

NUMBER OF DEATHS OF SOLDIERS IN THE PHILIPPINES, ETC.

LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

TRANSMITTING,

IN RESPONSE TO A RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE OF MAY 22, 1900, A STATEMENT IN REGARD TO THE NUMBER OF DEATHS OF SOLDIERS, VOLUNTEER AND REGULAR, IN THE PHILIPPINES; ALSO AS TO MILITARY OPERATIONS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

JUNE 2, 1900.—Referred to the Committee on the Philippines and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington, June 1, 1900.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith, in response to the resolution of the Senate of the United States, dated May 22, 1900—

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, directed to send to the Senate the following information: A statement of the number of soldiers, volunteer and regular, who have been killed and died from wounds received in the Philippine Islands since August first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight; the number of regular and volunteer soldiers who have died from diseases or suicide during that period; the number who have been wounded in action, or otherwise, and what proportion of them are still incapacitated for duty; the number who have committed suicide during said period; the percentage of sick, disabled, and invalid soldiers therein; what diseases have been prevalent, if any, in the military camps on the islands of the Philippine Archipelago during said time, and what steps, if any, have been taken for the better protection of their health, and a statement of the number of soldiers who have become insane since the close of the Spanish-American war while in service in the Philippine Archipelago, and the disposition which has been made of them. And also that the comparative losses and disabilities of white and colored troops in the Philippine Islands be included.

Also, the territory over which the military operations in the Philippines extended from September first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, to May first, nineteen hundred.

The places in which garrisons were established during the period from September first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, to May first, nineteen hundred.

The places occupied as garrisons by American troops on May first, nineteen hundred.

The number of officers and enlisted men in active service in the Philippines on May first, nineteen hundred.

the following report:

I. A statement of the number of soldiers who have been killed, died from wounds, disease, and suicide, and the number wounded in action or otherwise among the regular and volunteer troops serving in the Philippine Islands from July 31, 1898, to May 24, 1900, and a statement of the number of officers and enlisted men, regular and volunteer, in active service in the Philippines on the last day of each of the months from July, 1898, to and including April, 1900, is appended hereto, marked I. I also annex hereto a statement compiled from official sources, showing losses from similar causes by the British army in South Africa from October 11, 1899, to April 28, 1900; by the German army in the war of 1870-71 with France, and by the Union Army during the civil war of 1861-1865; also a statement showing the losses from all causes in the Army of the United States between May 1, 1898, and June 30, 1899; also a statement showing the casualties in Porto Rico, in the Philippines, and in the Santiago campaign during the war with Spain and in the Philippines from February 4, 1899, to May 20, 1900; also a statement showing the average strength of the Army of the United States, and where the same was stationed between May, 1898, and June, 1899.

II. A statement is given in the table appended hereto, marked II, of the number of insane soldiers admitted to the Government Hospital for the Insane, Washington, D. C., from the Philippine Islands, and the number of insane soldiers now at the United States general hospital, Presidio of San Francisco, Cal., received from the Philippine Islands, and the disposition made of them.

The practice of the Army in the Philippine Islands has been to regularly return to this country all soldiers who become insane, and these tables are believed to substantially cover the entire number of those who have become insane since the close of the Spanish-American war, while in service in the Philippine Archipelago, with the exception of 11 regular and 22 volunteer cases reported to this Department as arrived in San Francisco and en route to the Government Hospital for the Insane, Washington, D. C.

Attention is called to the tabular statement which is annexed hereto, marked IIa, showing the numbers of soldiers who have become insane, and the numbers who have committed suicide in the Army of the United States for each year since 1890, whereby it appears that the number of insane cases and the number of suicides have not been increased by service in the Philippines, but remain substantially the same numbers per 1,000 as in the period of peace prior to the war with Spain.

III. The information that can be supplied with respect to the proportion of the wounded that are incapacitated from duty; the percentage of sick, disabled, and invalided soldiers serving in the Philippine Islands from August 1, 1898; the diseases that have been most prevalent in the military camps in these islands and the steps that have been taken for the better protection of the health of the troops, and the comparative losses and disabilities of white and colored troops in the Philippine Islands is contained in the letter of the Surgeon-General of the Army appended hereto, marked III.

IV. A statement of the territory over which the military operations in the Philippines extended from September 1, 1899, to May 1, 1900, is appended hereto, marked IV.

V. A statement of the places occupied as garrisons by the American troops on May 1, 1900, is appended hereto, marked V, together with an outline map of the Philippine Islands, showing the distributions and the troops at the various stations and garrisons, appended hereto and marked VI.

VI. Also appended hereto is a statement, marked VII, of the towns and stations in the Philippines reported to this Department as occupied by troops at various times between September 1, 1899, and May 1, 1900, but which are not now occupied, so far as this Department is advised. It is not understood by this Department that the occupation of these places was intended to be other than temporary.

Very respectfully,

ELIHU ROOT,
Secretary of War.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE, UNITED STATES SENATE.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, May 28, 1900.

SIR: In response to your request for certain information concerning sick and wounded soldiers in the Philippine Islands, I have the honor to state as follows:

The proportion of wounded that are incapacitated for duty at the present time can be had approximately only by cable from the headquarters of the division of the Philippines.

The percentage of sick, disabled, and invalided soldiers serving in the Philippines from August 1, 1898, to the present time varied from month to month. At the beginning of the period mentioned the sick lists, including injuries, constituted 5 to 6 per cent of the command. The rate increased to 10 or 11 per cent during the first occupation of Manila. During the progress of the campaign against the insurgents, February to July, 1899, the troops became exhausted by fatigue and exposure, and the sick list for some time reached as much as 25 per cent of some of the regiments. Since then the average rate of sickness has varied from 6 to 10 per cent of the commands.

The most prevalent diseases have been intestinal affections and malarial fevers, typhoid fever, and smallpox. Lung diseases have not been common, and rheumatism, notwithstanding the exposures of the troops, has not been in excess. Acute dysentery has been the most dangerous of the diseases, the deaths caused by it having been equal to an annual rate of 4.6 per 1,000 men. Typhoid fever took second place in order of fatality, it having caused deaths equal to an annual rate of 4 per 1,000 men. The mortality from smallpox was equal to 2.25, while that from malarial fever was only 1.1 per 1,000.

Medical officers have been earnest in their recommendations for the welfare of the men, and commanding officers have usually acted promptly, so far as lay in their power, to carry the recommendations into effect. It has been difficult, however, and, indeed, impracticable, to control many of the insanitary conditions, particularly during the progress of the campaign against the insurgents. In many localities the ground was saturated with water and drainage impossible. Efforts have been made to suppress the sale of native soft drinks and spirits of local manufacture and to prevent the troops from frequenting the houses of low-class natives, where infectious diseases are exceedingly common. Special attention has been given to the quarters of the men and to the care of the sinks and earth closets, to the purification of the drinking water, to the supply and preparation of food, the supervision of the laundry work, and the installation of shower baths where there were no other facilities for bathing. Smallpox was controlled, after some difficulty, by isolation of the individual cases and vaccination of the whole command. The difficulty arose from the inability of the medical officers at first to procure fresh vaccine. That which was sent from this country deteriorated during the long voyage. Ultimately fresh virus was obtained by cultivation in the laboratory of the board of health of Manila.

Lastly, the comparative losses by death among the white and the colored troops is expressed by the annual rates of 31.91 and 34.51, respectively, per 1,000 of strength.

Very respectfully,

GEO. M. STERNBERG,
Surgeon-General United States Army.

The ADJUTANT-GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

IV.

On February 4, 1899, when hostilities broke out in the Philippines, the United States forces held only the city and suburbs of Manila and the arsenal and navy-yard at Cavite. On December 24, 1898, the first separate brigade was organized, Brig. Gen. M. P. Miller, United States Volunteers, commanding, and on the 26th of December, 1898, it sailed for Iloilo from Manila, arriving in the harbor of Iloilo December 28, 1898.

Upon the commencement of hostilities our forces advanced beyond the lines of the city, and by February 10, 1899, occupied Caloocan on the north, extending through La Loma Church and the pumping station on the north of Manila, and from Pasay, on the Bay of Manila, to San Pedro Macati on the south.

February 11.—General Miller landed at Iloilo and extended his lines to the suburban towns of Jaro and Molo. March 11 to 17, 1899, the insurgents were forced out of the towns of Guadaloupe, Pasig, Pateros, Taguig, Cainta, and the district of the Pasig River cleared to the Laguna de Bay.

March 21.—A battalion of the California Volunteers sailed to Bacod, Island of Negros.

March 25.—General MacArthur began his advance from Caloocan to Malolos (the insurgent capital) along the line of the Manila and Daguapan Railroad, and entered Malolos March 31, 1899, our troops then holding all territory south of Malolos along the railroad.

April 8.—Expedition organized and embarked to Laguna de Bay.

April 9.—The lake towns of Santa Cruz, Paeti, and Pagsajan occupied by our troops.

April 15.—Insurgents engaged near Quingua.

April 20.—Insurgent force repulsed at Taguig.

April 21.—Lawton's northern expedition concentrated at La Loma Church, and proceeded northward via Novaliches and Norzagaray.

April 24.—MacArthur's second division advanced from Malolos on Quingua, Pulilan, and Calumpit; passage of Rio Grande at latter point forced on April 28.

May 4.—Lawton's northern expedition occupies town of Maasin.

May 11.—Insurgents driven from San Ildefonso, and on May 13 San Miguel de Mayumo was occupied.

May 16.—General Lawton occupies San Isidro.

May 19.—Spanish garrison at Jolo, island of Jolo, relieved by United States troops.

June 3.—Advance made upon Antipolo.

June 5.—Morong occupied by United States troops.

June 10.—Insurgents defeated at Paranaque and Los Pinas.

June 15.—Imus surrenders to General Lawton.

July 1.—Mayors elected for cities of Paranaque, Los Pinas, Bacoor, and Imus under United States military protection.

July 2.—Sixth Infantry arrived at Bacolod, island of Negros.

July 19.—Insurgents and robber bands defeated by Capt. B. A. Byrne, Sixth Infantry, on island of Negros.

July 22.—Civil government established at Negros.

July 24.—Insurgents defeated in the Acan Valley, Cebu.

July 26.—Calamba, on Laguna de Bay, captured by United States forces.

July 31.—Los Banos, on Laguna de Bay, taken by United States forces.

August 12.—Troops, second division, occupy towns of Santa Rita, Angeles, and Dolores.

As above outlined, the command advanced north and south of Manila from February 4 to August 31, 1899, so that at the latter date the United States forces occupied territory on the island of Luzon to Angeles, Province of Pampanga, and San Isidor, Province of Nueva Ecija, in the north, to Imus, Province of Cavite, including the towns on the Laguna de Bay on the south. This territory included practically the Provinces of Manila, Bulacan, Morong, Pampanga, and the northern end of the Province of Cavite, the town of Iloilo on the island of Panay, the islands of Negros and Cebu and Jolo, island of Jolo in the Sulu archipelago.

From September 1, 1899, the United States forces advanced gradually and persistently in all directions over the island of Luzon, meeting and overcoming resistance at every advance, so that, at the present time, they occupy and govern practically the entire island from Aparri and Laoag on the north to the southern end of the Province of Albay in the south, having troops stationed at 204 points outside of the Province and the city of Manila.

In the island of Panay operations have been carried on successfully, so that the troops occupy the seven most important stations and govern the entire island.

In addition to the islands of Cebu and Negros our forces now hold and govern the islands of Samar, Leyte, Catanduanes, Bohol, Mindanao, Bougoa, Jolo, Romblon, and Siassi, with a total, to March 31, 1900, of 264 stations, as shown on the accompanying chart, exclusive of Manila and its substations.

To cover this great extent of territory requires the entire force now in the Division of the Philippines, approximately 65,000 men. In addition to holding this large number of stations, civil government is established at each of them under the military authorities, with officers and enlisted men of the Army performing the civil functions in addition to their military duties.

MAY 28, 1900.
