

IN SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES,

MAY 20, 1826.

---

Mr. TAZEVELL submitted the following motion :

Resolved, That it is expedient for the United States to cede and surrender to the several States, within whose limits the same may be situated, all the right, title, and interest, of the United States, to any lands lying and being within the boundaries of such States, respectively, upon such terms and conditions, as may be consistent with the due observance of the public faith, and with the general interest of the United States.

IN SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

MAY 20, 1860.

Mr. FARRAR submitted the following motion:

Resolved, That it is expedient for the United States to cede and sell to the several States, within whose limits the same may be situated, all the right title, and interest of the United States in any lands lying and being within the boundaries of any such State respectively, upon such terms and conditions, as may be determined with the due regard to the public interest and the general interest of the United States.