to make two points.

I do not know what happened at the meetings. I was not there. But I assume a word is a word, and some people who I respect felt that the word was given, and if you agree to something you ought to stick with it.

Here is something that we have not even tried once and now we are trying to change it.

I have spoken to the heads and exheads of the CBO, and they agree with me. There is potentially a problem with the scorekeeping system. But that is not a problem really, because the conditions change, and the forecasting process is in terms of policy impact not economic changes.

I would just like to say one other thing. Here we are, the first session of the 102d Congress, and we are talking about something where the world is on the verge of catastrophe. I would only hope that we would not change the rule and get on with the business that we were sent here to do.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. MCEWEN], a new member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. MCEWEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, as I understand the budget package during the eruption that took place in October it was that when we came back from the summit, Mr. Sununu and Mr. Darman negotiating on behalf of the administration said that ladies and gentlemen, we had forced the gentleman to eat his lips, but we had reached an agreement that will be advantageous again in the future. That was that over the next 5 years we decided upon various spending categories, and whenever Congress overspends we have the authority to reduce spending in that same area so that we do not supersede these limits over the next 5 years.

Some of us over here, most of us over here looked at Mr. Sununu and said Mr. Sununu, they are not going to abide by it. Come March, come April, they are going to just jump out of it, and you are going to be stuck with new taxes, and they are going to increase the spending anyhow. And he said, "Oh, no, you don't understand. We had a big summit, and we argued about it, and we even fought a little, and decided that OMB should decide it, and they conceded and gave a little, and we gave up a little with the tax package." And the Speaker came down here in the well and pleaded with us to come together on a bipartisan basis, for the good of the country, and so by a vote of a very narrow margin we decided to do it.

Some of us went back home and said, I said just a week ago to the chamber of commerce in Dayton, OH, that this thing would not last until March. I was wrong. It did not last through the first day.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES].

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, as one of those minority of the minority that voted for both the summit package and ultimately the Budget Reconciliation Act, I guess I am standing up here today to say thank you to the majority for teaching me a very valuable lesson. Those of us here on our side who did not support the reconciliation bill but who are protesting this rules change because it is a breaking of a word really ought to be coming to the well and saying to those of us who trusted, "We told you so." You did tell us so. You told us that, all the way along, taxes are permanent, and that spending limits will not last. You were right. We were wrong.

We trusted.

The point is not whether CBO can do a better job than OMB. The point is not whether or not you may have a better idea as to how to do the scorekeeping. The point is that you came to all of us and you said, "We have a sugar coating to the very bitter pill of taxation."

I caught unshirted hell at home for my vote on that reconciliation bill, and I was able to say, "Yes, there are taxes, but there are spending limitations."

It is too bad I was only half right.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Kansas [Mrs. MEYERS].

Mrs. MEYERS of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, a great many Members voted for the budget resolution because of the possibility of controlling spending.

I do not know about other districts, but my district in Kansas did not demand of me any new taxes, but they did want something done about controlling the deficit and controlling spending.

The spending caps in that resolution promised to be the most effective control on spending suggested yet. These caps were intermittent, and they did not offset one area of spending against another. If the overspending was in defense, the cutback had to be in defense. They were effective.

This reneges on that bipartisan agreement.

The majority party is incorporating in House rule, not law, where you do not need our votes, after making an agreement last October where you did need our votes to reach agreement.

This rule change it a betrayal. It is betrayal of all of us who voted for the budget agreement, of those in the country who believe that getting control of spending and the deficit is the most important domestic issue before Congress today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HOYER). The gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has 1 minute remaining.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House for 2 minutes. I believe that mine would be the only request on this side. We are dividing our time, and we are 2 minutes short.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Michigan [Mr. HENRY] is recognized for 2 minutes. This will not count against the 1 minute that the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has remaining.

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I express my appreciation to my colleagues for understanding.

All of the Orwellian excellence in the world cannot obscure the fact of what we are doing.

Most of the debate on the majority side has really not clarified the question, but, in fact, tried to obscure it.

The fact is that we are raping the budget agreement that was reached only 3 months ago. That is what it is.

You might tell us it is adultery because it involves consenting adults. We are trying to tell you we are not consenting.

We are told that there were technical agreements that everyone understood were to be made later. That is what we were told. Here is the White House understanding. I read the President's message to the Speaker:

> This rule would change the new pay-as-you-go enforcement mechanism by overturning a specifically, specifically negotiated and agreed scoring provision. More important, if the proposed rule is adopted, the House of Representatives will have begun the 102nd Congress by undercutting the credibility of the entire budget agreement.

That is what we are doing, Mr. Speaker. Call it adultery. It is rape.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has 1 minute remaining.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Connecticut [Mrs. JOHNSON].

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to the substance of this proposal, and with deep concern for the subversion of the legislative process contained in this package.

The substance strikes at the heart of the budget agreement. The process strikes at the heart of democracy, and so I am going to use such time as I may consume, and I am not going to recognize the authority of the Speaker's gavel, because I want to make very clear the implications of what is happening here.

First of all, this House is operating under precedent, not under rule. Precedent is something that we honor because we hold ourselves to a standard of ethical conduct that requires honoring our rules.

If we do not hold ourselves to that standard of ethical conduct, then the line between self-government and chaos disintegrates. If we cannot operate ethically, we cannot govern ourselves as a free nation. So, honor is everything; word is bond.

I choose not to be governed by the gavel, because I want to demonstrate that where word is not bond, democracy cannot survive.

The majority leader himself made my case. He said that in the summit agreement, the summiteers could not agree, so they adopted the OMB right to determine spending levels. But, he said, we—the Democrats—told the President that we might seek to change this part of the package, and he himself said, and you can look in the RECORD tomorrow, he himself used the words that, "We might propose changing this portion of the law, and the President could veto it." That is the proper course of action.

If we were doing that here today, democracy in its gut and at the level of trust that it demands would not be at risk; but the majority party is not proposing a statutory change for which they could be held accountable.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. The majority party is proposing a rules change.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would state to the gentlewoman that whatever point she is trying to make that the Chair is going to make a point.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. It does not change the law.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House will operate under proper decorum.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Rather through the rule, they are intending to abrogate the content and meaning of the law. One could ask ones self, why is this happening today? It is happening for a very simple reason. It is happening for the same simple reason that Wall Street was crippled by greed. On Wall Street individual greed took precedence over that code of conduct that had in the past regulated business decisions, the conduct of business, on Wall Street.

What is happening here is that individual desire for spending programs is overriding the public interest in deficit reduction.

Mr. SIKORSKI. Mr. Speaker, regular order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman is out of order. The gentlewoman is making the point of not folowing the rules.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry. I know this is unpleasant.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman will remove herself from the well within 30 seconds.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. It is imperative that some of us stand up for the fundamental principles on which democracy rests, and I will be done soon, but I will finish.

In the budget agreement that we adopted, we allowed a significant amount of spending increase and tax increases, and then we adopted a discipline over spending in the future years of the agreement.

Who in their right mind would have thought that we could have increased HHS spending 14 percent under a summit agreement whose goal it was to reduce the deficit?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. By implementing the budget agreement through such large first-year increases, we ate up our spending opportunity for this year as well. This rules change is being proposed because Democrat

Members are now angry that they ate up the spending last year.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Texas seek time?

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. And that consequently, this year the summit agreement will require us to cut spending. To avoid having to discipline spending, these rules propose that we adopt another monitor of spending, another body to estimate costs, and thereby make room for new spending under a budget agreement that requires cuts.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. They are going to increase spending as they desire, abrogating the public interest in deficit reduction. In other words, those supporting this rules proposal now are subverting the fiscal constraint sections for the specified purpose of allowing more spending than the summit agreement would allow.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, has the time of the other side expired?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the other side has expired. The gentleman from Texas has 5 minutes remaining.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. That is why this, today's debate, is happening. We are at a point where individual desires to spend on our own special interest programs are overriding the larger public interest in deficit reduction to which we as a Congress committed ourselves. Frankly, I feel personally compelled to demonstrate the consequences to democracy of the destruction of the moral principles that underly our form of government.

Just as my unwillingness to honor the rules of House debate creates havoc, so the majority party's unwillingness to adhere to a negotiated deal to which they gave their word, is deeply and fundamentally violative of the trust that is essential to democracy succeeding.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. I rise to a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. As I said, I am not going to talk at length but only for the very few minutes necessary to make clear my concern with the substance and process violations in this rules proposal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GONZALEZ. The gentlewoman is out of order and is defying the Chair's ruling and, therefore, I am imploring the Chair to exercise its authority to enforce the rules of the House by summoning the Sergeant at Arms and presenting the mace.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair may do that.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. I regret that the majority party on such an important matter refused to allow Members the time we need, and I particularly regret this demonstration of oppression of the minority as democracy simply cannot survive if the minority's right to debate is deeply compromised. We must do better than this in the months ahead. We must reject these rules. We must come back with a rules package that honors statutory law and that does not seek to change law through the subterfuge of rules changes. We must come back with a package that honors the standard of ethical conduct on which this House has always depended.

I thank the Speaker.

□ 1510

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of concluding debate, I yield the remaining time to the distinguished chairman of the Committee on the Budget, the gentleman from California [Mr. PANETTA].

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, first of all, let me urge support for the rules. The majority party, Democrats, control the House, and were elected by the people of this Nation to control the House. We intend to operate under the rules that we propose for the House. These rules are fair. They are balanced. They are responsible. They provide for the orderly operation of the House. That is our responsibility. That is what we fulfill today.

Specifically, on the issue of OMB and CBO, relating to the scoring of pay-as-you-go legislation; for those Members who voted for the budget agreement, let me address my remarks to those who voted for the budget agreement. It is not the intent of the leadership to in any way undermine the budget agreement. The issue here is not whether or not we enforce the budget agreement. We will enforce the budget agreement. The issue is not whether or not we will have pay-as-you-go requirements. We will have pay-as-you-go requirements. Indeed, the issue is not whether or not there will be sequester. The fact is that CBO in its scoring could indeed produce sequester with regard to pay-as-you-go legislation. Those are not the issues here.

The issue here is one issue alone: Who will be the scorekeeper for the House of Representatives when it comes to pay-as-you-go legislation, moving through this committee? The official scorekeeper of the House of Representatives in the Congress is the Congressional Budget Office. It scores authorizing bills, it scores appropriation bills, it scores, with the help of the Joint Committee, tax bills. It scores whether or not we have fulfilled our goals under the budget resolution. Therefore, it is incumbent that CBO be our official scorer when it comes to pay-as-you-go legislation.

Now, I recognize the conflict that has been created by Gramm-Rudman with regards to OMB and the use of sequester, and indeed OMB has the authority when it looks at overall deficit numbers, to establish whether or not we have breached those overall deficit numbers. The issue under this agreement is individual pay-as-you-go bills, and the question is: Is OMB going to score for the committee and for the House? Are they going to be the principal scorekeeper, or is CBO going to be the principal scorekeeper?

Now, what is the problem with the Office of Management and Budget? There are several. First of all, it is a branch of the executive branch of government. It is part of the executive branch of government. It basically advocates policy on the part of the executive branch of government. CBO does not do that. Third, there have been differences in scoring in major areas. For example, with regard to the issue on taxation, the capital gains. There was a difference of almost $21 billion between OMB and CBO. When it came to Medicare, there was a difference of $7 billion. When it came to food stamp legislation, almost 336-percent difference between numbers recommended by CBO and numbers by OMB.

So those were the legitimate concerns that came up during the budget summit. A lot of people have talked here about the issue of what was agreed to or not agreed to in the budget summit. I was chairman of the task force on the budget process. This was a disputed issue because of the very concerns that I have raised. We tried and made an effort to resolve the effort. One proposal was to develop a cushion, to allow for a cushion so that if there were differences, we could try to cover them within a proposed cushion. That was objected to, not by the Democrats, but by the Republicans. We offered another proposal with regard to OMB offering some scorekeeping at the conference stage. The problem, very frankly, was that Members did not want to be in a position of having to negotiate with OMB throughout the committee process. That is a legitimate concern. So, in the last meeting of the budget summit in the Speaker's office, the decision was that what we need is a study by OMB and CBO to try and resolve their differences so that we can, in fact, have a legitimate score on the pay-as-you-go bills in which there is unity between OMB and CBO, as to those scores.

Now, with regard to the flexibility of the minority in administration. If they do not like what is being proposed in the bills, they could offer an amendment on the floor. It can be waived through the Committee on Rules. It can be negotiated in conference, and the President ultimately has the ability, as he has stated, to veto the bills. My urging here is that we request OMB and CBO to implement a study, to report back to the Congress on their differences. We will not pass any pay-as-you-go legislation until we complete the budgetary in any event. Therefore, please allow Members the time to complete that study, resolve these differences, so that we can focus on policy issues. That is where the debate ought to be.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman be given 2 additional minutes so that I can ask him a respectful question, as he pledged.

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I object to the request of the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON].

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HOYER). The question arises on the adoption.

Mr. MCEWEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman be permitted to respond, as he pledged he would.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There has already been an objection to that.

Mr. MCEWEN. Mr. Speaker, I am renewing my personal request. I am asking unanimous consent to address the House for 2 minutes so that I may yield to the distinguished chairman, on questions that he made during the course of his presentation, questions that we challenged as being under dispute.

I would like to have a response, and therefore I ask unanimous consent for him to be permitted to respond.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would indicate that the previous question has been moved.

Will the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FROST] withhold on the motion, or does he press the motion?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I withheld on the motion, and I would not object to a 2-minute unanimous-consent request, for purposes of a response from the chairman. At that point, I will renew my motion to move the previous question.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Speaker, and thank the gentleman for understanding.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from New York request the additional unanimous consent for the 2 minutes?

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, yes, we do, so we can have a little colloquy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California [Mr. PANETTA] is recognized for an additional 2 minutes.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PANETTA. I am pleased to yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman, who has come before the Committee on Rules many times, that I deeply admire and respect him, and I do. However, the argument today is about the President of the United States, who called me on the phone at 6:30 a.m. on a Friday morning and told me that the gentleman from California [Mr. PANETTA] and the Democratic leadership had agreed to have OMB as the relevant agency. That is why he agreed to the tax increase.

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, with all due respect to the President of the United States, the President of the United States was not present in the summit meetings. The President of the United States was not present during negotiations during this issue. There were three representatives from the administration who were present who are involved in this disputed issue. At the time, I said to them that if we could not resolve it here, make no mistake about it, this will be a disputed issue if we cannot resolve it. We could not resolve it. We made an effort to do that.

This is a way, very frankly, of trying to force the issue, so that hopefully OMB and CBO can reduce their differences on scoring. That solely the issue does not have anything to do with the budget agreement or pay as you go, or nothing to do with the enforcement. I intend that the agreement is fully enforced. I want to have an objective a scorekeeper as possible, and I prefer CBO over OMB. It is that simple.

Mr. MCEWEN. Mr. Speaker, it says in the law that OMB would be the scorekeeper, and if that is established in the law, what is the purpose of this rule? Why the change, if it is not reneging upon an agreement? Why did we not proceed as we had proceeded before, except that it is a challenge?

Mr. PANETTA. The decision at the end of the final discussion on that was that indeed we would have a study by OMB and CBO to try to resolve their differences. That was the decision that we arrived at because these are great differences.

Now, to OMB's credit, they are trying to move toward more credible projections in terms of their costs.

□ 1520

I think all of us admit that OMB, whether it is a Democratic or a Republican administration, have played games with projections. They played games on economic projections. They played games on policy issues.

The CBO, on the other hand, remains the most objective scorekeeper for the House and the Senate. That is understood.

Mr. MCEWEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the President's communication may be inserted in the RECORD at this point.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HOYER). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The letter above referred to of December 21, 1990, from President Bush, is as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, December 21, 1990.

Hon. THOMAS S. FOLEY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: I understand that the House Democratic Caucus has approved a rule for consideration by the House that would begin to undo the recently enacted Budget Agreement.

This rule would change the new pay-as-you-go enforcement mechanism by overturning a specifically negotiated and agreed scoring provision. More important, if the proposed rule is adopted, the House of Representatives will have begun the 102nd Congress by undercutting the credibility of the entire Budget Agreement. If specifically negotiated and agreed provisions are to be undone before the ink is dry, how can we expect the Agreement to be taken seriously? Where, one might reasonably ask, is the process of erosion to stop?

Abandonment of the Agreement would undermine hard-earned confidence in the U.S. Government's improved ability to control Federal spending. To undermine such confidence in the current economic circumstances seems to me to be particularly unwise.

In order to preserve the integrity of the Budget Agreement, I urge you to prevent the adoption of any rule that would violate our Agreement. And in order to preserve confidence in that Agreement, I must advise you that I will veto any bill that contains language such as that specified in the rule approved by the Democratic Caucus.

Sincerely,

GEORGE BUSH.

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HOYER). Before the Chair takes the vote, if there are any Members who did not take the oath, if there are any Members who were absent when the oath was administered by the Speaker, the Speaker is prepared to give the oath before this vote is announced. Any Member who has not taken the oath, who wishes to take the oath now, will report to the well.

Mr. WEBER and Mr. SHUSTER changed their vote from "yea" to "nay."

Mr. JONES of North Carolina changed his vote from "nay" to "yea."

So the previous question was ordered.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

MOTION TO COMMIT OFFERED BY MR. MICHEL

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, I offer a motion to commit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to commit.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. MICHEL moves to commit the resolution H. Res. 5 to a select committee comprised of the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader with instructions to report back the same to the House forthwith with only the following amendments:

(1) Strike paragraph (10) and redesignate succeeding paragraphs accordingly.

(2) At the end of the resolution, add the following new paragraph:

"(19)(a) The Committee on the Judiciary is directed to report to the House not later than June 30, 1991, a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution to provide for a balanced budget for the United States Government.

"(b) Not later than ten legislative days after the Committee on Judiciary has reported a joint resolution pursuant to subparagraph (a), the Committee on Rules shall report a resolution providing for the consideration of such joint resolution in the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union under an open amendment process. If the Committee on the Judiciary has not reported a joint resolution as required by the date specified in subparagraph (a), the Committee on Rules shall report not later than ten legislative days after such date a resolution providing for the consideration in the Committee of the Whole of the first joint resolution introduced in the 102nd Congress to amend the Constitution to provide for a balanced budget for the United States Government under an open amendment process.

"(c) If the Committee on Rules has not reported a resolution pursuant to subparagraph (b) by the date specified, it shall be in order for any Member, as a matter of highest privilege, on any day thereafter, to move that the House resolve into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the first joint resolution introduced in the 102nd Congress proposing an amendment to the Constitution to provide for a balanced budget for the United States Government, the joint resolution shall be subject to ten hours of general debate to be equally divided between the proponents and opponents of the joint resolution, and shall then be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule.".

Mr. MICHEL (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the motion to commit be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, and I will not object, but I will yield to the Republican leader, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. MICHEL] to explain what it is he is attempting to do.

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, responding very briefly to the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] under his reservation, my motion to commit would simply strike the CBO scoring directive and add a directive to the House Committee on the Judiciary to report to the House no later than June 30, 1991, a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced Federal budget. That is it in essence, and that is the motion to commit, and I urge my Members to support it.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Illinois for his explanation.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to commit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

So the resolution was agreed to.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on House Resolution 5, the resolution just agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GLICKMAN). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Speaker, I represented the United States as an international observer during the second round of presidential elections in Guatemala on January 6. My plane was scheduled to depart and unfortunately, I missed votes on January 3. Had I been present, I would have voted "no" on rollcall 3, "yes" on rollcall 4, and "no" on rollcall 5.

COMPENSATION OF CERTAIN MINORITY EMPLOYEES

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 6) and I ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the resolution.

H. RES. 6

Resolved, That pursuant to the Legislative Pay Act of 1929, as amended, the six minority employees authorized therein shall be the following named persons, effective January 3, 1991, until otherwise ordered by the House to-wit: William R. Pitts, Jr., Walter P. Kennedy, Ronald W. Lasch, Jay Pierson, William Gavin and Vicki Martyak, each to receive gross compensation pursuant to the provisions of House Resolution 119, Ninety- fifth Congress, as enacted into permanent law by section 115 of Public Law 95-94.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

HOUR OF MEETING OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 7) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 7

Resolved, That unless otherwise ordered, the hour of meeting of the House shall be 12 o'clock meridian on Mondays and Tuesdays; 2 o'clock post meridian on Wednesdays; 11 o'clock ante meridian on all other days of the week up to and including May 14, 1991; and that from May 15, 1991, until the end of the first session, the hour of daily meeting of the House shall be 12 o'clock meridian on Mondays and Tuesdays and 10 o'clock ante meridian on all other days of the week.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF THE ASSEMBLY OF THE CONGRESS

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed on the part of the House to join a like committee on the part of the Senate to notify the President of the United States that a quorum of each House has been assembled and is ready to receive any communication that he may be pleased to make has performed that duty.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS TO CERTAIN STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE HOUSE

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged resolution (H. Res. 8) and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 8

POLICIES OF THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair customarily takes this occasion on the opening day of a Congress to announce his policies with respect to particular aspects of the legislative process. The Chair will insert in the RECORD announcements by the Speaker concerning: First, privileges of the floor; second, introduction of bills and resolutions; third, requests for committees to sit during the 5-minute rule; fourth, unanimous consent requests for the consideration of bills and resolutions; fifth, recognition for 1-minute speeches and special orders; sixth, decorum in debate; seventh, conduct of votes by electronic device; eighth, jurisdictional concepts related to clause 5(b) of rule XXI; and ninth, appointment of conferees. These announcements where appropriate will indicate verbatim the origins of the stated policies and the dates thereof. The Speaker intends to continue the policies reflected in these statements in the 102d Congress.

1. Privileges of the Floor

The Speaker's announced instructions to the Doorkeeper and Sergeant at Arms in the 98th Congress on January 25, 1983, and in the 99th Congress on January 21, 1986, regarding strict enforcement of rule XXXII, specifying those persons having the privileges of the floor during sessions of the House, will be applied during the 102d Congress.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, JANUARY 25, 1983

The SPEAKER. Rule XXXII strictly limits those persons to whom the privileges of the floor during sessions of the House are extended, and that rule prohibits the Chair from entertaining requests for suspension or waiver of that rule. As reiterated as recently as August 22, 1974, by Speaker Albert under the principle stated in Deschler's Procedure, chapter 4, section 3.4, the rule strictly limits the number of committee staff permitted on the floor at one time during the consideration of measures reported from their committees. This permission does not extend to Members' personal staff except when a Member has an amendment actually pending during the 5-minute rule. To this end, the Chair requests all Members and committee staff to cooperate to assure that not more than the proper number of staff are on the floor, and then only during the actual consideration of measures reported from their committees. The Chair will again extend this admonition to all properly admitted majority and minority staff by insisting that their presence on the floor, including the areas behind the rail, be restricted to those periods during which their supervisors have specifically requested their presence. The Chair stated this policy in the 97th Congress, and an increasing number of Members have insisted on strict enforcement of the rule. The Chair has consulted with and has the concurrence of the Minority Leader with respect to this policy and has directed the Doorkeeper and the Sergeant at Arms to assure proper enforcement of the rule.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, JANUARY 21, 1986

The SPEAKER. Rule XXXII strictly limits those persons to whom the privileges of the floor during sessions of the House are extended, and that rule prohibits the Chair from entertaining request for suspension or waiver of that rule. As reiterated by the Chair on January 25, 1983, and January 3, 1985, and as stated in chapter 4, section 3.4 of Deschler-Brown's Procedure in the House of Representatives, the rule strictly limits the number of committee staff on the floor at one time during the consideration of measures reported from their committees. This permission does not extend to Members' personal staff except when a Member's amendment is actually pending during the 5-minute rule. It also does not extend to personal staff of Members who are sponsors of pending bills or who are engaging in special orders. The Chair requests the cooperation of all Members and committee staff to assure that only the proper number of staff are on the floor, and then only during the consideration of measures reported from their committees. The Chair is making this statement and reiterating this policy because of concerns expressed by many Members about the number of committee staff on the floor during the last weeks of the first session. The Chair requested each chairman, and each ranking minority member, to submit to the Doorkeeper a list of staff who are to be allowed on the floor during the consideration of a measure reported by their committee. Each staff person should exchange his or her ID for a "committee staff" badge which is to be worn while on the floor. The Chair has consulted with the Minority Leader and will continue to consult with him. The Chair has furthermore directed the Doorkeeper and the Sergeant at Arms to assure proper enforcement of Rule XXXII.

2. Introduction of Bills and Resolutions

The Speaker's statement in the 98th Congress on January 3, 1983, regarding the signing of bills and resolutions, his determination of committee jurisdiction on a joint or sequential basis, and his discretionary authority to refer nongermane Senate amendments to House bills to the committees of appropriate jurisdiction, will continue to apply in the 102d Congress.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, JANUARY 3, 1983

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to make a statement concerning the introduction and reference of bills and resolutions. As Members are aware, they have the privilege today of introducing bills. Heretofore on the opening day of a new Congress, several hundred bills have been introduced. The Chair will do his best to refer as many bills as possible, but he will ask the indulgence of Members if he is unable to refer all the bills that may be introduced. Those bills which are not referred and do not appear in the RECORD as of today will be included in the next day's RECORD and printed with a date as of today.

The Chair has advised all officers and employees of the House that are involved in the processing of bills that every bill, resolution, memorial, petition or other material that is placed in the hopper must bear the signature of a Member. Where a bill or resolution is jointly sponsored, the signature must be that of the Member first named thereon. The bill clerk is instructed to return to the Member any bill which appears in the hopper without an original signature. This procedure was inaugurated in the 92nd Congress. It has worked well, and the Chair thinks that it is essential to continue this practice to insure the integrity of the process by which legislation is introduced in the House. The Chair also desires to announce that pursuant to the authority granted him in Rule X, clause 5, he will continue the practice of making referral of bills and resolutions as indicated in the annotations under that clause contained in the House Rules and Manual.

3. Requests for Committees to Sit During the 5-Minute Rule

The Speaker's guidelines announced during the 98th Congress on March 3, 1983, regarding unanimous consent requests for committees to sit during the 5-minute rule will continue to apply during the 102d Congress.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, MARCH 3, 1983

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces that he will recognize Members to make requests for committees to sit during the 5-minute rule only at certain times during the legislative day. While the precedents indicate that such requests when pending are not votes requiring the presence of a quorum, the Chair wishes to avoid the need for a call of the House pending such requests but at the same time to assure predictability as to when he will accord recognition. Therefore, the Speaker intends to set up the following guidelines:

First, as has been established by precedent, permission to sit shall require unanimous consent if the permission pertains to a day for which the program has not been announced. Thus, prior to the announcement of the legislative program for the following week, only one objection would be required to prevent a committee from sitting. Following the announcement by the Majority Leader, or his designee, of the program for the next week, the Chair would entertain requests for committees to sit during the following week and 10 objections would then be required. The Chair wants it to be clearly understood that the first available opportunity in the House following the announcement of the program is an appropriate time for considering requests pertaining to the following week if the announcement comes before the completion of all legislative business.

Second, the Chair will not entertain requests on days when all votes on legislative matters have been posponed to a later date; however, the Chair will accept requests for committee hearings to be held later in the week if the request has the concurrence of the ranking minority member of the committee or subcommittee.

Third, on days when legislative business is to be conducted, and when rollcall votes are in order on legislation, the Chair will recognize during the 1-minute period only when he is assured that the ranking minority member of the committee or subcommittee involved supports the requests for the hearings or meetings.

Requests that have been objected to by 10 or more Members pursuant to clause 2(i) of Rule XI may not be renewed on the same day unless the Chair is assured that the objections have been withdrawn. The Chair will in no instance entertain requests after the legislative business of the day has been concluded; that is, after leaves of absence have been laid down or unanimous consent requests from the majority and minority tables have been entertained at the end of the day.

4. Unanimous-Consent Requests for the Consideration of Bills and Resolutions

The Speaker's policy with respect to recognition for unanimous-consent requests for the consideration of unreported bills and resolutions and for the consideration of House bills with Senate amendments, as initially announced in the 98th Congress on January 25 and April 26, 1984, will apply during the 102d Congress.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, JANUARY 25, 1984

The SPEAKER. As indicated [in section 757] of the House Rules and Manual, the Chair has established a policy of conferring recognition upon Members to permit consideration of bills and resolutions by unanimous consent only when assured that the majority and minority floor leadership and committee and subcommittee chairmen and ranking minority members have no objection. Consistent with that policy, and with the Chair's inherent power of recognition under clause 2, Rule XIV, the Chair, and any occupant of the Chair appointed as Speaker pro tempore pursuant to clause 7, Rule I, will decline recognition for unanimous consent requests for consideration of bills and resolutions without assurances that the request has been cleared by that leadership. This denial of recognition by the Chair will not reflect necessarily any personal opposition on the part of the Chair to orderly consideration of the matter in question, but will reflect the determination upon the part of the chair that orderly procedures will be followed; that is, procedures involving consultation and agreement between floor and committee leadership on both sides of the aisle.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, APRIL 26, 1984

The SPEAKER. With respect to unanimous consent requests to dispose of Senate amendments to House bills on the Speaker's table, the Chair will entertain such a request only if made by the chairman of the committee with jurisdiction, or by another committee member authorized to make the request.

5. Recognition for 1-Minute Speeches and Special Orders

The Speaker's statement in the 98th Congress on January 25, 1984 with respect to the Speaker's policy for recognition for 1-minute speeches and special orders, alternating between both sides of the aisle, announced on August 8, 1984, and implemented on September 5, 1984, will apply during the 102d Congress.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER, AUGUST 8, 1984

The SPEAKER. After consultation with and concurrence by the Minority Leader, the Chair announces that he will institute a new policy of recognition for "1-minute" speeches and for special order requests. The Chair will alternate recognition for 1-minute speeches between majority and minority Members, in the order in which they seek recognition in the well under present practice from the Chair's right to the Chair's left, with possible exceptions for Members of the leadership and Members having business requests. The Chair, of course, reserves the right to limit 1-minute speeches to a certain period of time or to a special place in the program on any given day, with notice to the leadership.

With respect to recognition for "special order speeches" at the end of legislative business of the day, the Chair will recognize first those Members who wish to address the House for 5 minutes or less, alternating between majority and minority Members, otherwise in the order in which those permissions were granted in the House. Thereafter, the Chair will recognize those Members who wish to address the House for longer than 5 minutes up to 1 hour, alternating between majority and minority Members in the order in which those permissions were granted by the House.

Thus, all Members can continue to obtain permissions to address the House in the same ways as are presently utilized, either by requests made by the acting majority and minority leaders at the end of the day through their respective Cloakrooms or by individual requests agreed to on the floor for that day or for a future day. For the request to be entertained, it should state "permission to address the House at the conclusion of legislative business, consistent with the Speaker's announced policy of recognition." Thus, Members should be on notice that a special order for more than 5 minutes, although agreed to at a prior time, may be preceded by a series of special orders of 5 minutes of less, or by a longer special order of a Member of the other party.

Further refinements of this policy based upon experience may be announced by the Chair in the future after consultation with the Minority Leader.

6. Decorum in Debate

It is essential that the dignity of the proceedings of the House be preserved, not only to assure that the House conducts its business in an orderly fashion but to permit Members to properly comprehend and participate in the business of the House. To this end, and in order to permit the Chair to understand and to correctly put the question on the numerous requests that are made by Members, the Chair requests that Members and others who have the privileges of the floor desist from audible conversation in the Chamber while the business of the House is being conducted. The Chair would encourage all Members to review rule XIV to gain a better understanding of the proper rules of decorum expected of them, and especially: First, to avoid personalities in debate with respect to references to other Members, the Senate, and the President; second, to address the Chair while standing and only when and not beyond the time recognized, and not to address the television or other imagined audience; third, to refrain from passing between the Chair and the Member speaking, or directly in front of a Member speaking from the well; fourth, to refrain from smoking in the Chamber; and generally to display the same degree of respect to the Chair and other Members that every Member is due.

7. Conduct of Votes by Electronic Device

As Members are aware, clause 5 of rule XV provides that "Members shall have not less than 15 minutes from the ordering of the rollcall or quorum call to have their vote or presence recorded."

While the rule obviously states a minimum, rather than maximum, time requirement for electronic votes, and while no occupant of the chair would attempt to prevent a Member who is in the Chamber at the expiration of that time from casting his or her vote, the Chair has noticed that in the past session inordinate delays in concluding electronic votes or quorum calls would occur when Members would notify the Chair through the Cloakrooms that they were on their way to the Chamber from a variety of locations.

The Chair would encourage all Members to depart for the Chamber promptly upon the appropriate bell and light signal, since there is no guarantee that Members can rely upon telephoned notice to the Cloakrooms in order to have votes held open. As indicated by his remarks on this subject on October 13, 1990, the minority leader joins the Chair in urging all Members to help avoid the unnecessary loss of time in conducting the business of the House.

8. Jurisdictional Concepts Related to Clause 5(b) of Rule XXI

Clause 5(b) of rule XXI prohibits the reporting of a tax or tariff matter by any committee not having that jurisdiction. Most of the questions of order arising under this clause since its adoption in 1983 have related to provisions that clearly affected the operation of the Internal Revenue Code or the customs laws. From time to time, however, such a question has related to a provision drafted as a user or regulatory fee levied on members of a class that occasions or avails itself of a particular governmental activity, typically to generate revenue in support of that activity.

In order to provide guidance concerning the referral of bills, to assist committees in staying within their appropriate jurisdictions under rule X, to assist committees without jurisdiction over tax or tariff measures in complying with clause 5(b) of rule XXI, and to protect the constitutional prerogative of the House to originate revenue bills, the Speaker will make the following statement:

Standing committees of the House (other than the Committees on Appropriations and Budget) have jurisdiction to consider user, regulatory and other fees, charges, and assessments levied on a class directly availing itself of, or directly subject to, a governmental service, program, or activity, but not on the general public, as measures to be utilized solely to support, subject to annual appropriations, the service, program, or activity (including agency functions associated therewith) for which such fees, charges, and assessments are established and collected and not to finance the costs of Government generally. The fee must be paid by a class benefiting from the service, program or activity, or being regulated by the agency; in short, there must be a reasonable connection between the payors and the agency or function receiving the fee. The fund that receives the amounts collected is not itself determinative of the existence of a fee or a tax. The Committee on Ways and Means has jurisdiction over "revenue measures generally" under rule X. That committee is entitled to an appropriate referral of broad-based fees and could choose to recast such fees as excise taxes. A provision only reauthorizing or amending an existing fee without fundamental change, or creating a new fee generating only a de minimis aggregate amount of revenues, does not necessarily require a sequential referral to the Committee on Ways and Means. The Chair intends to coordinate these principles with the Committee on the Budget and the Congressional Budget Office, especially in the reconciliation process, so that budget scorekeeping does not determine, and reconciliation directives and their implementation will not be inconsistent with, committee jurisdiction.

Further, it should be emphasized that the constitutional prerogative of the House to originate revenue measures will continue to be viewed broadly to include any meaningful revenue proposal that the Senate may attempt to originate.

9. Appointment of Conferees

Consistent with clause 6 of rule X, the Chair intends to develop and implement a policy that would enable him to the fullest extent feasible to simplify the appointment of conferees.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, January 3, 1991.

Hon. THOMAS S. FOLEY,
The Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Under Clause 4 of Rule III of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, I herewith designate Mr. W. Raymond Colley, Deputy Clerk, to sign any and all papers and do all other acts for me under the name of the Clerk of the House which he would be authorized to do by virtue of this designation, except such as are provided by statute, in case of my temporary absence of disability.

If Mr. Colley should not be able to act in my behalf for any reason, then Ms. Dolores C. Snow, Assistant to the Clerk, or Mr. Dallas L. Dendy, Jr., Assistant to the Clerk, should similarly perform such duties under the same conditions as are authorized by this designation.

These designations shall remain in effect for the 102nd Congress or until modified by me.

With great respect, I am
Sincerely yours,
DONNALD K. ANDERSON,
Clerk, House of Representatives.

ADJOURNMENT FROM THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1991, TO MONDAY, JANUARY 7, 1991, AND SUNDRY MEETING DATES AND TIMES THROUGH WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1991

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at noon on Monday next; that when the House adjourns on Monday, January 7, 1991, it adjourn to meet at noon on Wednesday, January 9, 1991; that when the House adjourns on Wednesday, January 9, it adjourn to meet at noon on Friday, January 11; that when the House adjourns on Friday, January 11, it adjourn to meet at noon on Monday, January 14; that when the House adjourns on Monday, January 14, it adjourn to meet at noon on Wednesday, January 16; that when the House adjourns on Wednesday, January 16, it adjourn to meet at noon on Friday, January 18; that when the House adjourns on Friday, January 18, it adjourn to meet at noon on Tuesday, January 22; and that when the House adjourns on Tuesday, January 22, it adjourn to meet at noon on Wednesday, January 23.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTION REGARDING IRAQ

(Mr. BENNETT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, today, DICK DURBIN and I introduced a resolution which praises the diplomatic and economic leadership by the President in dealing with the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait. Our resolution, relying on the Constitution, also requires action by Congress before any offensive military action is initiated against Iraq.

The question of whether to go to war is such a grave decision, it is not a decision to be left to one man. Our Constitution wisely makes this the responsibility of Congress, not the President. In 1798, James Madison, considered by many to be the father of our Constitution, wrote to Thomas Jefferson:

> The Constitution supposes, what the history of all governments demonstrates, that the executive is the branch of power most interested in war, and most prone to it. [The Constitution] has accordingly, with studied care, vested the question of war in the legislature.

Madison warned that if the President, > * * * obliges the legislature to declare war contrary to its judgment, and * * * imposes a like moral obligation, to grant the requisite supplies * * * it is evident that the people are cheated out of the best ingredients in their government, the safeguards of peace which is the greatest of their blessings.

Unlike the budget, Social Security, or any of the other issues confronting our country, the question of war is an issue of life or death. It is too critical a decision to be made by the President alone; the people, through Congress, must be heard.

In our zeal to uphold international law, we should not trample upon the supreme law of our land, the U.S. Constitution.

DICK and I are joined by the following Members in sponsoring this resolution: FRANK ANNUNZIO, GEORGE MILLER, EDWARD ROYBAL, PETE STARK, CHARLES SCHUMER, EDOLPHUS TOWNS, BARBARA BOXER, ROBERT MRAZEK, GEORGE SANGMEISTER, LANE EVANS, RICK BOUCHER, GEORGE HOCHBRUECKNER, MAT-THEW MCHUGH, LOUISE SLAUGHTER, JOLENE UNSOELD, BOB TRAXLER, RONALD DELLUMS, BERNIE SANDERS, JERRY COSTELLO, ROMANO MAZZOLI, CHARLES RANGEL, SIDNEY YATES, GERALD KLECZKA, DAVID NAGLE, MARTIN OLAV SABO, SAM GEJDENSON, MARCY KAPTUR, MORRIS UDALL, CHESTER ATKINS, HENRY WAXMAN, LEON PANETTA, KWEISI MFUME, PETER KOSTMAYER, GLENN POSHARD, JOHN LEWIS, and HOWARD WOLPE.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will remind the audience that they should refrain from expressing any positive or negative expressions regarding the conduct of Members here on the floor of the House.

NO MORE BUDGET SUMMITS

(Mr. DANNEMEYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, it is sad but necessary for Members, at the beginning of this new Congress, to reflect a little on where we are, on the increase in the national debt that is projected.

To do that, I want to draw the Members' attention to what was the projected deficit in January of 1990 for fiscal year 1991: $130 billion; 2 months later, CBO, the same agency, estimating the deficit projection, was $161 billion; 4 months later, July, CBO said the deficit for 1991 would be $232 billion; and then, in December, at the close of the year, the same agency, CBO, said the deficit would be $253 billion.

What is the increase in the national debt projected for this fiscal year; $399 billion? This place is out of control. The people that estimate figures have no idea of what is going on. What does it tell Members? We have to stop the idea that somehow budget summitry is going to solve our problems. We have to get rid of the idea that we can tax ourselves out of this mess. The only thing that can solve this is the Congress that has the guts to restrain the growth in spending by limiting spending increases in appropriation bills to no more than the rate of inflation, over what was spent in the preceding year.

Never, ever again will we have budget summits.

THREE MAJOR ISSUES NOW BEFORE CONGRESS

(Mr. MAZZOLI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAZZOLI. Mr. Speaker, the first day of the session is always very eventful. We have a chance to see our friends and greet the newcomers. This has been an eventful day. However, even beyond the human relations, this is an eventful day for me because I put my name on three major bills that I think could, if passed, and really change this country and our world.

One is the resolution referred to a moment ago by my friend from Florida, Mr. BENNETT, which has to do with the power of the Congress to make war, and not the President alone. I think that is a very fundamental issue which must be dealt with in this Congress. I salute the Speaker for keeping Members in session through January and not allowing Members to be in recess.

The second bill is the Brady bill, which is a 7-day delay or waiting period before a handgun can be transferred. This, I think, would overcome much of the violence and many of the deaths we have seen thoughout our Nation, and certainly here in the District of Columbia.

The last bill perhaps is more fundamental than anything, and that is campaign reform, to change the very system by which we Members come to Congress to change a system which many of the people in America feel has been corrupted.

I think, Mr. Speaker, if we the Congress were to deal with these issues, I think we would have an absolutely sensational Congress.

Let me take this opportunity to wish all of our colleagues much health and happiness in this new year.

SECRETARY LUJAN REPRESENTS AMERICANS

(Mrs. BENTLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I congratulate our former colleague, Secretary of the Interior Manuel Lujan, for representing the American people in the Matsushita's ownership of the concessions at Yosemite National Park.

Secretary Lujan is not coercing nor intimidating Matsushita as former Senate majority leader Howard Baker and former U.S. Trade Representative Robert Strauss claim. He expresses the sentiments of the American people, not those of Japan's shadow warriors who are hired guns for Matsushita as both Senator Baker and Bob Strauss are.

We live in America where we have freedom of speech, and not intimidation by the yen or the almighty dollar—or what the Washington Post calls an "elite corp of middlemen." We can still fight city hall. Secretary Lujan is a true public servant and is serving the best interests of the American people. That is something the hired guns of the Japanese have forgotten.

We need more people like Secretary Lujan to keep this country from being rolled over by the special interests of former Government officials who sell our future for a yen.

SUPPORT THE PRESIDENT ON THE PERSIAN GULF

(Mr. GEKAS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GEKAS. Mr. Speaker, there are those who would criticize the President of the United States for acting too hastily on the question of the Persian Gulf; yet if you look at the record you will see that this President consulted worldwide with multiple numbers of nations and leaders before taking one step in the Persian Gulf. He presented through his proper representatives resolutions in the United Nations and waited for 12 of them en seriatim to be considered and passed before taking the next vital step in the resolution of that crisis, and January 15 was set as a deadline for the removal of the Iraqi forces in Kuwait by the United Nations, not by the President. He has acted with calm and with dispatch and with restraint throughout this whole period.

I will support the President of the United States as a Member of Congress in the execution of American foreign policy, and if a resolution should be presented to the Congress to support the President in his efforts, I shall do that; but one thing we cannot do is to unilaterally withdraw from the President the power of congressional opinion and the power of American public opinion while he is negotiating in these stages of the policy in the Persian Gulf.

Let us stand with and rally around the President of the United States.

SUPPORT COLA INCREASE FOR VETERANS

(Mr. BILIRAKIS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, although the last congress we provided cost-of-living increases to our Federal retirees and Social Security recipients—we failed to grant a similar increase in VA disability payments. We failed to provide undiminished support to our Nation's veterans at a time when we were asking a new generation of servicemen to heed their country's call in the Persian Gulf.

This situation is nothing short of abominable and cannot be permitted to continue. How can we ask our citizens to serve their country now when we fail to deliver on our past promises?

How can we ask our countrymen to put their lives on the line when we effectively reduce support to those who are disabled in service to their Nation?

My own Veterans' Affairs Committee and the full House supported the COLA increase last year and it is the intention of the Veterans' Committee to act swiftly on this matter this year. But the matter remains unresolved today and every day until we act.

Mr. Speaker, let us send a clear message to all our veterans and to all our servicemen. Let us act quickly on this matter. Let us signify that our country places their sacrifice above all else.

FMLN MURDERED U.S. SOLDIERS

(Mr. SHUSTER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, we have just received some very sobering intelligence from El Salvador where yesterday a United States Army helicopter was reported shot down. That U.S. Army helicopter, Mr. Speaker, was not shot down, as claimed by the FMLN. It landed under control. The three American soldiers in it were not found dead, but rather they were murdered, with bullets in the backs of their heads.

This was a clearly marked U.S. Army helicopter with three American soldiers in it in U.S. Army uniforms. They were flying an administrative support mission for our Ambassador in El Salvador. They had no role whatsoever in support of the Salvadoran Armed Forces.

It is my hope, Mr. Speaker, that this atrocity will give second thoughts to those Americans who are giving aid and comfort and financial support to the FMLN Communist guerrillas in El Salvador. It is my hope that more Americans will begin to see these FMLN Communist guerrillas for the brutal killers that they are.

INTRODUCTION OF WETLANDS PROTECTION AND REGULATORY REFORM ACT OF 1991

(Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing the Wetlands Protection and Regulatory Reform Act of 1991. This comprehensive legislation revises the Clean Water Act's controversial section 404 wetlands permitting program. It offers a more balanced approach to identifying and regulating true wetlands, achieving a no overall net loss of wetlands goal, providing greater deference to State and local decisionmakers, and affording greater protections to private property owners. In addition, it would prohibit the Corps of Engineers from implementing major increases proposed in the fees for their regulatory program.

This bill embodies the growing public sentiment that the Nation's wetland laws need serious revision. This is particularly true for farmers and other private property owners, as well as local elected officials who are often prevented from pursuing important public works projects because of conflicting or intrusive regulations.

My bill reflects the views of those who value wetlands but recognize not all wetlands are created equally. The legislation should appeal to those who believe Federal regulations need to provide a more predictable, streamlined permitting process that respects private property rights and avoids unnecessary intrusions into land use and other matters involving State and local decisionmaking.

In addition, my bill sends the clear signal that increased education and incentives for private stewardship are preferable to heavy-handed regulations or counterproductive finger pointing at particular groups.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation and to get involved in the ongoing wetlands policy debate. With enough support from my colleagues, I hope to move this bill and the concepts embodied in it as part of the upcoming debate on Clean Water Act reauthorization or possibly as separate legislation. Either way, the need for wetlands protection and regulatory reform is too great to settle for continuing the status quo.

The time for action is now. My bill will help to provide the needed congressional guidance to get the section 404 program back on track and on the path toward a reasonable, national goal of no overall net loss.

It is my hope that this bill will help to continue the dialog on regulatory reform and, at the same time, promote some of the consensus recommendations by those who want a stronger, fairer, and more effective wetlands protection program.

For all these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the Wetlands Protection and Regulatory Reform Act of 1991.

INTRODUCTION OF BILL PROVIDING FOR DISABLED VETERANS

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce a bill to ensure that the veterans of our country who were disabled in combat are well provided for this year and every year to come.

It is a disgrace that the service-connected, disabled veterans did not receive a cost-of-living adjustment for the 1991 fiscal year. Also, it is ironic that Congress would not help disabled veterans at this time, when you realize the sacrifices that many American men and women may have to make as a result of the Middle East conflict.

Mr. Speaker, my bill gives disabled veterans a cost-of-living increase in their disability compensation as of January 1, 1991. In addition, it includes a provision that will make this COLA automatic every year. Under my legislation, any time Social Security benefits are increased, disabled veterans' compensation rates will be increased by the same percentage.

By making this COLA automatic, we will insure that the service-connected disabled veterans are never again overlooked, as they were last session. We will ensure that those who served our country so well and were injured in the line of duty are justly compensated. Also, we will insure that disabled veterans will not be subject to the political whims of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to give the disabled veterans of this country the compensation that they deserve and to cosponsor this important legislation.

EQUITY FOR DISABLED VETERANS

(Mr. JAMES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I want to congratulate Congressman STEARNS for his comments on COLA's.

It is imperative that we do equity when it concerns the veterans, as it is imperative that we do so for all elements of our society.

It was my understanding that regardless of the budget process that they were to receive their COLA's. Somehow it did not happen. It should have happened, and if it was not anticipated, it should have been. There must be COLA's for the disabled veterans. We do that for other elements of our society. We must do it for our veterans, the ones who served our country in time of need. Especially now we must act quickly to assure veterans that they will be treated fairly. We do it on Social Security. We do it with other benefits. Indeed, we have done it with our own salaries. Certainly we must do it for the disabled veterans.

THE ECONOMIC CRISIS

(Mr. ROHRABACHER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Mr. Speaker, late last year the liberal Democrats who control this body forced a budget down the throats of the American people; telling us it was just the medicine that the American economy needed. Many of us objected, and as our economy gets sicker and sicker the American people will remember who prescribed the second biggest tax hike in American history at a time when our economy was weak and faltering.

Well, the big spenders and the big taxers boxed in the President of the United States with their budget summit agreements and they pushed through this massive tax increase in the name of deficit reduction.

Now every day as the economic news comes in, as the economic calamity becomes ever more clear, and as our people are thrown out of work, they will know who is to blame.

The tax increase they foisted on us did not bring down the deficit 1 cent. It was a tax increase and not a deficit reduction, and now we are paying the price. The American people are being taxed out of their jobs and taxed out of the prosperity they have earned through their hard work.

□ 1650

I say there will be no more budget summit agreements like this; never again will we agree to this. The American people will know who to blame for the economic crisis we face.

NO MORE BUDGETRY BY SUMMIT

(Mr. DELAY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, the budget process is one of our major responsibilities and we ought not leave it to a handful of people negotiating behind the scene. Never again should we allow this to happen, Mr. Speaker. No more budgetry by summit.

When we allow the normal budget process to be usurped by a handful of negotiators working behind closed doors, the rest of us are not able to affect that process. Instead, it is presented to us as a fait accompli—a done deal that we are discouraged from changing in any way. The negotiators tell us that the agreement is bipartisan—that represents a negotiated compromise on all sides and any change will upset the delicate balance that holds the agreement together. Somehow the agreement takes on a life of its own and we are left out in the cold, so to speak.

Mr. Speaker, I want to point out that this way of legislating is completely irresponsible. It means that the constituents who elected us to represent them really have no voice in the process. It means that most of us—their representatives—are left out of crucial steps in the process. It means that the minority was subtly discouraged from promoting its own goals and ideals.

Mr. Speaker, what's wrong with taking the time with doing it right—especially with something this important? There should be no more budgeting by summit. Never again.

CONCERN ABOUT FORMER TOP U.S. GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS REPRESENTING FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS AND CORPORATE INTERESTS

(Mr. WOLF asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks and include extraneous matter.)

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, what is happening to this country? Today I read in the Washington Post that a former Senate majority leader and a former Democratic Party chairman have teamed up to accuse the Secretary of the Interior of intimidation and coercion because he wants a Japanese company—Matsushita—to donate tourist facilities at Yosemite National Park to the United States.

Across the country there has been growing concern about foreign investment, including the MCA purchase. There has been even greater concern regarding former top U.S. Government officials who represent foreign governments and corporate interests.

People are beginning to feel that what may have been acceptable when the United States was the unchallenged leader in trade and manufacturing may not be acceptable today.

And Secretary Lujan's concerns about Matsushita's ownership of the national park concessions seem to be supported by an article published in the Japanese Economic Journal on June 23, 1990. The article is about Japanese electronics companies under investigation by the IRS for substantially underreporting their United States income. It cites Matsushita sources as saying that its U.S. subsidiary, Matsushita Marketing of America, may owe over $74 million in U.S. taxes that it failed to pay. That is not a good track record for a company that could have a monopoly in a U.S. national park.

In closing, Mr. Speaker, there are a lot of Americans who are beginning to be concerned that high-level Government officials, former high-level officials have gone from serving their country to selling their country.

The article referred to follows:

U.S. UNITS HIT WITH TAX BILLS OF YEN 50 BILLION

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that three Japanese electronics companies' U.S. units have failed to pay proper corporate taxes and owe taxes totaling more than Yen 50 billion, because they failed to report income from their international deals, company sources said June 14.

The U.S. is applying a strict taxation assessment method on foreign companies operating in the U.S. Units of Hitachi Ltd., Toshiba Corp. and Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. illicitly transferred profits into their affiliated companies abroad in the early 1980s, according to the IRS.

If the companies pay the taxes, Japan's National Tax Administration Agency would refund a corresponding amount of corporate tax to the parent companies to avoid double taxation, observers in Tokyo said.

However, since it would involve the transfer of a large amount of tax revenues, the issue will likely entail consultations between the tax authorities of the two countries, the observes said.

According to Hitachi sources, the company's U.S. subsidiaries have been ordered by the IRS to pay more than Yen 10 billion in taxes for failure to report revenues in the early 1980s. The sources also said U.S. marketing units of other Hitachi group companies, including Hitachi Metals Ltd., Hitachi Chemical Co. and Nissei Sangyo Co. also owe taxes.

Toshiba sources said that the IRS has informed production and sales subsidiaries of Toshiba America Inc., a holding company, that payments of some Yen 50 billion are owed. The company allegedly failed to declare some revenues in the four years ended March 1983.

Matsushita sources said its U.S. marketing subsidiary, Matsushita Electric Corp. of America, owes taxes of almost Yen 10 billion.

Japanese company sources indicated that U.S. sales subsidiaries of other Japanese electronics firms and automakers are being audited for inaccuracies.

Sony Corp. has been asked to submit some financial documents stored at its Tokyo headquarters, company officials said.

The U.S. tax system aims at levying taxes on a corporation's revenues from its international deals with overseas affiliates, the observers said. Under the system, tax is imposed if a company, whether foreign or American, transfers profits in some illegitimate way, such as by manipulating export prices and royalty incomes.

In obtaining proper taxable incomes of a particular company, the IRS bases its calculations on reasonable prices, rather than prices provided by the company. Because the notion of reasonable prices is not clearly defined, the three Japanese companies involved are contesting the differences between figures they provided and what the IRS has determined as reasonable prices.

OIL IMPORT TAX

(Mr. CONTE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CONTE. Mr. Speaker, when I think of an oil import tax, I think of the greedy and the needy.

An oil import tax is simply a way for big oil to punish the American people with higher oil prices.

Though there is currently no shortage of oil, and though the Department of Energy has said that the lost Iraqi and Kuwaiti reserves will be offset fully through at least June 1991, the price of oil has remained high. And that is greedy.

And the American consumer, in this time of fiscal belt-tightening, is becoming more and more needy through no fault of their own. Big oil has already milked the average home heating oil consumer to the tune of an extra $25 a month. And an oil import tax would add an extra $5 per barrel fee on top of already high prices.

And to add inequity to injury, Mr. Speaker, the poor and fixed-income Americans who spend the greatest percentage of their income on heating oil and gasoline would be hurt most by another increase in the price of oil.

But you don't only have to be mad, you can also get even. I have offered a resolution which would send a message to the greedy oil barons that says, "we don't want a tax on oil which will hurt the American consumer further."

Let's represent the needy and not the greedy. Cosponsor my resolution.

ENFORCEMENT MECHANISMS REMOVED FROM BUDGET AGREEMENT

(Mr. BURTON of Indiana asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, there will not be much said on television tonight about something very significant which happened in this Chamber today, but it should be covered. There was an agreement made when we passed the budget this last year that increased taxes on the people of this country by $165 billion, there was an agreement made that we would have a pay-as-you-go provision in there that would cut spending in the future and control spending.

Today when we passed the rules in this body that provision was taken out. It was thrown out the window by the majority on a party line vote.

What that means is that increases in spending in this session of the 102d Congress is going to go up and up and up.

The gentleman from California [Mr. DANNEMEYER] pointed out to all of the Members of this body a few moments ago that the increase in public debt this year is going to be almost $400 billion, much more than we had estimated; $400 billion.

We raised taxes $165 billion on the backs of the American people and that was supposed to get the job done. The problem is we have taken all the enforcement mechanisms out today. The Democrat majority is responsible for that. We should hold them accountable, the American people should hold them accountable for breaking their word. They tied the President's hands in the budget agreement, they made him raise taxes $165 billion in order to get this enforcement mechanism put in there, and now they have taken it out. I think it is a shame.

RELEASE THE HIGHWAY TRUST FUNDS AND PREVENTION OF GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWNS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GEKAS] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GEKAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on two subjects about which I feel very strongly and which I would like the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD to reflect my avenue of this special order.

Mr. Speaker, if indeed the economy is in a downturn, if indeed we are in the midst of a building recession, then the Congress of the United States must take some action in order to deaden the possibilities of a full-blown recession, to stop it in its tracks, as it were. I propose that we begin to contemplate, and I will introduce legislation to do so, the release of the highway trust funds from where they are now bottled up in a place where they cannot be used for anything except to be counted toward deficit reduction. Well, that now turns out to be almost a useless exercise because the deficit has grown so out of whack that leaving the highway trust funds unused in purposes for which they were intended does not help the deficit and prevents the good benefit of their use as originally intended.

Now what will the big spenders in Congress do, or intend to do, or propose to do when they see unemployment steadily rising? They will propose a massive new spending program of a job program, to create new make-work jobs in order to thwart the rising tide of unemployment. Well, I reject that. Rather we should, if we are going to do anything, put to work those dollars which the taxpayers of the Nation have already dedicated to infrastructure and highway construction, namely the money that they paid at the gas tank which we have kept in reserve and held unused contrary to the taxpayers' intent. I say, "Let's keep faith with the taxpayers and stop the recession dead in its tracks all in one fell swoop, by releasing the funds from the highway trust fund for their original intended purpose."

What will that do? That will create thousands of new jobs immediately, just at a time when the big spenders will say that unemployment is rising to unacceptable levels. If we intend that money now for highway construction, for bridge repair, moneys that the taxpayers have already said, "Go ahead and use for these purposes," then we are succeeding in abiding by their wishes and rebuilding our infrastructure all at one time.

What better way to go than to create a jobs program of Government jobs, Government-created jobs, where we can use this money to put into the private sector, in a system already in place, ready and willing to accept the Congress's go-ahead to rebuild our infrastructure? What a wonderful way to stop the recession.

And what if we are wrong, that there is no recession? We still will be rebuilding our bridges and our highway system.

I believe that even the President of the United States who has said that he will not countenance any new spending program or jobs program, no new spending, with which I agree, this is old spending in reserve which the taxpayers of the Nation have entrusted us to spend for highway and bridge construction. I say, "Let's do it now."

The other issue on which I wish to briefly comment is the fiasco of the budget resolution of this last fall, the one that everyone, with which everyone, has been left with a sour taste in his mouth. The Government of the United States actually shut down during that process while our Armed Forces were in Saudi Arabia prepared to fight for the resolution of that Persian Gulf crisis.

I ask, "Can you imagine the Government of the United States shutting down while our Armed Forces are deployed in the Persian Gulf?"

We must never allow the shutdown of Government again, nor the threat of shutdown. We must enter into our procedure a technology by which, if on September 30 of the fiscal year no budget has been arrived at by the Congress of the United States, that automatically the next day the previous year's budget is put into place. That way we will have no stoppage of Government employees, no furloughs, no shutdown of agencies, no shutdown of the Government. We will eliminate for all time that scary picture of the Federal Government of the United States going out of existence in the middle of a calendar year.

Mr. Speaker, I will be introducing legislation again to try to implement that proposal. It was sad to note today that a meager attempt to amend the House rules through the rules resolution that would be offered by the Republicans was shut down by the Democratic majority where we could have taken steps never to allow the Government of the United States to shut down again.

THE DESERT SHIELD BURDEN SHARING ACT OF 1991

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, almost 4 months after introducing legislation to secure reasonable contributions from other nations with a vital interest in Operation Desert Shield, I feel compelled to call the attention of my colleagues once more to the inadequate response of some nations to provide resources critical to the success of this multinational effort.

I commend to your attention an article in the December 19, 1990, edition of the New York Times by my Senate colleague JIM SASSER, which makes note of the fact that as of November 30, 1990, Japan had deposited only 10 percent of a meager $4 billion contribution. This is just one example of how some of our trading partners have chosen to sit on the sidelines while the United States risks the lives of the members of its Armed Forces to protect global security and a fragile world economy.

Therefore, I am reintroducing the Desert Shield Burden Sharing Act, which would impose an additional 20-percent ad valorem duty on the goods of any country the President decides is not contributing a commensurate share of resources to defending vital international interests. This bill sends a clear and unequivocal message to our allies that the Congress is prepared to provide the President with the necessary tools to ensure that the costs of Operation Desert Shield will not be borne by only a few countries.

I, along with the American people, remain outraged by the inaction of nations who continue to sit on the fence. The burden should be shared, and those who should share it must respond now.

I am submitting the text of this bill as well as Senator SASSER's article for the benefit of my colleagues.

H.R. —

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Desert Shield Burden-Sharing Act of 1991".

SEC. 2 DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this Act:

(1) The term "commensurate contribution" means, in the case of a foreign country, that—

(A) such country is making a contribution to the multinational military mobilization and operations referred to in section 3; and

(B) such contribution is commensurate with—

(i) the extent of the economic benefit accruing to such country as a result of the securing of supplies of Persian Gulf area petroleum through such military mobilization and operations, and

(ii) the ability of such country to contribute, taking into account (in addition to such other factors as the President considers relevant) the financial and economic capabilities of the country and the balance of trade of such country with the United States.

(2) The term "entered" means entered, or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption, in the customs territory of the United States.

(3) The term "foreign country" does not include any country that—

(A) is party to a free trade area agreement with the United States;

(B) is a beneficiary developing country under title V of the Trade Act of 1974 (relating to a generalized system of preferences); or

(C) is a beneficiary country under the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act.

SEC. 3. PRESIDENTIAL DETERMINATIONS REGARDING MULTINATIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE MILITARY MOBILIZATION AND OPERATIONS AGAINST IRAQI AGGRESION.

Within 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall determine whether each foreign country is making a commensurate contribution to the multinational military mobilization and operations being carried out in and around the Arabian Peninsula in response to the invasion of Kuwait by the armed forces of Iraq on August 2, 1990.

SEC. 4. ADDITIONAL DUTIES ON PRODUCTS OF COUNTRIES DETERMINED NOT TO BE MAKING COMMENSURATE CONTRIBUTIONS.

(a) IMPOSITION OF ADDITIONAL DUTIES.—Subject to subection (b), the President shall, with respect to any foreign country that is determined under section 3 not to be making a commensurate contribution to the multinational military mobilization and operations referred to in such section—

(1) apply to all of the dutiable products of that country an additional duty at the rate of 20 percent ad valorem or the specific rate equivalent; and

(2) apply to all duty-free products of that country a duty of 20 percent ad valorem.

(b) SPECIAL PROVISIONS.—(1) The duties imposed under subsection (a) (1) and (2) on the products of a foreign country apply with respect to articles entered on or after the 30th day after the date on which the determination under section 3 regarding such country is made.

(2) Duties may not be applied under subsection (a) (1) or (2) on—

(A) articles that are duty-free; and

(B) the value of articles or contents of United States origin that are exempt from duty; under chapter 98 of the Tariff Schedule of the United States.

(c) TERMINATION OF ADDITIONAL DUTIES.—The duties imposed under subsection (a) (1) and (2) on the products of any foreign country shall cease to apply effective with respect to articles entered on or after the date on which—

(1) the President determines that such country is making a commensurate contribution to the multinational military mobilization and operations referred to in section 3; or

(2) such military mobilization and operations are terminated.

SEC. 5. DISPOSITION OF ADDITIONAL DUTIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States a fund to be known as the Desert Shield Reimbursement Fund which shall be available, subject to appropriation Acts, only for the reimbursement of appropriations made to support the United States participation in the military mobilization and operations referred to in section 3.

(b) DEPOSITS.—There shall be deposited into the Fund established under subsection (a) all duties collected pursuant to section 4.

SEC. 6. REPORT.

No later than the 180th day after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the Congress a report on the implementation of this Act, including, with respect to each foreign country the products of which are subject to duties imposed under section 4(a) (1) and (2), the bases for the determination made under section 3 regarding that country and the amounts collected by reason of such duties.

IS UNCLE SAM GETTING STIFFED?

(By Jim Sasser)

WASHINGTON.—Early next year, the Pentagon will ask Congress for at least $20 billion in additional funds for Operation Desert Shield. That's just to keep the peace. A full-scale shooting war could cost the U.S. from $1 billion to $2 billion per day. At that rate, all of the $41 billion in deficit reductions we achieved in the budget agreement would be wiped out in a single month.

Though economic issues are clearly of lesser moment when weighed against the lives of thousands of young Americans, the economic consequences of war demand attention.

There is a heavy dose of irony in the specter of America mobilizing for a war to protect our economic self-determination and then sinking into economic quicksand beneath the cost of the operation itself.

All of which poses a fundamental question: Where are the financial contributions of our key allies, especially those who have more to lose than we do from a disruption of Persian Gulf oil?

Overall, the Bush Administration, preoccupied with forging international support for the use of American force in the gulf, has given scant attention to the question of who will pay. It has shown little interest in alerting the public to this issue and has exerted minimal pressure on our allies to pay up.

Japan relies on the Persian Gulf for some 70 percent of the oil it uses to sustain its $3 trillion-a-year economy. Its leaders reluctantly pledged $4 billion to the gulf effort—$2 billion in military assistance and $2 billion in foreign assistance.

As of Nov. 30, the Pentagon reported that its Major Foreign Contributors' Responsibility Sharing Program had received from Japan only $374 million, 40,000 Sony Walkmen and a few Toyotas.

Unified Germany arguably has more to gain from stable oil prices and a reliable new world order than any other industrialized nation. Nonetheless, Bonn has offered just $800 million, and, to date, we have received only $330 million of that sum.

A more glaring case still in Saudi Arabia, whose royal family asked the U.S. to protect that nation's immense oil reserves. A safe Saudi Arabia has been able to increase oil production in a tight market and realize a windfall profit of some $150 million a day. That's at a time when Americans are paying $80 million more per day for our gulf oil imports than we did prior to the August invasion of Kuwait.

The Saudis originally promised $3 to $5 billion in cash and in-kind contributions. So far, they have contributed only $987 million in cash and materiel—about 6.5 days' worth of their windfall oil profits.

Clearly, something is out of joint. America's share of the cost simply doesn't match our share of the international risk.

The Administration announced this week that it will seek $5 billion in additional foreign aid support from the allies to help Turkey, Jordan and Egypt offset the economic losses they have suffered since the crisis began. That seems a fair and generous course. In the meantime, Secretary of State James Baker should press the delinquent allies to pay their debts to the Desert Shield fund and not to accept "the check's in the mail" as an answer.

Every nation with a definable interest in the Persian Gulf should make a contribution that is commensurate with its interest. With our NATO allies and, especially with Japan, we should make this question a centerpiece for any future trade discussions. Moreover, we now have sufficient leverage in Saudi Arabia to simply demand a greater contribution from that country.

If we don't insist on that, our orchestra of nations against Saddam Hussein is virtually a one-man band.

WHAT THE LANGUAGE OF GOVERNMENT ACT MEANS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. EMERSON] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, as we open this 102d Congress, we are concerned with commitments—both around the world and at home. Commitments to world peace, to the end of hunger, to education, health care, fiscal responsibility—concerns that are vital to the future of our Nation and the world.

I come before the House of Representatives today seeking a commitment to our common language. Through passage of the Language of Government Act, we will establish English as our language of public business. The time has come for us to formulate a clear language policy for our country. To say to those who come here and to those who live here: It is important to know the common language of the United States. It is important to know the language spoken by 98 percent of our people.

Why do we need such a policy?

There is no more important reason for this legislation than unity. More than 150 languages are represented within our Nation's borders. In military affairs alone, the use of a common language is essential. Can you imagine the chaos in the Persian Gulf if the armed forces of the United States had to operate in 150 different languages? For the sake of a unified command, our military functions in our common language—English.

This legislation is not an attempt to stifle the use of other languages in the United States. Nations around the world—more than half of them, in fact—designate official languages in which their government operates. Countries like Venezuela, which specifies that Spanish is its official language. Does that mean that Venezuela prohibits the use of any other language but Spanish? Of course not. It means only that the Government of Venezuela functions in Spanish and it is important to know Spanish in Venezuela. Those who oppose official language in the United States do not understand the concept.

The essential issue of language of government is communication. Through our shared language, we debate our differences and reach compromises. We are united by respect for individual rights, belief in human dignity and freedom, and love of country. These feelings cannot be seen or felt, but they can be articulated through a common language, as they have been for more than two centuries of our Nation's history.

Yet our commitment to our common language is so undefined that the percentage of public school students who can read and write English is higher in the Scandinavian countries than it is in the United States. School children in Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark, and Iceland exhibit a greater English proficiency than school-age youngsters in this country.

In fact, it is possible to obtain a high school diploma in some parts of the United States without knowing the English language. This, at a time when illiteracy is crippling our work force. Last year, 44 percent of the applicants for jobs at the Prudential Insurance headquarters were unable to read at the ninth-grade level. Motorola has found that 80 percent of its applicants cannot pass a simple seventh-grade English comprehension test. With our illiteracy rate one of the highest in the world, we can no longer ignore the importance of English to our economic well-being.

The Language of Government Act establishes a commitment to our national language—not because English is better than any other, but because it is our common language. Because communication among our diverse people is essential to the well-being of our Nation.

This act does not legislate the use of English outside of Government. It does not interfere with the teaching of other languages or affect bilingual education. It has nothing to do with the language of the home, the church, the community center, or the conversation between two neighbors over the back fence. The Language of Government Act involves the language of public business, not private enterprise.

Because our Government operates in English now, this law will change very little about the way our Government conducts its business. This law, however, ensures a precise language of communication for governing. By making English our language of Government, we reaffirm our belief that a common language promotes unity and serves as a bridge for understanding in our diverse society.

Efficient communication among the branches of Government and among our people enables stability and diversity. This act provides a precise, unequivocal form of communication of our Nation's business, and I urge my colleagues to join me in its passage.

MANDATORY IMPORT BAN ON FOREIGN VIOLATORS OF IRAQ EMBARGO

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ABERCROMBIE). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California [Mr. STARK] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, we can crush Saddam Hussein with sanctions and avoid a bloody war—but only if our allies stop cheating on the embargo.

We need tougher measures to enforce the sanctions. Right now, dozens of companies in Germany alone are under investigation for selling goods to the Iraqis. This kind of profiteering is unconscionable, especially when thousands of American lives are on the line.

The pattern is by now familiar. Western companies sell critically needed supplies to middlemen in Lebanon and Cyprus, who then smuggle the goods through Jordan or Syria into Iraq. Big profits are made up and down the line and the Iraqis get the chemical additives they need to refine jet fuel and purify drinking water. The big loser is the American soldier in the desert, who may go to war because the sanctions aren't working.

Well, let's make them work. The German Government says it has no authority to punish its companies if they sell goods to Iraq via third countries. We can help them out here. Today, I am reintroducing a bill I first put forth last September that puts a mandatory import ban on any foreign company found cheating on the embargo. The big chemical companies might think twice about who they deal with if they know the entire United States market is on the line.

These firms should carry the burden of proving that their goods don't wind up in Iraqi hands. It's a hard line to take, but much less costly than going to war. In any case, we owe it to our young men over in Saudi Arabia and their families to at least try and make the sanctions work.

INTRODUCTION OF A BILL TO PROVIDE TAX AID TO DESERT SHIELD TROOPS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to ease the tax filing burden for American troops serving our country as part of the Desert Shield operation. This legislation is in recognition of the sacrifice and commitment of the men and women serving our country so well in the Persian Gulf. Making their tax responsibilities a bit less burdensome is the least we can do in return.

Specifically, the legislation would provide automatic tax-filing extensions to individuals who are serving in the Persian Gulf as part of the Desert Shield operation. Under the legislation, the time for filing tax returns, claiming refunds, and performing other acts required under the Federal tax laws would be extended until 60 days after the individual completes his or her services in the Persian Gulf as part of the Desert Shield operation. No interest charges would be due on tax underpayments for the period of the automatic extension. The Government would pay interest, however, on tax refunds.

Under current law, automatic extensions of time for filing Federal tax returns and performing certain other acts required under the tax laws are already available for troops in an area which the President has designated by Executive order as a "combat zone." In the event that these conditions are fulfilled, this relief would become available. The legislation which I am introducing today, however, would provide tax relief to the Desert Shield troops in the Persian Gulf without regard to any requirement that it be designated a combat zone, and without prejudice to any other tax relief currently available.

Under the legislation, this tax relief would be available as long as the President designates units of the Armed Forces to be part of the Desert Shield operation. It is anticipated that the Secretary of Defense shall provide to the Internal Revenue Service in a timely fashion the name and taxpayer identification number of each member of each designated unit performing services in the Persian Gulf area as part of the Desert Shield operation. It is also anticipated that this tax relief would be available only in response to the imminent, temporary hostilities in the Persian Gulf area, and would not be perpetuated, for example, for permanent garrisons of troops abroad.

Mr. Speaker, I urge strong support of all my colleagues for this important legislation, and hope that it can be enacted as expeditiously as possible.

DISABLED VETERANS DESERVE INFLATION INCREASE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. MONTGOMERY] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. MONTGOMERY. Mr. Speaker, in the closing moments of the 101st Congress, the Congress attempted unsuccessfully to approve a cost-of-living adjustment to benefits for the Nation's service-disabled veterans and their widows. Ironically, other groups receiving Government benefits did receive inflation increases. Now, we have the opportunity to correct this serious omission.

Today, in an effort to expedite this matter, Representative BOB STUMP and I, along with 225 cosponsors, are introducing legislation that would provide a 5.4-percent cost-of-living adjustment for 2.2 million veterans who draw VA compensation for their service-connected injuries and disabilities. This increase also would apply to 300,000 widows and children of veterans who have died of service-connected causes. This COLA would be retroactive to January 1.

Mr. Speaker, other important veterans legislation passed by the House and left hanging at the end of 1990 will be reintroduced and considered separately in coming weeks, but it is of utmost importance that we move this bill quickly so that benefits for our service-disabled veterans can keep pace with the cost of living. If we approve this COLA bill without delay, veterans can begin receiving the increase in their March checks.

Passage of this bill should be the first priority of the 102d Congress.

THE PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from California [Mrs. BOXER] is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. Speaker, it is the end of an exciting day. It is swearing-in day, and this is my fifth time that I have been sworn into the Congress, going into my ninth year. I want to thank my constituents for this great honor. But tonight I have a heavy heart because I feel a great sense of uneasiness for this country, a great sense of uneasiness for our young people who are in the Middle East.

I think it is time that the Congress debated the Persian Gulf crisis. I am here tonight for that purpose. I am taking some time here because I promised my constituents that I would do everything that I could do to stop a war from starting in the Persian Gulf. It took us a long time to stop the Vietnam war. How much better it would be to stop a war before it starts. So I am starting a dialog tonight which no doubt will be continued.

In my district in California, 1,000 people turned out for two community meetings that I held, and 95 percent of them, by a show of hands, said they wanted us to find a peaceful way out of the Persian Gulf crisis, that they did not want to have to go to war. They said they would vote no on a resolution to go to war. I promised them I would come here and I would do what I could. My constituents believe that I have a duty and an obligation as a Member of this wonderful House of the people to uphold the Constitution of the United States of America, including article I, section 8, which gives Congress, and only Congress, the right to declare war.

So I went on a lawsuit that was organized by my colleague, Mr. RON DELLUMS of California, and the judge ruled on that lawsuit. He said, yes, the Congress and only the Congress, has the right to declare war; that the President is the Commander-in-Chief, and he can, of course, respond to an attack and he can act if our forces are in danger, but when it comes to a full-blown declaration of war, that must come from this Congress, not the United Nations and not from all the leaders of the world. When it comes to committing our kids, it is this Congress which must go on record.

So I say to those who might write or might say that it is unpatriotic for Congress to debate or to disagree with the war option, that this is not unpatriotic, that it is not unpatriotic to debate and discuss the Persian Gulf issue. It is patriotic.

I want to note that I have been joined in this Chamber by a leader in this fight to make sure that Congress gets to fulfill its constitutional responsibilities, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DURBIN]. In a little while I am going to yield to him. I will yield to the gentleman in a few minutes, after I go through my chart.

The thing that makes our Nation great, the thing that makes America great is not our arsenal of weapons. Many countries have weapons. We know that. We sold them to a lot of countries. The Soviet Union sold weapons to a lot of countries, and China sold weapons to a lot of countries. That is not what makes this country great.

What makes this country great is our system, our Constitution, our freedoms. The whole world is choosing our form of government. They are sending for our Constitution, for our Bill of Rights; they are not sending for our weapons. They are sending for our recipe for freedom, and in that recipe for freedom, in that Constitution is article I, section 8, and that says clearly that Congress, and only Congress, has the power to declare war.

We debate our issues out in the open. We disagree with our President sometimes, although we respect the office. We even disagree within parties sometimes. We disagree with each other, but we are loyal, and we are respectful to that system that our Founders laid out for us. In that spirit, we bring discussion and serious debate to the great issues of the moment.

Surely we cannot remain silent in the face of what could happen on January 15. Surely we will not run and hide in the face of 300,000 of our kids on the ground in the sands of Saudi Arabia.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to yield to my colleague because he brought home something to me today as we discussed this issue. This is the moment for me to yield to him about what is happening to our kids that we have over in Saudi Arabia. At this time it is my privilege to yield to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DURBIN].

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from California for yielding and I applaud her for taking out this special order.

I know we are all caught up in the festivities of our being sworn in again for the Congress. There are many parties, there are receptions, and this is a joyful time in this town. But while all this happening is taking place, most of us are preoccupied by what is taking place in Saudi Arabia, where hundreds of thousands of Americans and many others stand to risk their lives for decisions that are being made in this city.

□ 1720

I thank the gentlewoman from California [Mrs. BOXER] for calling our attention back to the important issues which Congress should focus on above and beyond the question of whether we are sworn in for a new Congress.

I, of course, have strong feelings about this issue, as does the gentlewoman from California. But two of our colleagues, one from Texas, and one from my home State of Illinois, have even deeper feelings, because each of them has a son who is presently serving in Operation Desert Shield.

One of my colleagues, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. COSTELLO], has a son who is a paratrooper on the front line in Saudi Arabia. He has had the opportunity to meet with him once and to speak with him a couple times by telephone. He tells me that life on the front line for our troops is very difficult. For the paratroopers, they shower every 8 days, a hot meal every other day. It is not a very happy life. It is a tough one. We owe all of these men and women who are serving a great debt of gratitude. It goes without saying that our hearts go out to them, and we are doing our best to bring them home safely, as quickly as possible.

But the gentlewoman from California [Mrs. BOXER] is going to present some information in this special order that is critically important as we consider several factors.

First and foremost, as the gentlewoman said, is the constitutional question. Our Founding Fathers decided that before this Nation went to war and risked or sacrificed the lives of any of its soldiers and sailors, that the American people would have a voice in that process. They would speak through their Representatives in Congress as to whether or not we would run that risk.

The President has been asked repeatedly over the last several months whether he will come to Congress to ask for that authorization before going to war. I will have to say in fairness, he has been equivocal at best.

I think the Constitution is clear and unequivocal. A resolution which I proposed for the Democratic caucus passed by a 5-to-1 margin several weeks ago restating the congressional authority, the only authority, to come forward and decide whether there is a declaration of war.

I hope that this Congress moves forward on that question again. I have introduced a resolution with the gentleman from Florida [Mr. BENNETT] asking that we bring this question before the floor of this House of Representatives as quickly as possible.

Let me make one final point here. The gentlewoman from California [Mrs. BOXER] is going to spell out in her special order the contributions that are being made by some of our allies. To some of them I applaud their efforts. They have stood, and they are joining us. We certainly believe that they can do more.

But it is a little unseemly for the United States to be standing out rattling a tin cup asking for these people, who are so dependent on Mideast oil, to contribute moneys toward this effort. At best they are sending checks, and we are sending our children.

When you consider that the Saudi Arabians, for example, have enjoyed an additional oil profit of about $4 billion a month since this crisis has started, it is just unconscionable for me to stand here and try to defend why they are not putting more into an effort that has already cost the American taxpayers $6 billion.

The gentlewoman from California [Mrs. BOXER] has called our attention and will in statistics and facts to the details of their contribution. If it is truly an international effort, as it should be, then we should ask for more than we have received from our allies.

I thank the gentlewoman for calling this special order. I support her and applaud her efforts in bringing the attention of this Congress to this critical issue.

Mrs. BOXER. I thank the gentleman very, very much. I also want to say to the gentleman I look forward to debating his resolution, the one he coauthored with the gentleman from Florida [Mr. BENNETT], to the floor, so that we can once and for all stand up and be counted on this issue of the rights and prerogatives of this Congress under the Constitution to decide if we want to send those kids to war.

I am going to continue for a moment before yielding to my good friend from Oregon.

This Congress needs answers to certain questions. On November 14, I sent a letter to President Bush. I am going to put it in the RECORD of this special order.

I said,

Dear Mr. President, I write as an individual Member of Congress urging you to pursue a more vigorous and peaceful resolution of the Persian Gulf crisis.

Last week I wrote to the President,

A friend of mine told me that her 22-year-old Marine Reserve son was asked to prepare his will before being sent to the gulf in January. Mr. President, when you sent our troops to the gulf, you told Congress these troops were in no imminent danger, thereby concluding that the War Powers Act was not triggered. What more evidence of danger is there, Mr. President, than a mother watching her young Marine son draw up his will on the instruction of supervisors?

You know, when you think about it, what does a 22-year-old have to leave his mother? His love, his promise, his hopes, his dreams. What do they put in a will but that?

I have kids who are in their twenties. I know what it takes to put effort into raising children, the love you give them, the support you give them, the love they give you back, the way they make you feel, how proud they make you feel. You do not want to see them die, and you certainly do not want to see them die in a situation that may not be fair to this country, and in a situation where there can be other ways out.

So in that letter I asked the President 11 questions, very straightforward. What are the estimates of American lives lost should we invade Kuwait or Iraq?

What are the estimates of non-American lives lost, both civilian and military?

What are the chances of a regional war taking place?

What are the chances of chemical weapons or biological weapons being used? If they are used, what are the lasting effects of these weapons?

What are the chances that oil supplies would be lost if such an invasion or war took place?

What economic impacts would that have on our country and the free world?

What would the impact on Americans be from terrorist attacks, both at home and abroad, if such a war took place?

I asked the President, when you sent troops to Saudi Arabia, you said they were being sent for defensive purposes. Why not replace those troops with a United Nations peacekeeping force at this time?

I asked when you sent troops to the Persian Gulf, you said you would use economic sanctions as the way to get Iraq out of Kuwait. How long did you think it would take, and why are you losing patience with the approach?

I asked about our allies' burden sharing.

I never got an answer. I got a perfunctory response from somebody who said, "The answers will be coming."

How can I represent my people if I cannot answer those fundamental questions? If I, as a Member of Congress, and my colleagues, do not have the reports, the papers, the advisory memoranda that the President is relying on to make his decisions?

In order to represent my people, in order for Congress to do its job, I decided that I would prepare a resolution of inquiry. I did so. I introduced it today with several Members, a bill that must be acted on within 2 weeks to get the answers to those questions.

We need to know, as we do in any other decision, what are the risks? What will happen under the best of circumstances, a quick war, and under the worst of circumstances, a prolonged war?

We need to know that so that we can weigh the benefits and the risks and make an intelligent decision.

This is not a time to run and hide in this Congress. This is a time to stand up and be counted. This is not a country that is run by a king. This is a country that is run by the Congress, the President, and the judiciary. The people deserve nothing less than the promise of their democracy. The people deserve nothing less than a full debate on this crisis.

Our sons and daughters in the gulf deserve nothing less. The parents of these sons and daughters, and I have some of them in my district, and I have seen their pain. They cannot even talk about it. They must demand nothing less than a full debate and participation of this Congress in this crisis. Not just notification. Not just for a few Members to be consulted, but all of us.

You know, it may be messy to have this debate. It may be inconvenient to have this debate. It may be a wordy debate. It may be a lengthy debate. It may be an untidy debate. But the parents of those sons and daughters and those sons and daughters themselves need the debate, now, before the fact.

Does it make us look weak as a country to have this debate? On the contrary, it makes us look strong. Only a nation that is confident of its system, confident of its freedom, could hold such a debate.

That is what separates us from dictators like Saddam Hussein. You do not hear any debate in his country. You do not hear any quarrels in his country. His country is run by fear, fear of the gun.

So let us show him and the world what democracy is all about, what freedom is all about. Do not let him dictate our agenda. Let us show the world how great a country we are.

We all want the same thing. We all want peace, but we may differ on how to get there. Let the debate begin.

□ 1730

Let us debate the alternatives to war open and in public so the world knows who we are, what we are about. We need to talk about when this policy changed.

I voted in favor of commending the President when he sent our troops to Saudi Arabia. And what is amazing is we drew the line in the sand: mission accomplished. We stopped them at that line. The hostages have come back. We have won victories here. No one would have predicted it. We did that.

Now it is time to let the rest of the policy work and to make this truly be a multinational force keeping the peace. Let the sanctions work.

We need many questions answered. Our greatest treasure is at stake, our young men and women, and our other treasure, our tax dollars, which must be guarded as well.

History shows that war is not that difficult to get into. Getting out of it is more difficult. Getting beyond war is difficult. But it can be done without our losing our credibility and our strength, and the debate must begin because the 435 Members in this Chamber and the 100 in the other Chamber have something to contribute to the debate; they have ideas.

This country does not function by the CIA making decisions. I know our President got a lot of training in the CIA, valuable training in the CIA. That is covert. But when we consider taking this country to war, the debate must begin.

There is a song that Bette Midler just recorded called "From a Distance," and she sings about how everything on Earth looks so beautiful from a distance. The sky looks so blue, the Earth looks so green, the people do not look hungry from far away, nobody looks to be fighting. It all looks so good from a distance she says, but when you get up close, it does not look as good, and we have work to do. It is the job of this Government working together, all of the branches, to make it look good, make it good for all our people up close.

From a distance, to listen to the President's words, it looks like it is the world versus Saddam Hussein. That is what he says, and he got the U.N. resolution, and the Secretary of State, Mr. Baker, flew all around this globe, and he is going to do it again, keeping our allies together. From a distance it sounds good. But let us get up close and see the sacrifices these other countries are making.

I have a chart here I want to share with Members. It shows the largest users of Persian Gulf oil and their contributions to the military effort in the gulf.

Let us take The Netherlands; 100 percent of their oil is from the Persian Gulf. When President Bush talked to us as a Nation, he said our way of life is at stake here. I assume he means our economic way of life, because surely the Government of Kuwait is not a democracy and we are not being threatened directly.

One hundred percent of the oil that The Netherlands uses comes from the Persian Gulf. They have committed no ground troops. They have committed no dollars. So The Netherlands gets 100 percent of its oil from the Persian Gulf, no ground troops, no dollars.

The Japanese, 63 percent of their oil is from the Persian Gulf, no ground troops, even in a defensive way, and a pledge of $4 billion that we just have not seen the check yet. I have to say that we still spend $27 billion a year defending the Japanese sea lanes. It is an outrage that they have pledged $4 billion and we have not even seen it yet.

Spain, 59 percent of its oil is from the Persian Gulf, no ground troops, no dollars pledged.

France, 38 percent, 8,400 ground troops, no dollars pledged.

Italy, 36 percent of its oil is from the Persian Gulf, no ground troops, no dollars.

Australia, 22 percent of its oil is from the Persian Gulf, no ground troops, no dollars.

The United Kingdom, 16 percent, 24,000 troops, the most troops of anyone else in this list, no dollars.

Germany, 11 percent, no ground troops, not even in a defensive capacity, and $2 billion pledged, and we hope we will receive that.

The United States of America, 11 percent of our oil is from the Persian Gulf, 300,000 ground troops, not to mention other troops in the area and $30 billion for a year's worth of that commitment.

It does not take a rocket scientist to see that something is wrong with this chart. If our economic lifestyle is at stake, as the President has stated, certainly these other countries have a worse situation facing them, and yet they do not make anywhere near the commitment of America.

There is one thing I have in my mind, a vision in my mind and I just cannot get it out of my mind, which is the joy and happiness that Secretary of State Baker and the President expressed when the U.N. resolution was passed. I looked behind that U.N. resolution and I knew that they were not commiting very much to the effort, and I said why are they so happy. It is as if these countries are saying, "Go, America, go protect our oil with your sons and daughters and your treasure, and we will thank you for it, and we will vote yes on a resolution in the United Nations."

We need to know more. We need to know what commitments were made to these countries to get their vote in the United Nations, and that is part of what my resolution of inquiry will ask for.

I think the American people need to know this. I think they have to get mad about this. I think we need a multinational force, truly multinational, truly a fair representation of the world on the sands of Saudi Arabia to keep our eye on Saddam Hussein.

Let the sanctions work. America will do its fair share, but not such an enormous and disproportionate share. It is wrong. It is wrong for our country.

I want to yield to my colleague from Oregon, PETER DEFAZIO, a leader in the fight to make sure that Congress gets its say in this matter.

Mr. DEFAZIO. I thank the gentleman for yielding and would like to return to the chart for a moment. I think she is making an extraordinary point here that has been little noted in the American press.

It is true, the United States is dependent for approximately 10 percent of our oil supply on the Persian Gulf region. So, should that supply disappear tomorrow, certainly we would be inconvenienced, but with fleet standards or something else, we could overcome that rather readily.

However, these other nations would be facing economic catastrophe or collapse were there a real threat to their oil being cut off, and this is a point that just needs to be made again and again. Why is it that the United States is there in such numbers and at such extraordinary expense and extraordinary risk to our young men and women in that magnitude, and these other countries, which are theoretically so much more at risk, are not there?

Look at the people of Saudi Arabia. One would think that with a fierce foe on the border, if there were imminent an invasion, they might at least institute a draft or call up some young men to the reserves. No, we do not find that going on in Saudi Arabia. We do not find that they are making any extraordinary effort to put troops on the front lines. It is the United States that is transporting troops 10,000 miles to put them on the front lines.

It was not the people of Saudi Arabia, not the Gulf Coordinating Council.

They just had a meeting, and they met, and they thanked brother Arab nations for all their efforts in the war. They did not thank the United States for our efforts to keep them free in that region.

Mrs. BOXER. Could the gentleman repeat that? I had not heard that. I am completely just stunned.

Mr. DEFAZIO. The Gulf Coordinating Council just finished their summit last week. They put out numerous pronouncements congratulating one another and other nations in the gulf for their extraordinary efforts and cooperation but not a word was said about the U.S. efforts. They have yet to visit or acknowledge our troops. They are just, you know, it is there, we are taken for granted somehow, or we are the mercenaries, or they are so used to having people do their work that we have just become part of that function, like the people they have used for many years to run the oil fields and clean the houses and other things.

If there is this extraordinary threat of invasion and of a takeover of that region by this heinous person, then one would think that they would be calling up their young people, that they would have a call to arms, they would be there in greater numbers, and that goes back to the earlier point that the gentlewoman was making which is: Why did the President of the United States and the Secretary, and I applaud their use of the United Nations. I think that was very wise.

I applaud the fact that we originally sent the Air Force and the Navy to prevent the invasion of Saudi Arabia. But the gentlewoman is right. At what point did we switch from defensive, from using the sanctions, from waiting out and bringing down Hussein through economic and political will and might, when did we change to the inevitability of a war, war that by all accounts would be fought on his terms rather than our terms, a massive ground war which would be an extraordinary mistake for this Nation, for that region? What is our long-term objective in the region?

Is it to bring peace and stability? Or is it purely expediency?

When Iran was the boogie man in the region, we supported Hussein. We built him up. He attacked Iran with chemical weapons. We cheered him on. We said nothing. He blew up the U.S.S. Stark killing sailors, and never accounting for how that attack took place. We said, "That is OK. We do not need really to investigate that. All we need is a simply apology." He attacked his own people, the Kurds, with poison gas.

A few days or 2 weeks before the invasion, we were debating on the floor of this House cutting off aid to Iraq, and the President and the Secretary of State were lobbying against that. Three days before, our ambassador sat down with him and said, "Mr. President, this is an inter-Arab dispute. The United States is not involved in this matter." One would think that if we were going to bring the Nation to war that we might have told him before he invaded Kuwait.

What is the long-term objective, Mr. President? We have got to ask. Where has the administration been?

Where are they now? We are now lurching toward Syria. We are embracing the one person in that region who probably is a worse terrorist and a worse person than Saddam Hussein, Hafez Assad, who harbors Abu Nidal, the people who probably blew up Pan Am 103, the people who assassinated our Marines in Lebanon, and suddenly their enemy is our enemy, and they are our friend. We are embracing them. They are taking over Lebanon basically with our consent.

Mrs. BOXER. The gentleman is so articulate on this point. What it seems to me is happening is that we are becoming like a Saddam Hussein, in other words, rather than the open debate that we always have in this Nation, rather than a coherent policy that I thought we used to have, rather than standing tall for human rights and never meeting with a leader such as the leader of Syria, we are doing that for expediency sake. That is not like this country. There is something wrong with that.

I think the gentleman is so right to interject that into this debate.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Where the gentlewoman started is where we should return to. Let us return to the basics of our democracy and our leadership of the free world and that is the Constitution of the United States of America and the fact that we have an elected body here to represent the people of America to engage in these difficult issues, to have a full and fair debate and to exert the will of the Nation.

If we have a debate on this floor and we decide and we vote for war, so be it. Then the people of America are committed to war and we should support that war and go forward as best we can as a Nation.

But absent that debate, absent consultation by the President, significant consultation, with the U.S. Congress under the War Powers Act, I believe that the President is in jeopardy of violating the Constitution of the United States and doing grievous harm to our democracy, to our Nation, committing us to a war to which I believe the Nation is not ready yet to be committed and, in fact, undermining our leadership of the free world, undermining our leadership of the new world order that the President likes to talk about.

No one doubts that the United States of America could destroy Saddam Hussein. We have the greatest nuclear arsenal in the world. We could destroy him in a second if we so wished. We could obliterate him for all time from the face of the Earth.

Sometimes a great nation shows its greatness and leads the world by restraining itself from such force and engaging in other productive actions.

Everything points to the fact that the sanctions are working. When the President's own head of the CIA says that the sanctions are working, we are bringing him to his knees, within 6 months his military capabilities will be significantly degraded, rationing is being imposed upon his people, he is becoming very unpopular, and we have the entire world cooperating in these sanctions; what would it hurt to wait a bit longer and wait out the sanctions rather than killing tens of thousands of young Americans, men and women, and young Arabs in a fight that will probably destabilize the entire region, bring down the King of Jordan and other moderates in that region, and throw that region into turmoil that, I believe, will last throughout our entire lifetimes.

It makes no sense to this Member of Congress nor does it seem to make much sense to my constituents.

Mrs. BOXER. I thank the gentleman for participating in this special order. I think he has raised some important issues.

As he pointed out, sanctions are going to take patience. Does anyone know how I know that? The President said that. As a matter of fact, I remember so clearly, and he said it with great belief. He said, "We need a lot of patience." I want to know why he changed his mind. What changed his mind? He said we need patience, we need to have a defensive posture in Saudi Arabia, and then suddenly he activated another 200,000 troops, and we are set for a war without debate.

Mr. DEFAZIO. People say, and I have heard members of the administration say, "Well, the American people are not patient. We cannot wait that out." I would point to the fact that we waited on the border of the Soviet Union and East Germany for 50 years after World War II until we won the cold war and the wall and those dictatorships came tumbling down. We have been on the border in Korea for 37 years since an armistice was declared in that area. The United States has tremendous staying power when our cause is just, and we can wait out this two-bit tinhorn dictator, and we can bring him to his knees through economic and political sanctions.

I am convinced that we are a great enough power to do that, and that the American people have the staying power to committing this Nation to doing that. That to me is a preferable course to a hasty rush to a war and the potential catastrophe that would take tens of years to undo.

Mrs. BOXER. I thank the gentleman again. The gentleman is so right.

This is really an opportunity for us in what President Bush calls the new world order to put together a truly multinational group to handle these kinds of hot spots. We are going to have them. Throughout the world's history we will have people like Saddam Hussein, and as the gentlewoman from Colorado [Mrs. SCHROEDER] says, if we become the 9–1–1 of the world, we are just not going to function. We are going to go broke.

We already have a $300 billion deficit. We cannot do the things we need to do.

I want to tell the Members one story that came out of my community meeting in which a young Kuwaiti woman came to speak at the community meeting, again, 1,000 people at these two meetings, and this young woman was very emotional. She was encouraging the United States to free her country, Kuwait, and she was very moved, and she said in a very broken voice:

My country is in trouble. War has already started in my country. They are doing terrible things to our people. They are raping our women. It is hell.

A gentleman came up after this woman, and he said to her:

Young lady, I feel so terrible for you. It must be a terrible thing. But I have news for you, too. There are women getting raped in America every day, and we do not have enough money for rape crisis centers. We do not have prevention programs. We cannot help our own people. We have 37 million people without health insurance. I feel so much for you, and we will do what we can to help, but we cannot take on all the burdens and this type of commitment unless it is as part of a multinational, truly multinational, force.

So we have an opportunity to work ourselves into a new time here where America is one of the leaders, where we have a highly mobile international force under the United Nations to move quickly as we did in Saudi Arabia to draw the line in the sand against aggression and to do what we need to do as part of this new world order.

This is the opportunity we have with this crisis, but we will blow it if it is America, and America only, that loses its treasure. It is not fair, and it is not just.

Let the sanctions continue, as my colleague from Oregon said. Eventually they will force Hussein to mediate and get out of Kuwait. I, for one, think we should let medicine in. We should let food in, but we must not allow him to continue his military machine, and eventually those spare parts will not get in. Eventually, the sanctions will work, and again, the administration people say they are working. We must encourage mediation of this dispute, and I am very pleased that it looks like there is going to be one chance, hopefully, for that to take place, and I encourage that. I think we could have mediation that would result in Iraq getting out of Kuwait, if those sanctions continue, that would result in a test ban treaty, and nonproliferation treaties on nuclear weapons, and it could produce a treaty banning the proliferation of chemical and biological weapons.

We know how to negotiate. This country has done incredible things. We are helping negotiate in the Cambodian situation, and I hope it works. We helped negotiate in Nicaragua, and I hope it will work. We helped negotiate Camp David when Israel and Egypt came to a peaceful agreement that has lasted all these years. If we have done that, we can help negotiate peace in this circumstance.

Again, we have had two of our goals accomplished. Hussein has stopped at the Saudi Arabian line, and the hostages are freed, and now we can allow those sanctions to work.

The American people have sacrificed during these years of the cold war. It has not been easy for Americans. We spent $4 trillion defending NATO from the Warsaw Pact. We spent untold billions defending the Japanese sealanes, and we are still doing it. This is a golden moment in history. If we are correct on the way we handle this dispute, that is through a multinational U.N. peacekeeping operation, not American versus Saddam Hussein, but truly the world versus Saddam Hussein. If we do that, we will be able to have a peace dividend in this country. We will be able to bring those dollars home. We will be able to reduce our deficit. We will be able to invest in our people. It is so long overdue. We did have patience. Fifty years in the cold war. We can come out of the cold war now if we handle this situation correctly. We must be a leader in a new way, a way to bring the world together to stop aggression, not just by rhetoric and saying the world is united, but in reality, so that this kind of chart will never be shown again. When it is shown, it is going to show an equal contribution by the people of the world to peace. I am not saying that we will never have another problem in the world. I could not say that, but I am saying that if we can get beyond war in this case, we will have started off in the postcold war area on the correct foot. We will be strong. We will be wise. Most of all, we will follow this Constitution by allowing the Congress into this debate.

I have to tell Members the wisdom of our country lies not in the White House, not in these Chambers, not even in the halls of the Supreme Court. The wisdom of this country lies in our people. Our people have the wisdom. Members should have heard those thousand people talking to me. They know that there is a better way, other than sending those ground troops, into war. They know. They have seen the sacrifices of past generations. What is amazing to me, if we listen carefully, it is the former generals that are coming out and saying, "Slow down." It is even Senator DOLE, a Republican leader in the Senate who says that this country is not ready for war. He knows the hell of war. He has been there. I do not know the hell of war. I only know what I read. I only know what people tell me. I feel it in my heart, but I cannot even imagine.

As a matter of fact, when people say to me, "Do you think, BARBARA, this country is going to go to war," I do not even answer the question, because to me, to make that leap to think of those kids going into war is too big of a leap for me to make. Therefore, I hope this diplomatic effort by the President, by the Secretary of State, is successful. They will not haggle over what time of the day to meet, what day of the week to meet. Meet and talk; meet and talk, because there is too much at stake. What is really at stake here at this point in our history, are hundreds of thousands of our kids, and many other people, that will be hurt if aggressive action is taken.

Saddam Hussein has to be on notice that the world does not go along with his view of it. The world does not look kindly on one nation taking over another nation. That is clear. But we stopped him at the Saudi line. Everyone knows right now if he took aggressive action that would be it for him. He knows that. So let Members try to resolve the matter peacefully. If we do, when history is written, it would be said that at a very difficult moment in history, the American people and its leaders in the White House, in the Congress, and all the streets of America, pulled together and figured out a better way. If we do that, I know this country will reach its greatness, because we will be able to take our resources and use them to make this the greatest Nation on Earth.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and to extend their remarks on the subject of my special order today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California?

There was no objection.

HIGHEST PRIORITY: DEPOSIT INSURANCE REFORM

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. GONZALEZ] is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, today, taking the opportunity presented to Members by this first day in the life of the 102d Congress in our history, I introduced legislation which I consider to be of the highest priority: deposit insurance reform, and as an inseparable adjunct, reform of our regulatory system, if it can be called a system.

Two years ago, the House gave me a tremendous and high privilege, the high honor and responsibility to be the chairman of the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs. Today, I have the renewed privilege, and hence, the equal honor to serve in that capacity again. Two years ago, the highest priority for the committee was to reform the savings and loan industry, a path that has proved to be far more costly than anyone ever imagined, made tougher by economic conditions that combine the problem of that industry and, of course, today with the long shadow of war and the toll already taken, and the impact on our economy, with the altered cost of energy.

Let me say by way of parenthesis, that I called a hearing of the committee this last month. The idea was to review the economic impact of the developments in the Persian Gulf area, as it is so called, and we brought forth some preeminent witnesses.

Unfortunately, the press ignored all but one, and that was Chairman Greenspan, who to his everlasting credit accepted my invitation to appear before the committee.

Chairman Greenspan said, and it was overlooked by the press, the most impressive thing of all, and he said that if indeed we are, and he said, "I am not saying we are in a recession, because who defines that, but we are in a downturn. I am very disturbed by the increased incidence of unemployment"—and let me say this by way of added parentheses. Let me give some statistics. He did not give them. I got them from other sources, official Government sources.

In the month of October, our country lost 173,000-plus jobs. In the month of November alone, we lost 287,000-plus jobs, so we may not be in a recession. We may be in what we would have always called a depression.

So we see the impact now, even without a shooting phase. God willing, I hope we never will see that, but all we can do is hope and pray.

So that even though we did not stop or stem the bloodletting that had been suffered by the people in the case of the S&L industry, and mostly because we have no control over the administrative process once the Congress legislates general policy, reforms and sets up a regulatory umbrella.

Under the Constitution, there is no way that we can constitutionally go in and preempt the executive branch from the administrative responsibility.

I wish we had that power, because I could have absolutely had at least some say-so in avoiding the basic reasons why the bloodletting has not been stemmed, and therefore the escalating and the exponential increase in the projected cause of the resolution of even the S&L's, not talking about banks even.

Let me say again, more banks have failed than S&L's; so that not having any power to control party administration, the lateness of appointment of key officials to the agencies that resulted from the reform bill, we have to sit back and do the best we can by being patient and by exerting good will toward those who do have the responsibility of administering, yet in great anxiety seeing the things that should be done are not being done, things that are being done should not be done.

The industry that remains is one with sound standards, nevertheless. Two-thirds of the S&L industry is still there.

With tough regulation and sober outlook, the crooks are being steadily and resolutely jailed. Its high fliers have been run off and the remains of wrecked institutions are being cleaned up, and as I say, not as efficiently as we would like, but at least it is being done.

This task and the money to carry it out must be continued, however, painful the process might be and however slow and unyielding the response to our legislative advice is continuing to be.

Today we face still another great reform task, one of great complexity, but one that is unavoidable if we are to prevent another deposit insurance debacle. As a matter of fact, we do.

It is clear, as I have been saying, that the two main insurance funds are broke. It is clear that that is dramatic evidence that the system has broken down, as some of us have been anticipating, predicting, and talking about for over 20 years.

Today we must confront the task of rebuilding the bank insurance fund and reform the way the deposit insurance system is administered. At the same time, we must overhaul the way financial institutions are regulated. We must do these things because it does little good to throw tens of billions of new dollars into a system that has broken down.

Failure to understand reform would be akin to putting more oil into the crank case of a broken down motor. The system might run awhile, but it would foul the air, never run right, and in the end be too costly to fix.

Every nation must have a banking system that is efficient, that is responsive to the economic needs of the country, that serves the public well, and that enjoys public confidence above all.

This must be a system that operates in a safe and sound manner, that is well regulated, and that is capable of operating in a profitable manner.

It is not enough for us merely to guarantee depositories and depositors against loss. The best insurance in the world will not work if the building and fire codes are not good or are not enforced, nor is insurance any good if it is so costly that no one can afford its burden.

Today the Nation's banks are operating in a climate wholly changed from that of 10 years ago, much less than that over 50 years ago, which was before the war and in a depression when this system was basically formed. They are ill-equipped to do so and the vast number of bank failures in the past few years proves this.

Ten years ago the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was rebating insurance premiums to banks. Today the corporation reserves stand at their lowest levels in history. That is how dramatically this picture has changed.

The highest priority my committee has is to overhaul the banking system, and that task must begin immediately.

I wish I could have had my way 2 years ago and could have joined it to the S&L reform, but of course that was impossible.

I am introducing legislation today that addresses major elements of the deposit insurance system's problems and that overhauls the regulatory system for all depository institutions. It will be known as H.R. 6.

This bill also contains a number of badly needed reforms that will require depository institutions to be far more responsive than they are today to the needs of the average customer.

The bill I am offering today concentrates on safety and soundness because this is what must come before all else in banking and finance; but banks also need a more reasonable opportunity to be profitable if they are to be safe, sound, and efficient.

It would do us little good to engineer a safe automobile if no one could afford to build it, so we must also find ways to make banks more competitive than they are today so that they can attract the capital they need to carry out their vital economic functions.

The essential first step, however, is to develop a framework within which a better banking system can safely operate. There are certain simple principles that I want to discuss. First, the regulators of financial institutions should be independent. They should be independent of narrow industry interests, independent of narrow agency turf interests, and independent of transitory political interests.

Too often regulators have been captured by the industry that they are supposed to be regulating, or crippled by interagency fueds or cowed by political pressures generated by those who find effective regulation inconvenient.

Second, those who charter and regulate institutions should be separate from those who insure deposits.

Let me say for the record and in all justice to myself, because rather than ever having been commended, I have been more criticized than not for having spoken out in this well and this forum since the first month I came to the Congress, going now on 30 years, because it is this that I have discussed and this particular issue that since the first credit crunch in June 1966, I brought to the then great chairman, my fellow Texan, Mr. Patman, saying because we had the first credit crunch in June and that is what they called it for the first time, because the prime interest rate was jacked up overnight 1 whole percentage point and that immediately affected the S&L industry that was traveling with a certain privilege of what was known then as regulation 2, which is fancy language, and what it means is that the law gave them a little advantage in interest yield so they could compete with other financial institutions in offering long-term fixed 30-year mortgages.

In other words, lending long and borrowing short. Unless they had a little advantage, nobody could stay in business if you do that, lend long and borrow short.

So that 1-percent prime interest rate hike destroyed and made them vulnerable, destroyed their stability. However, the interest rate picture leveled off.

But I warned, and I went to the chairman and I said:

> Mr. Chairman, the problem here is that this S&L industry, the same arm that insures is also chartering and that is not good. That is going to prove ultimately, some dim day, and I hope never, but I think the possibility and potential is there for disaster.

I said unlike the bank insurance fund, the FDIC, all that does is insure, it does not charter. But when I said "bank" that triggered in his mind an objection. He was known as Mr. S&L and he was also fought intensely and he fought back at what he called the big eastern banking interests.

So I think that second in this vital function we separate the insuring from the chartering function. Each has served as a check against the other.

A regulator that is also an insurer has a built-in conflict which can lead to disaster, as we saw in the case of the old S&L Insurance Corporation.

Third, regulation should be unified rather than split, scattered as it is today.

Fourth, regulation should be firm, unquestionably so. This regulation should reward good management, just as effectively as it punishes bad management.

Fifth, deposit insurance should be operated solely for its real purpose, the protection of ordinary depositors, not a guarantor, as it is today, of 99.5 percent of all deposits.

The average deposit in American commercial banks, insured banks, is not even $8,700. That means that there are a lot of Americans that have less than that. This is a median average.

So who is getting all of these payoffs? That is why I have said that the way they have been doing it, it is a bottomless pit. It will never have the money to pay out because they are paying out 99.5 percent of all deposits. That includes the uninsured, that includes those multimillionaires who have more than $100,000 and are being paid out as if they were insured, regardless of size and regardless of the intent of the law. Now no insurance system can survive if it proposes to underwrite every risk, and such a system only increases laxity and risky behavior, with the ironic result that it magnifies instability.

Sixth, the deposit insurance system is intended to serve depositors with convenient and affordable services, and the law should foster a responsive system of consumer banking services.

Those are the principles upon which my bill rests. I want to emphasize that I am also concerned with the profitability of the banking system. A system that is not profitable cannot attract capital, cannot provide affordable services and cannot function effectively as a provider of credit. A system that cannot compete effectively cannot survive, and no regulatory system, however elaborate, can keep afloat a system that cannot compete.

Let me highlight the main features of the bill as I am offering it today.

First it restricts deposit insurance to the $100,000 per account that the law always intended and still does. Any depositor could insure $100,000 at any one time. In addition, insure an equal amount placed in a retirement account such as a Keogh or individual retirement account. But the bill would prohibit paying off multimillion dollar accounts that are now insured for institutional investors and professional investors of one kind or another.

Today there are simply no effective limits on the amount of insurance deposits and therefore no limits on the amount of taxpayers' liability.

The reason is short and simple. There has been a usurpation, improperly, by the regulatory authorities who have interpreted such odious practices as "too big to fail." This is not only a threat to the taxpayer, it also saps the banking system of needed discipline.

The limit I am proposing effectively covers every average depositor 10 times over, and it also protects virtually every saver who wants to protect his nest egg.

The limit I am proposing simply restates and makes effective the intent of the law to provide ample deposit insurance for the average depositor.

The legislation will send into the field a streamlined and coordinated regulatory force, armed with the power, the mandatory power to intervene swiftly when an institution's conditions deteriorate.

No longer will the regulator be able to hem and haw, to engage in wishful thinking while institutions drop to zero net worth and become basket cases left for the care and feeding by taxpayers.

When the gauges creep into the red zone, the regulators must act, limit additional exposure to the insurance fund, and require stiff remedial steps. Examinations will no longer be a sometime thing. They will be an annual affair. States that carry out their own examinations for State chartered institutions must meet federally prescribed standards if they want Federal insurance.

Accounting standards are upgraded, and institutions with $100 million or more in assets must have annual audits. Institutions that run lucrative offshore and other foreign operations will be required to pay premiums on deposits in those institutions.

When the National Bank of Washington was closed earlier last year, FDIC paid off depositors in the institution's Nassau branch, a branch which had not paid one single dime into the insurance fund.

My bill ends that inequitable and costly charade.

Institutions that engage in risky activities, such as Charlie Keating did, will pay at the insurance window in the form of risk-based premiums. No more free rides for the high flyers.

The Federal deposit insurance fund should not be used to underwrite the risky or the imprudent practices of State-chartered institutions as has happened in the past.

Federally insured institutions would be restricted to the practices permitted to federally chartered institutions.

Nor should an institution system be required to grant insurance on an automatic basis to institutions that get a new charter, as they are today.

The decision to insure would be separate from the decision to charter.

All insurance functions will be placed in this unitary structure that I call the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and the Federal Reserve will then continue to essentially have a role in monetary and economic policy.

The legislation also provides new safeguards for the customers of financial institutions. The taxpayers would stand behind the insurance and regulatory system, that is.

These provisions include requirements for a clear statement of interest on accounts, basic banking services, improvement to community reinvestment and strengthening antidiscrimination efforts in lending and machinery to ensure that consumer laws are enforced. I believe the regulatory system should be consolidated and made independent.

This would cut out the kind of costly, inefficient, overlapping, and in many respects, irrational regulation today.

A unified system can look at holding companies, banks and their affiliates in a way that is close to impossible today. And a unified system will have unified concepts. What is capital for?

One would be capital for another. What is one kind of risk in one case in an institution of a given nature will be the same kind of risk in another, and this regulatory system should be independent, as I have said earlier and repeat now, capable of making objective assessments without regard to narrow interests of industry or agency or of politics or external politics.

□ 1820

The examination and supervisory functions of the Federal Reserve, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the National Credit Union Administration and the Office of Thrift Supervision will be placed in one new agency that I would call the Federal Depository Institutions Regulatory Agency. The legislation puts heavy new responsibility on the holding companies, the payment of the insured institutions, to curtail risky activities in the subsidiaries making them liable for losses in the insurance fund.

This bill provides and represents a first step. It is not all that needs to be done or all that must be done. But it represents the first essential step toward rationalizing a regulatory system that no longer is workable.

President John Kennedy was a great and personal friend, used to say that a thousand mile trip or voyage had to begin with the first step, and this is what this reflects and represents. It is a first essential step, as I say, toward a rational regulatory system, toward making regulation effective, toward restoring deposit insurance to its real purpose and toward insuring a system that is responsible to the public need.

I have said, and I will say now because I can see it is going to be controversial, I will be fired at from all directions, that the interests that are out to protect their interest no matter what the cost is to the general interest have already pitched their tents on the Potomac since last year. I know that. But as always I have ultimate and supreme confidence in the good will, the good judgment, the good faith, and the absolute sense of responsibility I know is inherent in every one of the colleagues that I happen to know personally, whether they like me or do not like me, or whether they agree with me or do not. I have, and I always, assume that a colleague's motives are of the purest, like I think mine are, until proven otherwise by any doubt by actions that all then can judge.

So, having that faith, and given this as a first step, and having the prime responsibility as chairman of this committee, to set the agenda, mark the course, blaze a trail, the bill today represents that effort.

Much more will be said about this as the Congress proceeds. We face no greater need than to act on the problems that this bill is addressing.

I urge my colleagues to become acquainted with the issues and to weigh carefully these recommendations, for what we are dealing with is the very foundation of a robust economy, and I will go further. I am not going to go into that issue. But it is the one that worries me more even than this, and that is our precarious situation with the currency that is fast on the road to debauchery.

What good does it do us to boast of our standard of living which has been under attack? How can we say we have any kind of defense mechanism, or much of freedom, if we suffer the loss of the value of our currency? The dollar has lost 55 percent of its value in less than 6 years.

Mr. Speaker, this cannot go on. We are in danger, and my biggest fear, because to me it is a clear and present fear, is that the dollar will be supplanted and replaced as the international reserve unit, and I cannot tell my colleagues what that will mean. That means we are gone. We are the only nation whose citizens have the luxury of paying their debts in their own currency. The dollar is replaced, and the danger is great.

Nobody will listen to me. Again this is something I have been talking about since 1979, in August.

But as of a year now it is clear, it is limpidly clear, that our Nation is at a precipice. Should I not speak out? Yes, I am, even if nobody listens.

This is an issue that sounds almost esoteric to the average, but it has everything to do with whether we have a continued economic freedom, even if it is relative, or we do not. And the threat is great. It would not take much.

When I have thrown this out to the great leaders in finance, in government, in private, international banking, I am told the same thing: "Oh, well, you know it's not going to happen. If it does, it will be in some long, distant future," and when I say, "Why not? Why can't it happen in 6 months? In a year?," they cannot tell me; they say, "It's not likely."

But then this is what the great committee on national economics at a point was telling Herbert Hoover in June 1929. In the words of the committee, it said, "Mr. President, we see nothing but unrestricted, unlimited prosperity to the foreseeable future." That was in May and June 1929, and you had that Black Friday that following October.

We know there are things we cannot predict, but we know there are things that we can project because of the fact that we are charged with knowledge, and so I have spoken out, and I am saying now, even though I am straying from the basic subject matter, because why? I am not straying because no matter what we do domestically, we can solve all our problems domestically, but we have no control over these external forces now over which we no longer have control.

I repeat, my colleagues. I am urging my colleagues to become intimately acquainted, and I want them to know, whether they are a member of this committee or not, I will continue to do what I pledge exactly the first week of the opening of the 101st Congress. I said I will come before this forum, which I have used greatly, and I will give my colleagues an accounting of what I, as the newly elected chairman of the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, intend to do and thus far have been able to do, and that I did all through the 101st Congress.

Even as late as after adjournment of the 101st Congress I sent each Member, not just the members of the committee, Members of the House, what the intent was by way of reform which is reflected in this bill I introduced today. With these reforms we can newly energize the engines of our economy. Without them we will only grow weaker.

Mr. Speaker, the issues are tough, but does that mean we do not try to confront and overcome?

Let me say that just within the last 32 hours we have had ominous developments in the State of Rhode Island. There the newly elected Governor has just in effect declared a bank and credit union holiday. And today I got the first statistics from the staff in Rhode Island. Fifteen credit unions have been closed reflecting $1.5 billion of financial net worth.

□ 1830

They will only be able to save through Federal chartering 4 out of the 15. Why? Because a State insurance system went bust. It was contracted out privately.

Let me say something in addition to this. As early as 1984, shadows were cast of coming events when Nebraska, which was a smaller economy, had the first failure of the S&L State insurance system. It ended in scandal, and, if I remember correctly, the impeachment of one of the high State officials.

Then, shortly after that, you had Ohio, and the great crisis in Ohio. With what? With the State uninsured. Also the bankruptcy of the State reinsurance system.

Then we had Maryland right next door. That was worse. You used to have about 122 institutions in Maryland. You have all but a handful. Fortunately, about 82 of them could have been federally chartered. But you still have in Maryland over 15,000 Marylanders that have not gotten all of their money out that they had deposited in good faith and just felt it was insured, did not bother to find out whether it was or was not, or whether it was State, State uninsured, or State inadequately insured.

Fortunately, the State Legislature of Maryland appropriated millions of dollars so they could pay out some of the others. But you still have over 15,000.

What more did you need? I spoke out then, and I said to my colleagues then from this very well, I said, gentlemen, do not harbor and indulge in the luxury of thinking that it is just State. It is coming here on the Federal level.

Our FSLIC, the insurance fund for the savings and loan industry is broke.

Who would listen? Everybody was enjoying the merry-go-round. Why, we even had citizens that were good financial wizards.

I had a little housewife in my city of San Antonio saying, Mr. Chairman, Mr. Congressman, you are out there in the Banking Committee. I have just taken my money out of the S&L here. It was only paying me about 6¾ percent. I put it in a money market account. I am going to get 8 percent, 8¼. Don't you think that is good?

I said that I am not going to give an opinion. I am not a financial consulting individual. I do not know anything about it. I do not have any stocks, bonds, nor investments. All I have ever had is the element of office prescribed in the law that I would be entitled to. I have always made it a full-time job. I felt I was being paid to do a full-time job, so I never got into side activities. I did not want to worry with it.

It was not that I was goody-goody or goody two shoes or anything. It is just that is the way I wanted to be.

So I told this little lady, I said lady, the only thing I will ask you is this: the institution you tell me you drew your funds from is insured. What about this other?

Well, she did not know, and she did not much care to know.

It so happened that that is another loose cannon in our economy today, for over 23 percent of the deposits are uninsured mutual money markets.

So everybody was enjoying the merry-go-round. Why, it is going to last forever.

What about the land? I reported this in 1983 for the first time. Who gave a hoot? I said I know the acreage north of town that is not capitalized in a newly structured S&L, just chartered by the State, in which there is 20,000 acres north of town, you cannot do anything with it. You cannot even build low income or low rent housing. You certainly cannot grow anything on that rocky stretch.

I happen to know that just a year before that I could have bought a whole acre for less than $1,000. All of a sudden this acreage was being put down on the book value of that S&L at $20,000 an acre.

How could that last? All bubbles burst. That is where we are today. We sow to the wind, and we will reap the whirlwind. That is what we are doing right now.

Let me tell you about my home State of Texas. You think I am not worried? When I check on Rhode Island, I immediately said, I wonder how many credit unions I have in Texas that are privately so-called insured.

Well, the figure is about 250. We estimate that there is a total involvement there of some $3 billion worth.

Of course, when I talked about this bill, and I said I believe in bringing all insured depository institutions who are guaranteed by the American taxpayer under that same regulatory umbrella, these start shooting at me right away.

So now, just as of 32 hours ago, I think they can see what I was talking about and what I am talking about now.

The issues are tough. I repeat, the choice is very difficult. But the need to act is urgent, and unavoidable.

FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT

(Mr. REED asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. REED. Mr. Speaker, as the 102d Congress opens I applaud the re-introduction of the Family and Medical Leave Act by my colleague from Missouri, Representative CLAY.

The time for the passage of this legislation, Mr. Speaker, is long overdue. This is the same legislation that was passed in the last session of Congress by both the House and the Senate, only to be vetoed by the President. However, as the economy continues to tighten in the 1990's, it is imperative that families do not have to choose between working for a living and caring for a family.

This act will give working families the time to care for a newborn or ill child, the time to aid an elderly parent in need of assistance, and the time to deal with a personal illness or grievous medical condition, by providing up to 10 weeks of unpaid medical leave for affected employees.

In Rhode Island I cosponsored similar legislation which has become law. Eligible Rhode Island families now have the chance to care for their families in times of crisis. Rhode Island has taken an important step forward, and the Nation should follow.

We can ease the burden of the working men and women who at present are forced to choose between their families and their jobs. We have a national obligation to protect their jobs and the future health and prosperity of their children. I urge my colleagues to join me in cosponsoring this act and in answering the needs of a rapidly changing work force, by passing this legislation.

BILLS DISAPPROVED AFTER SINE DIE ADJOURNMENT

The President announced his disapproval of the following bills with memorandums of disapproval as follows:

H.R. 4638—MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL

I am withholding my approval of H.R. 4638, the "Orphan Drug Amendments of 1990." This legislation would make substantive changes to the orphan drug provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Orphan Drug Act.

Enacted in 1983, the Orphan Drug Act created economic incentives for drug companies to develop drugs for rare diseases and conditions—so-called "orphan drugs." Typically, these drugs would not be profitable to develop because of their small patient populations.

By any measure, the Orphan Drug Act has been a tremendous success. A total of 49 new drugs for rare diseases have been approved under this program, and 370 others are in the development stage. These drugs have provided lifesaving treatments for such terrible disease as enzyme deficiency, which affects adversely the immune system of about 40 children nationwide. Until the orphan drug was developed to treat these children, they had to spend their entire lives in the protection of an isolation bubble. One of the first orphan drugs is another example of a triumph. The most difficult form of leprosy affects only 4,000 people. A drug known for over 14 years to be effective in treating this condition was not being marketed by any drug company, because it was considered unprofitable—until the Orphan Drug Act provided the marketing incentive. In a similar manner, orphan drugs provide treatment for terrible diseases for which there is usually no alternative therapy.

I have serious concerns about the effect the H.R. 4638 would have upon the incentive of drug companies to develop orphan drugs. I believe we must not endanger the success of this program, which is due to large measure to the existence of the "market exclusivity" provision in the Orphan Drug Act that allows companies to have exclusive marketing rights to an orphan drug for 7 years. Weakening the current 7-year exclusivity provision would certainly discourage development of desperately needed new orphan drugs.

Under current law, firms may apply to develop the same orphan drug, but only the first firm to have its drug approved receives market exclusivity. The certainty of this 7-year period is the basis of the economic incentive to attract drug firms to invest in orphan drugs.

The bill would make two major changes to the market exclusivity provisions of the Orphan Drug Act. First, the bill provides for "shared exclusivity." Firms that can demonstrate that they have developed the orphan drug simultaneously would be allowed to share the market with the firm initially awarded the market exclusivity. Second, the bill requires the Food and Drug Administration to withdraw the marketing exclusivity as soon as the patient population exceeds a 200,000 patient limit. Both of these changes have the effect of weakening the marketing incentives provided by the Act. Under the bill, the length of the market exclusivity period will depend on how quickly the patient population grows and whether other firms file claims for simultaneous development.

In addition, as currently constructed, the 200,000 patient population limit would be applied to orphan drugs approved prior to the enactment of the bill as well as to those approved in the future. This retroactive rule change would send a troublesome signal to all those who might wish to develop orphan drugs that the Federal Government may change unilaterally the rules for firms that made investment decisions based on the expectation of 7 years of market exclusivity.

I am aware that this bill was passed after a number of compromises among Members of Congress. I am extremely concerned, however, that individuals with rare diseases may suffer because of changes that this bill would make in the incentives to develop new drug treatment. Accordingly, I am withholding my approval of H.R. 4638.

GEORGE BUSH.

H.R. 4653—MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL

I am withholding my approval of H.R. 4653, the "Omnibus Export Amendments Act of 1990." Although this legislation contains constructive provisions, it would severely constrain Presidential authority in carrying out foreign policy.

I agree with the principal goals of this bill, which include improved export controls for, and sanctions against the use of, chemical and biological weapons; sanctions on Iraq; missile technology sanctions; and reauthorization of the Export Administration Act. Indeed, I have recently signed into law provisions on missile technology sanctions and sanctions against Iraq comparable to those contained in this bill. H.R. 4653, however, contains elements that I believe would undermine these objectives and our ability to act quickly, decisively, and multilaterally at a time when we must be able to do so. These provisions unduly interfere with the President's constitutional responsibilities for carrying out foreign policy. Rather than signing the bill, I am directing action under existing authorities to accomplish the bill's principal goals.

I am pleased that the Congress endorses my goal of stemming the dangerous proliferation of chemical and biological weapons. The Administration has worked closely with the Congress to design appropriate and effective legislation to improve our ability to impose sanctions on the nations that use such weapons and any companies that contribute to their spread. Indeed, the Administration supported the House version of the sanctions provision. Throughout discussions with the Congress, my Administration insisted that any such legislation should not harm cooperation with our partners and should respect the President's constitutional responsibilities. Unfortunately, as reported from conference, H.R. 4653 does not safeguard those responsibilities, nor does it meet our broader foreign policy goals.

The major flaw in H.R. 4653 is not the requirement of sanctions, but the rigid way in which they are imposed. The mandatory imposition of unilateral sanctions as provided in this bill would harm U.S. economic interests and provoke friendly countries who are essential to our efforts to resist Iraqi aggression. If there is one lesson we have all learned in Operation Desert Shield, it is that multilateral support enhances the effectiveness of sanctions.

Because of my deep concern about the serious threat posed by chemical and biological weapons, I have signed an Executive order directing the imposition of the sanctions contained in this bill and implementing new chemical and biological weapon export controls. This Executive order goes beyond H.R. 4653 in some respects. It sets forth a clear set of stringent sanctions, while encouraging negotiations with our friends and allies. It imposes an economic penalty on companies that contribute to the spread of these weapons and on countries that actually use such weapons or are making preparations to do so. At the same time, it allows the President necessary flexibility in implementing these sanctions and penalties. Furthermore, the Executive order reaffirms my determination to achieve early conclusion of a verifiable global convention to prevent the production and use of chemical weapons.

The Executive order also directs the establishment of enhanced proliferation controls, carefully targeted on exports, projects, and countries of concern. On this issue, as with other important export control matters, my goal is to pursue effective, multilateral export controls that send the clear message that the United States will not tolerate violations of international law.

I am also concerned that other features of H.R. 4653 would hamper our efforts to improve the effectiveness of export controls. In the rapidly changing situation in Eastern Europe, and in bilateral relationships with the Soviet Union, we have demonstrated the ability to adjust, in cooperation with our allies, export controls on high technology to reflect the new strategic relationships. Last May I asked our allies to liberalize dramatically our multilateral export controls. Negotiations designed to liberalize trade to encourage democratic institutions and open market economies will continue. Our multilateral export controls have contributed significantly to the positive changes brought about in West-East relations. The micromanagement of export controls mandated by H.R. 4653 can only damage these ongoing efforts.

In other areas, H.R. 4653 would be harmful to closely linked U.S. economic and foreign policy interests. For example, under section 128 of the bill there would be extraterritorial application of U.S. law that could force foreign subsidiaries of U.S. firms to choose between violating U.S. or host country laws.

Other sections of H.R. 4653 contain useful provisions that will be implemented as soon as possible. However, additional legal authority is not required to make our export control system reflect the economic and national security realities of today's world. In response to recent world events, I am directing Executive departments and agencies to implement the following changes:

—By June 1, 1991, the United States will eliminate all dual-use export licenses under section 5 of the Export Administration Act to members of the export control group known as CoCom, consistent with multilateral arrangements. In addition, all re-export licenses under section 5 to and from CoCom will be eliminated, consisent with multilateral arrangements.

—By June 1, 1991, the United States will remove from the U.S. munitions list all items contained on the CoCom dual-use list unless significant U.S. national security interests would be jeopardized.

—By January 1, 1991, U.S. review of export licenses subject to CoCom Favorable Consideration and National Discretion procedures will be reduced to 30 and 15 days, respectively.

—By January 1, 1991, new interagency procedures will be instituted to make dual-use export license decisions more predictable and timely.

—By January 1, 1991, the Secretary of State will initiate negotiations to ensure that supercomputer export controls are multilateral in nature and not undermined by the policies of other supplier countries.

—By June 1, 1991, in consultation with industry, we will devise and publish a method to index supercomputer license conditions to reflect rapid advances in the industry and changes in strategic concerns.

—By January 1, 1991, we will significantly increase the threshold for Distribution Licenses to free world destinations and ensure that at least annually these thresholds are adjusted to reflect changes in technology and are consistent with international relationships, including changing requirements to stem the proliferation of missile technology and nuclear, chemical and biological weapons.

In summary, H.R. 4653 contains serious and unacceptable flaws that would hamper our efforts to prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and to ease restrictions on the legitimate sale of dual-use goods to acceptable users. Rather than sign this bill, I have chosen to take a series of steps under existing authorities to ensure that mutually shared objectives are met in a timely and effective manner. I will work with the Congress, upon its return, to enact an appropriate extension of the Export Administration Act.

GEORGE BUSH.

THE WHITE HOUSE, November 16, 1990.

H.R. 3134—MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL

In the closing days of the 101st Congress, two bills were passed providing for somewhat different benefits for the surviving spouses of assassinated Federal judges. These survivors have suffered profound and tragic losses, and they have our deepest sympathies. I am pleased that the Congress has passed legislation allowing these individuals to receive additional benefits.

One bill—H.R. 5316, the "Judicial Improvements Act of 1990"—has not yet been presented to me for approval. Upon its presentation to me, I plan to approve H.R. 5316, which contains provisions that would increase the benefits, subject to certain limits, for surviving spouses of all assassinated Federal judges on an equitable basis.

My approval of H.R. 5316 makes the approval of another bill—H.R. 3134—unnecessary. Therefore, I am withholding my approval of H.R. 3134, a bill which would have provided somewhat different benefits for Mrs. Joan R. Daronco. This action, in conjunction with my planned approval of H.R. 5316, will ensure that Mrs. Daronco and all such surviving spouses receive their benefits in an equitable manner.

THE WHITE HOUSE, November 16, 1990.

S. 321—MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL

I am withholding my approval of S. 321, the "Indian Preference Act of 1990." S. 321 would establish, among other things, a program to provide preferences to qualifying Indian enterprises in the award of Federal grants or contracts using funds appropriated for the benefit of Indians. The bill would impose new, expensive, and often duplicative program responsibilities on the Secretary of the Interior that would be difficult to implement. It would also likely result in Federal agencies assuming new, unfunded liabilities related to Indian preference enterprises.

My Administration strongly supports the goals of S. 321 and is committed to helping alleviate the widespread unemployment and underemployment on Indian reservations. Moreover, the Administration supports efforts to prevent companies from misusing Federal Indian preference programs. Accordingly, amendments are needed to the "Buy Indian Act" to increase Indian economic self-sufficiency and employment opportunities and to prevent utilization of preference provisions by non-qualifying companies. However, S. 321 is seriously flawed and would create more problems than it would solve.

I am withholding my approval of S. 321 to allow further review of the issues in the 102nd Congress. Many of the issues raised by S. 321 are complex and deserve a full airing in both Houses of Congress. The House passed S. 321 in the final days of the 101st Congress without sufficient consideration of these complex issues.

In the interim, I am directing the Secretary of the Interior to take the necessary steps to address the contracting problems identified in the November 1989 report of the Special Committee on Investigations of the Senate Select Committee on Indian Affairs.

In particular, I am directing the Secretary to issue guidelines that set forth specific procedures to govern Bureau of Indian Affairs field contracting officers in conducting pre-award reviews of grants and contracts. I am also directing the Secretary to develop and submit proposed regulations to implement the "Buy Indian Act" for Executive review within 90 days.

GEORGE BUSH.

THE WHITE HOUSE, November 16, 1990.

S. 2834—MEMORANDUM OF DISAPPROVAL

I have withheld my signature from S. 2834, the proposed "Intelligence Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1991," thereby preventing it from becoming law. I am compelled to take this action due to the bill's treatment of one highly sensitive and important issue that directly affects the Nation's security, although there also are several objectionable elements of the bill that trouble me.

I cannot accept the broad language that was added in Conference to the definition of covert action. Section 602 of the bill defines "covert action" to include any "request" by the United States to a foreign government or a private citizen to conduct a covert action on behalf of the United States. This provision purports to regulate diplomacy by the President and other members of the executive branch by forbidding the expression of certain views to foreign governments and private citizens absent compliance with specified procedures; this could require, in most instances, prior reporting to the Congress of the intent to express those views.

I am particularly concerned that the vagueness of this provision could seriously impair the effective conduct of our Nation's foreign relations. It is unclear exactly what sort of discussions with foreign governments would constitute reportable "requests" under this provision, and the very possibility of a broad construction of this term could have a chilling effect on the ability of our diplomats to conduct highly sensitive discussions concerning projects that are vital to our national security. Furthermore, the mere existence of this provision could deter foreign governments from discussing certain topics with the United States at all. Such a provision could result in frequent and divisive disputes on whether an activity is covered by the definition and whether individuals in the executive branch have complied with a statutory requirement.

My objections to this provision should not be misinterpreted to mean that executive branch officials can somehow conduct activities otherwise prohibited by law or Executive order. Quite the contrary. It remains Administration policy that our intelligence services will not ask third parties to carry out activities that they are themselves forbidden to undertake under Executive Order No. 12333 on U.S. intelligence activities. I have also directed that the notice to the Congress of covert actions indicate whether a foreign government will participate significantly.

Beyond this issue, I am also concerned by the treatment in the Joint Explanatory Statement accompanying the Conference Report of notification to the Congress of covert actions. I reached an accommodation with the Intelligence Committees on the issues of notifying the Congress of covert actions "in a timely fashion," as required by current law, and have provided letters to the Intelligence Committees outlining how I intend to provide such notice. I was consequently dismayed by the fact that language was inserted in the Joint Explanatory Statement accompanying the Conference Report that could be construed to undercut the agreement reached with the Committees. This language asserts that prior notice may be withheld only in "exigent circumstances" and that notice "in a timely fashion" should now be interpreted to mean "within a few days" without exception. Such as interpretation would unconstitutionally infringe on the authority of the President and impair any Administration's effective implementation of covert action programs. I deeply regret this action.

Additionally, I am concerned that there are several legislatively directed policy determinations restricting programs of vital importance to the United States that I do not believe are helpful to U.S. foreign policy. This bill, like its predecessor last year, also contains language that purports to condition specified actions on the President's obtaining the prior approval of committees of the Congress. This language is clearly unconstitutional under the Presentment clause of the Constitution and the Supreme Court's decision in INS v. Chadha, 462 U.S. 919 (1983). I again urge the Congress to cease including such unconstitutional provisions in bills presented to me for signature.

This Administration has had a good relationship with the Intelligence Committees. I am willing to work with the Congress to address the primary issue that has prompted my veto as well as other difficulties with the bill. I will also continue to work with the Congress to ensure there is no change in our shared understanding of what constitutes a covert action, particularly with respect to the historic missions of the armed forces. I am confident that these issues can be resolved quickly in the next Congress through mutual trust and a good-faith effort on the part of the Administration and the Congress.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The text of the communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives dated November 8, 1990, is as follows:

WASHINGTON, DC,
November 8, 1990.

Hon. THOMAS S. FOLEY,
The Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to the permission granted in Clause 5 of Rule III of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Clerk received the following message from the Secretary of the Senate on Wednesday, November 7, 1990 at 10:00 a.m.: That the Senate agreed to House amendments to S.J. With great respect, I am,

Sincerely yours,

DONNALD K. ANDERSON,
Clerk, House of Representatives.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE HONORABLE ROBERT C. SMITH, MEMBER OF CONGRESS

The text of the communication from the Honorable Robert C. Smith, Member of Congress, dated December 5, 1990, is as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, December 5, 1990.

Hon. THOMAS S. FOLEY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives, H-204, The Capitol, Washington, DC.

DEAR SPEAKER FOLEY: I am writing to announce my resignation from the House effective 12:00 noon, December 7, 1990. A copy of my letter of resignation to Governor Gregg is enclosed.

As you may know, Governor Gregg had decided to appoint me to fill the United States Senate seat recently vacated by Senator Gordon Humphrey. On Wednesday, December 5th, Senator Humphrey was sworn into the New Hampshire State Senate. His resignation from the United States Senate was necessitated by the provisions in the New Hampshire State Constitution that prohibits one individual from simultaneously holding both the offices of State Senator and United States Senator.

It has been both an honor and privilege to serve with you and our fellow House colleagues for the past six years. While I look forward to serving in the Senate, I will always cherish my years in the House.

With warmest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

ROBERT C. SMITH.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, December 5, 1990.

Hon. JUDD GREGG,
Governor, State of New Hampshire, State House, Concord, NH.

DEAR GOVERNOR GREGG: For the past six years, I have had both the honor and privilege to represent the people of the First District of New Hampshire in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Your decision to appoint me to fill the United States Senate seat recently vacated by Senator Gordon Humphrey provides me with the opportunity to represent all the people of New Hampshire. As you know, Senator Humphrey's resignation was necessitated by the provisions in the New Hampshire State Constitution that prohibits one individual from simultaneously holding both the offices of State Senator and United States Senator. Senator Humphrey has ably and honorably represented New Hampshire for the last twelve years. I will work hard to live up to the high standards he has set.

With this in mind, I announced my resignation from the U.S. House of Representatives effective 12:00 noon, December 7, 1990 so that I may be sworn in as a United States Senator.

With warmest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

ROBERT C. SMITH.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE HONORABLE TOMMY ROBINSON, MEMBER OF CONGRESS

The text of the communication from the Honorable Tommy Robinson, Member of Congress, dated December 28, 1990, is as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, December 28, 1990.

Hon. THOMAS FOLEY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives, The Capitol, H204, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Effective noon, December 31, 1990, I respectfully resign my position as a member of the United States House of Representatives from the Second District of Arkansas.

Throughout my Congressional career, I have consistently argued that members of Congress should not vote themselves any pay raise until we have taken steps to cut spending and eliminate the deficit. Because of my strong, personal conviction on this matter, I cannot accept any of the pay increase which becomes effective on January 1, 1991. Accordingly, I am submitting this resignation to be effective at 12:00 noon on Monday, December 31, 1990.

In leaving, I would like to emphasize my personal belief that Congress must pass a balanced budget amendment and a Presidential line-item veto to ensure that the Federal Government lives within its means.

I have enjoyed my tenure in the House and wish the members of Congress the best in the next session.

Sincerely,

TOMMY ROBINSON,
Member of Congress.

REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

In compliance with Public Law 601, 79th Congress, title III, Regulation of Lobbying Act, section 308(b), which provides as follows:

(b) All information required to be filed under the provisions of this section with the Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate shall be compiled by said Clerk and Secretary, acting jointly, as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar quarter with respect to which such information is filed and shall be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate jointly submit their report of the compilation required by said law and have included all registrations and quarterly reports received.

REGISTRATIONS

The following registrations were submitted for the third calendar quarter 1990:

PURSUANT TO FEDERAL REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

P	QUARTER
	(Mark one square only)

Is this an Amendment? ☐ YES ☐ NO

IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

NOTE on ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

(i) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)

(ii) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B".

(b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:

(i) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.

(ii) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.

☐ CHECK IF ADDRESS IS DIFFERENT THAN PREVIOUSLY REPORTED

2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names of agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

NOTE on ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers, except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) if the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER —State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE on ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302(e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, ☐ place an X in the box at the left, so that this office will no longer expect to receive Reports.

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) description, (b) quantity distributed, (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and, if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C4" and fill out items "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) with a "Quarterly Report."

QUARTERLY REPORTS*

The following quarterly reports were submitted for the third calendar quarter 1990:

(NOTE.—The form used for reporting is reproduced below. In the interest of economy in the RECORD, questions are not repeated, only the essential answers are printed, and are indicated by their respective headings. This page (Page 1) is designed to supply identifying data, and Page 2 deals with financial data.)

PLEASE RETURN 1 ORIGINAL TO: THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, OFFICE OF RECORDS AND REGISTRATION, 1036 LONGWORTH HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20515

PLEASE RETURN 1 ORIGINAL TO: THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE, OFFICE OF PUBLIC RECORDS, 232 HART SENATE OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

PLACE AN "X" BELOW THE APPROPRIATE LETTER OR FIGURE IN THE BOX AT THE RIGHT OF THE "REPORT" HEADING BELOW:

"PRELIMINARY" REPORT ("Registration"): To "register," place an "X" below the letter "P" and fill out page 1 only.

Is this an Amendment? ☐ YES ☐ NO

IDENTIFICATION NUMBER_____

NOTE on ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

(i) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)

(ii) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B".

(b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:

(i) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.

(ii) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.

2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names of agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

☐ CHECK IF ADDRESS IS DIFFERENT THAN PREVIOUSLY REPORTED

NOTE on ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers, except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) if the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER —State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE on ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302(e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports. ☐

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) description, (b) quantity distributed, (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

(Answer items 1, 2, and 3 in the space below. Attach additional pages if more space is needed.)

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and, if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C4" and fill out items "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) with a "Quarterly Report."

STATEMENT OF VERIFICATION

[Omitted in printing]

49-059 O—95 Vol. 137 (Pt. 1) 5

NOTE on ITEM "D."—(a) IN GENERAL. The term "contribution" includes anything of value. When an organization or individual uses printed or duplicated matter in a campaign attempting to influence legislation, money received by such organization or individual—for such printed or duplicated matter—is a "contribution." "The term 'contribution' includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money, or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution"—§ 302(a) of the Lobbying Act.

(b) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN EMPLOYER.—(i) In general. Item "D" is designed for the reporting of all receipts from which expenditures are made, or will be made, in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Receipts of Business Firms and Individuals.—A business firm (or individual) which is subject to the Lobbying Act by reason of expenditures which it makes in attempting to influence legislation—but which has no funds to expend except those which are available in the ordinary course of operating a business not connected in any way with the influencing of legislation—will have no receipts to report, even though it does have expenditures to report.

(iii) Receipts of Multi-purpose Organizations.—Some organizations do not receive any funds which are to be expended solely for the purpose of attempting to influence legislation. Such organizations make such expenditures out of a general fund raised by dues, assessments, or other contributions. The percentage of the general fund which is used for such expenditures indicates the percentage of dues, assessments, or other contributions which may be considered to have been paid for that purpose. Therefore, in reporting receipts, such organizations may specify what that percentage is, and report their dues, assessments, and other contributions on that basis. However, each contributor of $500 or more is to be listed, regardless of whether the contribution was made solely for legislative purposes.

(c) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN AGENT OR EMPLOYEE.—(i) In general. In the case of many employees, all receipts will come under Items "D 5" (received for services) and "D 12" (expense money and reimbursements). In the absence of a clear statement to the contrary, it will be presumed that your employer is to reimburse you for all expenditures which you make in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Employer as Contributor of $500 or More.—When your contribution from your employer (in the form of salary, fee, etc.) amounts to $500 or more, it is not necessary to report such contribution under "D 13" and "D 14," since the amount has already been reported under "D 5," and the name of the "employer" has been given under Item "B" on page 1 of this report.

D. RECEIPTS (INCLUDING CONTRIBUTIONS AND LOANS):

QUARTERLY REPORTS*

*All alphanumeric characters and monetary amounts refer to receipts and expenditures on page 2, paragraphs D and E of the Quarterly Report Form.

The following reports for the second calendar quarter of 1990 were received too late to be included in the published reports for that quarter:

(NOTE.—The form used for report is reproduced below. In the interest of economy in the RECORD, questions are not repeated, only the essential answers are printed, and are indicated by their respective headings. This page (Page 1) is designed to supply identifying data, and Page 2 deals with financial data.)

PLEASE RETURN 1 ORIGINAL TO: THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, OFFICE OF RECORDS AND REGISTRATION, 1036 LONGWORTH HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20515

PLEASE RETURN 1 ORIGINAL TO: THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE, OFFICE OF PUBLIC RECORDS, 232 HART SENATE OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

PLACE AN "X" BELOW THE APPROPRIATE LETTER OR FIGURE IN THE BOX AT THE RIGHT OF THE "REPORT" HEADING BELOW:

"PRELIMINARY" REPORT ("Registration"): To "register," place an "X" below the letter "P" and fill out page 1 only.

REPORT

PURSUANT TO FEDERAL REGULATION OF LOBBYING ACT

P	QUARTER
	1st	2d	3d	4th
(Mark one square only)

Is this an Amendment? ☐ YES ☐ NO

IDENTIFICATION NUMBER_____

NOTE on ITEM "A".—(a) IN GENERAL. This "Report" form may be used by either an organization or an individual, as follows:

(i) "Employee".—To file as an "employee", state (in Item "B") the name, address, and nature of business of the "employer". (If the "employee" is a firm [such as a law firm or public relations firm], partners and salaried staff members of such firm may join in filing a Report as an "employee".)

(ii) "Employer".—To file as an "employer", write "None" in answer to Item "B".

(b) SEPARATE REPORTS. An agent or employee should not attempt to combine his Report with the employer's Report:

(i) Employers subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their agents or employees.

(ii) Employees subject to the Act must file separate Reports and are not relieved of this requirement merely because Reports are filed by their employers.

A. ORGANIZATION OR INDIVIDUAL FILING:

1. State name, address, and nature of business.

2. If this Report is for an Employer, list names of agents or employees who will file Reports for this Quarter.

☐ CHECK IF ADDRESS IS DIFFERENT THAN PREVIOUSLY REPORTED

NOTE on ITEM "B".—Reports by Agents or Employees. An employee is to file, each quarter, as many Reports as he has employers, except that: (a) If a particular undertaking is jointly financed by a group of employers, the group is to be considered as one employer, but all members of the group are to be named, and the contribution of each member is to be specified; (b) if the work is done in the interest of one person but payment therefor is made by another, a single Report—naming both persons as "employers"—is to be filed each quarter.

B. EMPLOYER —State name, address, and nature of business. If there is no employer, write "None."

NOTE on ITEM "C".—(a) The expression "in connection with legislative interests," as used in this Report, means "in connection with attempting, directly or indirectly, to influence the passage or defeat of legislation." "The term 'legislation' means bills, resolutions, amendments, nominations, and other matters pending or proposed in either House of Congress, and includes any other matter which may be the subject of action by either House"—§ 302(e).

(b) Before undertaking any activities in connection with legislative interests, organizations and individuals subject to the Lobbying Act are required to file a "Preliminary" Report (Registration).

(c) After beginning such activities, they must file a "Quarterly" Report at the end of each calendar quarter in which they have either received or expended anything of value in connection with legislative interests.

C. LEGISLATIVE INTERESTS, AND PUBLICATIONS in connection therewith:

1. State approximately how long legislative interests are to continue. If receipts and expenditures in connection with legislative interests have terminated, place an "X" in the box at the left, so that this Office will no longer expect to receive Reports. ☐

2. State the general legislative interests of the person filing and set forth the specific legislative interests by reciting: (a) Short titles of statutes and bills; (b) House and Senate numbers of bills, where known; (c) citations of statutes, where known; (d) whether for or against such statutes and bills.

3. In the case of those publications which the person filing has caused to be issued or distributed in connection with legislative interests, set forth: (a) description, (b) quantity distributed, (c) date of distribution, (d) name of printer or publisher (if publications were paid for by person filing) or name of donor (if publications were received as a gift).

(Answer items 1, 2, and 3 in the space below. Attach additional pages if more space is needed.)

4. If this is a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) rather than a "Quarterly" Report, state below what the nature and amount of anticipated expenses will be; and, if for an agent or employee, state also what the daily, monthly, or annual rate of compensation is to be. If this is a "Quarterly" Report, disregard this item "C4" and fill out items "D" and "E" on the back of this page. Do not attempt to combine a "Preliminary" Report (Registration) with a "Quarterly Report."

STATEMENT OF VERIFICATION

NOTE on ITEM "D."—(a) IN GENERAL. The term "contribution" includes anything of value. When an organization or individual uses printed or duplicated matter in a campaign attempting to influence legislation, money received by such organization or individual—for such printed or duplicated matter—is a "contribution." "The term 'contribution' includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money, or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise, or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution"—§ 302(a) of the Lobbying Act.

(b) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN EMPLOYER.—(i) In general. Item "D" is designed for the reporting of all receipts from which expenditures are made, or will be made, in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Receipts of Business Firms and Individuals.—A business firm (or individual) which is subject to the Lobbying Act by reason of expenditures which it makes in attempting to influence legislation—but which has no funds to expend except those which are available in the ordinary course of operating a business not connected in any way with the influencing of legislation—will have no receipts to report, even though it does have expenditures to report.

(iii) Receipts of Multi-purpose Organizations.—Some organizations do not receive any funds which are to be expended solely for the purpose of attempting to influence legislation. Such organizations make such expenditures out of a general fund raised by dues, assessments, or other contributions. The percentage of the general fund which is used for such expenditures indicates the percentage of dues, assessments, or other contributions which may be considered to have been paid for that purpose. Therefore, in reporting receipts, such organizations may specify what that percentage is, and report their dues, assessments, and other contributions on that basis. However, each contributor of $500 or more is to be listed, regardless of whether the contribution was made solely for legislative purposes.

(c) IF THIS REPORT IS FOR AN AGENT OR EMPLOYEE.—(i) In general. In the case of many employees, all receipts will come under Items "D 5" (received for services) and "D 12" (expense money and reimbursements). In the absence of a clear statement to the contrary, it will be presumed that your employer is to reimburse you for all expenditures which you make in connection with legislative interests.

(ii) Employer as Contributor of $500 or More.—When your contribution from your employer (in the form of salary, fee, etc.) amounts to $500 or more, it is not necessary to report such contribution under "D 13" and "D 14," since the amount has already been reported under "D 5," and the name of the "employer" has been given under Item "B" on page 1 of this report.

D. RECEIPTS (INCLUDING CONTRIBUTIONS AND LOANS):

Fill in every blank. If the answer to any numbered item is "None," write "NONE" in the space following the number.
