THE SCOUT OATH

On my honor I will do my best—
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law;
To help other people at all times;
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

THE SCOUT LAW

1. A Scout is trustworthy.—A Scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his Scout badge.

2. A Scout is loyal.—He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due—his Scout leader, his home and parents, and country.

3. A Scout is helpful.—He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share his home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.

4. A Scout is friendly.—He is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout.

5. A Scout is courteous.—He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.

6. A Scout is kind.—He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

7. A Scout is obedient.—He obeys his parents, Scoutmaster, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.

8. A Scout is cheerful.—He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardships.

9. A Scout is thrifty.—He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay, but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.

10. A Scout is brave.—He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear and to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers or threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.

11. A Scout is clean.—He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.

12. A Scout is reverent.—He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA,
NEW YORK, N. Y., March 23, 1945.

THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, D. C.

SIR: In accordance with the act of June 15, 1916, entitled "An act to incorporate the Boy Scouts of America, and for other purposes," I have the honor to present herewith a copy of the Thirty-fifth Annual Report of the Boy Scouts of America for the year 1944.

This report includes the proceedings of the year, the Scout war front, the report of the treasurer and finance committee, the membership record and analysis, local council index, officers and committees, the membership of the National Council, and of the professional staff, and 35 years of Scouting history.

Respectfully submitted.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA,
ELBERT K. FRETWELL,
Chief Scout Executive.

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

January 2, 1945

TO THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA:

Your theme for your Thirty-fifth Anniversary gives me great satisfaction. For many years the Boy Scout Movement has been a real force among the democratic countries in helping to promote better understanding among the nations and international good will.

At the time of our National Jamboree in 1937 I was happy to note the many Scouts from across the seas who came to camp with the Boy Scouts of America and learn more of our way of life. At the world Scout Jamborees Scouts from the freedom loving nations lived together, found common interests and ideals, and formed friendships of lasting value to themselves and others.

Now the Boy Scouts of America comes forward with a positive program for emphasizing the world brotherhood of Scouting. It is the youth of the world who must share and maintain the peace now being purchased so dearly on the battle fronts. I am convinced that Boy Scouts and Cubs, as well as senior groups, through their mutual understanding, mutual appreciation and mutual respect will be among the leaders in the promoting of comradeship among the democratic peoples of the earth.

Friendship is a basis of our Scout ideals and a part of our Scout law. Let us live by it and strengthen it !

God bless you all !

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA FOR THE YEAR 1944

The Congress of the United States chartered the Boy Scouts of America "to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by the Boy Scouts." The report submitted this year is in compliance with this responsibility placed upon us by Congress. Our function is the growing of men out of boys through a program of training in citizenship. This is our main function, whether in peace or in war.

The value of Scouting to the men of the Armed Forces is reported by former Scouts from all fronts. As boys they had learned skills, the ability to take care of themselves physically, to live in the open, and above all, carry on from their Scouting days the Scout spirit which creates superb morale toward one's country. It is estimated that 25 percent of the men in the Armed Forces have had Scouting experiences as boys.

The needs of wartime have given Scouts and Scouters an opportunity to participate in a substantial way in servicing the special needs in the interest of winning the war. This war service has not only been valuable to the war effort, but it has been important in the training of boys in their future responsibilities of citizenship.

Scouting was ready to serve. Not only were we organized to carry out war service in all parts of the Nation, but our membership reached an all-time high of 1,866,356 men and boys, 15.7 percent larger than the previous year's record.

Scouting has proved to have a world-wide appeal. Baden-Powell founded the movement in England in 1908. Spontaneously it spread to other countries without any organization, promotion, or propaganda. By 1920 it had spread to 27 countries, and on its twenty-first anniversary in 1929, 73 nationalities were present at the Third World Jamboree. Men saw in it something new in the education and training of boys, something so universal that a Chinese boy in Chungking takes to it with the same zest as an English boy in Devon.

The Boy Scouts of America recognizes the opportunity and the responsibility involved in membership in a world-wide movement. It was our privilege in 1944 to act as hosts over a period of months to selected Scout leaders from 13 Pan American nations. There will be other opportunities to be of service. We look forward to the days of peace and we are building our thirty-fifth anniversary around the theme—"Scouts of the World—Brothers Together." The spirit of world brotherhood expressed in this theme will be the inspiration of our work for boys in the years ahead.

I. SCOUTS' WAR FRONT

The aim of Scouting is growing men, men who are eager and prepared to take their place in the community, to serve their country in war and peace.

The ways in which Scouting has been able to help the Nation in the war years since 1941 are evidence of the rightness of this aim, and of the virility of the movement.

On 60 different occasions in these 3 war years the Government has asked our services; the results are shown in figures which are astronomical. Whether it was collecting enough milkweed pods to make a million and a half life jackets or bringing in paper (a third of a million tons) to package supplies for the front lines, Scouts have taken the lead.

Such service as these have caused Government leaders to comment as follows:

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD
WASHINGTON, D. C.

November 9, 1944

OFFICE OF THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Dr. Fretwell:

The Salvage Division of the War Production Board advises me that the two-month Boy Scout Nation-wide Waste Paper Program, recently concluded, was an outstanding success. With the final returns not yet available, the goal of collecting 100,000 tons of waste paper during the campaign has been exceeded.

The Boy Scouts of America have participated wholeheartedly in previous Scrap Salvage Campaigns and have given noble and patriotic response on every occasion. Donald M. Nelson, former Chairman of the War Production Board, in his letter to you of June 30, urging this special campaign for waste paper, wrote, "The Boy Scouts of America can strike a real blow for victory."

The Boy Scouts of America certainly did — nearly 3000,000 of them. And what was accomplished stands as a glowing record of achievement. About 85,000 scouts and cubs will qualify for the individual WPB award; a truly astounding fact when we consider that it required a certified thousand pounds of waste paper collected and moved to the waste paper dealers in order to earn this individual award.

That's real fighting on the home front — the kind of able support that will keep our supply lines moving with needed food, medicines, clothing, ammunition and all kinds of equipment and machinery necessary for a complete and rapid prosecution of the war against Germany and Japan.

Such activity by the Boy Scouts of America must hearten our military and naval leaders and their fighting forces, just as it heartens us in the knowledge that there is an army on the home front, an army of growing youngsters who will some day be guiding the destinies of the nation.

Sincerely,

J. A. Krug
J. A. Krug

Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell

Effective Scout Service.

In each war service Boy Scouts proved themselves qualified to do the job. That was demonstrated early in the war when the Scouts brought in 87 percent of all the aluminum collected by all the agencies that could be mustered. It was demonstrated again last year when the Scouts collected more milkweed floss than the authorities knew existed. It was proved again by the spectacular waste paper program carried out in August and September, when the Scouts brought in 117,521 tons of paper in answer to the Government's request for 100,000 tons.

Continuing Service.

Scouts have continued to carry out war-service projects, long after the novelty was worn out and the tasks became tedious. Government authorities have appreciated this strength and continue to ask the Boy Scouts of America to help as the war is fought to a conclusion. Facing the 1945 paper shortage, Chairman Krug again requested an all-out campaign, this time for 150,000 tons. General Eisenhower himself agreed to sponsor the campaign which will be carried out in the early spring.

Cub Scout War Service.

Cub Scouts have carried on an effective war-service program in keeping with the policy of maintaining Cub Scouting as a home-centered program. Special mention should be made of the splendid record of Cubs in such salvage projects as paper collection, milkweed pods, tin cans, and grease. One of the most interesting Cub Scout war-service projects, was the development of game and fun kits for wounded servicemen. Thousands of Cub Scout families planted and harvested Victory gardens.

SUMMARY OF WAR SERVICES—1941-44

It is not possible in the brief pages of this report to do more than summarize the services of the Boy Scouts. These services fall into five categories:

I. Collections.

In addition to the collection of many items needed to meet war shortages such as spark plugs, coat hangers, X-ray film, and 3,300,000 books, the following salvage items have been collected:

	Pounds
Rubber (1942-43).....	109, 001, 313
Tin cans (1942-43).....	23, 962, 356
Waste paper (1941-44).....	683, 831, 159
Scrap metal (1942-43).....	370, 294, 320
Grease (1943).....	1, 134, 307
Milkweed pods (10/1944).....	1, 500, 000
Total pounds collected.....	1, 189, 723, 455

II. Distribution.

Minute Man posters for the Treasury Department (1941).....	1, 607, 000
Consumer pledges against waste (1942).....	10, 000, 000
Price control pamphlets for Office of Price Administration (1942)---	25, 000, 000
War Bond pledges (1942-43).....	18, 375, 048
"Keep 'Em Flying" slogan cards for Air Forces (1943).....	5, 125, 000
Estimated total pieces of Government material distributed by Scouts (including 1944, estimated).....	116, 445, 377

In addition to the above, hundreds of thousands of posters were distributed for the National War Fund, American Red Cross, crippled children, local salvage committees and many other distributions were made by local councils.

Up to July 8, 1944, Scouts continued their distribution of more than 1,000,000 posters a month for the Office of War Information in 2,900 communities. More than 300,000 boys have been commissioned officially as dispatch bearers by the President of the United States and carry credentials so testifying. The Office of War Information has informed us that the Scouts will again be called upon for distribution purposes in 1945.

III. Production and Conservation.

A major war service of the Boy Scouts of America is in the production of food. In 1943 alone more than 108,000,000 hours of service were given by members of the Boy Scouts of America to the raising of food for ourselves and our allies. Hundreds of camps had Scout-tended camp gardens. Tens of thousands of troops conducted their own Victory gardens while others contributed to school and community gardens. Several hundred thousand Scouts have worked on farms in order to supplement the available labor.

A conservative estimate shows that in 1944, 184,000 boys had their own Victory gardens and 126,000 boys worked on farms helping to solve the problem of farming.

More than a million and half trees have been planted by Scouts as part of the conservation needs intensified by wartime.

Scouts have also produced model planes, ships, and boats built to size. More than 100,000 of these have been furnished to the Armed Forces.

IV. Personal and Group Service.

More than half of the 60 projects accepted by Scouts fall in this category.

Hundreds of troops have been organized in critical housing areas with thousands of boys brought back into Scouting as part of making them feel at home in new environments.

In 1942 and 1943 hundreds of leaders and thousands of Scouts participated in civilian defense; more than 500,000 boys alone being trained as messengers.

In 1944 the main emphasis was toward the helping of blood banks, rationing boards, selective service boards, serving as fire watchers, and forest-fire fighters.

In literally hundreds of communities, Scouts participated in store census for the Office of Price Administration, also in the recruiting campaigns for the WAC's, WAVES, Army, and Navy.

In addition, Scouts again cooperated with local agencies in their war programs such as the American Red Cross, American Legion, chambers of commerce, community chests, infantile paralysis; Russian, British, and Chinese War Relief agencies; U. S. O., Veterans of Foreign Wars, and many others.

V. Financing the War.

Scouts in many communities have cooperated with the financing of the war effort from the First War Loan; specific programs were carried out on a Nation-wide basis with the Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth War Loans during 1944. It is estimated that Scouts have been responsible for the sale of approximately $1,800,000,000 worth of war bonds and stamps. They have visited millions of homes not only to deliver informational material but to actually take orders for bonds.

The Scouts-at-war minute man program was launched in November 1944. A special minute man flag and banner is made available to those troops with 90 percent of their membership buying bonds and stamps on a regular basis and having at least one member of their family doing the same. More than 3,000 troops are now proudly flying the minute man flag or displaying the banner in their troop meeting room. The minute man program will continue for the duration. Local councils may fly the minute man flag when 90 percent of their units have earned their flags; the National Council may fly the minute man flag when 90 percent of its councils have earned the flag. The goal is high but can be reached.

Satisfaction for Scouts.

Through Scouting, boys have had the great satisfaction of doing these important services to help win the war. The time and effort which they have spent in thus helping with the Nation's major task will have a lasting effect on their lives; it has done much to help them become participating citizens.

II. SCOUTING CONTINUES TO GROW

Scouting is on the march. Here are some of the indications.

The increase in membership was more than double any previous yearly gain. In no 4-year period since the Boy Scouts of America was first organized, has the net increase exceeded 100,000, but in 1944 the gain was 252,573. On December 31, 1944, the grand total membership was 1,866,356.

Opportunities for Boys To Be Scouts.

Every other boy in the United States is now enrolling in one or more of the programs of the Boy Scouts of America at some time between his ninth and eighteenth birthdays. In 1944, 268,770 new boys enrolled as Scouts and 483,112 new boys became Cub Scouts. The boy membership draws near the million and a half mark—1,470,621.

Twelve and a Quarter Million.

Since the Boy Scouts of America was first organized, 12 and a quarter million persons have had the benefit of Scout training (12,289,614 on December 31). (See chart 4.)

The most widely publicized event of the year was the induction of the 12 millionth member. He is a farm boy from Wisconsin, symbolizing the average American boy, and the opportunities for Scouting growth in rural areas.

CUB SCOUTING GAINS

There was a spectacular gain in Cub membership. There were on December 31, 412,871 Cub Scouts, or a gain of 37.3 percent. In considering this percentage of gain, it should be borne in mind that this represents a gain over the gain of the previous year, which was spectacular—20.8 percent. Clearly boys are eager to become Cub Scouts.

There were 93,612 Cubbers and Den Mothers registered at the end of the year. It was a gain of 42.4 percent over the gain of the previous year, of 20.6 percent.

Most significant was the increase in registered Den Mothers. There were 23,640 Den Mothers registered. An increase of 86.3 percent. The Den Mother holds a key position in the whole Cub Scout program.

The Cub packs increased to 12,381, a gain of 26.8 percent. This means that more boys will have the opportunity to come into Cub Scouting.

BOY SCOUT GAINS

There was a gain in the number of Scouts of 9.3 percent. Troops increased to 44,502, a gain of 5.5 percent. As the chart shows, there were on December 31, 1,057,750 Scouts. We reached 44 percent of all the boys in America who became 12 years of age in 1944, as compared with only 23.2 percent 10 years ago. (See chart 2.) In 1911, when Scouting was a year old, less than 6 percent of 12 year olds had a chance to come into the program. This is interesting because of the ratio of Scouts in the Armed Forces. It has been estimated that one in every 4 of the men in the Armed Forces has had Scout training. But how these former Scouts do stand out! Officers have repeatedly assured us that they show leadership ability, dependability, initiative, and high character way beyond the average.

SENIOR SCOUTING GAINS

More young men registered as Senior Scouts than in any previous year.

There has been a splendid gain in Air Scouting. Eleven thousand two hundred and thirty-three were registered on December 31.

Scoutmasters have been urged to register young men who are active as junior leaders in Scout troops as Senior Scouts. More than 2,000 have been so listed. There were 24,951 Sea Scouts and 16,212 Explorers. A total of 55,495 young men registered in the Senior program.

Why Has Scouting Grown?

The causes for the record breaking growth of Scouting in membership are many. Perhaps none of the factors is enough in itself to produce it. Foremost, of course, is the devotion of our men leaders. Some observations, although no one of them is entirely responsible, may not be out of order.

1. "It is the times!" It is a period of high national income but of confusion in home, in school, in State, and in the world. In such a period a positive program that is sound in theory and generally sound in practice, has increasing appeal. Scouting is such a program—clear, steady, strong, not meteoric. It offers something stable, and tested for training youth.

2. Our emphasis has been on quality. While we welcome growth, there is no appeal to roll in numbers merely for the sake of large membership.

3. There is renewed emphasis for more of the outdoors in Scouting, more hiking, more camping, more of the skills that make a boy or man able to take care of himself in the open. People are interested in the physical well-being that Scouting develops and the rugged program that helps to build sturdy young men.

4. The Scout war activities have attracted boys and given them an opportunity to feel that they are doing their bit serving their country, having a share in winning the war.

5. Hard work on the part of our volunteer and professional leaders. We lost at least half our Scoutmasters and more than half our executives, but we recruited new men and trained them—and how they have worked! Scouting does not "just happen," even if the times are favorable to Scouting.

6. We have a good team, locally and nationally, all of us working together with a single purpose.

The record of 1944 in membership is significant because of what it means in the boys' experience and their training for citizenship of the future.

Registration of Members.

Every member of the Boy Scouts of America from a Cub Scout to a Senior leader is registered. He receives an official membership certificate without which he cannot procure his uniform or badges. This has been one of the strongest features of Scouting. It makes possible an exact accounting of boys and men. It makes it possible to protect the uniform, and Scouting equipment and Scouting publications and the terminology against use by unauthorized persons. Many other advantages are inherent in the registration system which will not need to be dwelt upon here. Applicants for membership in the Boy Scouts of America are first certified by local councils. They are then checked by the Registration Service of the National Council.

III. MANPOWER BUILDS BOYPOWER

The success of Scouting as a citizenship building program is and will be determined by the caliber of its manpower, volunteer and professional. Scouting's contribution to the democratic way of life is dependent upon the competency of the leadership provided by the people of the country to lead the movement.

The unselfish service of a vast number of men has made it possible for increasing numbers of boys to have Scouting. In 1944 there was a 14.7 percent increase in adult leaders, a really extraordinary gain.

There were 395,735 registered leaders on December 31. In 1942 and 1943 Scouting suffered a loss in leaders due to war conditions, but in 1944 we had so improved our ability to present the need to the American people that the unusual record above noted was possible.

Recruiting to Meet the Growing Need.

To help local leaders in recruiting men of high caliber, a completely revised edition of the manual "Personnel Administration in Scouting" was produced by the personnel division, providing up-to-date techniques and guidance material.

The personnel division is also developing new material to guide councils in holding the present volunteer leadership and in the wise use of men returning from military service. The use of recruiting and selective service techniques will be expanded. Personal conferences with local leaders have helped both volunteer and professional leaders to recruit new men.

A new pamphlet "Six Steps in Securing a Scoutmaster" greatly helped troop committees in the responsibility of selecting troop leaders.

EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND OF SCOUTERS AND CUBBERS

Our volunteer leaders are a select group. Service in Scouting attracts men of education as well as men of character, and the educational background of our Scouting personnel stands far ahead of the national average. Over 30 percent of our Scoutmasters are college-trained men. In addition more than 47 percent are high-school graduates. Our research and statistical service has compiled some significant information regarding the educational background of Scout leaders. The following table shows the national figures of adult males who completed grammar school and the educational background of Scouters and Cubbers.

Graduation from:	All Scouters and Cubbers, percent	All adult males, percent
Grammar school.....	22.5	69.0
High school.....	47.0	23.5
College.....	30.5	7.5

Occupations of Scout Leaders.

A study has been made of the occupations of Scout leaders in comparison to the occupations of all male workers in the United States according to the 1940 Federal census. Among the important facts revealed by the study are the following:

The largest group of Scout leaders are professional men such as clergymen, chemists, lawyers, physicians, teachers, etc.; 24.5 percent of all Scout leaders came from this group, although only 4.5 percent of all male workers are professional men.

The next largest group (18.5 percent of Scout leaders) are craftsmen, foremen, and kindred workers, such as carpenters, electricians, jewelers, engravers, furriers, etc. Among all male workers, 14.7 percent are so classified.

The third largest group (16.9 percent of Scout leaders) are proprietors, managers, and officials, such as public officials, buyers, credit men, ship officers, etc., while 9.9 percent of all male workers are so classified.

The fourth largest group (15.6 percent of Scout leaders) are clerical, sales, and kindred workers, such as bookkeepers, stenographers, ticket agents, insurance agents, etc.; 13 percent of all male workers are in this group.

The remaining 24.5 percent of Scout leaders are from occupations such as farmers, draftsmen, photographers, aviators, radio operators, garage attendants, chauffeurs, deliverymen, motormen, guards, policemen, janitors, etc.

Age of Scout Leaders.

Consistently we are recruiting a more mature type of Scout leader. More than half our Scout leaders are over 33 years of age. The median age of Scoutmasters as shown in a recent study, is 33.5 years. Assistant Scoutmasters are 26.7 years of age. Troop committeemen are definitely a maturer group. The median age is 41.4. Cubmasters and assistants show 38.3 and 36.8 years, respectively. The median age of all Scouters and Cubbers is 38.3. Commissioners are 38.5. One quarter of our Scoutmasters are over 39 and one quarter of the Cubmasters are over 41. In fact, one quarter of all of the group of Scouters and Cubbers studied were over 44 years of age. Of course, the war situation is responsible for the increasing maturity of our Scout leaders. How splendid it is that these older men, absorbed in the many responsibilities of their businesses under wartime conditions and other service responsibilities incident to the war, come forward in increasing numbers to give service to boyhood through Scouting!

Commissioner Service.

To meet the needs for leadership in these days of manpower shortage, local councils are recruiting commissioners successfully. There has been a steady increase in the number of commissioners during the war years, as shown in the table on page 80. Last year 11,128 men were serving troops and packs as commissioners. This is an impressive number, but it is still far short of what it should be if we are to serve these Scout units adequately. It has been estimated that a neighborhood commissioner can serve 4 or 5 units effectively. At the present ratio of commissioner leadership available, there is only one commissioner for every 10 units. We should place further emphasis on the importance of commissioner service.

PROFESSIONAL LEADERS

Although, as shown in chart 5, the ratio of professional leaders is very small in comparison to the volunteer leaders and boys, the successful recruiting and training of qualified men for the professional service must be a major responsibility if we are to meet the needs.

In spite of all the problems incident to wartime conditions, 1944 was a year of great achievement. Local councils were helped by the revised personnel handbook, Personnel Administration in Scouting, and by the pamphlet, Appointments to the Professional Service of Scouting. A local council office administration manual helped councils to meet the needs of their areas.

Losses among the professional personnel due to men entering military service decreased as compared to the previous year. There was an increase, however, in men leaving to assume other positions or because of death and retirement. It is notable that in the first-line positions there is a fine stability. The following table provides a comparison of the growth of the professional service group over the years and a statement of the separations each year:

² Includes men entering military service and war work, deaths, and retirements.

Out of the 633 men, who in the past 4 years have left to enter military service, 16 have returned to the professional service following discharge. Men who enter the armed forces are classified as being in transition. It is estimated that the needs for 1945 will be for 385 professional men.

In June 1944, responsibility for professional training was established in the division of personnel at the national office, with Mr.

Gunnar H. Berg as the director. Ten sessions of the national training school for professional leaders were held at the Schiff Scout Reservation and 408 students were enrolled, 14 of whom were representatives of Latin-American countries who came to the United States under the inter-American project.

TRAINING FOR LEADERSHIP RESPONSIBILITY

Because of the thousands of new leaders who have come into Scouting every council and every district has faced the necessity of intensifying its training program. It is recognized that there is a definite need for basic training for every unit leader if the boys are to have happiness and satisfaction in their Scouting experience.

Some councils are doing a good job, but nationally, as the tables show, only half of our packs, troops, and Senior units have a leader with basic training. Basic training is understood to include the orientation session "fundamentals of the Boy Scout movement" and the basic course for leaders which fits the needs of the individual Scouters. (Basic courses are: The Cub leaders' course, Scoutmasters' course, Explorer leaders' course, Skippers' course, Air Scout leaders' course, and commissioners' course.)

SUMMARY OF LOCAL COUNCIL TRAINING

The following figures reveal the high spots of local council training in terms of leaders' training and types of training provided. Attention, however, should be focused on the number of leaders who still are without even basic training.

NATIONAL SUMMARY OF LEADERSHIP TRAINING

[Annual figures are not entirely comparable since neither the same number nor the same councils are included in each year's figures]

1. Leaders with introductory training

[Leaders and assistants (not committeemen), Scoutmasters, assistant Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, Skippers and Mates, etc., who have completed the new 1-session introductory training in fundamentals of the Boy Scout movement, or previous elements of Scout leadership, pt. I, or former equivalents]

New and Improved Training Helps.

The pamphlet, the "Fundamentals of the Boy Scout Movement," was completely revised and a set of slides to illustrate the text was developed. We believe that the "Fundamentals" pamphlet is going to be of great value to parents and all interested in the Scout program, as well as to unit leaders.

A new pamphlet "Gremlins in Training" has been developed to help district training committees build adequate training programs.

The first of a series of training films, "The Patrol Method," has been developed for use in connection with Scoutmasters' training.

A set of slides on summertime Cubbing has been developed for local council training purposes.

Training Studies.

Several studies have been undertaken to evaluate our training methods.

Scoutmasters' Training Study.

This was used as a basis for the film "Patrol Method" and the preliminary findings have been made available in magazine articles. The facts as revealed still furnish a basis for several other projects.

Scouting for Facts in Troop 16.

This is section 1 of a report on a troop membership study and has been widely used in connection with training courses for Scout leaders.

Considerable use has been made of a number of research projects in the revision of the Commissioners' Course and the Scout Leaders' Advanced Course, as well as many other publications.

IV. THE PROGRAMS OF SCOUTING

Scouting offers a citizenship building program for boys from the age of 9 through adolescence. There are special programs for each age group—Cub Scouting for boys from 9 to 11 inclusive; Boy Scouting for boys from 12 up, and Senior Scouting for boys of 15 and up.

Certain basic elements underlie the program of all three age groups:

1. The boy: individual and as a member of a patrol and troop uniform.
2. Leadership: trained volunteer.
3. Activities: including camping and hiking and featuring achievement with recognition.
4. Organization: in institutions and with sufficient local, regional, national, and international Scout organization to make the program effective.
5. The ideals of service expressed in the Scout oath and law and Cub promise.

THE WHOLE SCOUT FAMILY

In 1944 increased attention was paid to the administrative steps which would make a unified program possible. The problems and techniques were studied in regional executive conferences and a major realignment of the national office was made to expedite the correlation. (This realignment is discussed on p. 51.)

STUDIES IN ENRICHMENT

Certain definite projects were initiated in 1944 which should have a far-reaching effect on the whole Scout program.

A restudy of the Cub-Scout achievement program was carried on through the year and is continuing. Through it, it is hoped to bring about certain simplifications and improvements arising out of 16 years of experience in the field. This project will lead into the rewriting of the three boys' books.

Committees were appointed in 1944 to study several aspects of the Boy Scout program, including the advancement program, and the enrichment of unit program.

The Explorer program was completely revised and new ranks and insignia were provided. The Air Scout achievement program is also being studied. A committee was appointed to study the unification and simplification of the existing Senior programs. Another committee started study and experimentation with a Scout reserve plan.

Other studies which may affect the program include ones on special recognition, the integration of special programs and emphases into the regular work of Boy Scout and Senior Scout units, the integration of indoor and outdoor Scouting programs, the continuity of program in the three age levels, the use of the group plan in the institution, and a study of age requirements for each of the three programs.

SCOUT CAMPING

Camping is the great outdoor adventure of Scouting. In working with natural resources to provide his food and his comfort, the boy learns some of the skills and self-reliance of the pioneer that are our American heritage. His character is strengthened. The out-of-doors becomes a life-long source of recreation.

Over 25 percent more Scouts went to summer camp in 1944 than the year before.

There is continued progress in camping on a troop basis under the leadership of local troop Scouters. The number of troops who camped last year was 14,756. This is 35.6 percent of the entire number of troops as of June 30, 1944.

The training tables published on page 14 show the marked advance in the number of training courses and seminars conducted for camp leaders. Many regional conferences were held in camp rather than hotels.

Camporees still lead in popularity as council and district and special events. Ninety percent of our councils held one or more camporees.

A complete study of the camping policies that have been developed for the use of the 540 local Scout councils was made by the national camping and activities committee. These were restated, codified, and approved by the Executive Board late in the year. Fourteen camping policies are set forth covering the definition of Scout camping general policies, policies on patrol camping and hiking enrollment, Cubbing activities, and other matters.

As in the previous year, many Scout camps took part in the food for freedom effort. Many Scouts lived in camp and worked on farms.

GRANT STUDY CAMP

A research project of special importance was the "Grant Study Camp." Under the joint auspices of the Grant Study of Harvard University, the Grant Fund, the American Children's Fund, Inc., and the Boy Scouts of America, a study camp was conducted in two sections in July and August. There was a registration of 39 boys in each section. The National Health and Safety Service, with a complete camp staff, gave direction to the camp with the cooperation of a number of doctors from the Grant Foundation. The results were very significant and will be published later.

PHILMONT SCOUT RANCH

The magnificent high adventure camp, Philmont Scout Ranch, located near Cimarron, N. Mex., offers a total of 127,308 acres as a challenge to the vision and planning ability of "the movement." The ranch, a gift of Mr. Waite Phillips to the Boy Scouts of America, includes well-timbered high-mountain country, beautiful canyons and sparkling mountain streams, a wide variety of game and wildlife, as well as a model and well-developed ranch with its related buildings, equipment, and livestock.

Waite Phillips presented this extraordinary tract to the Boy Scouts of America because, as a result of his own early experiences in the country, he felt the need of making available to American youth the challenge of high adventure of life under primitive conditions. Mr. Phillips, as a young man, lived under the rugged conditions faced by the pioneers in their westward trek. He realized in his own life the qualities of character, the self-reliance, the resourcefulness that could best be developed by camping in a wild and unexplored country. He felt that American boys have been deprived of their birthright in lacking an opportunity to have such experiences, and he presented his ranch to the Boy Scouts of America to make it possible for boys in all parts of the country to realize from first-hand experience what the development of the great West has required.

In order to make possible the full scope of Philmont as a ranch, camp and training center, Mr. Phillips also provided a modern office building, the Philtower, located in Tulsa, Okla., income from which is used in the maintenance of the ranch property.

The property management is under the direction of the Phillips properties committee, consisting of members of the Executive Board, with President Head serving as chairman. The general manager is James P. Fitch, regional executive of region IX. The financial statement for the building and ranch appears in the report of the treasurer.

The camp headquarters includes a museum, a commissary, trading post, a mess hall that will seat 80, a recreational building and large barn and corral, together with a camp office. There are facilities for temporary living and supplementary tentage to take care of about 200 Scouts at a time. All campers are checked in and examined by the camp doctor.

On leaving the camping headquarters Scouts go to one of the following base camps as agreed upon before arrival; Ponil, Cimarroncito, Abreu, or Rayado. At each base camp one or more members of the Philmont staff assist with the program and supplies.

In the development of the camps, great care is exercised to conserve the forest, the game, and places of historic interest. Herds of buffalo, elk, antelope, mule-eared deer; beavers in the streams; wild turkey and other game birds are protected for the enjoyment of Scouts. Predatory animals are kept under control. The streams are being regularly filled with mountain trout for Scout anglers.

Because of travel restrictions and wartime conditions it was necessary to limit attendance in 1944 to Scouts from regions VIII and IX. There was, however, a 100 percent increase over the previous season. Philmont Scout Ranch was host to 2,282 different Scouts and Scouters, who spent a total of 4,169 weeks at the ranch.

The Philmont Service Corps made it possible for 209 Scouts to have camping experience at Philmont and at the same time to make an investment in the maintenance and development of the property.

An outstanding feature in 1944 was the development of the Senior training camp in which 255 Scouts participated in a month's experience of advanced camping and adventuring.

Villa Philmont, the former summer home of Mr. Phillips, is being developed as a training center. A training course in camp leadership was conducted there in May with 65 men participating.

SCHIFF SCOUT RESERVATION

In addition to the Scout executives' training courses conducted at Schiff Scout Reservation at Mendham, N. J., a variety of program enrichment activities are conducted there.

The "Patrol Method" film was produced at the reservation. A large number of laymen's and older Scouts' groups used the fine facilities for camping and training purposes. Two new campsites were built and equipped in connection with the Grant Study experimental camp. There was a marked increase in the use of the camping facilities.

CAMP ENGINEERING

Local councils are wisely developing plans for post-war construction. During 1944 the National Engineering Service visited 124 councils.

During the past year, a National Engineering Committee has been developed. Under this leadership, greater service will be extended to the field in the development of camps, including advice on the selection of sites and long-range planning, also preliminary plans and estimates of costs in such matters of water supply, installation of sanitary facilities, and construction.

PRE-RANGER "SURVIVAL" TRAINING

The popular pre-Ranger training program, frequently called "survival" training, has had a splendid year of development, and became a major part of the program of many council summer camps. Special training courses for "survival" instructors were conducted for several hundred men during the year.

AQUATIC SCHOOLS

Five aquatic schools were conducted for 200 men who were instructors in swimming, boating, canoeing, and life saving at Scout council camps. These schools were held in Columbia, S. C., Austin, Tex., Little Rock, Ark., Toledo, Ohio, and Schiff Scout Reservation, Mendham, N. J.

A total of 1,077 Scout life-guard awards were made during 1944 to Scouts who met the exacting requirements for this badge.

WORK WITH U. S. NAVY PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOLS

A very valuable cooperative working relationship with the U. S. Navy was developed during the year through the officer in charge of physical training for Navy fliers. Advice and instruction in technical subjects were exchanged. This was possible because of the close parallel between the "survival" training given fliers and the self-reliance training of Scouts. Three members of the health and safety staff and the assistant director of Senior Scouting have taken the Navy's survival training course and have, in turn, taught several subjects at three of the four Navy pre-flight schools.

SCOUTING PUBLICATIONS

The curtailment in tonnage of paper allotted to our use in the face of increased demands for our publications caused by a substantial membership growth has tested our production ingenuity. Unusual difficulties in procuring many items and the need for producing many others in a very short space of time, because of our participating in war service, have added to our problems and the volume of work involved.

Had it not been for the helpful service on the part of many printing concerns, because of their interest in Scouting, and the loyalty and intelligent service on the part of those in the home office related to the printing and production service, it would not have been possible to have met the needs of our Scouting membership.

As it was, our editorial service has been able to keep the supply of basic publications available. As reported last year, we have discontinued for the time of the war certain supplementary publications not fundamentally essential to Scouting. We have saved paper by reducing the number of pages in many publications, and by cutting out blank pages and reducing the size of margins.

We have urged Troops to develop troop libraries so that one publication could serve many boys. We have encouraged boys and leaders to make old publications do instead of purchasing new ones.

Thirty-seventh Printing Handbook for Boys.

The thirty-seventh printing of the Handbook for Boys consisted of 420,000 copies. It was delivered in September and included an entirely new nature section based on modern educational practices with striking new illustrations. It has been favorably received.

Scout Field Book.

The Scout Field Book came off the press in December. Because of paper restrictions only 50,000 copies were printed and it was necessary to ration the allotment to local councils. This magnificently illustrated, practical how-to-do book of Scouting will be a valuable addition to troop and council libraries.

Periodical Publications.

A new coordination was developed in 1944 between Scouting magazine, Boys' Life, and the Scoutmaster's Program Note Book. The program plans outlined in the Note Book are discussed in Scouting from the standpoint of the leader and in Boys' Life from the boy's viewpoint.

Scouting Magazine.

During the year 1944 Scouting continued to be sent to all registered Scouters, the monthly mailing list averaging more than 333,000. In spite of the reduction in size and quantity of Scouting, made necessary by wartime paper restrictions, special attention was given to the needs of unit leaders and a large proportion of the magazine was devoted to articles on program planning and unit administration.

During 1944 special emphasis was also laid on Scouting skills in the training of Scouts so that they would be better prepared if called into military service. Numerous letters from former men now in the Armed Forces testified to the wisdom of this step. Special articles were also directed to the three branches of Senior Scouting—Air,

Sea Scouting, and Explorer Scouting—and to the program for younger boys, Cubbing.

Cub Leaders' Round Table.

The Cub Leaders' Round Table, the magazine for Cub leaders, also showed a large increase in its mailing list, its print order averaging over 87,800 per month. The editorial content for the Cub Leaders' Round Table is prepared by the Cubbing service and is carried through to publication in the editorial service. It emphasizes program suggestions for the den and pack.

Other Periodicals.

There are four other periodicals of varying size and frequency that are prepared on a basis of cooperation between the various interested services and the editorial service.

The Local Council Exchange, volunteer training service.

The Scout Executive, personnel division.

The Lone Scout, rural Scouting service.

Health and Safety, health and safety service.

BOYS' LIFE

Editorial.

The magazine committee met regularly with the Boys' Life staff. It has had its best year financially in its entire 33 years history. The paper restrictions limited the number of pages in each issue as well as the number of boys we could serve. To offset this, the editors concentrated on securing and printing the best material available. While we wish the magazine could have been a more complete publication, we have tried to make the magazine helpful to Scouts and Leaders.

The coordination of the editorial contents of Scouting Magazine, Boys' Life, and the Scoutmaster Program Notebook have related the magazine definitely to the life of the troop. Special Scouting features and Scout activities have been given emphasis through a series of articles, in addition to the regular Scouting departments. Some of these include articles on winter camping, handicraft features, various Scouting skills and swimming. There were also articles giving first-hand war experiences and suggestions to boys on the post-war world. Authors whose fiction appeared included the late Frederic Arnold Kummer, B. J. Chute, and many others. A number of the nation's foremost artists contributed illustrations to Boys' Life.

Circulation.

Because of the paper restrictions Boys' Life, like other publications, has been obliged to make economies in paper usage. Poor service, in some cases, has resulted. This was beyond our control. Subscriptions were delayed from 3 to 6 months in entry. The September 1944 issue showed a total of 353,376 subscribers of whom 290,841 were Scouts. A reduction in the print order since then has caused us to drop back to about 340,000 copies. We have practically eliminated our non-Scout promotional efforts. We have been enabled to increase the number of Scout subscriptions by nearly 50,000 by eliminating non-Scout business and replacing it by Scout business as long as paper restrictions limit the copies available.

THE READING PROGRAM

The thirty-first annual "50 Book List" consists of 50 outstanding books for Scouts and 25 good books for Cubs. This was published in October. Local councils used these lists as inexpensive "good-will" builders and distributed them to unit leaders, librarians, reading merit badge counselors, and to book stores in their territory. Contacts have been maintained with librarians in the development of good reading. Some 40 publishers have sought advice on problems involved in their publications for youth.

UNIFORM AND EQUIPMENT

The official uniform plays a fundamental part in Scouting. Boys want to have the right to wear the uniform and are attracted into the movement by it. The uniform promotes unity. It has been especially designed to stand the hard treatment given to clothing by boys when engaged in strenuous activities.

Unfortunately, it was not possible to meet the demand fully, owing to shortages caused by the war. We were able to overcome the shortage of badges and insignia to a large extent, though not completely.

Certain equipment such as knives, axes, canteens, haversacks, and tents are also important for a complete and satisfying outdoor Scouting experience. Here, too, the war produced many shortages. We had to resort to substitutions in some instances. Coupled with the wartime shortage was the increased demand of our increased membership. We have endeavored to keep a supply of basic publications that are essential to the program of Scouting, but wartime shortages of paper have made it difficult to meet the demand for all but the most important manuals.

V. TAKING SCOUTING TO THE BOY

As we review the achievement of the past year and realize that Scouting extends into all parts of the United States, we appreciate the effectiveness of the organization which has made this outreach possible.

LOCAL COUNCIL ORGANIZATION

The local administration unit in Scouting is the local council. Scout units are organized, boys are enrolled, leaders are trained and assistance is furnished to units and their sponsoring institutions by the local council. The local council is composed primarily of delegates from the institutions sponsoring Scout units. It is chartered annually by the National Council and it may serve a single community or a vast area of several counties. Some of our local councils cover territory larger than the Kingdom of Belgium.

At the beginning of the year, there were 541 councils. During the year, four new councils were organized, as follows: The Chief Logan Council, with headquarters at Chillicothe, Ohio; the Grand Canyon Council, with headquarters at Clarkdale, Ariz.; the Boulder Dam Council, with headquarters at Las Vegas, Nev.; and the Northern Orange County Council, with headquarters at Anaheim, Calif.

Experience sometimes indicates that more effective service and greater efficiency in administration can be secured through combining

The extent to which Scouting is reaching boys in the various parts of the country is portrayed on this map. This chart is based on the number of Scouts per 100—12-year-old boys in each of the councils. The map reveals where the Scout movement has the greatest opportunity for growth—the south, southwest, and the north central section.

two or more councils which have previously functioned separately. Two such consolidations took place during the year. The first involved the former Pokagon Council, Indiana, and the Potawatomi Trails Council, Illinois, which were combined to form the present Pokagon Trails Council, with headquarters in Hammond, Ind.

The other consolidation was much greater in scope, involving five councils in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. These were combined to form the present Hiawathaland Council, with headquarters located in Marquette.

As a result of the above changes, we closed the year with 540 councils, or one less than at the beginning of the year.

FRANK PHILLIPS FOUNDATION

Late in 1943, the Frank Phillips Foundation approved a program for extending its service to regions IV, V, VI, and VII on a 5-year basis involving 130 councils, a tremendous after-the-war expansion. The first phase of this plan was inaugurated in 1944, and $150,000 was made available to be matched by local councils. A 2-year plan of procedure was developed in 59 councils with low executive staff to be augmented to provide for membership growth. The record for 1944 is as follows:

Regions	Phillips Foundation		New positions		Councils participating		Councils to raise in supplementary funds		Received Phillips Foundation approval
	Allotment	1944 allocation	Created	Allowed in 1944	Total	Reached in 1944	Total	Already planned for
IV-----	$33,000	$17,400	17	11	17	9	$51,000	$37,100	9
V-----	25,600	25,600	10	10	9	9	25,600	25,600	9
VI-----	31,950	12,500	13	5	13	5	45,700	19,500	1
VII-----	60,000	30,500	24	12	20	10	72,000	42,000	10
Total.....	150,550	86,000	64	38	59	33	194,300	124,200	29

A fine cooperative relationship has existed between the foundation and the National Council in the promotion of this plan.

New Quota Plan.

The operations of the National Council are financed in part through voluntary contributions from local councils, in accordance with a "Quota Plan." Seventy-five percent of the councils in the country accepted and paid the quota as allocated for the year 1944, several of which voluntarily paid more than their allocations.

A total of $166,606 was accepted by the councils of the country, and 98 percent of this, or $164,392.87 had actually been paid in cash by December 31. In addition, $2,229.32 was paid on account of quotas for the year 1943, which failed to reach the home office by December 31 of that year. Therefore, it will be seen that the National Council received a total of $166,622.19 in cash on account of local council quotas during the year 1944.

For approximately 25 years, quotas have been allocated to local councils on the basis of population. Because population does not always reflect a council's financial strength or its ability to pay, this method of allocation has not been altogether satisfactory and has resulted in a number of inequities.

During the year, following a study by a committee of the Executive Board, a new method of allocation, based on the net operating expenditures of the local council, was adopted by the Executive Board. This plan became effective January 1, 1945. It has been very well received by local councils in all parts of the country, and it is believed that it will prove to be much more satisfactory than the former plan, even though it results in some reduction in income from this source.

SPECIAL REGIONAL FUNDS

For a period of years the various regions have, in recognition of their responsibility to help local councils to serve the youth of the regions, developed the special regional fund to make possible the employment of additional special deputy regional executives.

In 1944 the total amount raised for this purpose was $85,435.19, and eleven special deputies were employed as follows: One in regions IV, VI, VIII, IX, and XI; and two in region VII, X, and XII.

FINANCE

Never before in the history of the Boy Scouts of America has so much money been raised to finance local council programs. Operating expenditures in 1943 were close to $8,000,000. In 1944, the total will in all probability be well over $9,000,000.

More than half this amount comes through community chests and the remainder through other forms of financing including independent campaigns.

Through the year contact was maintained with regions and local councils in servicing and advising in matters of council budgets, relationships to community chests and national war funds, the field of trust funds as well as participation in regional and group meetings of executives for the discussion and analysis of all phases of the local council financial program.

It is inspiring to recognize that thousands of men and women throughout America have given and are today giving of their energy, talent, and money voluntarily to help local councils of the country establish trust funds. In 1943 councils reported $2,745,251.21 in the trust funds, and we expect the total of trust funds in 1944 to be approximately $3,000,000.

Great interest is being shown in this development. Many splendid brochures have been produced and distributed in local fields.

COUNCIL LONG TERM PLANNING

During the year in connection with the Phillips Foundation development, many councils developed 5-year plans under the direction of local council planning committees. This planning program, usually covering a period of 5 years, was done not only by councils coming within the scope of the Frank Phillips Foundation, but also by councils not related.

REGIONAL REPORTS

REGION I

(Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island—49 local councils)

The executive committee of region I held quarterly sessions, including a special breakfast program at the regional meeting on September 30. The executive committee was enlarged to 36 members in order to provide more equitable representation from Connecticut and western Massachusetts.

Registration at the annual regional meeting was 528 Scouters, with 549 attending the luncheon, and 835 adults at the banquet. Every council was well represented. The chief scout executive participated, and in the awarding of 10 Silver Antelope distinguished service badges was an added feature of the conference.

The "kid's kid brother campaign" with an object of "1,000 more—new units—in 1944" was most successful. Twenty-four of the forty-nine councils either met or exceeded their own objectives in new units. In the 11 months of the campaign, 934 new packs and troops were organized. The actual net gain in new units was 496. The dropped unit situation was greatly improved, and the region ended 1944 with an all-time high in units and boys.

The Scout total on December 31 was 79,776 Scouts in 3,122 Troops*, and 27,720 Cubs in 883 packs for a total gain in boys of 15,505.

The Holyoke, North Shore, and Cape Cod Councils secured fine new camp sites, and all 43-council-owned "long-term" camps operated, many of them to capacity. Twenty-three thousand one hundred and eighty-eight Scouts, or 30.2 percent, for a gain of 4.6 percent, was the long-term camping record.

As of December 31, there were 5,444 Senior Scouts enrolled—3,467 Sea Scouts, 924 Explorers, 950 Air Scouts, 44 Rovers, and 59 other Seniors in troops.

Six hundred fifty-three Negro Scouts were on record in 29 troops, and 136 Negro Cubs in 7 packs. This is a net increase of 5 units and 181 Negro boys for the year.

The George W. Magee Memorial Fund for Camping distributed $10,000 to eight Massachusetts councils. Sea and Senior Scout attendance was recruited for the Cape Cod Treasure Cove Sailing Base at Wellfleet, Mass.

Objectives: "Stop the leaks" and cut down the losses in unit registration. Enrich the unit programs designed to increase boy tenure. An advancement objective of at least 25 percent first-class Scouts. A Senior Scouting emphasis with major effort on Air Scouting and Sea Scouting. Balanced year-round training programs in the council, district, and unit. Emphasis on quality Scouting—with increased hiking, camping, and all out-of-door activities. Special attention to both professional and volunteer personnel recruiting and training and all phases of relationships.

REGION II

(New York and New Jersey—72 councils)

The regional executive committee held three meetings during the year 1944 and added four new members. The annual meeting of the region was conducted in two sections, at Syracuse, N. Y., and in New York City, with an attendance of approximately 1,000 laymen.

Much emphasis has been placed on the "whole Scout family" program for all boys 9 to 18 years of age.

Realizing that because of a heavy turn-over in volunteer leadership it would be necessary to increase the training opportunities for these men, the region gave considerable attention to the training aspects of our program by conducting the following training opportunities:

- 6 institutes in leadership training with an attendance of 172 men.
- 6 institutes in commissioner service with an attendance of 222 men.
- 18 One-day meetings on Cubbing with an attendance of 511 men.
- 20 One-day meetings on Senior Scouting with an attendance of 578 men.
- 3 Special week-end courses for professional leaders on "How to train course faculty members" of the councils in the region were represented, 76 percent.
- 22 Workshop conferences for Scout executives only conducted in 11 sections of the region.

The annual Scout executives training conference was conducted at Absecon, N. J., with an attendance of 151 professional men.

Members of the regional executive committee met with the presidents of councils assigned to them. These involved 16 meetings of presidents of neighboring councils to discuss and solve their mutual problems.

The region continues to lead the country in service to its rural youth.

In order to meet the increasing demands for Scouting, on an already overloaded professional staff, the councils of the region have been able to increase their budgets by about 30 percent.

Membership continued on the upward trend while the losses through separation became smaller.

The major problem of the region continues to be the lack of professional manpower.

Objectives: Growth—Through holding boys and units longer. Through giving the program to more new boys. Training—To make the best possible training easily available to the many new volunteer leaders. Manpower—To continue to recruit the highest type volunteer and professional leadership. Camping and Activities—To promote the best possible camping program and at least one major council-wide activity in every council. Special attention to the advancement program as the means for boys to learn Scouting practices. To continue to promote the council planning conference as the most practical manner in which to procure council-wide cooperation in the development of the council's program.

REGION III

(Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia (except 2 counties in region V and 8 counties in region IV, the District of Columbia, and in addition, 8 counties in West Virginia, and 6 counties in North Carolina—52 councils)

1944 High Spots.

Closed year with all time high in total membership, 197,661, increase 12.6 percent. Cub packs increased from 792 to 1,011; Scout troops from 4,558 to 4,877. Cubs increased from 23,801 to 32,646; Scouts from 110,578 to 118,741. Gain in new boys exceeds all previous years, 21,319 new Cubs and 52,266 new Scouts.

A 30 percent increase in Cubbing and Scouting for Negro boys; eight councils now have Negro field scout executives.

Sixty-three council camps operated with increased total enrollment. Crop rescue camps conducted in several councils. Outstanding record of war service cooperation.

Sixth annual Chesapeake Bay cruise program sponsored by regional Senior Scouting committee, Thomas B. Stockham, chairman; 12 council cruises were chartered on which 323 persons spent 67 training days afloat. (Six-year record: 93 council cruises on which 2,184 persons spent 429 days afloat.)

Sea Scout ships qualifying for the National Flagship Flotilla were S. S. S. U. D. Pilot of the Valley Forge Council, S. S. S. Penguin of the Valley Forge Council, and S. S. S. Robert Fulton of the Lancaster County Council.

Annual Meeting of the regional executive committee in Philadelphia in February with record attendance.

Scout executives' training conference held in Atlantic City in September with 100 percent executives attending.

Executive manpower positions increased from 147 to 169 in 1944.

Catholic chaplains conference for region III held at Hershey, Pa., in May.

Objectives: Vigorous follow through on plan of action in "organization and extension" and "training" as adopted in 1944. Aid parent organizations to serve boys through the "whole Scout family." Program enrichment for the boy. War service cooperation.

REGION IV

(Kentucky (except 3 counties in region VII), Ohio, West Virginia (except 8 counties under region III), 8 counties in Virginia, and 6 counties in Tennessee—41 councils)

Exceeded membership objective having 87,936 Scouts, an 8.2 percent increase in Scouts and 28,197 Cubs, a 42.2 percent increase. The over-all gain in boys was 14.8 percent.

Emphasis was again directed toward intensification of district organization. A new council, the Chief Logan Council consisting of four counties formerly affiliated with the Scioto Area Council of Portsmouth, Ohio, was organized with headquarters at Chillicothe, Ohio, in order to better serve that territory.

In April and May inter-council training conferences in different sections of the region featured pre-Ranger training, camp training, commissioner's training, Air Scout leader training, and Cub leader training. About 375 laymen and career men participated. The annual aquatic school, held jointly with region VII, was again well attended.

A grant of $33,000 was made by the Frank Phillips Foundation for the purpose of aiding councils in what is known as project No. 1, including 17 councils.

Five group conferences for Scout executives were held in early January on a sectional basis.

The regional executive committee and its 10 subcommittees met on the day prior to the annual regional meeting in September.

The Scout executives' conference, held in August at Wheeling, W. Va., had almost 100 percent attendance, with every council represented.

Attendance at summer camps gained greatly in spite of an epidemic of infantile paralysis causing some councils to close their camps.

A special 1-week camp was conducted at the Cincinnati Camp exclusively for Air Scouts for that and nearby councils. Mr. Paul W. Litchfield, regional vice chairman again gave $4,000 to continue the special promotion of Air Scouting, on the basis that the region raise $4,000. Under the leadership of Frank G. Hoover, regional chairman, this amount was almost doubled. This made possible the continuance of Mr. P. L. Whitehead, deputy regional executive for this special work.

Objectives: Application of the 5-year planning process to all councils regardless of whether or not they are included among those to receive grants from the Frank Phillips Foundation. Membership gain of 5 percent in Scouts and 25 percent in Cubs. Development of a coordinated program of service to local councils. Improvement of quality of the program in troops and packs. Improving the training program. Improving the record of Scout advancement. Maintain first position among the regions in percent of Scouts taking Boys' Life. Development of a trust fund receptacle in each council. Emphasize necessity of raising funds today for use tomorrow.

REGION V

(Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, 10 counties in northwest Florida, and 2 counties in Virginia)

Membership growth.—Membership was 102,161; 63,855 Scouts increase of 11.7 percent, 17,385 Cubs, 42.1 percent increase, and a grand total increase of 16.3 percent. Region V has won the Walter W. Head Acorn Award for 6 consecutive years in recognition of its membership achievement.

District organization.—Of 25 percent potential districts, 245 are organized and functioning; 241 of these districts are participating financially; 144 met monthly.

Training.—Camping institutes were held at Baton Rouge, La., May 27 and 28 and at Knoxville, Tenn., June 3 and 4. An aquatic school was held at Little Rock, Ark., May 28 to June 3.

Conferences and seminars.—During February, six 2-day professional planning conferences were held and in April five sectional annual regional meetings. A regional executives' conference was held in August at Memphis and a regional conference of Negro field executives at Memphis, August 31.

Finance.—All councils increased their budgets substantially during 1944. The Phillips Foundation provided funds for additional field staff in councils that were woefully under-manned. Nine councils presented a 5-year program, and four have raised their funds.

Interracial.—11,631 Negro Scouts and 1,444 Negro Cubs, represent an increase of 27.6 percent during 1944. Sixteen councils have provided for the services of a Negro field executive. Several new Negro camps have been developed to increase facilities for camping for Negro boys.

Objectives: To improve service to Scout units so that every Cub, Scout, and Senior Scout may have a satisfying and profitable experience through concentration of those factors which strengthen the troop and pack, such as training and guidance of volunteer personnel in service to units and institutions with emphasis on a balanced program of fun, fellowship and personal development, outdoor opportunities, improved advancement procedures, sincere parental interest, and opportunities to know and live the ideals of the Scout oath and law.

REGION VI

(Florida (except 10 counties in northwest part), Georgia, North Carolina, (except 6 counties in region III), South Carolina, and 3 counties in Alabama—36 councils)

A 13 percent gain in boy membership—9.8 percent gain in Scouts and 30.7 percent gain in Cubs.

Training included institutes in 18 of the 36 councils; Senior Scouting seminars in 10 councils; an aquatic school attended by 47 Scouters; a regional camp attended by 89 Scouters; first camp school for Negro leaders, attendance 40 Scouters; the Atlanta School for Negroes, including a conference for Negro professional Scouters, attendance by 134; and a training session for North Carolina Negro Scouters by 61; the annual executives' conference with almost 100 percent attendance.

All councils showed increased budgets and 13 have been given the opportunity of qualifying for assistance from the Phillips Foundation. The regional executive committee, through its finance committee, again raised funds for special extension work among Negroes and in rural territory.

Councils not affected by the polio threat greatly increased.

Cubbing, under the leadership of the regional chairman of Cubbing and this committee, continues to make great strides of progress, as evidenced by the 30.7 percent gain in Cubs for the year.

Perhaps the most outstanding development has been the progress of Scouting and Cubbing among Negroes, under the leadership of the region's inter-racial committee and the deputy on the regional staff who gives his full time. The year ended with 16,511 Negro Scouts and 1,998 Negro Cubs, a gain of 18.5 percent in Negro Cubs, a gain of 18.5 percent in Negro boy membership. Groundwork has been laid for sound growth by the organization, reorganization, or strengthening of some 39 divisional committees in the councils of the region.

Four regional Senior Scouting events included an Air Scout meet, two Explorer expeditions, and two sectional Sea Scout rendezvous.

Objectives: Major objectives include emphasis upon: Recruiting manpower, volunteer and professional; long-term planning by councils; wholesale plan of unit organization; training opportunities for all groups, city and rural, white and Negro; training for office secretaries of local councils; council activities, particularly for Senior Scouts; encouraging councils to set up trust or stabilization funds, continuance and enlargement of special regional funds for needed projects, recruiting and functioning of commissioners to help cut down region's poor record of unregistered units; rural Scouting, where manpower, transportation, and other problems have made it especially difficult to maintain units in sparsely populated areas; councils below regional average in index items being asked to especially try to bring themselves up to the present regional average.

REGION VII

(Illinois (except 1½ counties in region VIII), Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin (except 7 counties in region X), and 1 county in Minnesota—85 councils)

Exceeded objectives in Scouts and Cubs, finishing the year with 152,911 Scouts, a gain of 9 percent, and 69,896 Cubs, a gain of 33.7 percent; Senior Scouts reached a new high of 9,487, including 509 Air Scouts.

Thirty-three training conferences and seminars were conducted. The regional Annual Meetings were held in 6 sections for 1,406 laymen. All the professional staff members of the 85 councils attended the Scout executives' conference for 6 days in September. Other training events brought the total number of participants to 2,563 men.

All councils functioned with strong budgets and with no operating indebtedness. Many councils set aside post-war reserve funds and organized trust committees. Twenty councils participated in the Frank Phillips' Foundation expansion program which will provide 24 additional executive staff members. The Air Scout committee raised $10,000.00 for the 1944 regional Air Scout program as a part of its 5-year plan. The regional special fund was materially increased during the year. Nearly all of the 85 councils are cooperating with the national war funds.

Eighty-one councils had 45,000 boys participate in the region-wide Midwest first-aid program; 418 Senior Scouts and leaders spent 3,966 camper days at the region VII Scout landing canoe base in northern Wisconsin; 46,494 boys representing 32 percent of the membership participated in long-term summer camps in addition to year-round camping.

There were 43,863 subscribers to Boys' Life, representing 29.9 percent of membership.

Objectives: Construct program to help the institution give the whole program of Scouting to its boys; help all the councils to strengthen council and district organization; conduct a well-planned program of activities and training; emphasize the "Scout family" as it relates to the organization of Scouting within the institution; intensely promote all phases of Senior Scouting; improve the region VII Scout landing canoe base to adequately take care of 1,000 boys; to cooperate with all war efforts suggested by the National Council; promote a strong advancement program; recruit adequate high-grade personnel for council executive staffs.

REGION VIII

(Colorado, Illinois (1½ counties), Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Wyoming (except 8 counties)—36 councils)

Exceeded membership objective having 11,363 Scouts, a gain of 7.2 percent; Cub Scouts 11,654, a gain of 35.7 percent. The grand total of membership in these States was 157,359, a gain of 14.9 percent.

Three hundred and eighty-four of four hundred and six districts are organized and 383 are participating in their council's financial program; 28 councils have all of their districts organized and 27 have all districts participating in the council's finance program.

In November special training courses were held for commissioners, and 140 men from 10 councils participated.

The annual regional meeting was held in 5 sections during March; 510 men participated.

The regional executive committee officers met during the month of July.

The annual conference of Scout executives was near Troy, Mo., the first week in September.

Planning meetings of Scout executives were held in January and December.

Council service and finance.—Councils in strong position financially. War chests have been satisfactory.

Camping and activities.—A very substantial increase in number of boys camping on a long-term basis. Approximately 40 percent of our Scouts spent a week or more in camp. A Cub backyard camping program was conducted by the Quivira Council, Wichita, Kans. An increasing number of activities being held in districts rather than on a council basis.

Complete health and safety inspection made in 22 council camps by members of the regional staff. A special training course to prepare them started towards the organization of a Senior Scouting unit in every institution having a Scout troop.

Outstanding war service was also rendered in the collection of waste paper and milkweed pods and war loans.

Meetings of the Diocesan committee and Catholic laymen were held in Denver, Colo., and Dubuque, Iowa.

At the Iowa State Teachers' Convention, Boy Scouts had a very attractive booth, and were complimented not only upon the booth but upon being a part of the convention.

Objectives: Region VIII has a one point objective in 1945. This one point objective and an interpretation of its meaning are: In 1945 its service to sponsoring institutions; mutual understanding. Understanding of objectives of institution by Scouters. Assurance that head of institution and governing board understands objectives of Scouting; complete covering. Whole Scout family: Cubbing, Scouting, Senior Scouting. Enough units in each institution so all boys 9-18 may belong; program assurance. Training for leaders, outdoor experience, advancement opportunities; maintenance and permanence. Regular personal visits by commissioner or executive staff to sponsoring institutions with established units, and monthly for 6 months where new units are involved. A formal charter review. Active institutional representation on district committee.

REGION IX

(New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, 7 counties in southwest Arkansas, and the Hopi and Navajo Reservations, Apache County, Ariz.—40 councils)

Scout membership increased to 87,808 in 1944; and Cub membership to 41,411. Of the 359 potential districts 340 are organized and 341 are participating in council's finance programs. In addition to training offered by local councils, 13 sectional and regional training courses, in camping, waterfront activities, and unit programming and operation were held with 520 men qualifying for certificates.

Regional training conference for Scout executives was held at Fort Worth in January. A series of 8 seminars for professional scouters and for laymen having administrative responsibilities was held in October with 285 men taking part.

In spite of wartime handicaps, every council had one or more council-wide camping projects 2,282 different campers spent a total of 4,169 weeks at Philmont Scout Branch. This included 209 service troop campers who spent a total of 765 weeks at Philmont.

Fifty-one men received training in a regional aquatic and waterfront activities school.

Nine councils now employ Negro field scout executives; 15 Negro leaders from region IX participated in the training course at Atlanta, Ga., in August. Four councils have Latin-American field executives giving full time to the extension of Scouting to Latin-American boys. Close cooperation is being received from the Catholic Church in our effort to make Scouting available to more boys of this group in the rural sections of south Texas.

A Senior Scout bivouac, a section project, was held under regional leadership at Ponca City in May with 144 Senior Scouts and leaders; 255 Senior Scouts and leaders spent a total of 979 weeks at Philmont in the Senior Scout training camps there. Three region IX Sea Scout ships "made" the National Flagship Fleet for 1944 and to the S. S. S. Chadwick, Great Salt Plains Council, was awarded the Dr. C. E. Williams trophy, our most outstanding Sea Scout ship in the region each year.

Objectives: Further intensification of district organization; the fullest possible training opportunities for volunteers in all phases of the program; reemphasis upon the importance of camping for boys in wartime and for assisting Troops to overcome handicaps transportation difficulties impose—and that all camping be in harmony with our minimum standards; constant recognition that the health and physical development and well being of boys entrusted to our care is of paramount importance; and that all plans and activities be made with this in mind; consideration of the establishment of a trust fund, or of the building up of a financial reserve; and where these already exist that they be added to.

REGION X

(Minnesota, eastern half of Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, 7 counties in Wisconsin, 3 counties in Wyoming, 1 in Iowa, and 1 in Michigan—18 councils)

Membership.—Region X "proved up" on the objectives of the "off the plateau expansion plan." An all time high in Scouts, troops, Cubs, packs, and total membership. For the year, this represented a gain of 15.1 percent in Scouts, 6.6 percent in troops, 45 percent in Cubs, and 11.1 percent in packs.

"Step eleven" a program designed to follow through on the ten steps of the expansion program was developed in 1944, with a brochure for use with new institutions, and kits for the use of organization committees provided for each local council. The program has as its slogan, "400 more in '44—make 'em thrive in '45," and is designed as a tool to assist district and neighborhood commissioners, and organization committees.

Canoe trips—Charles L. Sommers canoe base.—Three hundred fifty-seven different Scouts participated in this wilderness adventure trip for a total of 596 camper weeks, or 4,102 camper days.

On June 1, Mr. Horace Gorton was employed as the third deputy on the regional staff to give special attention to the field of Catholic relationships.

No council in the region has a serious finance problem; 125 counties were affiliated with the war fund on a county-wide basis in 1944, representing about one-half of the counties, and about 80 percent of the combined income.

Regional seminars.—A program of sectional seminars for the professional men inaugurated at five convenient points. They have proved to be a valuable supplement to the annual regional conference.

Objectives: Training for top management; the professional men through seminars, aquatic courses, camp director courses, and the basic Scoutmaster course, added to Itasca and the fall executives' conference. Major emphasis on the expansion of camping facilities. Particular effort devoted to rendering greater service to sponsoring institutions, and to holding existing units. Recruit professional staff to full strength to do the job.

REGION XI

(Idaho (less 1 county), western half of Montana, Oregon, Washington, 1½ counties in Wyoming—24 councils)

A gain of 5,039 Scouts, 8,222 Cubs, and 3,223 adult Scouters has extended Scouting opportunities.

Emphasis upon the training program increased the opportunity for basic training to 21 percent more leaders. Sectional meetings of professional leaders were held four times during the year. Regional conference was held in August with a 100 percent attendance. An attractive method of calling attention to membership production was employed by use of a logging operations program analogous to one of the region's main business activities.

Operating income of the councils increased 23 percent, thus allowing an executive staff increase of 15 percent. In most councils a plan of cooperation with the National War Fund was followed whereby mutual benefits accrued to all concerned.

The largest summer camping program since the organization of the region was held. Activities of Scouts and Cubs in the region included all approved war-time Scouting projects and many councils were actively engaged in save-the crop camps in fruit and truck garden areas. Every council conducted at least two campaigns for waste paper and excellent cooperation and organization netted thousands of tons of this essential material.

With a 58.9 percent gain in growth in the Cubbing program the region now has better than half as many Cubs as Scouts.

Alaska was served from this region by direct service. In spite of the difficulties encountered by this means of giving service the membership in the Territory of Alaska showed no loss and much encouragement was given to leaders and boys through correspondence under regional leadership. With increasing population in Alaska and lifted war restrictions the Alaska committee is developing extensive plans to establish a council with professional leadership in the immediate future.

The regional executive committee met twice during the year and gave active direction to several projects including Senior Scouting and camping.

Objectives: A commissioner for every four units. Each commissioner for service to units only. Each unit leader carefully selected and appraised by known standards. Every unit meeting on a patrol basis. An active advancement program in each unit. The outdoor program the base for all unit planning. Training provided continuously. Every unit to be reviewed by a plan of charter review.

REGION XII

(California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, and the Hawaiian Islands—52 councils)

This year showed a gain of 16.9 percent in Scouts and 42.2 percent in Cubs—a total membership of 185,489.

One thousand and thirty-three laymen attended the annual regional meetings held in three sections of the region. Institutes in Cubbing, Senior Scouting, volunteer training, and the pre-Ranger program were conducted with excellent attendance and splendid results. Sea Scout rendezvous and Sea Scout regattas with an attendance of 1,280 were held and were important events in the Senior Scouting field.

Through close cooperation with the war chest, council budgets were increased tremendously making possible the employment of many additional field executives and assistants. All councils in the region are out of debt so far as operating expenses are concerned and there are few instances of capital indebtedness.

The increase in camp attendance was 6,043, or a 55 percent increase over 1943. Many councils have carried out long range programs of Scout camping on a troop basis. The chief problem was that of securing competent adult leadership, but the problem was partially met by the increase in the use of junior staff members. Eighty percent of all camps in the region were inspected either by national, regional, or local officials. Numerous new campsites have been acquired and funds are available for development following the end of the war.

Adjustments were made in many council boundaries in order to facilitate the promotion of Scouting and three new councils were organized. The newly organized councils made up from parts of other councils will bring about a more intensive development in Scouting in these areas.

Objectives: Despite the high density in region XII, we propose to make every effort to promote the organization of new units. We propose to improve the standing of the region in the matter of dropped Scouts, Cubs, and dropped units. Through the improvement of council organization and program we hope to improve the Scout tenure. We propose to encourage and stimulate the local councils to promote such activities as will motivate and enrich the troop program. To make effective in local councils the program adopted at the national staff conference.

VI. RELATIONSHIP TO OTHERS

Relationship With Other Organizations.

The Boy Scout program is used by groups of citizens and institutions in the community for their boys. Many of these different institutions are themselves local parts of a national group. Thus, the individual Catholic Church is related to its own national group; a local Rotary club or other service club has its relation to its own national organization.

The Boy Scouts of America also has national relationships with these national groups. There is a cooperating Catholic committee on Scouting for example. There are national relationships with the various club and fraternal organizations, with parent-teachers' associations, and with such national groups as the Salvation Army. Helpful cooperative relationships, developed by the national groups help to make the success of Scout units sponsored by the local groups or institutions.

The newly created division of relationships has the responsibility for establishing cooperative relationships with organizations, institutions, and agencies that are working with boys, and maintaining sympathetic understanding and mutual cooperation, as well as interpreting Scouting and its objectives to the parent organizations of such groups, and making certain that our own Scout councils and leaders are familiar with the objectives of the individual organizations concerned.

To accomplish these ends all types of media are used—publications, conventions, local assemblies, radio programs, exhibits, study groups, formal courses in colleges and seminaries, and personal contacts with key leaders in the organizations.

CHURCH RELATIONSHIPS

Protestant Churches.

Practically all Protestant church groups are using the Boy Scout program. The major denominations are represented by a Protestant committee. The Protestant committee met on February 9 in Chicago. Scouting courses had been given in 50 or more Protestant seminaries, and in a number of colleges in the department of religious education. Articles on the Scout movement have appeared in a number of church publications. Scouting has been presented to several Protestant Church conventions. The Massachusetts Council of Churches appointed a committee on Scouting which has developed a Protestant chaplains' service in each local council in Massachusetts. The Lutheran committee on Scouting is continuing active, and has issued a number of publications.

Mormon Church.

More than 70 percent of the Scout age boys in the Church of Latter-Day Saints are Scouts. Since 1913 Scouting has been one of the major phases of this church. They have made intensive study and experimentation with the Explorer program.

Jewish Service.

Jewish relationships reached a new high as evidenced by increased activity on the part of the national Jewish organizations and religious bodies. The Jewish committee on Scouting which met last April under the chairmanship of Frank L. Weil was the most representative ever held. Three pamphlets, "Scouting and the Jewish Boy," "Scout's Sabbath Service," and the "Jewish Committee on Scouting" pamphlets were prepared. A Jewish chapel was built at Camp Manhattan, the 10-mile river camp in New York. Lectures on Scouting were given at Jewish seminaries.

Catholic Service.

Excellent progress in the use of the Scout program by Catholic churches has been made in all parts of the nation. One hundred and twenty-five dioceses in the Catholic Church have officially adopted Scouting as an integral part of their youth work since 1932 when the final cooperation went into effect. Scout chaplains have been appointed in each of these dioceses. Bishops have appointed an additional 425 priests as area council chaplains. There was a gain of 5.8 percent in Scouting used in Catholic Church—4,661. These units serviced some 170,000 boys, an increase of about 15 percent. Lectures on Scouting have been held in theological seminaries and colleges, and there was a series of twelve 1-day training seminars for Scout-chaplains conducted through the leadership of the Very Reverend Monsignor Edward Roberts Moore, national director of the Catholic committee on Scouting, which attended by 314 priests from 78 different dioceses.

The following publications have been developed by the Catholic committee on Scouting to promote Scouting among the Catholics: "Scouting for Catholics" (second edition); "Why Be a Boy Scout"; (Chaplains' Bulletin) sent quarterly to 1,400 priests; the Catholic Prayer Book for Boy Scouts; the Catholic Manual for Scouts, and numerous other similar publications and mimeographed material.

OTHER AGENCIES

Parent-teachers associations are active in sponsoring and administering Cub packs. There are thousands of troops in the elementary schools. School principals and teachers generally approve and support Scouting. Scouts are recognized in school assemblies, and are responsible for various types of school services.

The Senior Scout programs appeal to students of high-school age. Records show that a high percentage of school offices are held by Boy Scouts.

The American Legion has cooperated in organizing and giving leadership to many Scout units. With the return of many members of our Armed Forces, the service groups will undoubtedly take a larger part in Boy Scout activity. These men appreciate the practical values of Scout training as a result of their war experiences.

The service clubs in the past year ranked second in the number of sponsoring institutions. Boys' work committees of such clubs as Rotary, Kiwanis, Optimist, Lions, and many others have stimulated their local clubs to active service of Scouting.

In the past 2 years, the Federal Public Housing Authority has taken a keen interest in organizing Scout units as a neighborhood community activity in their local housing projects.

SCOUTING FOR NEGROES

Membership.

At the end of 1944 we had well over 100,000 Negro men and boys registered in Scouting. Thirty-two councils passed the 1,000 mark. Chicago developed a total membership of more than 3,800. Baltimore closed the year with a total of 3,411. Each of these councils had a gain of more than 700. The following councils were among those that showed phenomenal gains: New Orleans stepped up from 415 Scouts and Cubs to 1,021 (146 percent); Nashville from 393 to 825 (110 percent); Norfolk from 561 to 1,113 (99 percent); Raleigh from 482 to 883 (83 percent); Los Angeles from 400 to 714 (76 percent); Miami from 525 to 804 (69 percent); Philadelphia from 495 to 792 (60 percent); Detroit from 1,147 to 1,640 (59 percent).

Development.

One of the outstanding accomplishments in Negro work has been the provision of budgets for a large number of field executives. There are now a total of 102 field executive positions with 87 men employed in some capacity for work among Negroes. There are about 20 additional councils, mainly in region V, that need Negro field executives on a full-time basis, and a number of councils that need some special help in developing the Negro work.

Training.

The special training courses for Negro leaders were one of the highlights of 1944. The Atlanta school was bigger and better than ever. One hundred and thirty-three men registered, representing every southern State from Washington, D. C., to Oklahoma City. A special session of this school was held at Greensboro, N. C., attended by 62 additional men.

There is a need for intensified interest on the part of local councils that will result in increased professional personnel of high caliber and high-calibered volunteer leaders. Better methods of troop financing are needed for boys of poorer sections, although this situation has been helped by salvage campaigns.

RURAL SCOUTING

Studies indicate an improvement in Scouting extension to village and open country communities, where 54.1 percent of all boys live. Scout troops are now operating in nearly 11,000 of the rural villages, and approximately one-third of the Scouts in these troops live on adjacent farms.

District Organizations.

Extending Scouting in rural areas has been done largely through the thousands of Scouters serving on district committees. These committees are increasingly better organized and have an enlarging membership from farm leadership.

Districts having farm territory are organizing troops and packs in the towns, and tribes, neighborhood patrols, and dens to serve the open country. Typical of the service being rendered through districts in the middle west is Watonwan County District, Minn. Dots on the map show where farm boys in Scouting and Cubbing live. Especially to be noted is the larger farm enrollment where the units are organized for farm boys in their own neighborhoods, and the relatively fewer farm boys reached when they are part of the town or village units.

The chart which appears above indicates the relative effectiveness of the Scout organization in reaching population groups. In the middle group population are from 10,000 to 100,000 who are doing a fairly good job. In the large city group boys still have an opportunity to be Scouts though not as good an opportunity as in the smaller communities.

But in the open country and in communities under 10,000 population it can be seen that we are far from making it possible for every boy to have the benefits of Scout training.

Other Rural Agencies.

We have been benefited by the cooperation of many agencies. Several meetings called by the United States Department of Agriculture, United States Department of Labor, Agricultural Extension Service, and War Food Administration in Washington were related to various Scout services in agriculture.

Twelve meetings were conducted at Washington, Chicago, New York, Minneapolis, Syracuse, Jackson, Mississippi, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Sacramento for the extension of rural Scouting. Three of these meetings were attended by State Governors. It was in connection with one of these meetings held in Chicago that the twelve-millionth member of the Boy Scouts of America, a farm boy, was honored.

WORLD BROTHERHOOD

Scouts of the World—Brothers Together.

Scouting, as an international movement for boys, took dramatic form in the First World Jamboree in London in 1920, when 18,000 Scouts and leaders from these 27 countries lived and camped together. The Second World Jamboree was held in Copenhagen, Denmark, with 34 countries represented. In 1929 the Third World Jamboree was held at Arrowse Park, near Birkenhead, England, with an attendance of 50,000 from 45 different countries. The Fourth World Jamboree was held in Godollo, Hungary, with 41 countries represented; and in 1937 the Fifth Jamboree was held in Holland, with 39 countries represented.

At the Jamboree in London in 1920 each country sent representatives and the International Committee was established with a Scout International Bureau with headquarters in England. It is the official clearing house for Scouting among the nations. The Bureau operates under the direction of an International Committee, elected at international conferences each 2 years. Each nation admitted to the bureau is entitled to six delegates. These delegates elect a committee of nine men who direct the activity of the director of the International Bureau during the intervals between the conferences. The International Bureau has continued to function during the past 6 years in spite of the war. With this long experience in international activities, Scouting is ready to go into this new period of cooperation among the nations, brought about by the war with full enthusiasm.

Pan American Project.

The Boy Scouts of America cooperated in 1944 with the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs in bringing representative Scout leaders from 13 Pan American countries to study the ideology and methods of Scouting in the United States.

The candidates were selected by the cultural committee of the United States Embassy in each country. On arrival in the United States they took the 30-day Scout Executives' training course at Schiff Scout Reservation, following which they spent a month traveling in the United States and Canada under the leadership of Mr. Glenn Fraser of the division of relationships. On this trip they studied at first hand the work of local councils and units as well as other youth work agencies.

The culmination of this part of the undertaking came in a luncheon for the distinguished guests given by Mr. Thomas J. Watson, international commissioner, at the Union Club, New York.

Values of This Project.

These students have brought to us for discussion and counsel many Scouting problems peculiar to their individual countries. At the same time they have brought to us a wealth of information and enrichment of the Scout program that is going to result in benefits to our own local leaders. An important value which we have derived, and which we hope they may take with them to their own homes, is the friendship which is the root of all Scouting.

WORLD FRIENDSHIP FUND

The National Executive Board has authorized the establishment of a World Friendship Fund to be used for the restoration of Scouting in countries which have been liberated from Nazi or Fascist dictatorship. The Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Gift from the God Bless America Fund of $10,000 has been designated as an initial contribution to the fund and has been allocated to the restoration of Scouting in the Philippine Islands. The fund will be open to contributions from packs and troops and Senior units; and from Scouters. Emphasis will be placed upon the educational value of such contributions from boys, rather than their monetary value, and participation in the fund is offered as an opportunity, rather than an obligation.

Working with the cooperation of the International Bureau, the fund will be used for such things as literature, and equipment, including uniform accessories needed in carrying out the Boy Scout program. Personnel to assist restoring the movement in the liberated countries may be developed. Many Scout and Cub units are earning money from the sale of waste paper. It is anticipated that many of these units will wish to make a contribution to the fund from some of this money.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The strength of the Scout movement and its high repute with the general public has been demonstrated by businessmen, educators and other professional persons. We are indeed fortunate in having the heartfelt interest of many persons prominent in our national life, including the President of the United States, who has sent us messages of encouragement on many occasions during the past year. We reproduce on page VI his message for Boy Scout Week 1945 because of its encouragement for the year ahead.

Members of the Supreme Court, the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Governors of the several States, and leaders in the branches of our Armed Forces and those directing the war-supporting activities on the home front have during the past year expressed appreciation of the value of Scout training for the youth of America.

Through our Public Relations nationally and locally, we have sought to emphasize the educational features of the Boy Scout program as well as the recreational activities which appeal to boys and men. In carrying out our program of service we have been fortunate to have had the cooperation of radio stations, magazines, public press, and motion pictures.

Radio Cooperation.

The induction ceremony for the 12,000,000th member of the Boy Scouts of America was carried by 90 stations of the Blue Network. Another very helpful service was rendered to the Boy Scouts of America and 9 other youth-serving organizations by the National Broadcasting Co., when it made possible a series of 32 broadcasts entitled "Here's to Youth," carried over 108 stations. Through the "Youth on Parade" broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Boy Scouts of America were effectively presented on 12 programs.

Outstanding promotion was given during Boy Scout Week through spot announcements on all the stations.

Motion Pictures.

We continue to enjoy the friendship of major motion-picture producers. A west coast representative of the public relations service assists producers in the development of Boy Scout subjects and sequences in major productions, and helps keep out of films sequences that would not do justice to the Boy Scout program.

The Boy Scouts of America had major roles in these motion-picture productions: "Happy Land" by MacKinlay Kantor, produced by Twentieth Century Fox; "Henry Aldrich—Boy Scout," produced by Paramount and "Children of Mars" produced by Pathe.

VII. NATIONAL COUNCIL ITEMS

REALIGNMENT AT THE HOME OFFICE

A regrouping of services at the home office has been made in the interest of better service to the field. Certain revisions in the bylaws will be made to provide for this regrouping. It seems appropriate in order that unit leaders as well as local council Scouters may have a clearer understanding of the service and leadership available to them to outline some of these changes.

In every region there is a regional committee of laymen which is responsible for extending and supervising the work carried on in each region.

The regional committee meets at least once a year (in normal times) and in some cases annual conferences are held in sections.

We have in our 12 regions a professional regional staff that supervises the work within the region. The various services in the home office likewise are carried out in the field. There is a regional conference of professional leaders plus many smaller meetings. There is also a meeting of the home office staff and the regional staff.

To coordinate the work of these national, regional, and local organizations is no mean undertaking. Regrouping of the staff of the home office has been made so that all the staff may render as great a service to the field as possible, without undue overlapping.

A preliminary realignment was made in 1944, followed by a further regrouping early in 1945. As all of the studies and surveys preliminary to this were carried on in 1944, they properly constitute a part of this report. Final developments and the revision of the bylaws, authorized by the Executive Board, will take place in 1945.

The group composed of the 12 regional executives and their deputies are put under the immediate supervision of the Deputy Chief Scout Executive, Dr. Pliny H. Powers. Mr. Dwight M. Ramsay is coordinator of field services.

A new division of relationships has been created with Dr. Ray O. Wyland as director. This includes relationships with religious groups, rural Scouting relationships, and inter-racial relationships, as well as relationships with all schools, civic, social, and professional groups.

The division of program now includes Cub Scouting, Senior Scouting, volunteer training, publications, visual education, reading, war service, camping and special events, engineering, health and safety, and a newly created Boy Scout activities are grouped together for the purpose of coordination under the title of Scouting services.

Professional Training has been transferred to the Division of Personnel.

Governmental relationships and war service have been left in the program division; public relations with emphasis on public education and information are related directly to the Chief Scout Executive.

For complete list of assignments of the national staff, see the list in the last pages of this report.

While the present organization is not perfect—for we are still growing—it is believed that it is now more nearly possible for people to work together who, by the nature of their work, should work together and give better service, not only to councils but to units.

The organization has been improved; administration has been simplified.

NATIONAL COURT OF HONOR

One of the most inspiring ceremonies ever held in Scouting was witnessed by delegates to the thirty-fourth meeting of the National Council when the National Court of Honor reorganized, and comprising a group of men whose service lends distinction to Scouting, held its first formal session. On this occasion Dr. George J. Fisher, for many years Deputy Chief Scout Executive, was inducted as National Scout Commissioner and chairman of the National Court of Honor. Members taking part in the occasion included Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, Justice Owen J. Roberts, G. Barrett Rich, Lewis Gawtry, James L. Clark, and Vilhjalmur Stefansson. The functions of the National Court of Honor include the awarding of gold medals to those members of the Boy Scouts of America who save human life at the risk of their own. It is the highest award in Scouting. A gold medal was presented to a Scout symbolizing those Scouts who had received recognition from the National Court of Honor.

During the year the National Court of Honor awarded 9 gold medals and 31 certificates for heroism. (See record on p. 53)

Achievement Scouts.

The National Court of Honor granted 123 achievement badges to those Scouts who, because of physical handicaps, are unable to meet the requirements for advancement. These badges were: Tenderfoot, 1; badge No. 2, 26; badge No. 1, 96.

Silver Buffalo Awards.

The awards of the Silver Buffalo were presented by the National Court of Honor at the thirty-fourth National Council meeting. Eight Silver Buffalo awards were made. (See p. 55 for complete list.)

Hornaday Award for Services to Wild Life.

During the past year, the National Court of Honor has awarded three gold honor badges. These awards are granted through the courtesy of the New York Zoological Society in honor of the late Dr. William T. Hornaday, but are given for exceptional service in wild-life protection continuing throughout 1 year or more. Those who received this badge are as follows: Fred J. Bolster, Scoutmaster of Troop 2, Hazleton, Pa.; Merrill Hand, member of training explorer Troop 716, Draper, Utah; and Charles F. Martin, troop committee member of Troop 126, Manquoketa, Iowa.

Scholarship.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars again offered their annual scholarship to an outstanding Scout who has received an award for life saving from the National Court of Honor. The basis of eligibility was widened, and the scholarship was open to first-class, star, life, and eagle Scouts between the ages of 15 and 21 years who had received the life-saving award. Besides this evidence of bravery, applicants must possess outstanding personal qualities as revealed by conduct and activity, leadership, service, citizenship, and scholarship. The award is a gold medal and carries with it a $500 scholarship to be used by the Scout to further his education.

The winner of the Veterans of Foreign Wars scholarship this year was Edmond Karlsrud of Troop 98, Scobey, Mont. In 1941 Scout Karlsrud was awarded the certificate for heroism by the National Court of Honor for saving the life of a fellow Scout.

GOLD MEDAL AWARDS FOR LIFESAVING

THIRTY-FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL

The thirty-fourth meeting of the National Council was held on May 17 in New York City. Because of war conditions, the meeting lasted 1 day only and delegates were not urged to come from distances. The attendance was 933, representing scores of councils from all over America. The theme of the meeting was "Scouting's strength is the volunteer." The principle speaker was Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who spoke on the text "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

The very impressive National Court of Honor ceremony has been described. The officers and members of the Executive Board and members of the National Council, elected by the delegates, will be found listed elsewhere in this report. New members elected to the Board included: Gale F. Johnston, New York, N. Y.; Harry M. Addinsell, New York, N. Y.; Ross Leffler, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Charles F. McCahill, Cleveland, Ohio; R. Smith Richardson, Greensboro, N. C.; E. B. Black, Kansas City, Mo.; and R. B. Hale, San Francisco, Calif. Marshall Field was made a member of the advisory council.

IN MEMORIAM

Three leaders in Scouting passed away in 1944:

Brig. Gen. THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Jr., a member of our Executive Board for many years, champion of youth, world citizen, and soldier died in France on July 12 of exhaustion induced by overwork. He was vice president of the National Council, vice chairman of the National Court of Honor and chairman and member of many other national committees. Of all his many interests, the Boy Scouts of America was outstanding. He had been awarded the Silver Buffalo for his devotion to the cause of youth.

LORD SOMERS, Chief Scout of the British Empire, to whom the Silver Buffalo was awarded by the National Council last May, died on July 15. Lord Somers was appointed Chief Scout in 1941, after being nominated by Lord Baden-Powell for the post. He had joined the Scout movement in 1920 as a district commissioner and in 1937 led the British Empire contingent to the World Jamboree in Holland.

PERRY A. LINT, who became Deputy Chief Scout Executive last January 4 after nearly 30 years of service as a leader in Scouting, died on July 26 after a long illness. He was well-known through the entire Scout field, having come into Scouting as an assistant Scoutmaster in Michigan. He was well-known in region IV and in region VII before coming to New York as Scout executive of the Greater New York councils.

AWARDS OF THE SILVER BUFFALO FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE TO BOYHOOD

The National Council has awarded the Silver Buffalo for distinguished service to boyhood of a national or international character outside of line of regular duty, either related directly to or independent of the Boy Scouts of America.

The following were the awards made at the thirty-fourth annual meeting:

Oscar H. Benson.

VIII. THE YEAR AHEAD

As the report on the preceding pages shows, we have had a great year in Scouting. We are looking forward to greater opportunities for service in the year ahead.

We shall continue to give boys basic scouting. We, all of us, are organized in this great movement solely so that the individual boy in his patrol, troop or other unit may have a happy and worthwhile experience; so that more individual boys may have the opportunity to go into the movement, and so that we and they may work together and make a real contribution to victory in the year ahead.

True, there will be opportunities, many of them, for further development. We are reviewing the program on Scouting and various procedures with the hope that we can enrich, improve, and further develop our techniques.

We know that the Scout program is excellent, but for some reason whether through the wartime turn-over in Scoutmasters or whether through lack of training or proper emphasis, too many boys evidently do not have a sufficiently happy experience in Scouting. Too many boys drop out before they should. This is probably largely a matter of emphasis in the Scout program and method. The way of carrying out the Scout program seems in need of more definite pointing up; possibly it is sedentary. The emphasis needs to be increasingly on more efficient indoor meetings and more emphasis on the out-of-doors, even while the troop itself may have to be indoors. There is such a thing very definitely as a Scouting method, and the degree to which we can develop this Scouting method has a great deal to do with the satisfaction an individual boy has in his Scout troop. If a Scout has a satisfying experience in his Scout troop, he will stick by his troop and will advance in Scouting. Because he has advanced, he will have a happier and richer experience in Scouting.

The plan would seem to be to stimulate and guide the institution in finding the right Scoutmaster and then to give that right Scoutmaster the right training.

If Scouting were as good as parents and the public hope, and in a very real measure believe it is, results in tenure and advancement would much more nearly approach the idea. The Scouting program is excellent. May it be that the Scouting method tends to get too bookish, too scholastic, too much subject matter and too little activity. Let us resolve to begin a great revival in more activity, better organized, indoor troop meetings, and more emphasis on the out-of-doors, on hiking, and on camping.

Scoutmasters, so most of us believe, should be trained more specifically in the way that they carry on Scouting. In the training courses there should be more actual "doing" of Scouting and possibly less talking about it. Here is one of the greatest challenges that we have in Scouting at the present time.

Program of Service.

In November, a national staff conference was held at Buckhill Falls in which members of the home office staff, including all regional executives and deputies participated. This was an administrative conference, with special emphasis on service to councils, and councils to units, and units to boys. It seems appropriate to present here some of the points of emphasis. Other points have been developed in the pages of this report.

In the year ahead we are determined to have:

- (a) Increasingly sound unit organization.
- (b) Improved district organization.
- (c) Better commissioner service.

- (d) More attention to getting the right man for the job and providing the kind of training he needs when he needs it.
- (e) A more effective advancement program.
- (f) Far more practical outdoor Scouting.
- (g) More intensive field service directed to specific needs of units, districts, and councils.
- (h) Far more troop activity that is distinctly "Scouty."

Throughout the year let us organize our resources to serve Scouting where it can exist; where man and boy meet in the pack, in the troop, and in the Senior unit. Let us appraise every activity of the national staff and of the local council in terms of a better Scouting experience and added Scouting opportunities for the millions of boys who become Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Senior Scouts.

The need for Scouting has never been greater, and as we advance through the war toward the peace, this need is going to be increased. Seldom has there been so great an opportunity for so few adults to give so much in service to so many boys.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Boy Scouts of America,

ELBERT K. FRETWELL,
Chief Scout Executive.

REPORTS OF THE TREASURER AND THE FINANCE COMMITTEE FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1944

April 11, 1945.

NATIONAL COUNCIL,
BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA,
2 Park Avenue,
NEW YORK 16, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN:

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and By-Laws, I present herewith the financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1944. The books and accounts have been examined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company, and their report presented herein includes the examination of our Supply Service branches in Chicago and San Francisco by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, and of Philtower Building and Philmont Scout Ranch by Messrs. Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Company.

BALANCE SHEET—EXHIBIT I:

Our cash position was eminently satisfactory. We had no bank loans at any time during the year. At the end of the year cash balances exceeded current accounts payable. Furthermore, we have short-term Treasury notes which can be converted into cash whenever needed.

We began the year with a Working Surplus balance of $145,918.50, but in May 1944 the Executive Board voted to appropriate $100,000.00 of that balance toward faster purchase of the past service credit for the older members of our Retirement Plan. At the end of 1944, after paying all expenses and providing for reserves and special allocations for future use, there remained a balance of income from the general budget amounting to $196,932.47. This amount was carried to Working Surplus, making a total of $242,850.97 brought forward.

At the time the trusteeship of the "BOYS' LIFE" Working Capital Fund was cancelled in 1942, the amount of the Fund disappeared from our Balance Sheet. All of this amount, $164,149.80, had been advanced to "Boys' Life" for development expenses of the magazine. The Finance Committee believes this gift should be recorded on our Balance Sheet. Accordingly, that amount has been added to our Working Capital Funds and the Retained Profits of "Boys' Life" have been reduced by a like amount.

SPECIAL FUNDS—EXHIBIT VII:

We had only one gift added to our General Endowment Funds during 1944, which was the amount of $1,000 received by the bequest of Carrie E. Freeman.

Amongst the funds given to us for use on special projects is the new World Friendship Fund. The principal part of the receipts up to December 31, 1944 came from the Irving Berlin Fund and will be used in the Philippines as a memorial to General Theodore Roosevelt. Substantial additions have been received since that date and we hope to accomplish great things for the benefit of world-wide Scouting and world-wide friendship between the peoples of all lands.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) LEWIS GAWTRY,
Treasurer.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

For the Year ended December 31, 1944

Harry C. Knight, Chairman

The statement of Income and Expenses for the year ended December 31, 1944, as presented by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., will be found in Exhibit II. Income received for regular budget purposes and contributed for expenditure on specific projects totalled $2,469,637.59. Expenses under the general budget, expenditures of funds contributed for special purposes, and allocations for reserves and for post-war needs totalled $2,272,705.12. The balance of $196,932.47 was added to the Working Surplus account.

Total expense was $105,157.09 below the total authorized. Even more than in 1943, we experienced difficulty in obtaining the men and materials for which our budget provided and for which there is decided need if the best results are to be gained from our opportunities. Our membership is growing and war needs have increased the opportunities for Scouts to take prominent places as participating citizens. A heavy load has been thrown upon the available staff and their work and ingenuity have offset many of the results of the war-induced shortages. These involuntary savings have improved our financial situation, even though we do not believe they are beneficial to the growth and effectiveness of our program.

In Exhibit III, expenses are tabulated by Services and by Divisions, and compared with 1943. Exclusive of the Allocations for Special Purposes, our budget expenses were approximately $96,000 higher than in 1943. Expenses in general are higher by the increased cost of travel, by the increased cost of office supplies, and by the necessity for raising the levels of clerical salaries. There are some outstanding items which are worthy of specific mention.

The cost of operating the twelve Regional offices was $25,000 higher than in 1943. This was a modest consequence of increased staff, and the increase would have been larger had there not been vacancies.

The net cost of operating Schiff Scout Reservation was $12,000 above 1943 despite our inability to obtain the help and materials needed for satisfactory maintenance and operation. We had fewer students which means lesser income from tuition fees, but our general overhead would not be reduced by that fact. At the same time the direct cost per student increased. In point, is an increase of 11% for food supplies although we had a 3% decrease in enrollment.

Our so-called General Expense was $23,000 higher, largely for pensions and for that part of the Retirement Plan cost assumed by the National Council. The latter item amounted to $18,000 in 1944.

Our large clerical services in the Accounting Department and in the Registration Service show a total increase of approximately $22,000. For the most part this was caused by the greater volume of business handled through these services. Payrolls, stationery, office supplies, charters, certificates, and registration blanks, all showed large increases in costs.

We wish to draw attention to the Allocations for Special Purposes. These allocations were made possible by the receipt of income greater than, in the judgment of the Finance Committee, it is safe to assume as normal in later years. Therefore this income balance is not applied to the general operating budget, but is set aside for projects which have a country-wide and continuing benefit, without establishing a need for continuing appropriations. We have set aside additional amounts for enlarging the plant at Schiff Scout Reservation when conditions permit; for Reinduction of Service Men into Scouting when they return from the Armed Services; for returning to the Trustees some of the working capital drawn from the Income Stabilization Fund; and for additional payments to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company toward the purchase of past service credits for older members of our Retirement Plan. These are all highly desirable objectives, and we take pleasure in the opportunity to forward them.

In the following table, our income for 1944, as well as for 1943, is arranged by sources:

	1944	1943
Registration Fees:
Scouts	$ 498,932.31	$ 449,987.71

	(42.8%) $1,056,122.75	(44.7%) $ 895,790.16
Local Council Quotas	$ 166,659.37	$ 166,434.46
Local Council Charter Fees..	28,844.00	28,766.67
	(7.9%) $ 195,503.37	(9.7%) $ 195,201.13
Net Earnings from Business Operations:

Advertising in "Scouting" and in Handbook	28,304.06	18,565.56
	(40.8%) $1,007,997.77	(33.6%) $ 674,526.33
Special Contributions:
Special Work in Regions..	$ 76,270.92	$ 98,156.00
Health and Safety	—	10,000.00
Philmont Scout Ranch—Camp Department	43,692.29	38,774.11
Anonymous	—	5,000.00
	(4.9%) $ 119,963.21	(7.6%) $ 151,930.11

	1944	1943
Income from Invested Funds:
Appropriation from Trustees of Income Stabilization Fund	$ 31,745.38	$ 30,605.34
Earnings on Schiff Reservation Endowment Fund	4,087.50	4,247.44
Earnings on General Endowment Funds	5,513.32	4,350.23
Interest on Supply Service Capital	40,899.96	40,899.96
	(3.3%) $ 82,246.16	(4.0%) $ 80,102.97
Miscellaneous	(0.3%) $ 7,804.33	(0.4%) $ 7,172.39
	(100.0%) $2,469,637.59	(100.0%) $2,004,723.09

Our income during 1944 was well above last year. The increase is in Registration Fees and in Net Earnings from Supply Operations. We had the greatest growth in membership of any year in our history. Growth necessitates an increase in expense, but our increase in registration expense was considerably less than the increase in income.

Registration Fees produced 63% of our operating budget expenses in 1944, compared with 57% in 1943, and 54% in 1942. Thus they continue to support an increasing part of our operating budget. Moreover they are a fairly stable and reliable source of income. Supply Service earnings are large at present, but the amount is likely to vary widely from time to time and is thus an unreliable source beyond a minimum upon which we can depend each year.

We believe our financial position is both secure as to the present, and sound as to future prospects. We might expand our activities and our budget to parallel our current income. The Finance Committee desires to be prudent. We do not wish to join unduly in the competition for scarcities, nor do we wish to add to the retrenchment and depression when conditions may have changed for the worse.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) Harry C. Knight,
Chairman.

*To National Council,
Boy Scouts of America*

We have examined the balance sheet of National Council, Boy Scouts of America as of December 31, 1944 and the related statements of income and expenses for the year then ended and have reviewed the report of other independent public accountants on the accounts of Philtower Building and Philmont Scout Ranch—Ranch Department. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards applicable in the circumstances, and included such tests of the accounting records and other supporting evidence and such other procedures as we considered necessary.

We have not undertaken to ascertain that the provisions affecting restricted gifts or legacies have been observed.

The statements of operations of Philtower Building and Philmont Scout Ranch—Ranch Department (Exhibit VI) have been summarized from a report submitted by other independent public accountants.

In our opinion, with the notes on Exhibit VI relating to income of Philtower Building and Philmont Scout Ranch—Ranch Department, the accompanying balance sheet and related statements of income and expenses present fairly the position of National Council, Boy Scouts of America at December 31, 1944, and the results of its operations for the year, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

NOTES

The accumulated net profit of Philmont Scout Ranch at December 31, 1944, which has been retained by the Ranch as working capital, is not recorded in the income account of the National Council.

No provision has been made for depreciation as such of the assets of Philtower Building and Philmont Scout Ranch acquired by gift as of January 1, 1942. An appropriation of $24,000 a year in the three years ended December 31, 1944, has been made from the earned income of Philtower Building for the eventual and interim renewals of this property to which has been added an amount of $1,575 equal to the interest collected on investments which are intended to represent the funding of such appropriations.

¹ Inasmuch as each year a number of council reports of merit badge awards are received too late to include in that year's report the figures for the current year are incomplete. Accordingly, adjustments are made each year by adding the delayed reports to the previous year's published record. For 1943 the additional awards from 27 councils were 36,777 bringing the 1943 record to a total of 664,019.

The records, as shown for 1938 are from 97.9 percent of councils, 1939 from 98.3 percent, 1940 from 97.6 percent, for 1941 from 99.8 percent, for 1942, 99.6 percent. For 1943, 533 or 98.7 percent 1944, 509 or 94.4 percent of councils reported.

² Open to second-class Scouts as well as first-class Scouts.

³ In 1941, 523 councils were included; 1942, 494 councils; 1943, 511 councils; 1944, 510 councils were included.

MEMBERSHIP ANALYSIS

The 1944 increase in national and local membership totals is reported elsewhere. However, for administrative purposes it is important to analyze this growth in different ways to discover where it took place according to kinds of councils. One such method of analysis was made by studying membership changes in the four groups of councils classified by population distribution. Following the United States Census procedure, 467 of the councils, out of a total of 537, on which population distribution data are available, were divided into 4 groups—urban, which were those having less than 25 percent of the population living in rural areas (towns and villages under 2,500 and open country); urban-rural, having between 25 and 50 percent of its population rural; rural-urban, with 50 to 75 percent rural population; and rural, over 75 percent rural population. Table 1 presents the changes in units by these groups.

¹ S. I. = Scout index or Scouts per 100 12-year-old boys. C. I. = Cub index or Cubs per 100 9-year-old boys.

Tables 1 and 2 reveal that there are no considerable differences between the four groups in the percent changes for troops and packs. In the case of Scouts, however, the gains were approximately the same in all but the urban group. This situation may be explained by the fact that the urban councils already have the highest Scout density of the four groups.

The greater percent gain in Scouts and Cubs than in troops and packs is due to an increase in average unit size.

Perhaps the most significant observation to be made regarding tables 1 and 2 is the relatively low unit and boy density in the rural councils. The extent of the discrepancy between where boys are and where Scouts and Cubs are is made evident by the analysis presented in chart 1 which portrays percents of boys, Scouts, and Cubs, in each of the four population groups. It is evident from the chart that the greatest potentiality for Scout and Cub growth is in the rural and rural-urban councils.

Another aspect of this problem is the fact that past studies show that the rural areas of councils predominantly urban do not have as high a proportion of Scouts and Cubs as the urban areas in relation to the proportion of boys living on farms and in towns and villages under 2,500.

The next step in analysis is to uncover the reasons for the foregoing situation with respect to Scouting in rural areas. This study is now under way. Preliminary findings indicate that low densities, as has already been demonstrated, reflect inadequate staff and that the latter may be a result of a relative lack of financial resources.

MEMBERSHIP ACCOUNTING

Membership activities during 1944 continued to have as their major focus the development of data and reports for use by the national staff both home office and regional offices and local councils of the Boy Scouts of America. Membership information comes primarily from the registration forms submitted to the National Council for the purposes of registration.

Membership figures by program for each local council are summarized monthly. A copy of this monthly business report is furnished to each regional office so that they may know the progress being made by each local council in their region. Monthly and quarterly reports showing the regional and national membership picture are prepared in order that the administration of the National Council may know at all times what the trends in membership are. Quarterly, the local council index of growth and development is produced, and the record made available to each local council giving it a complete picture of its membership trends.

Correspondence was carried on with many local councils during the year in the attempt to assist the councils in reconciling their membership records with those of the home office. Many suggestions were offered councils in regard to the correcting of procedures, in membership record keeping. In the case of 112 councils, detailed membership inventories by units were prepared and checked against the records of the local councils. An official policy bulletin entitled "Membership Accounting Practices in the Local Council Office," was prepared and released to local Scout executives by the Chief Scout Executive in July of 1944.

A. NATIONAL SUMMARY

The "General membership summary" table 3 shows an increase in total active membership of 252,573, a 15.7 percent gain over the record at the end of 1943.

Total Scouts increased 9.3 percent. Looking at the individual programs which make up the total Scout figure, lone Scouts showed a decrease of 3.6 percent; Sea Scouts showed a gain of 0.7 percent; Explorer Scouts 6.4 percent; Air Scouts 17.6.

Total Cubs showed an increase of 37.3 percent. Total boys (Scouts and Cubs) increased 15.9 percent. Total Scouters showed an increase of 9.0 percent, as compared with a loss of 4.2 percent the previous year. Total Cubbers and Den Mothers increased 45.1 percent.

Total troops increased 5.5 percent, as compared with a loss of 1.5 percent the previous year and total Packs increased 26.8 percent.

Table 4, "Membership changes," shows an increase in the new for all items. Net separated shows a decrease in Scouts, Troops, and Packs. Cubs increased 13.1 percent in the net separated. This is explainable, however, by the substantial growth in the total Cub membership each year.

Table 5, "Belonging during the year," reveals that 2,510,279 different persons, boys and adults, were members of the Boy Scouts of America at some time during the year 1944. This is an 8.5 percent increase over 1943.

Table 6, "Veteran Scouts and Scouters," shows that 10,563 persons have made application for veteran recognition during the year 1944. This is an increase of 5.5 percent, over the number of applications filed in 1943.

Table 7, "Scouters and Cubbers by positions," presents a distribution by positions of the 395,735 registered Scouters, Cubbers, and Den Mothers. In accordance with the current procedure for Scouter and Cubber accounting, classification by position is made only at the time the registration fee is paid. Consequently, if a man pays a fee as a Scoutmaster and then also serves as a member of a pack committee, a neighborhood commissioner, and a member of the council camping committee, he will appear in table 7 only as a Scoutmaster. This explains why there is a smaller number of unit leaders than total units. The difference resulting from men serving as Scoutmasters of more than one troop or men who have paid a registration fee in some position other than that of Scoutmaster.

The line troops followed by an asterisk shows an increase of 2,125 troop* leaders during the year 1944. Committeemen increased by 18,858. The average number of committeemen per unit rose from 4.26 to 4.46. The line packs indicates an increase of 2,228 unit leaders. Pack committeemen increased 10,115, raising the average committeeman per unit from 3.08 to 3.25. Den Mothers increased 10,948, almost doubling the number of Den Mothers at the end of 1943. The average number of Den Mothers per unit went from 1.30 to 1.91. This can mean one of two things—either there are more Den Mothers, or more Den Mothers are registering since these figures are only for registered Den Mothers.

The bottom of the table shows council Scouters and Cubbers. The most significant increase here is that of 675 in the neighborhood commissioner figure; merit badge counselors increased by 326.

B. REGIONAL SUMMARY

Table 8, "Grand total classified membership by regions," shows the significant items in membership and geographical composition of the 12 regions which are the administrative subdivisions of the National Council.

The first column "Area in square miles" represents a summation of the square mileage in each local council. The basic data was taken from the Sixteenth Census of the United States, "Areas of the United States 1940." The columns headed "General population," and "Twelve-year-old-boy population," are based on data from the 1940 Federal census. The fourth column headed "Percent of general population," shows the variation among the regions in the percentage that the 12-year-old-boy population is of the general population. Region II comprising New York and New Jersey has the smallest ratio of 12-year-old-boy population to general population, while region V comprising Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee, has the largest ratio.

C. THIRTY-FIVE YEAR RECORD

Table 9, "Thirty-five year membership—boys and adults," shows the membership of boys and adults for each of the 35 years. The total number of different persons, boys and adults, who have been registered with the Boy Scouts of America at some time since the beginning of the organization in 1910 stand at 12,289,614 at the end of 1944.

Charts 2 and 3 graphically show the growth of the organization over the years.

Chart 4, "Distribution of Scouts by rank," shows the distribution of the Scout membership by each of the three major rank classifications from 1917 through 1944. The percentage of tenderfoot again increased slightly in 1944, continuing the trend started in 1941. At the same time, the percentage of first class decreased, likewise continuing the trend begun in 1941.

Table 10, "Cubbing development 1930-44," shows the growth of the Cubbing program since record keeping was started in 1930; 1944 shows an increase of 37.3 percent in total Cubs. The increase in total packs was 26.8 percent.

Table 11, "Senior Scout growth," shows the membership changes in the four branches of the Senior program. Sea Scouting from 1930, Explorer and Rover Scouting from 1937, and Air Scouting from May 1942. Sea Scouts and Explorer Scouts showed a gain in 1944, reversing a downward trend, that started in 1939. In 1942 and 1943 both programs showed a loss in membership.

INDICES OF GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

The Index

Tables 12 and 13 and the "local council index by councils," provide basic information on membership and program conditions, and in addition give the relative standing of each of these administrative units with one another on the basis of a percentile distribution. This method of measurement in the Boy Scouts of America was designed in 1928 as a result of statistical research begun in 1924. The research was conducted to discover a method of measurement of progress and the results achieved by the operation of the program of Scouting in troops, councils, regions, and nationally.

Each year has seen substantial growth in the local appreciation and use of the "local council index of growth and development." On the one hand for measuring the local council's own progress from period to period, and on the other hand for the comparison it affords against the accumulated achievement of all councils. The index can be used to measure the accomplishments of each district within the council as compared with one another and as compared with the council as a whole.

The index measures the position of the council's record in any item among the records of all councils. It disregards their differences in conditioning and operating factors. By comparison of the index records for different time periods, the progress of the council can be measured.

If a record is greater or if an index number is larger, it does not necessarily mean that the council is better than any other council, when a smaller index is achieved under different conditions, or not as good as any other council with a larger index achieved under different conditions.

Each item in the basic table is a distribution of all the local council records in that item in a sequence from lowest to highest. A chart has been developed for plotting the record of a council for 2 successive years, a council and one of its districts, or two or more districts.

Chart 5 shows the record of a council (solid line) contrasted with the record of a district (broken line).

Note the first line "percent of councils," and the figures 5 to 95. These figures represent the indexes for the record in each item to be plotted. For example, the troops per 100 12-year-old-boy population in the council record on chart 5 is 5.9, index 75. This is plotted on the vertical line extending down from the number 75. The interpretation is made that 75 percent of all councils have 5.9 or less troops per 100 12-year-old boys. The converse of this is that 25 percent of all councils have 5.9 or more troops per 100 12-year-old boys. Similarly, the district record is 6.4 troops per 100 12-year-olds, an index of 81. This is plotted just to the right of the vertical line extending down from 80 at the top of the chart. The chart shows that this district is more highly developed than the other districts in this item.

The council has a percent reregistration of troops of 84.4, or an index of 54. The district has a percent reregistration of troops of 78.3, or an index of 37. Here the district is not doing as good a job as the council as a whole.

The Scout density or Scouts per 100 12-year-olds is 140.2, with an index of 73. The district, however, has a Scout density of 132.5, with an index of 68.

It is evident from the index chart that the percentage of reregistration of Scouts is lower, and the percentage of net separated Scouts is higher in the district than in the council as a whole.

The national and regional indexes are to be interpreted in this same manner. The council index compared with the index of the region gives at once a comparison with accumulated results of all the councils in the region, and shows where the given council ranks among them. The regional indexes give relative values of progress in each region for the records charted and with each other, if desired.

² Indicates an adjustment has been made.

³ 678 National Council members in 1944, and 739 in 1943, are included in the grand total adults and grand total membership that are not accounted for in any of the regions.

NATIONAL INDEX

Table 12 "national index" is the summary of the record for all the councils in the 12 regions. This comprises all of continental United States, Alaska, which is in region XI, and the Hawaiian Islands, which are in region XII. The extra regional membership is not included in the national index because there are no 12-year-old-boy population figures readily available.

The total number of councils decreased by one during the year 1944.

The professional staff in local councils, including vacancies which existed at the end of the year increased from 1,548 at the end of 1943 to 1,680. This gives an executive staff index (E. S. I.) of 0.153 executives per 100 12-year-old-boy population. This is a record which is equal to that of 40 percent of all local councils.

Troops per 100 12-year-old-boy population (O. I.) increased 5.2 percent to a record of 4.05 at the end of 1944. The percent unregistered troops showed a decrease of 2.9 percent from 1943 to 1944. The percent reregistered troops increased 4.7 percent and the percent net dropped troops decreased 24.1 percent; 11.0 percent of all troops due to reregister in the 12 months ending December 31, 1944, had dropped. The new troops per 100 12-year-old-boy population increased 23.1 percent from the previous year.

The Scouts per 100 12-year-old-boy population show an increase of 9.3 percent. The record of 96.4 Scouts per 100 12-year-old-boy population is equal to that achieved by 42 percent of all councils. The percent reregistered Scouts increased 5.9 percent and the percent net separated scouts decreased 8.0 percent. Of all the Scouts due to reregister during the year 1944, the record shows 35.5 percent as net separated. The new Scouts per 100 12-year-old-boy population (R. I.) increased 13.1 percent. The R. I. of 44.0 means that 44 percent of all boys becoming 12 years of age, at some time after their twelfth birthday, are becoming Scouts.

The percent tenderfoot increased 0.4 percent, and the percent first class decreased 5.2 percent.

Boys' Life subscriptions per 100 Scouts decreased 4.2 percent. There were 24.8 subscriptions for every 100 Scouts.

Packs per 100 9-year-old-boy population increased 27.0 percent, and Cubs per 100 9-year-old-boy population increased 37.1 percent.

The record of all 12 regions and their rank in each item as related to the other regions appears in table 13. The record for each council by region is shown beginning on page 96.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THE INDEX OF GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

12 Y. O. B. P.—12-year-old-boy population—the number of boys becoming 12 years of age each year—the field to be served.

E. S. I.—Executive staff index—the number of executives per 100 12 Y. O. B. P. Staff available to provide opportunities for boys to be Scouts related to the boy field.

O. I.—Opportunity index—total troops per 100 12 Y. O. B. P.

Unregistered troops.—Troops whose charters have expired and have not re-registered or dropped on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the charter expired. The percent unregistered is calculated on the "due to reregister" as a base. The "due to reregister" is the sum of the "un-registered," "total reregistered," and "net dropped."

Total reregistered troops.—The reregistered plus the dropped reregistered troops for the 12-month period ending with the date of the index. The percent total reregistered is calculated with the "due to reregister" as a base.

Net dropped troops.—The dropped minus the dropped reregistered troops for the 12-month period ending with the date of the index. The percent net dropped troops is calculated with the "due to reregister" as a base.

New troops per 100 12 Y. O. B. P.—The new troops for the 12-month period ending with the date of the index for every 100 12 Y. O. B. P.

Scout density.—Total Scouts per 100 12 Y. O. B. P.

Unregistered Scouts.—The unregistered Scouts in the unregistered troops (see above) percent unregistered Scouts computed as for troops.

Total reregistered Scouts.—Same as for total reregistered troops. See above.

Net separated Scouts.—Same as for net dropped troops. See above.

R. I.—Recruiting index—new Scouts for 12-month period per 100 12 Y. O. B. P.

Tenderfoot.—Percent of the Scout membership in the tenderfoot rank.

First class.—Percent of the Scout membership in the first-class rank including star, life, and eagle.

Boys' Life subscriptions.—Boys' Life subscriptions from council-promoted sources, those subscriptions which clear through the local council offices. These subscriptions are related to the total Scout membership.

9 Y. O. B. P.—9-year-old-boy population.

Packs per 100 9 Y. O. B. P.—Total packs per 100 9-year-old-boy population.

Cubs per 100 9 Y. O. B. P.—Total Cubs per 100 9-year-old-boy population.

Leaders with basic training.—Leaders who have completed the basic course for any one of the programs, i. e., Scoutmasters', Skippers', Explorer leaders', Air Scout leaders', Cub leaders', or their former equivalents.

Units with a trained leader.—Units with a trained leader are those units having at least one leader with basic training as defined above. Units as here used include Senior patrols as well as all registered units.

Long-term camping.—Camping periods of 6 days or more are reported by the local council as long-term camping. Percent long-term camping equals the number of different Scouts participating in long-term camping divided by the Scout membership on June 30.

Short-term camping.—Camping periods of less than 6 days and not less than overnight are reported by the local council as short-term camping. Percent short-term camping equals the number of different Scouts participating in short-term camping divided by the total Scouts belonging during the year.

Troops with an effective camping program.—Those troops which have been reported as having an adequate year-round outdoor program averaging one outing feature each month.

NOTES FOR LOCAL COUNCIL INDEX

¹Troops* "Troops" followed by an asterisk (*) means all Scout Units and where so used includes Tribes, Neighborhood Patrols, Ships, Explorer Troops, Air Squadrons and Rover Crews. "Scouts" without qualifying designation includes Troop, Lone, and Senior Scouts.

³Does not represent a complete year's business.

⁴Negative net dropped Troops* are the result of the number of dropped reregistered Troops* exceeding total dropped Troops* during the 12 month period.

⁵A substantial transfer of territory during past twelve month period invalidates the record in certain items.

^cAfter any total indicates an adjustment has been made.

^vTemporary vacancies included in total executives.

Data as shown for number of Scouts participating in long and short-term camping, number of Troops with effective camping program, number of leaders with basic training and number of units with at least one trained leader have been taken from the Council's application for renewal of Local Council Charter. Where no information was received or where information was unusable the item has been left blank.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS OF SCOUTING—HIGH SPOTS IN HISTORY

1910.—Incorporated February 8 under the laws of the District of Columbia by W. D. Boyce and opened national headquarters at international Y. M. C. A. office, 124 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York, N. Y. President Taft accepted office of honorary president; Theodore Roosevelt, honorary vice president and chief Scout citizen. Mr. Colin H. Livingstone elected president; Messrs. Mortimer L. Schiff, Milton A. McRae, Benjamin L. Dulaney, vice presidents; Mr. George D. Pratt, treasurer; Mr. Daniel Carter Beard, national Scout commissioner; Ernest Thompson Seton, chief Scout; Messrs. John Sherman Hoyt, Dr. Jeremiah W. Jenks, William D. Murray, and Frank Presbrey, members of the executive board. A promotional meeting held June 21, with representatives of 34 national organizations. Mr. James E. West was appointed executive officer.

1911.—National Council established at 200 Fifth Avenue, January 2, 1911, by Mr. West with seven employees. First annual meeting held at the White House, Washington, addressed by President Taft. First edition of the Handbook printed. Scout oath, law, and badge and fundamental policies adopted. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 61,495.

1912.—Scouts enrolled from every State. Scouts mobilized for first of series of national civic good turns, the promotion of a safe and sane Fourth of July. Clean-up campaigns and similar community good turns begun. Sea Scouting begun, to become an older Scout activity. Boys' Life purchased to become official magazine. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 97,495.

1913.—President Wilson became honorary president. Local supervision facilitated by dividing the United States into 8 districts, the forerunner of our present 12 regions. Official bulletin for Scouters—"Scouting"—created. Membership registration system adopted. Scouts demonstrated motto, "Be prepared," in first aid during spring floods in Ohio and Indiana. Handbook for Scoutmasters published. Service at celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 115,364.

1914.—Troop committee plan created. Training for Scouters begun. Gold medal for conservation of wildlife offered Scouts by Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Park. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 147,940. Net membership, December 31, 127,685.

1915.—Department of education established. Expansion of merit badge work prompted issuance of 57 merit badge pamphlets. Good turns on Christmas and Thanksgiving stressed. Movement began receiving commendation of national organizations and men high in national life. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 262,043. Net membership, December 31, 182,303.

1916.—Received a Federal charter from Congress, which gave special protection to the name, insignia, and limits membership to American citizens. Act of Congress, June 3, authorized a Scout uniform similar to Army, Navy, or marine uniform. Adopted constitution and bylaws. Began to serve Government in the war. Educational value of the program officially recognized by Dean Russell of Teachers College, Columbia University. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 344,290. Net membership, December 31, 245,183.

1917.—Full resources placed at service of Government, under slogan "Help win the war." Within 24 hours Scouts throughout the United States were advised of action. Tremendous demonstration of boy power trained and organized for service followed for the duration of war, and drew thousands of boys into the movement. Scouts sold 2,350,977 Liberty Loan bonds, totaling $147,876,962; war stamps to a value of $53,043,698; located 20,758,660 board-feet of walnut, and the equivalent of a hundred carloads of fruit pits. Over 30,000,000 pieces of Government literature distributed and ceaseless service rendered in other ways, including food and fuel conservation. Boy Scout gardens by the thousands sprang up all over the country. The veteran Scout classification was established for those in the movement 5 years or longer. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 486,120. Net membership, December 31, 363,837.

1918.—War service at its peak. After signing of armistice we adopted the slogan, "The war is over, but our work is not." Scouts rendered Nation-wide first-aid service in influenza epidemic. Rotary clubs started present cooperation by businessmen's clubs and other institutions in sponsoring troops. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 616,746. Net membership, December 31, 418,984.

1919.—The first National Boy Scout Week to promote the movement throughout the country, conducted under the leadership of Hon. William G. McAdoo and inaugurated by proclamation of the President of the United States. Proclamations from most of the Governors. Systematic method of developing cooperation from churches of all faiths adopted. Scouts invited to aid Department of Labor in its Americanization program. Anniversary week observed as a good turn week by the public. Following the death on January 6, 1919, of Theodore Roosevelt, chief Scout citizen, Scouts began the practice of annually planting Roosevelt memorial trees and making an annual pilgrimage to his grave at Oyster Bay under the leadership of Daniel Carter Beard, national Scout commissioner. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 679,367. Net membership, December 31, 462,060.

1920.—First national conference of Scout executives held in September at Palisades Interstate Park. First International Scout Jamboree held in England in July; Boy Scouts from 32 out of 52 countries represented; the Boy Scouts of America sent 301. First International Scout Leaders' Conference held in connection with jamboree. International Scout Commissioner Mr. Mortimer L. Schiff and others represented the Boy Scouts of America. Quota plan adopted. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 780,170. Net membership, December 31, 478,528.

1921.—President Harding became honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America. Scouts of Washington, D. C., served as aides and guides at the Limitation of Arms Conference. Inauguration of annual Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., where 5 Scouts selected on merit from each of the 10 Eastern States were entertained as guests, gave demonstrations in Scoutercraft, and served as aides to the authorities. New York Times inaugurated its Sunday edition Boy Scout Section. Outstanding civic good turns in forest conservation and in connection with the Knickerbocker Theater disaster at Washington and floods at Pueblo, Colo., and San Antonio, Tex. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 714,011. Net membership, December 31, 513,015.

1922.—Winter campaign loomed up as competitor with summer camping for popularity. Second International Conference of Scout Leaders appointed a permanent international committee upon which the Boy Scouts of America was represented by Mr. Mortimer L. Schiff, international Scout commissioner, and Mr. Frank Presbrey. International Scouting good will evidenced by Capt. Francis Gidney, chief camp master of the British Boy Scouts Association, attending the biennial conference of Scout executives in this country, the Scouting authorities in France, in sending M. J. Guerrin-Desjardins, and Canada, Mr. John Stiles. Five-year field development program adopted. Big membership round-up, running over into following year, resulted in the addition of 81,123 Scouts and 20,235 officials, bringing the total to 614,465 boys and men. This effort stimulated by streamer awards by President Harding for troop and council increases of 25 percent and over. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 744,517. Net membership, December 31, 534,415.

1923.—Scouts participated in the country-wide tribute to the memory of President Warren G. Harding. Calvin Coolidge became honorary president. Third biennial Scout executives' conference, held at Estes Park, Colo., adopted increased cooperation with the churches, with the home, and Scout leaders from the ranks. Membership during the year, Scouts and Scouters, 925,358. Net membership, December 31, 696,620.

1925.—On January 5, 1925, the Boy Scouts of America lost a true friend in the death of Sigmund Eisner, the official national Scout outfitter. James J. Storrow, of Boston, elected president. First national training school for executives. Silver buffalo awards authorized for distinguished service to boyhood. Outstanding service rendered by Scouts in Illinois tornado, California earthquake, and Louisiana fire. Harmon Foundation awards. Delegation from Boy Scouts of America visited South America to further Scouting there. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,006,586. Net membership, December 31, 756,857.

1926.—President James J. Storrow died in March. Milton A. McRae, vice president, elected to fill his term. At annual meeting in May, Walter W. Head was elected president. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout of the World, attended the annual meeting and made a trip throughout the country inspecting Scout centers. The award for distinguished service to boyhood, the silver buffalo, was first presented at this meeting. Twenty-two awards were made, the first to Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the second to the unknown Scout, whose good turn brought Scouting to America. The Fourth International Scout Conference held at Kandersteg, Switzerland. Fourth biennial conference of Scout executives held at Hot Springs, Ark. Executive board authorized development of program for younger boys. Exceptional Scout service in Florida hurricane and Arkansas flood zone. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,073,025. Net membership, December 31, 783,574.

1927.—Eagle palms for merit badges added to the list of awards. Twelve new agricultural merit badges added, making a total of 89. First printing of the new Handbook for Boys in November. Service library of publications for the field created. Two new manuals, the How Book and Winter Camp Manual, issued. The class of honorary Scout was authorized and 22 honorary Scouts elected. Eight Sea Scouts taken on the Borden-Field Museum Expedition to the Bering Sea. A fund of $50,000 for younger-boy program secured and committed organized. Exceptional service rendered by Scouts in Mississippi and Vermont flood disasters and St. Louis tornado. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,169,413. Net membership, December 31, 785,633.

1928.—First 52 Harmon Foundation awards were made in February 1928 on the basis of service in 1927. Three Scouts accompanied the Martin Johnson Expedition to Africa in June 1928. Fifth national training conference of Scout executives at Cornell University in September. The findings of this conference furnished the basis of the 5-year program of the Boy Scouts of America. The service library, with 24 volumes, was issued. Vacation program for boys inaugurated. The eighteenth annual meeting was held on the Pacific coast. International relationships strengthened by Hubert S. Martin, director of the International Scout Bureau, in his participation at the Cornell conference. Four Scouts participated in the Lincoln Highway covered-wagon tour from coast to coast, and a Sea Scout accompanied Commander Byrd to the Antarctic. The Mark M. Jones report on the organization of the Boy Scouts of America was completed. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,183,095. Net membership, December 31, 819,791.

1929.—President Hoover accepted the office of honorary president, and Calvin Coolidge became honorary vice president. Adopted 5-year expansion program. This provided for a $10,000,000 fund. World Jamboree held in August at Arrowe Park, England. Thirteen hundred Scouts and Scouters represented Boy Scouts of America. Jamboree attended by 50,000 Scouts representing 73 different lands. Followed by the Fifth International Scout Conference. Vacation program further developed by councils providing a program of activities for boys who do not go to camp. The younger-boy program put into operation on experimental basis. Membership during year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,172,969. Net membership, December 31, 833,897.

1930.—President Hoover launched forward movement and development program at dinner commemorating twentieth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America held at Washington, D. C., March 10, and attended by Cabinet officers. President Hoover appealed to the Nation on behalf of the Boy Scouts of America and formally inaugurated a campaign for the $10,000,000 development fund. Cub program formally launched; about 5,000 Cubs at end of 1930. Scouts participated in Oregon Trail Memorial Centennial. Paul A. Siple, the Scout who accompanied Admiral Byrd to the Antarctic, returned. Chief Scout executive served as chairman of the committee on youth outside the home and school of President Hoover's White House conference on child health and protection.

Notwithstanding the general business depression, new records were made in program activities and in membership. A record number of boys, 23,273, were taught to swim at Boy Scout camps. An increase of about 5 percent in Scout campers was reported, so that nearly 400,000 boys had camp experience during the year. There was an increase of 50 percent in registered Sea Scouts. Scout circuses, merit badge exhibits, expositions, rallies, and other gatherings increased in like number and scope. Over 163 colleges conducted Scouting courses and more than 50,000 Scout leaders took a course in the 5-year training program. Membership during the year, 1,233,786 Scouts and Scouters. Net membership, December 31, 847,051 Scouts and Scouters.

1931.—In spite of the economic crisis and business depression, the Boy Scouts of America held its own. Indeed, for the first time in its history the registration figures passed the 900,000 mark. At the twenty-first annual meeting held in Memphis, Tenn., Mortimer L. Schiff was elected president. Within a month of his election Scout organizations throughout the world were shocked by his untimely death. Walter W. Head was elected by the executive board to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Schiff. The divisional plan of organization was put into operation and proved a great factor in promoting help to the field. The Sixth International Conference was held near Vienna. Boy Scouts rendered outstanding service in relief work, cooperating on a Nation-wide scale in setting up a record that has only been exceeded by their service during the war period. An increase of 40 percent in Sea Scout membership was reported. More Boy Scouts went to camp than ever before and there was marked emphasis on troop camping. The Cubbing program for younger boys as indicated by the substantial growth and the Cub packs in operation proved practicable and sound. Membership during the year 1,265,690. Net membership December 31, 878,358.

1932.—At the twenty-second annual meeting the National Council adopted the 10-year program of growth, a plan to enroll one of every four 12-year-old boys and keep them in Scouting for 4 years. To stimulate this, President Hoover made awards to Scout units, councils, and regions reaching a certain standard for the year. Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff presented the Mortimer L. Schiff Memorial Scout reservation in memory of her son, the former president. Scouting continued its outstanding work in emergency relief. The magazine Boys Life was reduced in price to 10 cents a copy with a view to making it available to more boys, and its scope was extended to include more Scouting material. There was a big development in troop camping under council-trained leadership. Sea Scouting increased 42 percent. Other outstanding developments include an increase in rural Scouting and interracial Scouting and the further development of the Cub program. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,260,504; net membership December 31, 878,461.

1933.—Outstanding events for the year 1933 included progress in the 10-year program; the cooperation of President Roosevelt, which greatly stimulated troops and councils in their efforts to meet the standards and qualify for the President Roosevelt award; the authorization of a senior program for older boys; the formal dedication and opening of the Mortimer L. Schiff Scout reservation; the Fourth World Jamboree, which was held at Godollo, Hungary, and in which 21,000 Scouts from 46 lands, with an American contingent of 406 Scouts and leaders, participated; the camping record, which indicated that 427,900 boys had Scout camp experience; an increased emphasis on troop camping under their own leadership and greater number of short-term camps on a year-around basis, as well as a wider scope of camping experience; progress in Sea Scouting; the increase in Cubbing; the development of the rural Scout program; the organization of the national activities service; the cooperation with Government agencies, including help given to the Civilian Conservation camps and to the N. R. A.; the progress in better appearance; the growth through interracial activities; the splendid health and safety record. Membership during year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,268,441; net membership December 31, 904,240.

1934.—The year 1934 was a year of preparation for the silver anniversary of Scouting. In response to the request of President Roosevelt in a radio address delivered February 10, Boy Scouts performed a national good turn, collecting clothing, household furnishings, foodstuffs, and supplies for the distressed and needy—1,812,284 items were collected. The President announced a national jamboree to be held in Washington in 1935. A splendid program of cooperation was developed with the Catholic Church. Boys' Life attained a wider circulation than ever before. There were marked advances in Cubbing, Sea Scouting, and Rural Scouting, as well as in interracial work. The camping record showed the greatest number of campers, and a marked increase in troop camping. Special emphasis was placed on the health program. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,323,819; membership December 31, 973,589.

1935.—On February 8 the entire Scout membership celebrated the Silver Jubilee of Scouting—their twenty-fifth anniversary. President Roosevelt, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America; Mr. Walter W. Head, president; and James E. West, chief Scout executive, addressed the public in a coast-to-coast broadcast. For the first time the membership passed the million mark, and there was a great improvement in tenure.

Throughout the years the following program features were observed as part of the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration: Boys' Life anniversary in March; ceremonies incident to the publication of the five-millionth copy of the Handbook for Boys in April; the silver anniversary meeting of the National Council in May; Dan Beard pilgrimage in June; Theodore Roosevelt pilgrimage in October; Christmas holiday camps. The first national jamboree at the invitation of President Roosevelt was scheduled to be held in Washington, D. C., August 21 to 30. Owing to an infantile paralysis epidemic, it was necessary to cancel this jamboree. The camp program was greatly stimulated, especially on the troop basis; the senior program was formally authorized by the executive board; the Cubbing program for younger boys had a gain of 30.9 percent. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,435,139; membership December 31, 1935, 1,027,833.

1936.—The year 1936 emphasized camping and outdoor activities as preparation for the national jamboree plan for 1937. President Roosevelt in a broadcast held on February 8, 1936, Scout Anniversary Day, again invited the Scout membership to a national jamboree or encampment to be held in Washington early in July 1937.

The Boy Scout membership reached its highest peak. There was a great gain in Cubbing, the program for younger boys. Senior Scouting with the new program for older Scouts, including Explorer Scouts, Sea Scouts, and Rovering based on advanced activities, attracted much attention.

A conference of all professional leaders of the movement was held at French Lick, Ind. The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the National Council took place at Atlantic City, featuring health and safety. In recognition of its health and safety program the American Children's Fund made a grant to the Boy Scouts of America of $100,000 for the further promotion of its work.

The new Handbook for Scoutmasters was developed and volume 1 published. Plans were made for the Fifth World Jamboree to be held in Holland in August 1937, to which the Boy Scouts of America had been invited to send a delegation of 1,050. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,506,292; membership December 31, 1936, 1,069,837.

1937.—Membership reached an all-time high record. Outstanding events included the national jamboree held in Washington at the invitation of the President, from June 30 to July 9, with an attendance of 27,232 persons representing 536 councils. This was followed by the World Jamboree at Vogelenzang, Holland, with an attendance in the American contingent of 814, and the Ninth International Conference. Once more there was a great increase in Cubbing. Owing to the fresh enthusiasm aroused for camping on a troop basis by the national jamboree, this was the greatest camping year the Boy Scouts of America has ever had. Other outstanding events included: A simplification for the set-up for local councils, an extension of the troop budget plan; progress in personnel procedure; increased use of Boys' Life; taking over the supply distribution; increased development of the Schiff Reservation; continued progress in rural Scouting, interracial Scouting, and Senior Scouting; a retirement plan for professional leadership was adopted by the National Council. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,602,777; membership December 31, 1937, 1,129,841.

1938.—Emphasis on the troop budget plan provided sound financing of troops. Troop camping courses were conducted to a greater extent than ever before and more and more Scoutmasters went to camp with their troops. The Boy Scouts of America participated in the rededication program and troops, local councils, and the national programs emphasized Americanism and the need for national rededication to the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence. The suggested Senior Scout citizenship dedication was developed in connection with the publication of the new manual, "Adventuring for Senior Scouts." A magnificent gift was made by Mr. Waite Phillips, a camp site known as Philmont Scout Ranch on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountain

Continental Divide, near Cimarron, N. Mex. Boys' Life reached more boys than ever before and proved increasingly helpful. Membership during the year, Scouts and Scouters, 1,698,339. Net membership, December 31, 1938, 1,242,009.

1939.—Philmont Scout Ranch was opened for advanced Scout camping. Scouts participated in the Golden Gate Exposition. At the New York World's Fair, Scouts maintained an exhibit and service camp on the fairgrounds where a total of 3,900 Scouts and Scouters took part, lending assistance to the fair in many ways. A session of the twenty-ninth National Council meeting was held at the World's Fair on June 29. At this time there was held for the first time a Scout citizenship dedication ceremony when a group of former Scouts who had become 21 years of age during the year were formally received into citizenship in an impressive ceremony by United States Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts who addressed the Scouts. The World Rover Scout Moot was held in Scotland July 16 to 26 and the Tenth International Scout Conference was held in Edinburgh, Scotland, July 26 to 28. Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive, was elected a member of the international committee. From September 14-21 the Seventh National Training Conference of Scout Executives was held at Bretton Woods, N. H., in which 1,100 persons participated. Five thousand Scouts took part in the Annual Roosevelt Pilgrimage to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt. The Boy Scouts of America was represented at the White House Conference on Youth In A Democracy by its chief Scout executive. More than 600,000 Scouts participated in camping on a patrol and troop basis and troop-camping courses were featured in the training program. Special experimental work with Scouting in less-chance areas was carried on. Boys' Life reached more Scouts than ever before and proved to be increasingly helpful. The Boy Scouts of America cooperated actively with the motion-picture industries and the March of Time picture for April 1939 featured Scouting. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,860,553. Net membership, December 31, 1939, 1,357,993.

1940.—Boy Scouts served again at World's Fair in New York and at the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco. Boy Scout program for helping in national emergency and Government defense program adopted—a program of action for strengthening and invigorating democracy. Troop inventory and roll call; emergency service corps adopted, mobilization plans. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 1,994,496. Grand total membership, December 31, 1940, 1,449,412.

1941.—Entire resources of Boy Scouts of America placed at service of Government with declaration of war. Government requested outstanding service of Scouts, including distribution of Defense Bonds and Stamps posters totaling 1,607,500; collection of aluminum, totaling 10,500,000 pounds; waste paper collection, at least 50,000,000 pounds (166,000,000 pounds up to March 31, 1942); defense housing surveys; victory gardens; distribution of air-raid posters, cooperation with Red Cross; and by joint agreement with the Office of Civilian Defense, service in three capacities, messengers, assisting emergency medical units, and fire watchers. Thirty-first annual meeting held in Washington, D. C., including tribute to chief Scout executive. Slogan for service to the Government adopted, "We Too, Have A Job to Do," with a program of action based on four points, Strong In Leaders, Strong In Skill, Strong In Numbers, Strong In Will. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 2,100,298. Grand total membership, December 31, 1941, 1,522,302.

1942.—Scouts continued in war service. Twenty-eight projects requested by the Government, including the following: Rubber salvage, 30,000,000 pounds collected in 2-weeks' whirlwind drive; all-out salvage based on pamphlet issued by Government, Scrap and How Scouts Collect It; distribution of pledge cards for war bonds and stamps; Victory gardens; work on farms and in harvest camps; Government dispatch bearers. Thirty-second annual meeting held in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Emergency service training carried into the troop. Camping better than ever. Air Scouting program for boys 15 years of age and over developed, and Air Scout manual and four new merit badge pamphlets published to make it possible for every boy to specialize in Air Scouting from Tenderfoot rank up. Slogan for service: "Strong for America—strong in leaders, strong in skill, strong in numbers, strong in will—strong for the sake of America." Junior alumni plan put into effect. Cooperation with high-school Victory corps developed. Strong conservation program adopted. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 2,177,090. Grand total membership, December 31, 1942—1,553,080.

1943.—Scouts rendered war service on requests from Government in four general classifications: Collection—aid in salvage drives; distribution as official dispatch bearers for Government pamphlets and posters; production; and conservation. They contributed 100,000,000 hours to Food for Freedom program, planting gardens, helping harvest crops and other efforts; personal and group service to various agencies, such as war bond and stamp pledges. The greatest number of new Scouts in history came into the movement; shortage of leaders occasioned by war helped by recruiting older men, especially through sponsoring institutions; pre-Ranger training, a program of vigorous activities to teach certain skills and develop physical fitness, widely popular. Increased emphasis on training leaders so that every troop may have at least one leader trained in basic course. Development of Pan-American project. Air Scouting attracted many older boys. Big increase in extending Scouting to Negro boys. Long trousers and Scout cap made available. There was a gain of 20 percent in Cubs. Thirty-third National Council meeting held in New York—a 1-day streamlined meeting. Membership during the year, Scouting and Cubbing, 2,313,787. Grand total membership, December 31, 1943—1,613,783. Grand total different members since 1910—11,477,483.

1944.—Scouts responded to 60 requests from Government for war service in three-year period. Increase in membership more than double in previous yearly gains. Spectacular gain in Cubbing. Gain of Scouts 9.3 percent. Senior Scouting registered more Senior Scouts than in previous year. New Explorer program developed. Thousands of mature men volunteered as leaders to replace those called away by war. Commissioner Service greatly increased. Whole Scout Family has been emphasized with equal stress on the three branches of Scout Program. More than 25 percent more Scouts went to summer camp than year before. Troop camping increased under Troop leaders. Grant Study Camp held at Schiff Scout Reservation. Philmont Scout Ranch, although attendance was limited, had a 100 percent increase over previous season. Schiff Scout Reservation increasingly a camping as well as national training center. Scout Field Book published. Basic publications maintained despite paper shortage. Relationships with religious groups strengthened. Big gain in Scouting for Negro boys. World Brotherhood emphasized as continuation of World Jamboree and World Friendship Program. Inter-American youth leaders training project inaugurated and students from Latin American countries, in cooperation with Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, attended national training school and made tour in eastern U. S. and Canada. World Friendship Fund to help restore Scouting in devastated countries inaugurated. Grand total membership, December 31, 1944, 1,866,356. Grand total different members since 1910, 12,289,614.

PERMANENT PROTECTION PROVIDED BY CONGRESS

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Colin H. Livingstone and Ernest P. Bicknell, of Washington, D. C.; Benjamin L. Dulaney, of Bristol, Tenn.; Milton A. McRae, of Detroit, Mich.; David Star Jordan, of Berkeley, Calif.; F. L. Steely, of Asheville, N. C.; A. Stamford White, of Chicago, Ill.; Daniel Carter Beard, of Flushing, N. Y.; George D. Pratt, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dr. Charles D. Hart, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Franklin C. Hoyt, Jeremiah W. Jenks, Charles P. Neill, Frank Presbrey, Edgar M. Robinson, Mortimer L. Schiff, and James E. West, of New York, N. Y.; G. Barrett Rich, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Robert Garrett, of Baltimore, Md.; John Sherman Hoyt, of Norwalk, Conn.; Charles C. Jackson, of Boston, Mass.; John H. Nicholson, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; William D. Murray, of Plainfield, N. J.; and George D. Porter, of Philadelphia, Pa.; their associates and successors, are hereby created a body corporate and politic of the District of Columbia, where its domicile shall be.

SEC. 2. That the name of this corporation shall be Boy Scouts of America, and by that name it shall have perpetual succession, with power to sue and be sued in courts of law and equity within the jurisdiction of the United States; to hold such real and personal estate as shall be necessary for corporate purposes, and to receive real and personal property by gift, devise, or bequest; to adopt a seal, and the same to alter and destroy at pleasure; to have offices and conduct its business and affairs within and without the District of Columbia, and in the several States and Territories of the United States; to make and adopt bylaws, rules, and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of the United States of America, or any State thereof, and generally do all such acts and things (including the establishment of regulations for the election of associates and successors) as may be necessary to carry into effect the provision of this act and promote the purposes of said corporation.

SEC. 3. That the purpose of this corporation shall be to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutercraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by Boy Scouts.

SEC. 4. That said corporation may acquire by way of gift all the assets of the existing national organization of Boy Scouts, a corporation under the laws of the District of Columbia, and defray and provide for any debts or liabilities to the discharge of which said assets shall be applicable, but said corporation shall have no power to issue certificates of stock or to declare or pay dividends, its object and purposes being solely of a benevolent character and not for pecuniary profit to its members.

SEC. 5. That the governing body of the said Boys Scouts of America shall consist of an executive board composed of citizens of the United States. The number, qualifications, and terms of office of members of the executive board shall be prescribed by the bylaws. The persons mentioned in the first section of this act shall constitute the first executive board and shall serve until their successors are elected and have qualified. Vacancies in the executive board shall be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members thereof. The bylaws may prescribe the number of members of the executive board necessary to constitute a quorum of the board, which number may be less than a majority of the whole number of the board. The executive board shall have power to make and to amend the bylaws, and, by a two-thirds vote of the whole board at a meeting called for this purpose, may authorize and cause to be executed mortgages and liens upon the property of the corporation. The executive board may, by resolution passed by a majority of the whole board, designate three or more of their number to constitute an executive or governing committee, of which a majority shall constitute a quorum, which committee, to the extent provided in said resolution or in the bylaws of the corporation, shall have and exercise the powers of the executive board in the management of the business affairs of the corporation, and may have power to authorize the seal of the corporation to be affixed to all papers which may require it. The executive board, by the affirmative vote of a majority of the whole board, may appoint any other standing committees, and such standing committees shall have and may exercise such powers as shall be conferred or authorized by the bylaws. With the consent in writing and pursuant to an affirmative vote of a majority of the members of said corporation, the executive board shall have authority to dispose in any manner of the whole property of the corporation.

SEC. 6. That an annual meeting of the incorporators, their associates, and successors, shall be held once in every year after the year of incorporation, at such time and place as shall be prescribed in the bylaws, when the annual reports of the officers and executive board shall be presented and members of the executive board elected for the ensuing year. Special meetings of the corporation may be called upon such notice as may be prescribed in the bylaws. The number of members which shall constitute a quorum at any annual or special meeting shall be prescribed in the bylaws. The members and executive board shall have power to hold their meeting and keep the seal, books, documents, and papers of the corporation within or without the District of Columbia.

SEC. 7. That said corporation shall have the sole and exclusive right to have and to use, in carrying out its purposes, all emblems and badges, descriptive of designating marks and words or phrases now or heretofore used by the Boy Scouts of America, in carrying out its program, it being distinctly and definitely understood, however, that nothing in this act shall interfere or conflict with established or vested rights.

SEC. 8. That on or before the 1st day of April of each year the said Boy Scouts of America shall make and transmit to Congress a report of its proceedings for the year ending December 31 preceding, including a full, completed, and itemized report of receipts and expenditures of whatever kind.

SEC. 9. That Congress shall have the right to repeal, alter, or amend this act at any time.

Approved, June 15, 1916.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

[H. Rept. No. 130, 64th Cong., 2d sess.]

FEBRUARY 7, 1916.—Referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Gard, from the Committee on the Judiciary, submitted the following report to accompany H. R. 755:

The Committee on the Judiciary to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 755) to incorporate the Boy Scouts of America and to protect its insignia, having carefully considered the same, begs leave to submit the following report with the recommendation that the bill do pass:

The Boy Scout movement is not one seeking to promote a juvenile military system, but it is intended to supplement and enlarge established modern educational facilities in activities in the great and healthful out-of-doors where may be the better developed physical strength and endurance, self-reliance, and the powers of initiative and resourcefulness, all for the purpose of establishing through the boys of today the very highest type of American citizenship.

It tends to conserve the moral, intellectual, and physical life of the coming generation, and in its immediate results does much to reduce the problem of juvenile delinquency in the cities. The movement has grown rapidly during the past 5 years, until it is now organized in practically every community of 4,000 inhabitants and over and in many small communities of the United States. During the past 2 years Boy Scouts have demonstrated the value of the education and training they received as an auxiliary force in the maintenance of public order and in the administration of first aid and practical assistance in times of great public emergencies. Their service on the occasions of the Ohio floods, at the Gettysburg reunion, in the inaugural ceremonies of President Wilson, and at the recent memorable reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic in Washington attracted Nation-wide attention and received general commendation, particularly from the American National Red Cross and the officials of the Federal and State governments. The importance and magnitude of its work is such as to entitle it to recognition and its work and insignia to protection by Federal incorporation. The Scout scheme is based upon the methods involved in educating the boy. It is a scheme of placing the boy on honor. In addition to requiring him to live up to a standard or code of laws which insure development of character along proper lines, it requires him to study in order to pass certain tests of qualification. The passing of these various tests is recognized by the award of appropriate badges or medals and insignia.

If any boy can secure these badges without meeting the required tests, the badges will soon be meaningless, and one of the leading features of the Scout program will be lost. Likewise with the uniform which designates the Scout. At the present time this is protected by the use of the insignia—a seal woven or stamped into the cloth. All of these various badges and insignia are at present protected by the patent laws, but under the patent laws such protection is available for a limited period only. The passing by Congress of this bill will, it is believed, provide the organization with proper protection for its distinctive insignia, the integrity of which is essential to the maintenance of the movement, and protect it from those who are seeking to profit by the good repute and high standing and popularity of the Scout movement by imitating it in name alone.

The identical language of this bill was incorporated in the bill with amendments thereto, known as H. R. 19007, which was reported from the Committee on the Judiciary on February 3, 1915, with a recommendation that it, as so amended, do pass.
