PENSIONS AND INCREASE OF PENSIONS FOR CERTAIN SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF THE CIVIL WAR, ETC.

JUNE 30, 1926.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. NORBECK, from the Committee on Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H. R. 11446]

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 11446) granting pensions and increase of pensions to certain soldiers and sailors of the Civil War and certain widows and dependent children of soldiers and sailors of said war, having considered the same, reports the bill back to the Senate with amendments.

The report of the Committee on Invalid Pensions of the House of Representatives (No. 933), hereto appended, is in part adopted, and the passage of the bill is recommended when amended as set out at the close of this report, the reasons for such amendments being there stated, beginning on page 142.

The beneficiaries in the House bill are classified as follows:

Soldiers:		Remarried widows:
Original-----	11	Original-----	4
Increase-----	1	Increase-----	18
Widows:		Divorced wives: Original-----
Original-----	103		1
Increase-----	243	Total-----	417
Children, helpless:		Marriage after 1905, original-----
Original-----	33		69
Increase-----	3

The cost of the bill, as reported by the House, would amount to $115,500 annually. This committee disagreed with the House on 49 items in the bill, which would reduce the cost of the bill $8,976, but added as amendments to the House bill 100 Senate bills carrying an additional cost of $24,660, making the aggregate cost of the bill as reported by this committee $131,184.

H. R. 546. Eliza J. Bogle, aged 80 years, whose post-office address is Leon, Kans., is the widow of Joseph S. Bogle, late a private, Company H, One hundred and sixtieth Regiment Ohio Infantry, from May 2, 1864, to September 7, 1864, and who died December 28, 1912.

He and this claimant were married September 12, 1865. She is now pensioned at $30 a month under certificate No. 756322.

The medical evidence shows she is in condition to require periodical aid and attendance of another person because of eczema of arms and legs and the infirmities of age.

She has $700 at 4 per cent annual interest. Her pension is her only other income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her pension be increased to $50 a month.

H. R. 560. Elizabeth Lockwood, aged 74 years, whose post-office address is Wichita, Kans., is the widow of Edgar N. Lockwood, late a private, Company A, Sixth Regiment Michigan Cavalry, and Company D, First Regiment Michigan Veteran Cavalry, from February 14, 1865, to March 10, 1866, and who died November 7, 1898.

He and this claimant were married September 12, 1875. She is now pensioned at $30 a month under certificate No. 502495.

The medical evidence shows she is wholly unfitted for self-support and is not able to contribute to her own support by reason of age and affliction from neuralgia.

She has no property. Her pension is her sole income.

No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her pension be increased to $50 a month.

H. R. 569. Mary H. Robbins, aged 73 years, whose post-office address is 401 East Third Street, Wichita, Kans., is the widow of Hiram L. Robbins, late a private, Company G, Ninety-third Regiment Ohio Infantry, from August 5, 1862, to May 16, 1865, and who died June 22, 1892.

He and this claimant were married January 13, 1876. She is now pensioned at $30 a month under certificate No. 407632.

The medical evidence shows she is in condition to require periodical aid and attendance of another person by reason of general weakness, loss of memory, bad hearing, and senility.

She has no property and her pension is her sole income. No one is legally bound to her support. It is recommended her pension be increased to $50 a month.

H. R. 575. Lucy H. Woolard, aged 83 years, whose post-office address is Wichita, Kans., is the widow of Washington W. Woolard, late a first lieutenant, Company H, Twenty-sixth Regiment Illinois Volunteers, from November 1, 1861, to November 1, 1862, and who died January 9, 1882.

He and this claimant were married February 24, 1858. She is now pensioned as his widow at $30 a month under certificate 199966.

The medical evidence shows she requires constant aid and attendance because of affliction from cerebral hemorrhage and loss of motor ability. The condition is permanent and progressive.

She has neither property nor income of any nature and no one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended that her pension be increased to $50 a month.

H. R. 579. Harriet L. Messenger, aged 69 years, whose post-office address is R. F. D. No. 1, Bridgeport, Ohio, is the widow of John Messenger, late a private, Company B, First Regiment West Virginia

Cavalry, from August 6, 1861, to July 8, 1865, who was a pensioner under certificate No. 270751 at the rate of $72 per month, and who died September 4, 1923.

He and this claimant were married February 3, 1875. She has been denied pension as the widow of the soldier for the reason she was not legally married to him, he having had at the time he married the claimant, a living undivorced wife, who died April 15, 1910. This claimant, therefore, did not become the legal wife of the soldier until that date. Claimant had knowledge of the former marriage of the soldier, but was advised and apparently firmly believed that a divorce had been granted the soldier from his first wife. The court records, however, fail to show that the decree was ever entered, although the records show that the suit was instituted, notice served and testimony taken in the case.

There is but little if any doubt the claimant married the soldier in good faith, believing that there had been a legal separation of soldier and his former wife. She lived and cohabited with him for a period of 48 years.

In the circumstances your committee is disposed to give claimant a pensionable status.

The medical evidence shows that she is in very poor health and requires periodical aid and attendance of another person by reason of affliction from chronic myocarditis, endocarditis, nephritis, and varicose ulcers of legs.

She has title to real estate valued at $500. She has no income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

H. R. 627. Earl Kelley, aged 38 years, whose post-office address is North Vernon, Ind., is the helpless and dependent son of Jerome Kelley, late a private, Company B, Sixth Regiment Indiana Infantry, from September 3, 1861, to September 22, 1864, who was a pensioner under certificate No. 157135 at the rate of $17 per month, and who died March 29, 1910.

The claimant's parents were married November 3, 1864. The evidence presented indicates claimant is the legitimate son of the soldier and that he has been a helpless and dependent person since the age of 13 years by reason of congenital disease (lues) of eyes and resulting loss of vision. He is in condition to require regular aid and attendance of another person because of blindness.

He has no means or property of any consequence and no income from any source. No one is legally bound to his support.

It is recommended his name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $20 a month.

H. R. 628. Frances Server, aged 67 years, whose post-office address is Vevay, Switzerland County, Ind., is the helpless and dependent daughter of William H. Server, late a wagoner, Company G, Eight-second Regiment Indiana Infantry, from August 8, 1862, to June 9, 1865, and who died April 17, 1900.

The date of marriage of claimant's parents has not been shown. The mother died in 1888. The soldier remarried and his second wife, Margaret, his former widow, is now a pensioner under certificate No. 557818.

The evidence presented indicates that the claimant is the legitimate daughter of the soldier and that she is mentally incompetent, of congenital origin. She is in condition to require constant supervision and care and is an object of charity.

She has no property or income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $20 a month and that it be paid to her through a legally appointed guardian on a separate voucher.

H. R. 634. Margaret Hayes, aged 83 years, whose post-office address is Versailles, Ind., R. F. D. No. 2, is the widow of George W. Hayes, late a private, Company G, Thirty-fifth Regiment Indiana Infantry, from September 24, 1864, to June 22, 1865, who was a pensioner under certificate No. 399010 at the rate of $50 per month, and who died May 12, 1923.

He and this claimant were married March 8, 1881, and they lived together as husband and wife until 1916, when they became legally separated. Later they became reconciled and were remarried September 24, 1919, and thereafter lived and cohabited as husband and wife to the date of soldier's death. Medical evidence was furnished to show that the condition of heart was the direct result of enlarged and engorged liver, ulcerated, bleeding, and protruding hemorrhoids. H. R. 1725. Robert Zink, aged 76 years, whose post-office address is Decatur, Macon County, Ill., whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the records of the War Department, as follows:

The records show that Robert Zink was enrolled October 20, 1861, at Laclede, Mo., and was mustered into service November 25, 1861, as musician, Company C, Eighteenth Regiment Missouri Volunteer Infantry, to serve three years; that he deserted March 30, 1862, at Pittsburg, Tenn., and that he returned to his company October 16, 1862. He was honorably discharged as a musician January 31, 1864, at Pulaski, Tenn., by reason of his offer to reenlist as a veteran volunteer, and he so reenlisted at that place February 1, 1864, in the same organization for another term of three years. He deserted again January 5, 1865, at Beaufort, S. C., and never thereafter returned to his command or reported his whereabouts or the cause of his absence to the military authorities, although his company remained in service until July 18, 1865.

Applying for a certificate in lieu of his lost discharge certificate as of his first enlistment in Company C, same company and regiment, this soldier in a letter dated April 28, 1910, recorded in this office, stated with respect to his separation from the service under his second enlistment, that while his company was encamped a short distance from Beaufort, S. C., some of the boys sent him to town for molasses, where he fell in with a family who talked to him about home and friends; that he remained overnight and when he returned to the camp next morning found his regiment had gone; that he then went back to Beaufort, thence to Hilton Head, where he was advised by the colonel of a New York regiment there stationed to go home, and that he accordingly took the steamer for New York and from there went home to Fort Wayne, Ind.

This record of service bars claimant's title to pension under existing laws for the reason he deserted from his last contract of service.

The records show that he rendered two years and eight months actual service and received an honorable discharge from his first contract of service. While the War Department refuses to remove the charge of desertion and give him an honorable discharge from his last service, the old soldier is certainly entitled to credit and recognition for the service he did actually render as a soldier.

He had one honorable discharge and your committee has heretofore established precedent for a more liberal construction of existing laws, especially the first section of the act of May 1, 1920, which provides that 90 days' service and an honorable discharge shall give title to pension. No mention is made regarding the manner of separation from a prior or subsequent service.

The evidence presented shows claimant is identical with the soldier of record by same name.

In the circumstances your committee is disposed to give claimant a pensionable status.

He is physically unable to earn a livelihood for himself and wife.

H. R. 1755. Laura A. Martin, aged 59 years, whose post-office address is 1719 West Main Street, Marion, Ill., is the widow of Joseph C. Martin, whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the records of the War Department, as follows:

The records show that Joseph, borne also as Joseph C., Martin was enrolled August 14, 1862, in Union County for three years, and that he was mustered into service as a private September 11, 1862, at Camp Anna, Ill., with the company. The muster rolls of the company report him present or otherwise satisfactorily account for him until the special muster roll dated April 19, 1863, reports him to have deserted at Fort Pickering, Tenn., March 6, 1863. He surrendered himself and was received at Cairo, Ill., May 9, 1865. His name next appears on the roll of Company A, Eleventh Illinois Infantry, to which organization Company C, One hundred and ninth Illinois Infantry, had been transferred in April, 1863, for May and June, 1865, which bears the following remark: "Deserted from One hundred and ninth Illinois Infantry March 10, 1863; returned to Eleventh Illinois Infantry March 21, 1865, awaiting trial." He was transferred July 8, 1865, to Company B, Eighth Illinois Infantry Volunteers, and was dishonorably discharged from the service in General Orders, No. 37, dated First Division United States colored troops October 14, 1865, by sentence of a general court-martial, a private, for desertion.

The medical records show him treated as follows: August 13 to 21, 1865, for intermittent fever; August 20, 1865, to September 14, 1865, for remittent fever; October 9 to 14, 1865, for intermittent fever, and that he was returned to duty.

Nothing has been found of record to show that this soldier entered into more than one contract of enlistment or that he ever received an honorable discharge.

It appears from the record that he was held to service for a period of one year and one day, when dishonorably discharged. He was a pensioner at the time of his death at the rate of $72 a month under the act of May 1, 1920, under certificate No. 864799. He had been previously pensioned for total disability under the general law for disease of respiratory organs, contracted in service and line of duty.

However, the records show that he rendered more than three years faithful service and had one honorable discharge.

Your committee has established precedent for a more liberal construction of existing law; and wherein it is shown, as in this case, the soldier rendered 90 days of service and was honorably discharged, the applicant should be given a pensionable status.

Believing that he was dead she married the soldier in 1894. The first husband secured a divorce from her May 1, 1896. By a special act of Congress, approved March 4, 1925, he has been given an honorable discharge from Company K, Eleventh Regiment Connecticut Infantry, to date July 23, 1863.

H. R. 4981. Thomas Colburn, aged 84 years, whose post-office address is Stockton, Kans., and whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, as follows:

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 21st instant, and to advise you that the roll of Capt. Adam Flesher's Company A, Forty-first Regiment Enrolled Missouri Militia, from July 29, 1862, to April 30, 1863, shows that Thomas Colburn was enrolled as a private July 29, 1862; ordered into active service July 29, 1862; relieved from duty April 18, 1863; and had 23 days' actual service.

Opposite his name on said roll, in the column of remarks, appears the following: "Discharged on surgeon's certificate."

He was paid on this roll for a service of 23 days by the State of Missouri, and said State has been reimbursed therefor by the United States.

The service indicated does not give the proposed beneficiary title to pension under existing laws, but under the rules and practice of this committee claims of this character have been given favorable consideration for the reason, as shown in this case, he rendered service in an organization that became a part of and cooperated with the Federal Army. His service was paid for by the State of Missouri and the State was reimbursed by the Federal Government. While his service was for a period of less than 90 days, the official records show that he was discharged on a surgeon's certificate of disability.

The evidence is cumulative as tending to show that for a number of years the claimant suffered from the disability for which he was discharged and that he has never fully recovered from the disability.

In the circumstances your committee is disposed to give the claimant a pensionable status.

He is now a very old man and is in condition to require constant aid and attendance of another person by reason of affliction from left inguinal hernia, arteriosclerosis, enlarged prostate, and impaired hearing.

He has a home valued at $1,200, which is encumbered by mortgage in the sum of $780. He has no other property or income. No one is legally bound to his support.

It is recommended his name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $50 a month.

The medical evidence shows she is practically blind; she is blind in left eye and vision of right eye is reduced to 7/200, enabling her to see and avoid large objects only. The condition is due to cataract and glaucoma.

She has no means or property and her pension is her only income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her pension be increased to $50 a month.

She has a home place valued at $1,000 and encumbered in the sum of $500. Outside of her pension her only income is the amount she may be able to earn by her own feeble efforts. No one is legally bound to her support.

She has no property and her pension is her sole income.

No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her pension be increased to $50 a month.

H. R. 5067. Emma J. Shade, aged 68 years, whose post-office address is 1730 Emerson Avenue, Dayton, Ohio, is the widow of Simon Shade, late a private, Captain Wightman's company, One hundred and twelfth Regiment Ohio Infantry, and Company G, Sixty-third Regiment Ohio Infantry, from August 14, 1862, to July 8, 1865, who was a pensioner under certificate No. 754485 at the rate of $12 per month and who died December 5, 1909.

He and this claimant were married February 14, 1907. The evidence submitted indicates she is the legal widow of the soldier. She has no title to pension under existing law for the reason she was married to him after June 27, 1905.

The medical evidence shows she is suffering from chronic bronchitis and disease of thyroid gland and by reason thereof she is unable to engage in any gainful occupation or to contribute to her own support.

She has no property and no income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

H. R. 5097. Lizzie C. Castelo, aged 80 years, whose post-office address is Toledo, Ill., is the widow of Calvin B. Castelo, late a private, Company D, Fifth Regiment Michigan Cavalry, from November 10, 1862, to June 26, 1865, and who died March 26, 1917.

H. R. 5106. Flora Odell, aged 69 years, whose post-office address is R. F. D. No. 4, Dawn, Mo., is the widow of Andrew J. Odell, late a private, Company F, Fourth Regiment Provisional Enrolled Missouri Militia, from October 6, 1864, to March 14, 1865, and who died December 29, 1903.

He and this claimant were married February 18, 1900. The evidence shows she is the legal widow of the soldier. She has been denied pension as such under act of March 3, 1899, for the reason that she and the soldier were not living together as husband and wife at the time of his death.

It appears in evidence that he deserted her without legal or just cause and without fault on her part. In the circumstances your committee is disposed to waive the technical legal objection to her title to pension and to give her a pensionable status.

She has title to a hill farm valued at $900 and encumbered in the sum of $300. The annual income from the property is nominal, not to exceed $25 a year net. She has no other income. She is in condition physically to require regular aid and attendance of another person by reason of affliction from disease of heart, kidneys, and bladder, and a general physical breakdown. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

H. R. 5109. Granville Tobey, aged 78 years, whose post-office address is 2006 Benton Boulevard, Kansas City, Mo., whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the records of the Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, as follows:

In reply you are advised that the roll of Capt. Mills Dawson's Company D, First Battalion, Provisional Enrolled Missouri Militia, from December 1, 1864, to March 12, 1865, shows that Granville Toby, or Tobey, was enrolled as a private December 1, 1864; ordered into active service December 8, 1864; relieved from duty March 12, 1865, having had 105 days' actual service. He was paid for his service on an individual pay voucher from December 8, 1864, to March 12, 1865, three months and four days, by the State of Missouri, and said State has been reimbursed by the United States.

The evidence presented indicates that this claimant is identical with the soldier of record by same name as shown in report referred to.

While such service does not give claimant a pensionable status under existing laws, under the rules and practice of your committee he has an equitable title, and justly so, for the reason that the official record shows that the Federal Government recognized the organization as part of the Federal forces by reimbursing the State of Missouri for payment for service rendered.

Claimant is unable to contribute to his own support for the reason that he is practically blind, has chronic diarrhea, and an injured ankle. He has no means or property, and no income.

In the circumstances your committee is disposed to give him a pensionable status and recommends his name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $50 a month.

H. R. 5113. Mary A. Smith, aged 64 years, whose post-office address is Milan, Mo., is the widow of Thomas R. Smith, late a private, Company H, Third Regiment Iowa Infantry, from May 31, 1861, to January 13, 1863, who was a pensioner under certificate No. 23773 at the rate of $72 per month and who died May 26, 1920.

He and this claimant were married January 13, 1897. She has been denied pension as his widow for the reason she had been unable to show that she had been legally separated from a former husband, one James L. McLain, to whom she was married July 9, 1876.

The evidence indicates that this claimant and McLain lived together as husband and wife until some time in 1878 when McLain deserted her. In October, 1879, she filed suit for divorce from him. She appeared in court and by attorney on the date set for trial, and at the close of the proceedings she was advised that the divorce had been, or would be, granted her. She states under oath that she had supposed that she had been divorced until the question arose in the prosecution of her claim for pension as the widow of the soldier. It appears that for some unknown reason the proceedings for divorce from McLain were dismissed, for what reason, or on what ground, such action was taken the records of the court do not disclose.

It is quite convincing from all the evidence in the case that the claimant believed that she had been divorced from McLain at the time she married the soldier, and that she really married him in good faith, believing that her contract of marriage with McLain had been legally terminated.

McLain is now deceased, and in the circumstances your committee is disposed to give her a pensionable status as the soldier's widow.

She is not physically able to contribute to her own support by reason of her age and affliction from rheumatism.

She has title to real estate valued at $850 and encumbered in the sum of $300. Her only income is the small amount derived from her own feeble efforts. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

H. R. 5114. Sarepta Richards, aged 82 years, whose post-office address is St. Louis, Mo., is the widow of Clark S. Richards, whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the records of the Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, as follows:

Having reference to your letter of October 28, 1924, relative to the service of Clark S. Richards, you are advised that the roll of Capt. James Reid's Company E, Fifth Enrolled Missouri Militia (Col. Thos. J. C. Fagg) from September 3, 1861, to February 7, 1862, shows that C. S. Richards was enlisted as a private September 12, 1861, and was discharged February 7, 1862. He was paid on said roll for a service of 4 months and 25 days by the State of Missouri, and said State has been reimbursed by the United States.

The evidence in the case indicates that the claimant's husband and the soldier of record are identical and that she is his legal widow.

The service indicated does not give title to pension under existing law, but under the rules and practice of your committee she has an equitable title and should be given a pensionable status for the reason the organization with which the soldier served was, as a matter of fact, actually part of and cooperated with the Federal Army during the period of time indicated.

The medical and other evidence presented indicates that by reason of claimant's age and resulting general weakness she can not contribute to her own support.

She has no means or property and no income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

She has been denied pension as his widow for the reason that, having married him subsequent to March 3, 1899, she did not live with him continuously to the date of his death.

The evidence clearly discloses the fact it was no fault of the claimant that they lived apart; that the soldier was a cruel, dissolute, and dissipated person; that he beat and abused the claimant unmercifully, and that for that reason she would have to leave his home and go to the home of her children. He would promise her he would reform, and she would return to him only to have repeated the former cruel and disgraceful treatment. This shifting back and forth continued to within about one year of the soldier's death. The inflexibility of the act of March 3, 1899, prevents the consideration of the question of who may have been at fault and operates to deprive this claimant of title to pension as the soldier's legal widow.

The soldier and claimant lived together continuously from the date of their marriage to the date of the soldier's death. She had no intimation or knowledge he had a wife living in New York State until she made application for pension. The soldier and claimant lived in Illinois during their married life. She therefore was an innocent party and married and lived with the soldier in perfect good faith for a period of nearly 50 years, which includes a period of four years after the death of the first wife.

He and this claimant were married December 15, 1892. The evidence on file indicates that she was the legal wife of the soldier and was his legal widow to the date she contracted marriage with one Frank Hurlbut, March 16, 1905, from whom she secured a divorce July 31, 1914. On the 5th day of October, 1914, she contracted marriage with one Calvin C. Graybill, who divorced her on the ground of desertion. On July 22, 1918, she contracted marriage with one Lindsay Kirby, who died March 10, 1921.

She has been denied pension as the former widow of the soldier for the reason that the divorce from her subsequent husband, Calvin C. Graybill, was not without fault on her part. The decree of divorce was entered in an Iowa court while the claimant was residing in the State of Washington, and was secured by Graybill on false evidence, for as a matter of fact he had deserted her, leaving her destitute on a rented farm in Iowa. She contends that she had no notice of the suit and therefore had no opportunity to defend herself. At the time Graybill secured the divorce from her she had a pending suit for divorce in the State of Washington, charging him with deserting her.

From all the evidence in the case your committee is inclined to the opinion that the claimant was imposed upon by Graybill, and that she was entitled to a divorce from him and for that reason is disposed to give her a pensionable status.

The medical and other evidence indicates that she is in very poor health and is practically helpless and unable to contribute to her own support.

She has no means or property, or income from any source. No one is legally bound to her support.

He and this claimant were married April 6, 1877. The evidence presented shows claimant is the legal widow of the soldier. On account of the soldier's dissolute habits, cruelty and failure to contribute to the support of claimant and their five children, she deserted him about 1891 and they never again lived or cohabited as husband and wife. This claimant continued to care and provide for their five minor children, while the soldier proceeded to a distant State and began living with another woman in adultery. He and the woman were driven out of one or two communities, and finally to avoid further trouble he contracted marriage with the woman. He had two children by her and when she died he abandoned the two children and went to a soldier's home from which he was dismissed because of his filthy habits, and soon thereafter died.

The Bureau of Pensions conducted a special examination of this claimant's claim for pension to determine whether the claimant was his legal widow. In every locality where the soldier resided after his abandonment of the claimant an inquiry was instituted and the court records searched with a view to ascertaining whether the soldier secured a divorce from the claimant, all with negative results. Declining to give this claimant the benefit of the doubt, her claim for pension was rejected on the ground she was unable to prove that the soldier did not secure a divorce from her.

She is described as a very worthy and honest woman and of excellent character.

In the circumstances your committee is disposed to give her a pensionable status.

His pension was erroneously increased under the act of May 1, 1920, to $50 and subsequently reduced to the original rate of $17 a month for the reason he was not an enlisted man, but was in service under contract. However, it is the opinion of your committee that inasmuch as this claimant was pensioned under the general law for disabilities incurred in service and line of duty he has at least an equitable claim for increase in his old age.

The medical evidence shows he has lost his teeth, the result of scurvy, and suffers from loss of hearing, general debility, and the infirmities of age, and by reason thereof is wholly unfitted for self-support.

He and this claimant were married January 7, 1872. She is now pensioned at $30 a month under certificate No. 960358.

and attendance of another person by reason of mental incompetency and a crippled leg.

Neither the claimant nor the incompetent daughter have means or property except a home place valued at $1,500. The only income they have is the claimant's pension. No one is legally bound to their support.

H. R. 9243. William H. Brown, aged 92 years, whose post-office address is McFall, Gentry County, Mo., whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, as follows:

The rolls of Capt. J. T. Musselman's Company I, First Regiment Capitol Guard, Kentucky Volunteers, show that W. H. Brown, private, was enrolled June 7, 1864; mustered into service July 6, 1864; and served to January 26, 1865.

He was paid for his services on said rolls from July 6, 1864, to January 26, 1865, 6 months 19 days, by the State of Kentucky, and said State has been reimbursed by the United States.

The evidence presented indicates that the claimant is identical with the soldier of record as indicated in the report referred to. Such service does not give title to pension under existing laws, but under the rules and practice of your committee he has a pensionable status for the reason that as a matter of fact the organization with which he served was actually a part of and cooperated with the Federal Army during the period of time indicated.

The medical evidence presented indicates he has no earning capacity and requires periodical aid and attendance of another person by reason of affliction from arteriosclerosis, disease of kidneys and bladder, and the infirmities of age.

He has no means or property and no income. No one is legally bound to his support.

It is recommended his name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $50 a month.

H. R. 9281. Bernerd Rogers, aged 87 years, whose post-office address is Bordentown, N. J., late a private, Company C, First Regiment New Jersey Infantry, from May 22, 1861, to July 18, 1863, and Ahl's Independent Battery, Delaware Light Artillery, from October 1, 1864, to July 25, 1865.

He is not a pensioner. He has no title to pension under existing laws for the reason he was not honorably discharged from his first contract of service. He rendered 1 year and 11 months of hard and faithful service and received an honorable discharge from his last contract of service.

This committee has established precedent for a more liberal construction of existing law, especially the first section of the act of May 1, 1920, and when it is shown, as in this case, the proposed beneficiary rendered 90 days or more of honorable service and received an honorable discharge he should be given a pensionable status. The service from which he was honorably discharged was for a period of 9 months and 25 days.

The medical and other evidence submitted shows claimant is a very old man and that he is in condition to require constant aid and attendance of another person by reason of chronic disease of kidneys, constipation, poor vision, and the infirmities of age.

He is entirely without means or property. He has no income from any source, but depends on those not legally bound to his support for subsistence and shelter.

It is recommended his name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $50 a month.

He and this claimant were married August 19, 1908. She has established legal widowhood at the Bureau of Pensions and has been paid the soldier's accrued pension, but she has no title to pension as such for the reason she married him after June 27, 1905.

The medical evidence shows she is unable to contribute to her own support and is in condition to require periodical aid and attendance of another person by reason of affliction from chronic rheumatism and disease of heart.

She has no property and no income. No one is legally bound to her support.

It is recommended her name be placed on the pension roll at the rate of $30 a month.

H. R. 9333. John A. Maples, alias John Maples, aged 79 years, whose post-office address is Cyclone, Mo., whose military history is set forth in an excerpt of a report from the Comptroller General, General Accounting Office, as follows:

The roll of Capt. James C. Thomson's company, Stoddard and Dunklin Counties, Volunteer Militia of Missouri, from May 20 to July 30, 1865, shows that John Maples was enrolled as a private March 1, 1865, mustered into service April 10, 1865, and relieved from duty July 20, 1865.

He was paid for his services on an individual pay voucher from March 1 to July 20, 1865, 4 months and 19 days, by the State of Missouri and said State has been reimbursed by the United States.

The evidence in the case indicates that the claimant is identical with the soldier of record under the name of John Maples. The service indicated does not give him title to pension under existing laws, but under the rules and practice of this committee he has a pensionable status, and justly so, for the reason the organization he was identified with was actually a part of and cooperated with the Federal Army during the period of time indicated in the report referred to. Your committee is therefore disposed to give him a pensionable status.

The medical evidence shows that by reason of the infirmities of age the claimant is wholly unable to contribute to his own support.

Your committee has heretofore considered this class of claims solely upon their merit and where it is shown that the soldier rendered 80 days or more of faithful service and had received an honorable discharge it has been held that the proposed beneficiary has at least an equitable title to pension.

The evidence shows she is the legal widow of the soldier. She is physically unable to contribute to her own support and is in condition to require periodical aid and attendance of another person by reason of arthritis and facial neuralgia.

He was married to this claimant August 8, 1868, and secured a divorce from her March 14, 1896. On the 8th of June, 1908, it was ordered by the court that the decree of divorce be set aside and declared for naught because of fraud and deceit perpetrated by the soldier in obtaining the decree of divorce.

After he had secured the decree of divorce from claimant he was married to one Rebecca Lawson, July 22, 1897, whom he deserted in 1901. She filed petition for and was paid one-half his pension as a deserted wife to the date of his death, and was also paid his accrued pension after his death, thus establishing legal widowhood. She was denied pension as his widow December 6, 1907, on the ground that her marriage to soldier was subsequent to the date of passage of the act of June 27, 1890, under which her application was filed. At the June term, 1908, in the chancery of Wayne County, Ind., the claimant succeeded in having the decree of divorce annulled and declared for naught.

After the annulment decree the claimant renewed her claim for pension as soldier's widow, which claim was denied for the reason the decree of divorce obtained by the soldier March 14, 1896, was valid and that the order of the court of Wayne County of June 8, 1908, vacating the decree was ineffectual for that purpose.

Claimant still insists that the decree and judgment of the court granting the divorce from her was obtained by fraud and deceit; that she had no notice of the divorce proceeding, and was given no opportunity to defend herself in court; that she lived with the soldier as his wife for a period of 28 years, and that he left her to care for and educate their only child, then surreptitiously had their marriage contract dissolved.

On the contrary, the evidence shows that they lived and cohabited as husband and wife from the date of their marriage to the date of his death, he having been temporarily absent from his home at work as a carpenter. H. R. 5790. Elizabeth Penland (report, p. 78). The soldier never rendered any military service in a United States organization. In the Sixty-seventh Congress this committee made an adverse report on a special bill for the relief of the soldier (H. R. 5613, Joseph S. Penland, Rept. 529, pp. 130, 131, and 132). At that time it was stated that soldier deserted the service and had not been discharged either honorably or dishonorably; that the records failed to show that he performed any service after enlistment, and the allegations of his service are not corroborated by any official record. It has since been ascertained from the War Department that Joseph S. Penland, of Buncombe County, N. C., age 17, enlisted March 10, 1862, at Kinston, N. C., as a private in Company I, Twenty-fifth Regiment North Carolina Infantry State troops, Confederate States of America. He was reported on the company muster-out roll from March to August 31, 1862, as present, September and October, 1862, absent sick; November and December, 1862, June and February, 1863, and May to October 31, 1863, as present. Roll for November and December, 1863, shows him to have deserted November 30, 1863. There are two subsequent rolls on file, but no later record of this man has been found, and no other Joseph S. Penland is shown on the rolls of any North Carolina organization.

This Confederate soldier was undoubtedly the claimant's husband, and from the statement made by him and his witnesses it is very apparent that after the issue of the order by General Thomas directing General Milroy to clean up Tennessee and North Carolina of rebel deserters and guerrillas and take no prisoners the soldier hid himself to Kentucky in order to escape the vengeance of said order, and there he undertakes to say that he was enrolled for the Eleventh Tennessee Infantry, Union forces. This regiment never completed its organization; was never accepted and mustered into the service of the United States. He filed the testimony of two persons, who undertook to swear that they saw the soldier serving in Company A, Eleventh Tennessee Infantry. It is not conceivable how these persons could have seen a man serving in an organization which never had any existence. Their statements are of no value whatever as proof of service. He may have possibly performed some service in the Quartermaster Department, as claimed by him, but even that fact is not substantiated. So far as the records now stands, the only military service performed by the soldier during the period of the Civil War was in the Confederate Army. If he did enlist and was paid advance bounty, as the records of the General Accounting Office tend to show, he must have deserted after having been paid this bounty, because he never reported for duty to any officer of the regiment.

The reason that the claimant did not live with the soldier continuously after their marriage to the date of his death was because he deserted her, apparently without justification or any good reason. The intimation is that he eventually expected to return to her but died before doing so.

The committee recommends that claimant be granted a pension of $30 a month.

receiving at the time of his death, October 31, 1890, from general paralysis insane—contributory cause, syphilis.

S. 4205. Annie Remmert, Wall, S. Dak., is the widow of Herman W. Remmert, who enlisted January 23, 1864, in Company H, Seventh Wisconsin Infantry, and was honorably discharged July 3, 1865. He filed an application for pension under the general law March 15, 1889, on account of rheumatism and later abandoned its prosecution. He was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of June 27, 1890, at the rate of $8 a month, from January 8, 1891; increased from time to time to $15, which he was receiving at the time of his death, August 17, 1908, cause not stated.

The claimant was married to the soldier December 21, 1905, by formal ceremony, in Sac County, Iowa, and lived with him until his death. She has not remarried. They had no children. She never filed a claim for pension under general law. Her application for pension under the act of April 19, 1908, was rejected by the Bureau of Pensions July 26, 1908, on the ground that she married the soldier subsequent to June 27, 1890, other points not considered.

It is stated in an opinion prepared by the law division, Bureau of Pensions, December 14, 1912, as follows:

It further appears that the claimant Annie was first ceremonially married to one Nels Christ Jensen, February 5, 1893, and that she procured an absolute decree of divorce from him December 5, 1905, in the courts of Sac County, Iowa, and she appears to have been legally competent to contract marriage with the soldier.

On the part of the soldier it is shown that he was first ceremonially married to the claimant Elizabeth April 17, 1862, and that he lived with her in the relation of husband and wife until April, 1877, when he deserted her and his children by her while they were living in Dubuque, Iowa. The claimant states that she saw the soldier once about a year after his desertion and her children also state that they saw him several times after he left their mother, and the family appear to have kept track of the soldier until his death and were fully aware of his subsequent relations with other women. It is further shown that after soldier's desertion of Elizabeth he was ceremonially married to one Anna Remhart, in Iowa, January 10, 1890, and he evidently lived with her in the ostensible relation of husband and wife until her death January 31, 1905. After the death of his second wife Anna Remhart, he was ceremonially married to the claimant Annie Jensen, as above stated, and lived with her until his death.

It is further shown that the claimant Elizabeth was first ceremonially married to one Henry McKee in the State of Iowa, and that said McKee died at Liberty, Grant County, Wis., April 3, 1859, and that she was, therefore, competent to contract marriage with the soldier in 1862. This ceremonial marriage on the part of the soldier to Elizabeth in 1862 was a valid marriage, and it has been definitely shown through a negative search of the divorce records and the parol testimony in the case that the parties were never divorced, and that their marriage, therefore, subsisted until his death, at which time it must be held the claimant Elizabeth became his lawful widow.

It also follows as a corollary that the soldier's ceremonial marriage to Anna Remhart in 1890, as well as his marriage to the claimant Annie Jensen in 1905, were absolutely void at inception, and as the soldier's lawful wife Elizabeth survived him, there was no period during which his relation with the claimant Anna became matrimonial. She was never the soldier's lawful wife and has no status as his lawful widow.

The legal widow, Elizabeth Remmert, was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of April 19, 1908, at the rate of $12 a month, from May 25, 1912; increased from time to time to $25, which she was drawing at the time of her death, October 18, 1919.

The claimant, Annie Remmert, is now 63 years of age. She owns no property and has no income from any source except from her labor, and by reason of physical ailments is hardly able to work and support herself by rag-carpet weaving, which is her usual occupation.

The woman to whom the Bureau of Pensions gave the pension as the widow of the soldier had not lived with him for over 31 years prior to his death, and while the bond of matrimony had not been legally dissolved, yet she lost nothing by the soldier's death, and her claim for pension as his widow was devoid of any merit or equity. She is now dead.

This claimant married the soldier in good faith, and lived with him until his death. Her marital status as the soldier's wife was never questioned during the lifetime of the soldier.

The committee recommends that claimant be granted a pension of $30 a month.

They had seven children, all of whom have attained their majority. She never filed an application for pension under general law. She was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of April 19, 1908, at the rate of $12 a month, from October 23, 1915; increased from time to time to $30, which she is now receiving.

The claimant is now 68 years of age. She owns no property, and her only means of support is her pension. By reason of physical ailments, she is not able to do her own housework, and it is necessary for her to keep someone with her almost constantly.

The committee recommends that claimant's pension be increased to $40 a month.

S. 4337. Ellen C. Smith, 951 Turner Street, Allentown, Pa., is the widow of Samuel Smith, who enlisted July 28, 1862, in Company I, Forty-seventh Pennsylvania Infantry, and was honorably discharged June 1, 1865. He never filed an application for pension. He died February 11, 1877, from disease of lungs.

The claimant was married to the soldier August 13, 1867, by formal ceremony, at Allentown, Pa., and lived with him until his death. She has not remarried. She was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the general law at the rate of $8 a month, from February 11, 1877, and $2 additional for each of five minor children, until the youngest attained the age of 16 years, July 14, 1892; increased from time to time to $30, which she is now receiving.

The claimant was born April 12, 1843, and is now 83 years of age. She owns no property, and is dependent upon her pension for her support. By reason of physical ailments, she has been under medical treatment for 15 years, and is unable to perform any work of any kind.

The committee recommends that claimant's pension be increased to $50 a month.

S. 4370. Martha Kortz, Gallup, N. Mex., is the widow of Jacob Kortz, who enlisted November 1, 1861, in Company H, Fifteenth Missouri Infantry, and was discharged August 7, 1862, on surgeon's certificate of disability, on account of deformity of left foot, existing prior to enlistment. He filed an application for pension under general law April 24, 1888, on account of injury to left ankle and leg, which was rejected by the Bureau of Pensions October 18, 1899, on the ground of soldier's inability to show service origin of alleged injury. He was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of June 27, 1890, at the rate of $8 a month from January 30, 1891, which he was receiving at the time of his death, October 12, 1898, from consumption of kidneys.

The claimant was married to the soldier October 13, 1873, by formal ceremony in Keokuk, Iowa, and lived with him until his death. She has not remarried. There are no minor children. She never filed an application for pension under general law. She was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of June 27, 1890, at the rate of $8 a month from October 24, 1898; increased from time to time to $30, which she is now receiving.

The claimant is now 76 years of age. She owns no property and has no means of support other than her pension. By reason of physical ailments and the infirmities due to age, she is unable to walk out of the house and requires the constant care of another person.

The committee recommends that claimant's pension be increased to $50 a month.

S. 4463. Lydia Keatley, Washington, D. C., is the widow of John H. Keatley, who enlisted July 29, 1862, in Company A, One hundred and twenty-fifth Pennsylvania Infantry, and was honorably discharged May 18, 1863; reenlisted February 15, 1865, in Company E, One hundred and fourth Pennsylvania Infantry, and was honorably discharged August 25, 1865. He never filed an application for pension under general law. He was allowed a pension by the Bureau of Pensions under the act of June 27, 1890, at the rate of $6 a month from February 28, 1901; increased from time to time to $8, which he was receiving at the time of his death, June 18, 1905, from paralysis.

The claimant avers that she was married to the soldier in Baltimore, Md., March 10, 1888. She is unable to give the name or to furnish evidence of the officiating minister, or to furnish evidence of witnesses to the testimony. She has filed a duly verified extract from the license records of the city of Baltimore, showing that a marriage license was issued to her and the soldier March 10, 1888, and that no return of the marriage was made. She lived with the soldier until the date of his death, and has not remarried. She never filed an application for pension under general law. Her application under the act of April 19, 1908, was rejected by the Bureau of Pensions November 9, 1914, on the ground of claimant's inability to prove that she is the legal widow of the soldier, in that she could not prove the death of the soldier's former wife, or of her own ceremonial marriage to him. She was granted a pension of $12 a month by special act approved September 5, 1916 (S. 1203, Rep. 522, p. 8, 64th Cong., 1st sess.); subsequently increased under the service acts to $30, which she is now receiving.

The claimant is now 66 years of age. She has no means of support other than her pension. She was formerly employed in the Treasury Department, and the Senator who introduced this bill stated that her health failed to such an extent that she could not attend to her work with any degree of regularity and for that reason she was dismissed from service of the Government, and apparently is not now employed in any gainful occupation.

The committee recommends that claimant's pension be increased to $40 a month.
