Mr. WALDO, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Charlotte Granger, respectfully report:

The petitioner represents that she is now the widow of Frederick Granger, who served as a musician in Colonel John Craine’s Massachusetts regiment of artillery during the whole of the revolutionary war, and died in the year 1830; that she was married to said Granger in the year 1815; and is not therefore entitled to the benefits of the several acts of Congress granting gratuities to the widows of deceased revolutionary soldiers; and she asks to be placed on the pension list at the same rate as other widows of deceased revolutionary soldiers whose marriages took place before the first day of January, 1800.

This case is one of a class that has been urged upon the attention of the committee many times during the present Congress, and the views of the committee are contained in a report made to the House of Representatives, August 1, 1850. Inasmuch as the opinions of the committee in said report are adverse to the claims of the petitioner, for reasons stated in said report, they would recommend that the prayer of the petitioner be denied, and that the petition be laid upon the table.
