CHAP. CLII. — An Act granting a Pension to Jane D. Brent. June 27, 1866.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized and directed to place the name of Jane D. Brent, of Detroit, Michigan, widow of Thomas Lee Brent, late a captain in the army of the United States, on the pension roll, and to allow and pay to her a pension at the rate of twenty dollars per month, from and after the passage of this act, until her marriage or death, and after either event to continue the said pension to Mary Brent, daughter of the said Thomas Lee Brent, if then under the age of sixteen years, until she attains that age. Pension to Jane D. Brent.

APPROVED, June 27, 1866.

CHAP. CLIII. — An Act for the Relief of Cornelius Crowley. June 27, 1866.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to place the name of Cornelius Crowley, late a private in company F, third regiment United States infantry, on the pension roll, at the rate of eight dollars per month, to commence from and after the passage of this act, and pay him at that rate in lieu of any other pension to which he may have been entitled. Pension to Cornelius Crowley.

CHAP. CLIV. — An Act for the Relief of A. J. Gray. June 27, 1866.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Commissioner of Pensions be, and he hereby is, required to place the name of Andrew J. Gray, late a pilot on board the United States gunboat Judge Torrence, upon the list of invalid pensioners, at the rate prescribed for officers of his rank by act of Congress approved July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, to be paid out of the naval fund. Pension to Andrew J. Gray. 1862, ch. 166. Vol. xii. p. 566

CHAP. CLVII. — An Act granting Land to A. M. Jess, of Josephine County, Oregon. June 29, 1866.

Whereas the land claimed and settled upon by A. M. Jess, on Applegate river, in Josephine county, State of Oregon, under the provisions of the homestead law of May twentieth, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, has since, without his fault, become of no value to him and been in great part destroyed by a change in the channel of said river; and whereas his title to said land is still inchoate and justice requires that he should be permitted to locate and settle upon an equal quantity of other public land in lieu thereof: Therefore, Preamble. 1862, ch. 75. Vol. xii. p. 392.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the said A. M. Jess be, and he is hereby, authorized to locate and settle upon one hundred and sixty acres of the public lands of the United States, in accordance with the provisions and requirements of the homestead law aforesaid, and, at the expiration of the period therein prescribed, to receive a patent therefor on the terms and conditions therein prescribed: Provided, That the title so acquired by him to the land heretofore located and settled upon by him as aforesaid shall revert to the United States: And provided further, That said new location and settlement shall not be made upon mineral lands of the United States. A. M. Jess may locate and settle upon 160 acres of public lands. Title to former location to revert to the United States. New location not to be upon mineral lands.
