Message to the House of Representatives Returning an Enrolled Bill for Technical Corrections November 1, 2005

To the House of Representatives:

Consistent with House Concurrent Resolution 276, I am hereby returning the enrolled bill H.R. 3765, “An Act to extend through December 31, 2007, the authority of the Secretary of the Army to accept and expend funds contributed by non-Federal public entities to expedite the processing of permits,” to the House of Representatives for the purposes of making necessary corrections.

Interview With Foreign Print Journalists November 1, 2005

The President. A couple of comments, and then I’ll answer some questions, two apiece. Then I’ve got to go back to work.

I’ve always felt that good foreign policy starts in your neighborhood. So this trip is a continuation of the United States working with different countries and me working with leaders to have a good relationship in the neighborhood. I remember the first Summit of the Americas I went to, which was in Canada. And in the opening comments, it struck me that it’s an amazing neighborhood when there’s only—every country is a democracy except for one.

And so part of the reason, to me, and part of the reasons to have multilateral diplomacy, which this is, coupled with a lot of bilateral action, is to continue to foster democracy. Democracy is the best hope of all. Democracy is the form of government that can best respond to the demands of the people.

I also strongly believe that we have a great opportunity to deal with job creation or poverty by putting a system in place that encourages economic growth and entrepreneurship. At the first Summit of the Americas we talked about the Free Trade Agreement of the Americas, which basically says that a trading hemisphere is one that is more likely to be able to address the needs of people, more likely to be able to address poverty, more likely to be able to help countries’ balance sheets be firmed up.

Since then, we’ve entered into bilateral trading agreements with Chile, multilateral trading agreements with—through CAFTA-DR, and we’ll continue to pursue trading agreements bilaterally, multilaterally, as well as worldwide. And I’m looking forward to speaking to all my fellow friends and leaders down there about the Doha round, particularly President Lula. And we can talk about that, if you like, later on. But he’s played a very constructive role and can continue to play a constructive role in getting the Doha round up and running. The United States has an obligation to make
