

MEMORIAL

OF

SUNDRY INHABITANTS OF PORTAGE CO., OHIO,

Approving the measures of the Executive against the Bank of the United States.

JUNE 27, 1834.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, and ordered to be printed.

To the honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

The undersigned, inhabitants of the county of Portage, and State of Ohio, believing that the present United States' Bank, in the language of the immortal Jefferson, is an institution "of the most deadly hostility against the principles and form of our constitution," do most earnestly remonstrate against its recharter.

The resolution of the bank placing the whole of its funds at the disposal of its President for electioneering purposes; the surrender of its most important business to an "exchange committee," appointed by its president; its exclusion of the Government directors from all important committees; its late refusal to submit its books to the inspection of a Congressional committee, and the influence it exerts in the elections of the country, prove it corrupt, arrogant, and already too powerful for the regular operations of the Government.

The distress it has wantonly produced by its excessive discounts of near twenty-nine million of dollars in sixteen months past, and its curtailment now, shows its object to be to force a recharter by its influence on the currency and products of the country.

The fact that near one-fourth of the stock of the bank is owned by English nobles, while our own citizens would be excluded, by a recharter, from coming into competition with them; that the bank has a right, by its charter, to establish branches in any State without the consent of the State; that the people are bound to defend these branches with their lives and property without the power of taxing them; that the name and credit of our country is given to a bank, more of the stock of which is owned by English lords than by our Government; and that this private, irresponsible, company of English and American stock-jobbers, wields a revenue greater than the Government of this country, are sufficient, in our view, to alarm every friend to liberty.

We therefore pray that the present Bank of the United States may not be rechartered.
