

7. Compounding Examples

- 7.1. The following examples are based on the rules for compounding found in chapter 6. Obviously, this list or any other list of compound words could not possibly be a complete reference due to sheer volume. However, an analogy of the words listed with like prefixes and suffixes together with an application of the rules will result in easier handling of those compound words not listed.
- 7.2. In order to keep the list from becoming cumbersome, certain restrictions had to be adopted.
- 7.3. The listing of hyphenated compounds ending in ed was kept to a minimum. The rationale was to provide one or two examples under a keyword rather than needless repetition.
- 7.4. Similarly, many two-word forms which create no difficulty were omitted.
- 7.5. Care was exercised to achieve fuller coverage of solid compounds, particularly when the adopted form is different than that of Webster's Third New International Dictionary. This dictionary is GPO's guide for spelling with the exception of those words listed in rule 5.2. It is not GPO's guide to compounding.
- 7.6. A distinction exists between words used in a literal sense and a non-literal sense. With few exceptions, one-word forms usually express a nonliteral interpretation, while two-word forms invariably convey a literal meaning. For example, a person may have an interesting sideline or hobby, but be forced to sit on the side line during periods of inactivity.
- 7.7. Distinction should also be made in the compounding of two words to form an adjective modifier and the use of the same words as a predicate adjective; e.g., "crystal-clear water," but "the spring water is crystal clear"; "fire-tested material," but "the material is fire tested."

- 7.8. Caution should be exercised when distinguishing whether a succession of words is being used as a compound or whether they simply appear together. Consider, for example, “We know someone should do it and who that some one ought to be.”
- 7.9. Combining forms and prefixes are usually printed solid. For greater readability, the hyphen is sometimes used to avoid doubling a vowel (anti-inflation, naso-orbital); to facilitate a normally capitalized word (mid-April, non-European); to assure distinct pronunciation of each element of a compound or ready comprehension of intended meaning (contra-ion, un-ionized); or to join a combining form or prefix to a hyphenated compound (equi-gram-molar, pro-mother-in-law).
- 7.10. As nouns and adjectives, holdup, calldown, layout, makeup, and similar words should be printed solid. Their er derivatives, (holder-up, caller-down, layer-out, and maker-up) require hyphens. Such compounds as run-in, run-on, and tie-in resist quick comprehension when solid. They are therefore hyphenated.
- 7.11. Words spelled alike but pronounced differently, such as tear-dimmed and tearsheet, wind tunnel and windup, are listed under the same keyword.
- 7.12. Words printed flush in the following list combine with the words which follow to indicate solid or hyphenated compounds. A space-mark (#) appearing before an indented entry indicates a two-word form, but two-word forms appearing in the adjective position usually take a hyphen.
- 7.13. To indicate word function, several abbreviations have been appended. They are: adv., adverb; n., noun; v., verb; u.m., unit modifier; pref., prefix; c.f., combining form; and conj., conjunction.
